> "If the Negro is brought into politics, the Negro [illegible] be the sufferer. Those who are endeavoring [illegible] do this very thing now do not realize the gravity [illegible] their deeds. It is like spreading gasoline over [illegible] whole South from the Patomac to the Rio Grande."

Of course when the 75-year old chief judicial [illegible]sentative of the law and order in South Carolina says "the Negro will be the sufferer," [illegible] means a threat of lynching or other armed [illegible]ence against the Negro masses in the event [illegible] latter should attempt to claim the right to [illegible] or other political or citizenship rights, [illegible] he points out have not been exercised in [illegible] South generally for fifty years.

The nightmare that is conjured up in the [illegible] of the old man by the idea of letting [illegible] of black workers and farmers vote, is [illegible]cated by the following words of the state[illegible]:

> "To any man who lived through the dark days [illegible] reconstruction in the South after the end of the [illegible] between the States any thought or suggestion [illegible] bolting the Democratic ticket is unthinkable and [illegible]conceivable.
> "To these men the whole period of reconstruction [illegible] like a hideous nightmare, when men and boys [illegible] to bed with shotguns, and when mothers, [illegible] sisters and daughters cowered in their homes [illegible] hearts torn with fear as forests of bayonets [illegible] before their eyes."

> "What can a Southern man mean when he talks [illegible] bolting the Democratic party? For a Southern [illegible] to think of such a think is traitorous to the South and all the traditions of the South. I have voted the Democratic ticket from the time the Republicans forced Negro office holders on the people of my State and I shall vote this ticket until I die.
> "I shall vote the entire ticket, from Governor Smith down and if the true Southern democracy stands by the party true democracy will win its most sweeping victory since the days of reconstruction."

But of course the fear that the Republican party will really do anything to let the masses of Negro slaves loosen their chains is only an instrument for Tammany politicians to use on the stagnant minds of the Southern Babbitt-bourgeoisie. On the other hand the Republican party is busy proving by actions which speak louder than words that it wishes to ingratiate itself with the same Southern Babbit-bourgeoisie and will do absolutely nothing that would tend to give elbow-room to the enslaved labor of the South. The Republican party is completely and absolutely through with the Negro, as far as furthering his political rights are concerned, as was dramatically announced as early as 1920 by no less person than Warren G. Harding. Would the textile barons and other Northern capitalists that are now moving into the almost virgin labor field of the South with their mills and factories to take advantage of the cheap labor conditions—would they do anything to disturb that peculiar condition of enslavement which is facilitated by the "Jim Crow" division of the working class?

No! Anything that disturbs the Jim Crow line in the South would tend toward Bolshevism. The spreading of that sort of "gasoline from the Potomac to the Rio Grande" is not going to be done by a capitalist party. The political party that will in fact "spread gasoline" over the whole social institution of race suppression in the South must be a party seeking to overthrow the whole system of exploitation of man by man. There is such a party—the Workers (Communist) Party.

And that party is in this national election campaign for the first time getting on the ballot in many Southern states. The Negro workers and farmers, and the class-conscious white workers equally, will have their first chance in the South to show their desire to destroy the institutions of labor-enslavement by voting the Communist ticket.

Negro and white workers of the South, vote Communist this year, and join the Workers (Communist) Party. That is, unless you, too, believe in slavery.

The Story of Fremont Older

[illegible] OWN STORY. By Fremont [illegible] (Revised Edition, 1928). [illegible] Co. $2.50.

Reviewed by WALT CARMON.

[illegible] the twelfth anniversary of the [illegible]-Billings frame-up, a [illegible] by Fremont Older assumes [illegible] interest. For it was Fre[illegible] Older who, after Mooney's sen[illegible] to death, as editor of the San [illegible]cisco Bulletin and then the Call, [illegible] a capitalist newspaper into [illegible] fight for two labor prisoners. [illegible] activities of Older became an [illegible] aid in saving the life of [illegible], after the victorious Russian [illegible] centered world attention on [illegible] with a demonstration be[illegible] the American embassy in Mos[illegible] 1917. A book by such a tire[illegible] worker, who still continues the [illegible] for their freedom, becomes of [illegible] interest then to workers, tho [illegible] author be a liberal with no spe[illegible] interest in workers as a class.

[illegible] is truth truly stranger and [illegible] more times readable than most [illegible]. A young man with no so[illegible] becomes an editor. In a [illegible] in which he is involved for [illegible] he gradually sees the system [illegible] under in an entirely new [illegible]. His fight, at first a means [illegible] circulation for his paper, [illegible] a more or less real bat[illegible] against big interests—against [illegible] corruption, control of the [illegible] and the government.

[illegible] here's the result of his life's [illegible] compressed into his [illegible]: "From being a savage [illegible] against wrong and injustice [illegible] saw them in the old days, I [illegible] gone clear over to the point [illegible] I do not blame anyone for [illegible]."

[illegible]," the old warrior [illegible], "even for the intolerant." [illegible] philosophy, disillusioned, [illegible] tho "not cynical," he has[illegible]. He is yet ready [illegible], scarred as he may be. He [illegible] continues his interest in hu[illegible].

HE is still the old fighter in behalf of Mooney and Billings for whose freedom he has fought since they have been imprisoned. But even here events tend to shake loose his faith in "this so-called human race":

"The little faith in human nature I still had," he writes about the Mooney-Billings frame-up, "was lessened still more when I discovered that ten of the twelve prominent local labor leaders were either actively conniving at keeping these men in prison or doing nothing to help them. This threw me into a despondent mood. I had learned to expect that kind of attitude from the rich and the powerful and those who fawned upon them, but to find the foremost local leaders of labor either acting or thinking with them was more than I could calmly bear."

The Mooney-Billings frame-up is only a concluding chapter in the eventful years of Fremont Olders' public activities beginning in 1895. San Francisco and all California were in the hands of the Southern Pacific railroad then. The real government office was in the office of the S. P. manager in San Francisco.

The picture he gives us of those and the succeeding years is an illuminating commentary on American government. Here are facts presented by one intimately involved. Many later nationally prominent figures run thru these pages: Johnson, Wm. Burns, Clarence Darrow and others. The Frisco fire marks a milestone in his record. And interwoven are faint glimpses of the labor movement, especially its seamy side in the leadership which was so closely interlocked with the crooked politics of San Francisco for many years.

The book presents an unusual back-ground for the Mooney-Billings case. A stronghold of capitalism at its worst, where even a government investigator sent by the secretary of labor, who secured dictaphone evidence in the Mooney-Billings frame-up, does not dare to present it in court knowing that "justice" as administered there would not give him protection. New York Tammany Hall in the old days, and the present Chicago Thompson-Crowe administration would have much in common.

Fremont Older at this time, by the nature of his class affiliations, was ready to believe Mooney and Billings guilty. On learning the facts, however, he threw himself wholeheartily into the battle for their release. He writes later:

> "That these two men are entirely innocent of the crime is now known all over the world. No one who has heard the facts doubts it, yet Mooney and Billings are both serving life sentences, one in Folsom and the other in San Quentin, and the state seems willing that they should remain there until they die. Search criminal history back, down thru the Dark Ages, and a more glaring and cruel case of injustice cannot be found."

In addition to the record of his political battles, Fremont Older also records his succeeding humanitarian efforts among ex-convicts and prostitutes.

No realistic worker can become enthusiastic about a philosophy of life that Older finally evolves for himself. These are sadder but wiser days when workers are not so prone to accept simple humanitarian ideals as a cure-all for their ills. They have learned the value of organization and struggle. Yet there is a good deal of extremely interesting reading in this book by Older. My Own Story is a frank, courageous kind of a book. Thru its pages runs a warm human feeling. You may not agree with the author's philosophy. But you will be extremely interested in this—the record of a relatively honest fighter among capitalist editors.

Germany's Red Front Fighters

'Storm Troops of the Proletariat' in Impressive Berlin Parade

(Reprinted, Courtesy of 'The Nation')

By AGNES SMEDLEY

Berlin, June 12.

THE Red Front Fighters come to Berlin once a year to celebrate the future. They are an organization of over 200,000 men, 30,000 women, and some 50,000 youth. Although the leadership is Communist, only one-third of the members belong to the party. The president is Ernst Thälmann, transport worker and Communist Reichstag member from Hamburg, and one of the executives of the party. This is the organization that the minister of the interior, von Keudell, tried in vain to declare illegal about two months ago, while leaving the Fascist "Steel Helmets" untouched. These Red Front Fighters are known as the "storm-troops of the proletariat," organized in 1924 to counteract the growth of Fascism, to defend the working class, and, in case of another war, "to turn upon the capitalist class and change the war into a civil war for the destruction of capitalism and the establishment of a workers' and peasants' government." They are organized on a military basis and wear a gray uniform that looks much like the Russian Red Army uniform or the uniform of the Chinese Nationalist soldiers. The coat is half shirt, open at the throat and caught in at the waist and over the shoulder by leather straps. The cap, of the same material, has a solitary red star in front. Practically all men over twenty-five had military training in the last war, and even the Red Youth—young men from the ages of 16 to 21—look as if they had had it when they swing down the street.

The Masses Come.

Their fourth national gathering has just ended. They meet each year during the Whitsuntide holidays, and on Whitsunday is the great demonstration. This year 100,000 uniformed men and a few thousand women marched, followed by as many more non-uniformed Communist Party members. Seventy-five thousand came from outside Berlin—walking, riding bicycles, traveling in trucks of fourth-class railway carriages. Berlin contributed the other 25,000. For days in advance the working-class sections were busy preparing for their coming. Beds for 68,000 were arranged in the private homes of the workers, and it did not matter if some of these beds were bales of hay. The other men were housed in barracks or tents. The various divisions brought their bands with them, and when they began to arrive the railway stations were a mass of uniformed men waiting to start the music and escort their comrades through the streets. The workers' sections were a blaze of red; red flags and banners, red flowers, red streamers; red flowers or ribbons in the buttonholes or hats.

Impressive Demonstration.

On Whitsunday the buglers awoke the Red Front Fighters at six. From eight to ten there were concerts and gatherings in the many halls and on the many squares. At ten the marching began, and in the "respectable" parts of the city the comfortable ladies and gentlemen turned uneasily in their beds when they heard the steady marching of thousands of feet and the blare of bands playing the "International" and "Out to the Sun and the Light." If you were in the workers' sections, it seemed that the whole city was marching. Eisenstein could have made a marvelous picture of whole streets marching, seemingly crossing and recrossing, their red flags caught in the wind and blazing in the brilliant morning sun. The streets were seething with workers in their Sunday best—not only Communists, but all workers turned out for this occasion. Thousands of working women and girls stood along the lines with baskets of sandwiches and fruit, distributing food free to the marching men. Glasses of water and beer appeared by the thousands along the routes—workers' restaurant keepers giving free—and girls ran along beside the marchers waiting to take back the glasses.

THE Lustgarten was the goal of the marchers. On one side of the square is the former imperial palace; on another the cathedral; on the third the Museum of Ancient Arts, with a long flight of broad steps leading up to it; on the fourth the canal. Roads and bridges lead to it from six or seven different directions. Rows of police helmets gleamed on the top steps of the cathedral and the museum, and back of the museum hundreds of them were camped, with rifles ready, while across the canal were big police lorries, filled with men. Clear across the front of the cathedral, almost hiding the policemen, was a long, broad slash of red bunting with the white words "Red Front Fighters, join the Communist Party." Across the face of the imperial palace was another: "Each factory a fortress of the Red Front!" Shades of imperial ancestors!

Look Out! They're On Time!

The Red Front is frightfully punctual. At 2:30, on the scheduled moment, the first columns began to pour into the Lustgarten. Their red banners fluttered beyond the green trees and the bands blared their approach. Within a few minutes the garden was a gray sea of rhythmically marching men, a medley of music, a mass of great red flags and banners, while above the noise came the repeated triple shouts of "Red Front" as each new division received and gave their greeting. Divisions arrived from feudal East Prussia, from the Catholic South, from the great industrial centers of the Rhineland, the Ruhr, and Saxony. Hamburg and Stettin contributed not only industrial sections, but contingents of the "Red Marine" in seamen's uniform, raising their clenched fists and shouting "Red Front." Divisions from the brother Red Front organizations in Czecho-Slovakia, Austria, Switzerland, and France marched also; there was a small Chinese group, and now and then the lines threw up the faces of Negroes, Indians, Javanese. There were individual delegates from the Scandinavian countries, England, Australia, Russia, and India. The "Young Pioneers"—boys and girls under sixteen—marched; and the "Young Spartacans"—little chaps under twelve—screamed "Red Front! Hoch!" from their big motor lorries. The Red sport organizations, with their many members training for the Workers' Olympiad in Moscow, marched, both men and women in white shorts with bare arms, heads, and legs. The white-clad Workers' First Aid, which numbers some 80,000 men and women throughout the country, moved through the crowd, carrying stretchers or first-aid kits on their backs, ready to take any person who fainted to one of the many stations where physicians were in charge. On the broad steps of the museum stood a chorus of 300 Communist workingmen who shouted "Red Front" in unison as the columns marched past. With each call of "Red Front" the right fist, clenched, is raised. This is the greeting of all Red Front men and women and their sympathizers and supporters.

Endless Columns.

Two hours passed, but still the columns kept marching in and long after the demonstration was at an end they continued coming. The Lustgarten was filled to overflowing. The crowds spilled over into the squares beyond the palace, down Unter den Linden before the opera and the university, and blocked all the streets leading toward the garden. The crowd that gathered to watch and take part in the demonstration was estimated at from five to seven hundred thousand.

AT four the bugles sounded a warning from the statue in the center of the Lustgarten—then sounded it again. The audience became silent. From the steps of the museum the chorus of 300 men singers began "Out to the Sun and the Light." The museum served as a sounding board, the men's voices were strong and well trained. There are some thousand such Communist singers under training in Berlin. You could hear them as they sang, far on the other side of the garden. I doubt if I have ever heard anything so gripping as those strong, deep voices singing the songs of the revolution to a great audience standing in silence, the bright sun streaming upon them and their gleaming banners, the wind catching their flags and moving the green background of trees.

Red Front Oath.

After the second song the bugles called again, and simultaneously from every part of the vast concourse speakers arose—standing on steps, boxes, statues. They had all been given their points to emphasize, and fifteen minutes in which to deliver them. Then the bugles called again and the oath of the Red Front was given. The speakers read each line, with clenched fist raised, and the vast crowds repeated it. The oath was:

I swear:

> Never to forget that world imperialism is preparing a war against Soviet Russia.
> Never to forget that the destiny of the working class of the whole world is bound up with Soviet Russia.
> Never to forget the experience and the suffering of the working class in the imperialist World War.
> Never to forget the 4th of August, 1914, and the betrayal of the reformists.
> Always and forever to fulfill my revolutionary duty to the working class and socialism.
> Always and forever to remain a soldier of the revolution.
> Always and forever, in all proletarian mass organizations, in industries and factories, to be a pioneer of the irreconcilable class war.
> On the front, and in the army of imperialism, to work only for the revolution.
> To lead the revolutionary fight for the destruction of class rule and of the German bourgeoisie.
> To defend the Chinese revolution and the Soviet Union by any and every means.

I swear:

> Always and forever to fight for Soviet Russia and for the World Revolution.

The bugles sounded again when the last rumble of voices had died away. The chorus sang the "International" and the program was at an end.

Farewell Demonstration.

On Monday there was a great farewell meet. Many of the Red Front men from outside the city remained for a few days to see the sights. Most of them had never seen Berlin before. Some had brought their girls or wives along, simply or very poorly dressed, and for the next few days you could meet them in groups of fifteen or twenty looking at public buildings or, in curious scorn or amazement, at the fashionably dressed men and women sitting in the cafes on Unter den Linden or Kurfurstendamm. Not one could afford such luxury. For weeks their members had been taxed ten pfennigs a day for this Berlin trip. They carried their sandwiches, wrapped in newspapers, and every extra pfennig meant a sacrifice.

Only the Best.

THE strength of the Red Front Fighters' Federation cannot be judged by its numbers alone. The duties and discipline imposed upon members are so exacting that only the most determined men and women can remain in it. Every spare minute is claimed. There are mass meetings, study groups, organizational work. There are the many proletarian celebrations where propaganda is carried on. There was the work for Sacco and Vanzetti, for the Chinese revolution, for strikes in various parts of the world, for the Vienna uprisng. Just now the organization is working against the Fascist sentences in Italy. The man or woman who can meet the rigid discipline imposed by either the Red Front or the Communist Party and ofen the workers belong to both—is exceptional. But this keeps the organization down to from two to three hundred thousand. Those who do remain are steeled by the conviction that theirs is an historic mission—that history is with them.

Red Berlin.

Berlin remains red. In some of the workers' sections the Communist Party stands first. The next four years will be filled with intense and bitter struggle. The Red Front has plans, in the eventuality of war, that will not stop with parliamentary agitation. They do not hide the fact; they warn the German bourgeoisie, they proclaim their intentions before the entire working class and call for recruits. The Red Front Fighters may one day be suppressed. But to suppress th[illegible] a half million voters is not [illegible] and if the federation is suppr[illegible] all Communists may be called to join them.

Told You So

THERE was a man for you! Alexander Peacock once owned an estate worth $15,000,000. He died leaving only a paltry $100,000. But he was a game Peacock. Once his butler brought him an egg that almost warbled. In anger Peacock ordered his real estate director to purchase a chicken farm for his own personal use. It cost $60,000. That's wot we call a bloomin' gentleman.

ONE never knows what to eat nowadays unless one is wise enough to eat what he darned well likes, provided he has the price. The writer was talked into a diet of sour milk and cheese recently by a glib-tongued amateur health expert. It is true that he sneaks away sometimes and surreptitiously devours a beef stew but he also indulges in sour cream. Fancy his embarrassment when he read in the papers a few days ago that a whole family went to the hospital for eating sour milk and cheese.

For all-round ubiquity you can't beat the House of Morgan. It is here, there, and everywhere. You will find a member of the House cheek by jowl with Al Smith at his commodious headquarters in the Biltmore Hotel or on the golf links. You will find another one advising Calles of Mexico how to run the government. And you will find still another visiting Calvin Coolidge at his summer white house, no doubt giving the President tips on how to catch trout with worms.

There is excellent team work in the House of Morgan. It appears, too, that the most complete objectivity prevails among its members. For instance, while the masses yell themselves hoarse over the merits of their respective capitalist favorites in the boss parties, the Democratic lookout in the House of Morgan and the Republican watchdog take their political duties as serenely as they would the granting of a loan to strengthen the Fascist power in Italy.

The foregoing paragraphs were inspired by a news dispatch announcing the arrival of Thomas Cochran, a partner of J. P. Morgan & Co., at Cedar Island Lodge, where Coolidge is spending the summer. It is significant that Secretary of the Navy Wilbur arrived almost simultaneously. It is additionally significant that Wilbur brought a report on the situation in Nicaragua to Coolidge, and, of course, nobody has to inform you that Morgan is interested in Nicaragua.

The same news dispatch informs us that Cochran is a close personal friend of Dwight Morrow, Morgan's ambassador to Mexico. Did Cochran come with instructions from Morgan to Coolidge how to act in the present crisis in Mexico? Perhaps the private wire that runs into Morgan's office from his Mexican embassy keeps him supplied with information of a character so secret that it cannot be entrusted to the State Department in Washington. And since Mr. Cochran had an appointment with Mr. Coolidge to discuss the Mexican situation, perhaps he phoned Wilbur to meet him, so they might consider the advisability of sending more marines to Nicaragua. Anyhow, we are of the opinion that here we have the slickest-working dictatorship of Big Capital in the world.

U.S. WAR PLANS TO BE EXPOSED AT GIANT MEET

Thousands Expected at Union Sq. Saturday.

Speakers will expose the war preparations of American imperialism at the huge anti-militarist meeting to be held in Union Square Saturday at 1 o'clock.

Thousands of workers are expected to demonstrate against the war plans of the American Empire, and the meeting will serve notice on Wall Street that the masses are awake to the real meaning of Kellogg's "peace" talk while military preparation is being rushed forward, new warships, airplanes and munitions manufactured and the youth militarized by the "Citizens Military Training Camps," National Guard camps, and other institutions.

The meeting will be under the joint auspices of District 2 of the Workers (Communist) Party and the Young Workers (Communist) League.

League Worries Jingoes.

This meeting is being held only two days before thousands of young workers and students from New York leave for the "Citizens Military Training Camps' for the August session. The Young Workers (Communist) League recently has conducted working class propaganda in the C. M. T. C. so intensively that the Department of Justice has announced that special laws will be presented to the next session of Congress to stop the anti-militarist work of the League. Phil Frankfeld, District Organizer of the League, and Paul Crouch will tell of these anti-militarist activities, and of the fight for John Porter, a young soldier court-martialed because he deserted from the army when he became conscious of its anti-labor role and became active in the textile strike and the Communist youth movement.

Gitlow and Minor to Speak.

The Workers (Communist) Party will be represented by many prominent speakers, including Ben Gitlow, Communist candidate for vice president, Robert Minor, editor of the Daily Worker, and Albert Weisbord, leader of the Passaic textile strike.

Other Speakers.

Other speakers will be M. J. Olgin, Communist editor, Richard B. Moore, organizer of the American Negro Labor Congress, Ray Ragozin, in charge of Women's work, Ben Gold, militant leader of the furriers, Rebecca Grecht, Campaign Manager of the Workers (Communist) Party, Bert Miller, Organization Secretary of the Workers (Communist) Party, and D. Benjamin, Director of the Workers School.

CONFERENCE TO HEAR NEARING

Working Women Will Meet Tonight

Scott Nearing, Communist writer and teacher, will be the principal speaker at the second conference of the New York Working Women's Federation, to be held at the Labor Temple, 14th St. and Second Ave., tonight at 7:30.

To Discuss War Danger

"The War Danger" will be the topic of discussion in which representatives from a large number of labor and fraternal organizations will participate.

"Against the futile 'peace' talk of the pacifists," a statement issued last night by the organization stated "the New York Working Women's Federation has raised the slogan of struggle against capitalist imperialism by the united action of the working class."

Declaring that the federation has taken the initiative in launching a campaign to arouse working women to the menace of the next war, the statement points out that the world imperialists are carefully hatching a plot against the Soviet Union. "The stage," the statement says, "is set for war, with the first Workers' Republic as the target for attack."

Open Discussion.

The federation cites the activities of the American empire in Latin America and China and calls upon working women everywhere "to join in the campaign to expose the plans for a new world carnage."

Representatives from all labor and fraternal organizations are invited to attend the conference tonight. Discussion from the floor will follow the talk by Nearing, it is announced.

TEN WORKERS KILLED IN CANAL DISASTER

THOROLD, Ont., Aug. 1 (UP).—Ten men were known dead, five were missing and 31 were seriously injured today when a 500 ton steel gate held by a derrick slipped and precipitated the men working on it to the bottom of the Welland Canal at Lock Six.

The gate was being hoisted by two derricks preparatory to being set into place when one derrick snapped under the strain.

All the men killed and injured were employed in the construction of the canal.

The injured were removed to hospitals in St. Catherines, eight miles away, by commandered conveyances and ambulances sent from that city and Thorold.

Wrecking crews were able to clear away part of the debris late today, but it is expected it will be hours before the huge gate can be lifted to get at the men pinned beneath it.

"L" MOTORMAN IS STILL IN PRISON

Labor Defense May Take Up Case

Kept in jail because he has thus far been unable to furnish the $15,000 bail set by the Tammany authorities, suspended by the Interborough officials who have framed-up the case against him in order to escape responsibility for their own guilt, Stanley N. Zellig, "L" motorman, whose train was involved in the Sunday wreck, faces a certain prison term unless militant labor rises to his defense.

The Interborough officials yesterday maintained silence as to its procedure following their announcement Tuesday that the company would wash its hands of the motorman. It became certain, however, that the so-called suspension announced is actually the discharge of Zellig. A half dozen cases in the past provide the precedent for this action.

In the meantime it was learned yesterday that the International Labor Defense, an organization created for the purpose of defending workers who fall into the clutches of the bosses' courts, has become interested in the case. In a statement branding the case as an obvious frame-up, officers of the organization declared that they were prepared to take up the defense of the innocent motorman. It is believed that some steps will be taken to secure Zellig's release from jail.

Following the death of one of the passengers in the Sunday night wreck, Zellig was arrested on a charge of manslaughter. Assistant District Attorney Pecora in a vicious attack, which showed evidences of having been pre-arranged with the Interborough officials, sought to create the impression that the motorman was guilty of the accident.

The whole case centers about the attempt of the Interborough to cover up its criminal use of wooden cars, the use of which have been condemned in the past and which have caused the death of numbers of passengers.

The Tammany controlled Transit Commission has issued a report whitewashing the Interborough officials and seeking to blame the motorman.

Venizelos Accused of Murder by Pangalos

ATHENS, August 1.—Venizelos dictator of Greece, has been charged by Pangalos, who was recently released from jail by the dictator, with the execution of the former premier Gounaris and his fellow ministers in 1922.

Pangalos thus shifts the charge from himself to Venizelos, who has used terrorist methods against the Greek workers in the recent strike.

WAR AGREEMENT SEEN IN PACT

British and French in Alliance

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (UP).—Details concerning the secret British-French naval compromise were received by the state department today in a note from the British government transmitted through the American embassy in London.

Secretary of State Kellogg immediately instructed the embassy to ask permission to publish the note. Meanwhile he refused to discuss its contents.

War Pact Seen.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—While the contents of the Franco-British naval pact is still being kept secret, comments in official government circles here reveal it is a strong bond between the British and French governments and a treaty of mutual armament development.

The reports here indicate that there has been no agreement on actual decrease of armaments and that what limitations are entered into are calculated to help the development of the two navies along lines favorable to both powers. All plans for construction of more equipment must be communicated to the allied governments five years in advance.

Wages of Cottonseed Workers Average $15

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. — The average wage of workers in the cottonseed oil mills in the Unted States was $15.53 per week, according to figures compiled for sample weeks in 1927 by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Department of Labor. The figures were a part of a study of wages and hours of labor and working conditions in cotton gins, compresses and oil mills.

LUMBER BOSS FRAME-UP

Jordan Urges Centralia Victims' Release

Protests against the continued imprisonment of the Centralia prisoners in Walla Walla, Washington and demands for their unconditional pardon continue to pour in upon Governor Roland H. Hartley and H. B. Clausen, Chairman of the Parole Board from labor organizations and prominent individuals. Robert Whitaker, author and formerly a minister of the First Baptist Church of Seattle and Professor David Starr Jordan, President Emeritus of Leland Stanford University, California are among those who have added their protests, according to letters received by the national office of the International Labor Defense, 80 E. 11th Street, New York.

Whitaker in his letter to the Governor declares:

The continued imprisonment in Walla Walla of the eight members of the I.W.W. by reason of the hysteria of the after war period, is a heavy handicap upon the reputation of Washington. . . . Particularly at this time the United States is in a special need of every possible exhibit of the spirit of tolerance and good will. . . . May I urge that your

TO MOBILIZE IN MEMORY OF JEAN JAURES SUNDAY

Couturier Is Arrested; Jailed; Fined

PARIS, Aug. 1.—Thousands of French workers will defy the order of Minister of the Interior Sarraut, forbidding all meetings of workers in the district of the Seine, and will march to participate in the call to the Communist colors in the suburb of Garches, Sunday. The call to the Communist colors is in commemoration of the death of Jean Jaures, militant French labor leader, murdered on the eve of the World War.

Workers thruout the city of Paris and its suburbs have affirmed their intention of defying the government's orders to smash the demonstration.

Supplementary orders from the interior department have given Prefect of Police Chiappe permission to break up any meeting of workers by any means necessary. A veiled threat to call out the army is ridiculed by the workers who claim that it would cause an insurrection.

The attempt of the authorities to smash the huge workers' mobilization has been ushered in with the arrest of Vaillant Couturier, one of the editors of L'Humanite, French Communist daily, whose militant articles calling upon the masses to ignore the government's orders appeared recently.

Vaillant Couturier has been sentenced to six months' in jail and a fine of 10,000 francs on charges of provoking disobedience among the soldiery.

A F L POSTPONES ACTION ON SMITH

Officials Make Gesture at Organizing

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 1.—The executive committee of the American Federation of Labor in session here announced the postponement of its expected decision to endorse Al Smith for the presidency. The reason given out by William Green, president of the Federation in a guarded statement was that the labor bureaucrats would prefer to wait until after the acceptance speeches of the candidates.

It is known, however, that members of the executive council have been divided over the endorsement of Hoover and Smith and the present announcement, it is believed, represents a temporary compromise between these officials.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 1.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor in session here made a crude gesture towards organization work by announcing that it would organize the aviation workers before the company unions would get on the job. A similar announcement was made in regard to the auto workers two years ago, but nothing was done. No informed person really believes that the Green-Woll crew is in earnest in its new announcement.

PRIEST AND NUN IN OBREGON CASE

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 1.—As the investigation of the assassination of President-elect Obregon comes to its close, the Catholic clergy has become involved through the direct influence of a priest and the nun, Mother Concepcion, upon the assassin, Torral.

The trial, which is shortly to be held, will be considerably complicated by the introduction of a "third party" to the prosecution. In addition to the prosecution and the defense, the Obregonista party will, through its representatives, take an active part in the case in accordance with the Mexican law which provides for this third element.

The Obregonistas, who stand in opposition to the Federation of Labor and are more prone to be favorable to the Catholic Church, have affirmed that Morones was responsible for the murder.

MOVE TO CRUSH INDIAN CRISIS

British Send Army Against Peasants

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 1.—Admittedly fearing outbreaks all over India, especially in the textile mills in Bombay, as a result of the confiscatory measures of the Bardoli peasants in seizing and plowing the ground despite government orders, two British regiments, two squadrons of cavalry, twelve armored cars and an air force squadron have been dispatched to quell the situation in the northern Bombay district.

A population of 88,000 Indian peasants, men and women, has been mobilized to offer passive resistance to the government forces, while a detachment of six hundred has been detailed as an intelligence department to report the movements of the government's troops.

Despite the policy of non-resistance affected by the leaders of the movement in the Bardoli district, the arrival of the government squadrons is believed to presage the opening of possible mass hostilities. The authorities are frank in admitting that they fear, and are taking measures to cope with, armed outbreaks throughout the country as a repercussion from the struggle in Bardoli.

Drastic measures are planned against the Bardoli peasantry whose mass movement has for months prevented the approach of a single tax collector into the district while the peasants took over the lands declared confiscatory by the government and sowed them themselves.

Any attempt to remove the ripening crops will be met with military resistance, Collector Hartshorn of the Bardoli district declared today.

STRESS THE WAR DANGER AT MEET

Discuss Campaign at Party Rally

"We must use the election campaign to fight the war danger," John J. Ballam, acting organizer of District 2 declared last night at a membership meeting of the Workers (Communist) Party held at Manhattan Lyceum, 66 E. 4th St.

Ballam discussed the antagonisms between the bourgeoisie and the proletariat, between the exploited colonies and the imperialist countries, between the imperialist nations themselves and the struggle between the capitalist countries on one hand and the Soviet Union on the other.

"At the present time there is an economic depression due to the rationalization process, with more than 4,000,000 unemployed in the country," said Ballam.

Discussing the use of the National Guardsmen in New Bedford, Ballam said that as the class struggle becomes more acute the soldiers will be called upon to shoot down the workers.

Rebecca Grecht spoke on the increasing radicalization of the workers and the role of the Workers (Communist) Party in the growing economic struggles. She urged the fullest support of the election campaign of the Workers (Communist) Party in its fight against the parties of the capitalists.

Bert Miller, organizational secretary of district 2, was chairman of the meeting.

"HELL BREAKS LOOSE IN TEXTILE STRIKE"

"Hell is again breaking loose in the textile industry." This is the warning issued yesterday by the Workers International Relief which is providing food and clothing for most of the 28,000 New Bedford mill workers who are now entering the 16th week of strike.

Calling attention to the new reign of terror instituted by the mill barons, made desperate by the united front of the strikers, the W. I. R. is making an appeal for funds with which to continue its vital work in New Bedford.

The call reads in part:

Workers! Friends!

Stand by the fighting textile workers!

"Hell is again breaking loose in the textile industry!

"This time it is in New Bedford, Mass., where for sixteen weeks 28,000 men, women and children have

MORGAN BANKERS "GIVE" TO SMITH

Republicans to Begin With $4,000,000

Announcement of the contributors to the Al Smith campaign fund has disclosed two of the largest donners of $10,000 each as members of firms connected with the Morgan banking interests. The first of these came from John D. Ryan, president of the anti-labor, Anaconda Copper Company. The second came from John T. Smith, counsel for the General Motors Company.

Raskob, Kenny and Todd, Al Smith's immediate multi-millionaire friends have not yet been disclosed as contributors. It is believed that ways will be found to conceal large contributions made by these figures while they later announce moderate gifts.

Republican campaign manager Work, announced boldly that the sum set as a jumping off figure for the G. O. P. campaign would be $4,000,000.

SACCO MEMORIAL MEETS PLANNED

Will Link Case With Mooney Fight

Sacco-Vanzetti memorial meetings, under the auspices of the various sections of International Red Aid, will be held throughout the world during the week of August 19 to 26, 1928. The national office of International Labor Defense, 80 East 11th St., New York, is in receipt of many communications and cables from the Red Aid (Rote Hilfe) of Germany, the Canadian Labor Defense League, the International Class War Prisoners Aid of England, the Red Aid (Mopr) of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics and many other sections, outlining plans for the commemoration of the memories of Sacco and Vanzetti, labor's martyrs. International Labor Defense is organizing the meetings in the United States.

Linked With Mooney Case.

The Sacco-Vanzetti memorials to be held on an international scale are being linked with the frame-up against Tom Mooney and Warren Billings, the two American class war prisoners about to begin their 13th year at San Quentin and Folsom, Calif.

"The case of Sacco and Vanzetti," pointed out Martin Abern, assistant national secretary of International Labor Defense, "cannot be treated isolated, but it is necessary to combine it with the special occurrences of terror and class justice in each country and to demonstrate that the Sacco and Vanzetti case is only a link in the chain of class justice and international white terror. Mooney and Billings were framed-up and imprisoned by the powers of the open-shoppers in California and the consent of American imperialism. Labor throughout the world sees this and, therefore, the Sacco-Vanzetti memorial meetings will be utilized to demonstrate for and demand the freedom of Mooney and Billings."

The Canadian Labor Defense League, writes Florence Custance, Canadian secretary to the I. L. D., is organizing Sacco-Vanzetti meetings and is conducting a campaign for the Centralia prisoners and Mooney and Billings.

HOLD NATIONAL GUARDS READY FOR NEW RAIDS

Women and Children March in Long Line

(Special to the Daily Worker)

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 1.—Following the passage by the New Bedford chamber of commerce of a resolution applauding the violence of the police in arresting hundreds of striking textile workers at the Whitman Mill two days ago, Commander Charles Davis tonight called a meeting of the local American Legion to consider offering the services of the legionnaires as strikebreakers.

The chamber of commerce resolution, which was accepted earlier in the day, demands that all strike organizers be driven from the city or jailed. The Kiwanis Club has approved the chamber of commerce resolution.

Sentiment against the proposed strike arbitration is strong in the Textile Council with the majority of the unions opposed. The first vote of the slashers' union has already registered against arbitration.

The New Bedford Textile Union and the Workers' International Relief are caring for the children whose parents have been jailed as a result of the police raids at the Whitman Mill.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 1.—Defiant of the order of Chief of Police McLeod to arrest every strike leader for law violations on sight, regardless of the nature of his offense, a picket line of 300, which swelled to nearly one thousand before police appeared, continued picketing the Whitman Mill yesterday. Smaller lines formed also at the other mills.

The order issued to the police accompanied the decision of the city authorities to retain Battery E of the Massachusetts National Guard in their armory in preparation for further raids against the picket lines. The battery, which is under orders to proceed for training to Fort Wright, Long Island, was ordered detained by Mayor Charles S. Ashley.

Determination was the feeling prevailing on the lines which surrounded the Whitman Mill yesterday and on which women and chil-

Workers Party Units Contribute $100 To Help Daily Worker

The Daily Worker has received two contributions from units of the Workers (Communist) Party, both of an equal amount. These units made it a special point on their agendas to raise specific contributions.

The South Slav section of the Party, St. Louis, Mo., at a recent picnic held for the benefit of the Communist press in the United States, collected $50 for the Daily Worker.

The same amount, $50, was raised by the Syracuse, N. Y., unit of the Workers (Communist) Party.

abor Defense Brands Manslaughter Charge Against I.R.T. Motorman as Frame-up

S COMPANY [illegible] BLAME FOR "L" COLLISION

Calls on Workers to Aid Victim

[illegible] arraignment of Stanley N. [illegible] I. R. T. motorman, on a [illegible] of manslaughter in connec[illegible] with a collision between two [illegible] trains last Sunday, in which [illegible] persons were injured, is de[illegible] by the New York section of the International Labor Defense as a vicious frame-up and an at[illegible] to shift responsibility from the company to the shoulders of a worker. In a statement issued last night, signed by Rose Baron, secretary of the New York section, the I. L. D. declares:

Slaved 13 Years.

"After slaving for 15 years for the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, during which time he did [illegible] a single accident, Stanley [illegible] a motorman, has reaped his reward in the form of a charge of manslaughter and the possibility of a long jail term as a result of an accident for which the I. R. T. is criminally to blame.

"Zillig was one of the 64 persons who were seriously injured in this [illegible]. One of the 64 has since [illegible]. No one is to blame for this accident but the Interborough Rapid [illegible] Company, which continues [illegible] wooden cars that have been [illegible] even by its own Transit Commission and ignores other precautions to safeguard the lives of workers and passengers.

"But who would ever think of charging Mr. Hedley or Mr. Quack[illegible] with manslaughter? Being [illegible] of the sacred capitalist [illegible], they are too sacred. A scapegoat is needed. And so after risking his life daily for the scab Inter[illegible] company, Zillig gets his [illegible] of boss gratitude. Of course, [illegible] this was delicately done. The I. R. T. at first pretended to defend the worker and later piously washed [illegible] hands of the case.

"The New York section of the International Labor Defense con[illegible] the charge against Zillig as a vicious and brazen frame-up in which the Interborough Rapid Transit Company is playing the chief role. It calls upon all workers to support Zillig's fight for freedom in every possible way."

ISSUE MILL MEET CALL IN PASSAIC

Weisbord to Speak on Textile Situation

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 1.—The [illegible] arrests and clubbing of New Bedford textile strikers has had its [illegible] in Passaic where the work[illegible] have mobilized the textile work[illegible] of the city by distributing leaf[illegible] at the mill gates calling them to the mass meeting on August 2 at [illegible] p. m., Ukranian Hall at President St.

Weisbord to Talk.

Albert Weisbord, who was arrested [illegible] New Bedford yesterday, has been released and will report on the latest developments of the New Bedford struggle. Working class organizations, individuals and unions have [illegible] in pledges of support and will [illegible] over their contributions Thursday evening to rush help to the New Bedford strikers. The calling out of the state militia and the attempt [illegible] intimidate the workers at the [illegible] of its bayonets has met with [illegible]. The picket lines they are [illegible] have been reinforced. For [illegible] striker arrested, another work[illegible] takes his place for picket duty.

The New Bedford strikers are in [illegible] fight to the finish. All or[illegible] workers must rally to their support. The meeting Thursday night for Passaic opens the drive for [illegible] nation-wide-campaign to mobilize the solidarity of the workingclass [illegible] country for the New Bedford [illegible] strikers. All workers are [illegible] to attend the Weisbord meeting to line up their organizations for the relief drive.

Soviet Youth Gets Artistic Training

[illegible]COW, (By Mail).—During the latter part of June an All-[illegible] Conference for the artistic [illegible] of the youth took place in [illegible] at the initiative of the EC [illegible] YCLSU. The conference was [illegible] by a representative of the [illegible] Committee. Representa[illegible] of the art theatres, cinema[illegible] and YCL organizations of [illegible] Soviet Union participated in the [illegible].

[illegible] conference was in the nature [illegible] review of forces and was also [illegible] occasion for an exchange of ex[illegible] gained in the USSR in [illegible] domain. Achievements, par[illegible] those of the Leningrad or[illegible] called TRAM (the [illegible] Workers' Theatre), were [illegible] and existing defects were [illegible]. Capitalism Harnesses Them Early

Capitalism assiduously uses the schools to spread its propaganda. Little by little the children are taught what capitalism wants them to think and feel while they are too young to think for themselves. The picture shows New York Public School children drafted to clean up Central Park.

Young Workers!

ACTIVE LEAGUE IN NEW BEDFORD

National Guardsmen Join Movement

The New Bedford League is making tremendous gains in recruiting the young textile workers and strikers into its ranks. The League at present has about 100 members, the greatest majority of which are young strikers who are active in the strike of the 30,000 workers in New Bedford.

Excellent Headquarters.

The League has rented a beautiful and spacious hall in the center of the city, and day or night young workers can be found reading writing, or doing other work at the headquarters. These young workers in the three months of strike have learned that only by joining the League, the only revolutionary youth organization can they wage a successful fight not only against the cotton barons, but against the capitalist class as a whole.

Appeal to National Guard.

The use of the New Bedford National Guard against the workers resulted in the distribution of thousands of leaflets by the New Bedford League calling upon the Guards to stand together with their brothers and fight not the workers but the bosses. Already, hundreds of members of the National Guard young strikers and workers, have come on the picket lines and refuse to be used against the workers. When Battery F went to camp, the League distributed a special leaflet to the young workers, and the story goes in official headquarters that one of the reasons this battery was withdrawn at this time is because of the work the League had carried on in winning over the young Guards to the side of the strikers. Many Guards, in no hesitating manner have already informed their officials to "go to hell."

League to Stay.

The League in New Bedford is there to stay. The League has proven its right to being the vanguard of the proletarian youth. This contrasts well with the fact that the Y.P.S.L.s are only discredited in New Bedford, and have failed to gain a single member, having even no branch there. More power to the militant Young Workers Communist League of New Bedford!

"With the Young Workers" section appears in the Daily Worker every Monday and Thursday in the City Edition and Tuesday and Friday in the National Edition. Young Workers are requested to send contributions for this department to: Young Workers League, 43 East 125 Street, New York City.

Write to John Porter!

Young workers are requested to write personal letters to John Porter, New Bedford organizer of the Young Workers Communist League and strike leader, who was sentenced to two and a half years hard labor by court-martial. These letters will make Porter's prison life more pleasant and will let him know that he is not alone in the struggle.

Address: John Porter (Walerysiak), Guard House, Fort Adams, R. I.

Correspondence with Soviet Union.

Komsomol groups and individual young workers in the Soviet Union are anxious to correspond with Young Workers Communist League units and individuals in the United States. YOUNG WORKERS EXPOSE BOSSES

Waukegan League to Continue Meetings

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (By Mail).—Five members of the Wauken Young Workers (Communist) League were arrested recently for holding an election campaign street meeting. As the first speaker was pulled down from the platform, another comrade mounted it and started to speak to the crowd that had assembled to listen to the speakers. One after another, five comrades were pulled off the speakers' platform and jailed on a charge of holding a meeting without a permit.

The Chicago District Committee issued a statement after the arrest exposing the capitalist freedom of speech, and pointing out that while the U. S. constitution is supposed to guarantee the freedom of expressing your opinion, but when necessary this guarantee is miscarried and overlooked by the state authorities. The Young Workers (Communist) League is determined to continue the open-air meetings in spite of arrests and when necessary to mobilize the workers of Waukegan to defend their rights of free speech.

MANY SCHOOLS IN SOVIET UNION

Students Ask About American Life

In the following letter, received by the National Office of the Young Workers Communist League, young students in Minsk, U. S. S. R., tell of the educational advantages of today as compared with the oppression of the Czar.

These students in Minsk wish to correspond with young American workers. Communications should be sent to the National Office of the League to be translated and forwarded to the Soviet Union.

"Minsk, U. S. S. R.

"Dear Comrades:

"We are anxious to correspond with America. Some one gave us your address and we are taking the opportunity of sending you this letter.

"We are much interested in the living conditions in America and particularly of the workers in the cities.

Many Schools Now.

"We are students of the Polish Technical School (many workers here speak Polish instead of Russian). In the days of the Czar, there were very few schools here and they were only in Russian, but now there is no shortage of educational institutions.

"The population of our Republic consists of White Russians, Poles, Jews, and Russians, and schools are conducted in all of these languages Study Esperanto.

"A few words about ourselves now. We are members of the Esperanto Section of our school. We study Esperanto during our second year. One group of our Section corresponds with France, Germany and Japan, and we wish to correspond with you.

"In our school there are many organizations such as the Komsomols, the Communist Party, International Red Aid, Association for Linking Up the City with the Village (promoting closer relationship between city workers and farmers) League to Aid in Defense of the U.S.S.R., and others.

"Now, we finish our first letter to you.

"Write, please, about living conditions in your city and the political and cultural life.

"With greetings,

PORTER PROTEST MEET IN DULUTH DESPITE POLICE

Many Workers Present at Demonstration

(By a Worker Correspondent)

DULUTH, Minn. (By Mail).—The Young Workers (Communist) League of Duluth held an "anti-Citizens' Military Training Camp and John Porter" open-air meeting tonight. The meeting was advertised for 7:30 p. m. for Sixth Ave. West and Superior St.

The meeting was started on time, with about 200 people in attendance. The first speaker on the program was the league district organizer, Sam Reed. When the speaker was about half through, and while explaining the John Porter case, a policeman rushed over to the speaker and demanded a permit for the meeting. When informed that the chief of police gave us a verbal permit to hold the meeting, the "preserver of the law" was not satisfied and threatened to disperse the crowd if we insisted on holding the meeting.

Meanwhile about 500 people assembled, who cheered several times for our speakers and demanded that the meeting be allowed to continue.

After an unsuccessful attempt to get in touch with the chief of police, our comrades decided to hold the meeting at a public square, a few blocks away from the original place. An appeal was made to the workers to follow to the new meeting place and the majority started in a body to the public square.

Try to Disturb Meeting.

Two motorcycle policemen were sent down to the square, and although they tried to disturb the meeting by circling around and making noise, yet they did not dare to, or maybe they could not find any direct pretense for breaking up the meeting.

While the disturbance was going on, our literature committee was on the job with Daily Workers and other literature, and a large number of them were sold.

The party and the league are determined to keep up street meetings every week on Sixth Ave. and Superior St., and will put up a fight for free speech and free assemblage for our party and league in Duluth, Minn.

Soldiers Punished for "Insulting Army"

PARIS, Aug. 1.—The army council in Orleans has sentenced a soldier and 15 demobilized gunners of the 15th squad who were charged with "insulting the army." These soldiers were guilty of the following offence. On the eve of their demobilization they decided to be photographed in a group. When the group was being taken a friend of the soldiers planted in their midst a big poster bearing the hammer and sickle and the following inscription, "Long live the rank and file, down with the officer brood." (Vive la Classe a bas les Fayets). This picture fell into the hands of an officer who denounced the soldiers with the result that they were brought before a military court, charged with insulting the army and sentenced from one to three months and the rest to two months imprisonment or 30 francs fine.

14 KILLED IN CRASH.

BERLIN, August 1.—A local train crashed into the rear end of a freight train near Dinkelscherben at 4 a.m today. Fourteen were killed and twelve seriously injured.

4 BOYS ESCAPE FROM HOME.

Four boys escaped from their place of confinement at St. Joseph's Home, at 12 West 129 Street, on Tuesday afternoon. The young boy prisoners ranged in age from nine to twelve.

Being Trained for the Coming Slaughter

It is to prevent the slaughter of uniformed workers in the armies and the thousands of workers outside that the Workers (Communist) Party is arranging nation-wide protest meetings on August 4, the anniversary of the world war against the coming imperialist war. The picture shows soldiers at target practise at Fort Jay in New York harbor.

JERSEY ELECTION MEETING SUNDAY

Weisbord, Nearing at Ratification

The New Jersey State Ratification Conference of the Workers (Communist) Party, to be held on Sunday, August 5, at the Workers Progressive Center, 93 Mercer St., Newark, will mark the opening of the Communist election campaign in a state which is notorious for its anti-labor record. The enthusiastic response to the conference, already evident by the large number of workers' organizations who are sending delegates, shows that the workers of New Jersey are beginning to understand that the capitalist parties are their enemies, and that the political and industrial situation in New Jersey presents great possibilities for an effective Communist election campaign.

New Jersey has long been known as a haven for big corporation interests. Because of its exceptionally favorable laws for corporations, big business has sought incorporation there, assured, furthermore, of little state interference in the exploitation and oppression of New Jersey workers.

Bad Condition of Workers.

With its textile mills, munitions plants, metal manufacturing establishments, oil refineries, automobile and aeroplane factories, New Jersey ranks as one of the most important industrial states in the east. The workers in these industries are almost entirely unorganized. Low wages, long hours, industrial hazards, wretched working conditions, combine to render the lot of New Jersey workers bitter in the extreme. Child labor is rampant. Thousands of women workers, many of them mothers of little children, toil on day and night shifts for miserable wages.

The political forces of the state have openly allied themselves with the corporation interests. Factory inspection laws are disregarded with impunity, as well as laws against night work for women and child labor. The New Jersey State Legislature has easily passed laws serving the corporation interests, but has killed all labor bills urged against it. Injunctions, police brutality and terrorism, arrests and imprisonment, are the weapons used against the workers when they attempt to organize or go on strike.

Old Parties Unite Against Workers.

Workers' organizations have still time to choose representatives to the State Ratification Conference on Sunday, August 5, in Newark, where a state platform will be adopted and plans outlined for carrying on an intensive drive among the workers of New Jersey. Albert Weisbord and Scott Nearing will be the principal speakers.

Musical Program.

Preceding the conference, on Saturday night, August 4, at the Workers' Progressive Center in Newark, will be held a Ratification Banquet. Many workers from all over the state are expected to attend. In addition to the eats there will be music and entertainment. Both candidates for governor and U. S. Senator will be present. Admission is $1.

Workers can arrange automobile parties to attend the banquet and conference from other cities. Those coming from points at considerable distance from Newark will find free accommodations overnight.

THOUSANDS TO BE AT I. L. D. OUTING

Attractive Program Is Being Arranged

Many nationalities will be represented at the great outing of the New York section of the International Labor Defense, to be held Saturday, Aug. 11, at Pleasant Bay Park. Thousands of workers are preparing to attend this annual event of the left-wing movement.

An elaborate program is being prepared for the outing, including sports and games of all sorts, open-air dancing, a torchlight parade, music and refreshments. A feature of the program will be the taking of moving pictures of the affair.

Tickets for the outing are 35 cents and are now on sale at the office of the I. L. D., 799 Broadway Room 422, and at the Workers Center, 26-28 Union Square.

U. S. DICTATES BOGOTA OIL PLAN

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 1.—A heated debate and severe criticism of the Colombian government oil policy is expected when the minister of industries appears in the Chamber to discuss oil measures. The Colombian government is charged with following the dictates of the U. S. State Department in its oil legislation according to a considerable section of "liberal" opinion in the Chamber.

The criticism will center about the repeal of the emergency oil law which was suspended on June 2 by the president after several United States oil companies had opened suit to protest its constitutionality and after the American State Department had some "informal" conferences with the Colombian government.

Kellogg is alleged to be planning for the conferences thru the United States minister S. H. Piles at Bogota with the Colombian government in an attempt to smooth over the difficulties, and appease the opposition.

Denver Train Worker Badly Injured on Job

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 1.—Harry S. Monahan, employed as a brakeman by the Colorado and Southern Railroad, was seriously injured last night when he was crushed between a box car and the wall of a cotton mill here.

He suffered a broken left arm, dislocated shoulder, serious cuts and bruises about the body and face, and possible internal injuries. He was removed to the Denver General Hospital.

MILLINERS BEGIN ORGANIZATIONAL CAMPAIGN IN NY

Labor Greets Proposal With Enthusiasm

At an enthusiastic meeting held Tuesday evening, about 400 woman millinery worker members of local 43 gathered at Bryant Hall, 6th Ave and 41st St., for the purpose of inaugurating the big organizational campaign among the millinery workers for the opening of the new season.

Workers adopted restrictions providing that the new organizational campaign and drive be immediately begun among the unorganized trimmers in the industry; that the chairladies and the shop committees in the various shops be instructed to settle upon a satisfactory wage scale for the girls employed in their factories; that these chairladies and shop committees should always be in close communication and contact with the local about the scale of wages, in order to be sure that they are upheld.

It was also reported that several shops have been forced to settle with the local, reinstating the girls they had previously discharged.

The J. Anderson Hat Company, 65 W. 39th St. which is one of the largest firms in the industry, where the girls after being locked out and went on a strike which has lasted over a week, has settled with the local and has signed an agreement and taken the girls back to work.

At the Fairfield Hat Company the six girls who were locked out have been reinstated and the lock out settled.

The lockout which took place at the Meyers Hat Company was settled with local 43 within a day of the event, and the girls who were discharged were reinstated.

A further recommendation of the executive board, made for the purpose of making the organizational campaign more effective, asked that all members impose upon themselves a voluntary tax of a day's wages.

tion committee of 500 was held in Manhattan Lyceum which also discussed the work in connection with the Aug. 8 meeting and the organization drive.

Elaborate plans are being made for the Bronx Stadium meeting, which is expected to prove the turning-point in the struggles of the cloak and dressmakers against the holy alliance between the right-wing clique, the bosses and the underworld.

Send Letter.

As part of the efforts to make this campaign as strong as possible, a letter has been sent to all members of Local 22, Dressmakers Union, signed by Julius Portnoy, manager, asking them to pay up their dues at once, as well as the $10 tax levied by the National Organization Committee for organization purposes.

The National Organization Committee is requesting all cloak and dressmakers who are working in open shops or in so-called union shops where union conditions have been destroyed to report at once to its office, 16 W. 21st St.

Havana Posters Denounce "Butcher" Machado an

POLICE WORRIED AS CROWDS READ ILLEGAL BILLS

vernment Alarmed; Fears Campaign

(Special to The Daily Worker)

HAVANA, Cuba, August 1.—No sooner had the three legal Cuban political parties proclaimed General Gerardo Machado, the present incumbent as candidate to succeed himself as the president of the republic, than scores of handbills denouncing the administration appeared upon buildings, walls and all available spaces of this city. The handbills were particularly numerous in the working class sections of the city.

Police were kept busy yesterday dispersing groups of spectators who eagerly read the bills. No signature appears on the posters and the government is alarmed at what it fears is an organized attempt to lay bare the history of the present administration as part of an illegal presidential campaign.

Arrests were threatened last night but the government has so far refrained from overt action, presumably waiting for an opportunity to present itself.

The illegalization of the Communist Party has called forth widespread resentment among the Cuban workers. General discontent followed the proclamation of General Machado as sole presidential candidate recently and it is believed that the present posters are a repercussion of this feeling.

CELEBRATE USSR PARTY CONGRESS

Hail Commencement of Struggle

(Wireless to the Daily Worker)

MOSCOW, U.S.S.R., August 1.—Yesterday evening Moscow Communist Party workers, together with delegates to the Sixth Congress of the Communist International participated in a celebration in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Second Party Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union.

Kotov, secretary of the Moscow district of the Communist Party, delivered the introductory speech. Yaroslavsky then described the significance of the Second Party Congress for the development of the Bolshevist Party and the Communist International.

Thaelmann, of Germany, greeted the meeting in the name of the Presidium of the Sixth Congress of the Communist International and declared that the Second Party Congress represented the commencement of the struggle of revolutionary Marxism under Lenin's leadership against reformism in all programmatical, tactical and organizational questions.

Krupskaya, widow of V. I. Lenin, who participated in the Second Congress which took place in Brussels, described the congress. The chairman then read greetings from Clara Zetkin. Thaelmann was presented with a banner.

STANDARD OIL RAISES PRICES

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The Rockefeller controlled Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced that effective tomorrow morning the price of gasoline and kerosene in its entire territory will be raised one cent a gallon.

While the company ascribes the rise in prices as due to the increased cost of crude oil, many observers point out that the recent agreement between Standard and Royal-Dutch which set aside 5 per cent of the cost of the oil purchased from the Soviet Oil Syndicate as a recompensation for the former owners of the Soviet fields when the Soviet Syndicate refused to pay these demands, as the actual excuse for the price increase.

EXPLAINS TEXAS ELECTION LAWS

Lauderdale Gives Out Instructions

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 1.—With the county conventions of the Workers (Communist) Party scheduled to be held Saturday for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention in Houston Aug 14, B. H. Lauderdale, Texas organizer of the Workers (Communist) Party urges special attention to the following instructions based on the Texas election law:

The law is silent as to the minimum number to be present in the county convention, so hold the convention whether few or many are present, elect a qualified voter delegate, and notify Lauderdale of his name and address.

A legal voter in a county is one who has paid a poll tax on or before the 31st day of January of this year and has been a resident of the county six months and of the state a year prior to the date of the county convention, the 4th of August. If a married man, residence may be determined as the residence of the wife. It is not necessary to meet in the county seat to make the convention legal. Anywhere in the county is all right.

Observe carefully the necessity of confining the convention to qualified voters.

Address B. H. Lauderdale at Route 1, Breckenridge, Texas.

CANADIAN COURT BLOW AT LABOR

MONTREAL (By Mail). — A very important decision for working women fell from the lips of Judge Casson of the Montreal court. An artist, Alexander Bercovitch stood before the court on the charge of deserting his wife and three children. The defendant was released by the judge on the ground that his wife always talked about Communism, was active in Communist circles, held Communist meetings in her home, and received Communist literature daily from Toronto.

With this decision the Canadian court rules that a man whose wife participates in revolutionary work is released from all duties to his wife and children. According to reports of Canadian newspapers similar decisions against Communist wives were upheld in other cities.

Bodies of 3 Killed Workers Still Missing

(By United Press.)

Divers who entered the wreckage of the Merritt, Chapman and Scott Steam Derrick Lighter Chancellor, which sank after an explosion off Staten Island yesterday, reported today that they were unable to find bodies of three men missing after the blast.

They were unable to enter the boiler room because of the tangle of twisted metal and splintered wood. Officials who inspected the wreck expressed the belief the men would not be found.

Those missing were William Woods, engineer; and firemen Joseph Martini and John Durado.

Arrest Jobless Woman Who Said Policeman Had Assaulted Her

Patrolman J. J. O'Neill is being held pending an investigation of charges against him by Magistrate Maguire in Brooklyn, made by Mrs. Annie Matthews, 24, a waitress. She charged that O'Neill and two other men attacked her in the basement of 107 Classen Ave., Brooklyn.

Mrs. Matthews had only 10 cents in her possession when she appeared in court wearing a crumpled cheap dress and no hat. She has been out of work for several months.

Because the magistrate claimed that the details of the story were "vague," she was ordered held on a charge of vagrancy until the inquiry is completed.

CLARK TO MAKE ELECTION TOUR

To Speak in West in Communist Drive

Stanley Clark, veteran revolutionist, editor of Labor Topics, Great Falls, Montana, will tour several western and northwestern states in the interest of the election campaign of the Workers (Communist) Party, according to an announcement issued last night from the headquarters of the National Campaign Committee, 43 E. 125th St., New York City.

Clark's itinerary will bring him into the State of Minnesota about the middle of August. Minnesota is a hot-bed of confusion because of the renegade labor leaders and shyster politicians who debauched the once powerful Farmer-Labor movement and hitched it to the chariot of the republican party. Senator Shipstead, who was elected on a Farmer-Labor ticket, is actually a republican, and the great majority of former Farmer-Labor Party leaders are now making deals with the capitalist parties.

Clark will end his tour in Minnesota at the end of the first week in September. From there he will go to Nebraska and Iowa, finishing in those two states on September 23. His next theatre of operations will be Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Texas, winding up in the lone Star State on October 14.

From October 15 to October 28, Clark will speak in New Mexico, Colorado, Utah and Wyoming.

Clark is one of the many speakers for whom tours are being arranged by the National Election Campaign Committee. Reports reaching campaign headquarters from all over the country show that the workers and exploited farmers are hungry for Communist propaganda. Thousands of copies of the National Platform of the Workers (Communist) Party have been disposed of in the short time since the document has come from the printers.

A. F. L. IN FAKE 'UNION' GESTURE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 1.—Forced by the overwhelming demand of the workers in the aviation industry for organization, the American Federation of Labor officials has at last made a gesture in that direction. Proposals for the unionization are being considered after years of work in the leading auto plants of the country by the Workers (Communist) Party, which has succeeded in arousing the aircraft workers where no organization had existed before.

A militant shop paper, the "Wright Propellor," was also started by the Workers Party nucleus in the Wright plant at Elizabeth, N. J. The organization of the aviation workers has been ignored by the officialdom at the A. F. of L. conventions year after year.

boards release these men 'immediately and unconditionally."

Professor David Starr Jordan, a widely known scientist declares:

"I understand that the eight members of the I. W. W. sent to the penitentiary from Centralia . . . are applying for pardon. It is certain that the treatment of the Centralia affair has come as a disgrace to the State of Washington. I sincerely hope that the proper authorities of the State of Washington can see their way to grant an unconditional pardon to these people. I am not personally acquainted with any of them. . . ."

International Labor Defense points out that the actions on the part of Professor Jordan and Whitaker are evidences of the depth of the indignation and protest of the workers against the continued imprisonment of the framed-up Centralia workers. Only organized mass protest of the workers in the unions, the shops and factories will, however, bring the necessary pressure on the lumber trust owned State of Washington to free Eugene Barnett, McInnery and the others. A statewide conference of labor unions, farm organizations and other bodies in the State of Washington is planned in the near future to crystalize the protest of the workers, writes Charlotte Todes, Seattle I. L. D. Secretary and also Secretary of the Centralia Liberation Committee.

NORTH CAROLINA WORKERS FIRED FOR UNION TALK

Tobacco Factory Slaves Get $12-14 Per Week

(By a Worker Correspondent)

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., (By Mail).—"You had better be careful if you want to hold your job," was the warning from a fellow worker when I asked if a union would not help get our wages a little above the $12 to $14 per week most of the employes here receive for ten hours daily work. And it is REAL work, too, with the foreman ready to fire anyone who can be accused of loafing on the job. "If you mention a union around here, you'll get fired," said my friend, who had been working here in the Brown and Williamson tobacco factory for a long time.

Many Leaving Farms.

This is true, for there are thousands of unemployed workers, and young farmers who cannot make a living in the country, who are looking for jobs. The Brown and Williamson Tobacco Company is one of several large tobacco manufacturers exploiting the workers to the limit. Most of the employes are young workers. More than half are Negroes.

Racial Prejudice.

We are told that we belong to a "better race," that we must not associate with the Negroes. This is to keep us divided, so we cannot form a union against the bosses.

Tremendous Profits.

Tremendous profits are made by the owners of the Brown and Williamson Tobacco Company. Within the past few years, the value of the stock in the company has increased several times. While the workers are starving and living in shacks on mud-paved streets, the bosses are living in luxury. They are deliberately blind to the terrible conditions and the sort of life the workers are forced into by poverty.

I heard one of the girls here, who gets about $10 per week, complain about her starvation wage. She was told by the foreman that there are "other ways" to make money. In reality, many are forced into a life of shame.

I have been in the North, and tho they are bad enough there, they are nothing compared to this tobacco and textile center of the South. But the young workers here have never known anything better, and most of them have no idea of a union to fight for better things.

Religion here is used to help keep the workers enslaved. The church is the social meeting place for the youth, and one must be religious to be respectable. No one dares admit that he does not believe in religion, for that would make him an "outcast."

Some day there is going to be an earthquake here. Sooner or later, a union will be started in Winston-Salem and other industrial centers of the South, and there will be one of the greatest conflicts in American labor history.

Emigration Will Not Solve Unemployment

LONDON, Aug. 1.—In spite of the chronic state of unemployment in Canada and the publicly voiced opposition to the plan of the British Industrial Transference Board, Lord Lovat, under-secretary for the colonies and dominions said today that 20,000 British miners are to be transported to Canadian farms.

This, together with the proposal to send 10,000 unemployed British workers to help in the Canadian harvest, is looked upon in many circles here as a very doubtful method of solving England's unemployment situation. It is pointed out that emigration, besides being too negligible to affect the situation in England, would add to the already critical unemployment situation in the colonies and dominions.

YOUNG WORKERS ARE ARRESTED IN N. J. SHIRT STRIKE

Distribute Leaflets in Perth Amboy

(Special to the Daily Worker)

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Aug. 1.—Two members of the Young Workers (Communist) League, Lillian Rosen and Helen Halbak, were arrested here today because they distributed leaflets before the Valley Shirt Factory.

Lillian Rosen was fined $10, to which was added an aditional $3 to pay court expenses. Helen Halbak is not yet 16 and was dismissed from court.

The leaflets were issued by the Young Workers (Communist) League in connection with the recent shirt strike here of the young girl workers of the Jaco Co. The leaflet pointed out that the strike was betrayed and sold out by the officials of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. It stated that the girls had gone out on strike because of the intended wage-cut and that now that they had returned without a definite agreement with the boss as to wages, there is the great likelihood of a new actual cut in the wages.

The girls were urged, in the leaflet, to organize themselves into factory committees in order to have an effective means with which to improve their conditions as against the desire of the boss to lower their standards of living.

Members of the league distributed leaflets also at all the other shirt factories in the city.

dren, many of whose parents are now in jail, predominated. Among the pickets were mothers, brothers and sisters of the fifteen juveniles whose cases were still pending in the New Bedford district court late yesterday.

Leaders of the New Bedford Textile Workers Union yesterday heard with amusement in their cells of the latest attempt of William Batty, president of the Textile Council, to collaborate with the bosses through a vote to submit the question of arbitration to its various unions, taken by the council without recommendation.

The action is admittedly a gesture to satisfy criticism that the rank and file of the Textile Council unions are being influenced by the leadership for its own personal ends.

Shrouding its decisions in secrecy the New Bedford Cotton Manufacturers Association yesterday met to consider the State Board's recommendation for arbitration. A statement given out on behalf of John Sullivan, president of the association, stated that Mr. Sullivan did not feel at liberty to make any statement whatever until he had communicated with the State Board.

HUBSCH WAITERS OUT ON STRIKE

The strike of waiters at the restaurant of B. Hubsch, located on 2nd Ave. between 14th and 13th St., is still continuing strong after three weeks. B. Hubsch, the owner of the restaurant, is a former member of the union who now refuses to employ union members.

Recently he obtained a court injunction against the strikers who were picketing before the restaurant. In spite of police intimidation, however, the workers are continuing to picket the place, and are determined to do so until Hubsch recognizes their union.

Leading the striking waiters is Meyer Schachter, business manager of local 219 of the Waiters Union. In a statement recently issued at the union headquarters, workers of New York were urged not to patronize the restaurant until it agrees to employ union help.

Former Champion Retires; May Become Banker

Hints that Gene Tunney, until recently heavyweight champion of the world, intends to take up banking are being whispered abroad. If they are true, he has good friends among the financiers whom he served by lecturing on good "citizenship" to groups of messenger boys and junior clerks in Wall St. He is shown, second from the right with a group of the pugilism trust heads.

GROCERY CLERKS FIGHT FRAME-UP

Police Stop Picketing; Assault Workers

Charges that grocery bosses of Bathgate Ave., the Bronx, have conspired with police officials of the precinct to frame up several of the leading members of the organization were made yesterday by officers of the Retail Grocery and Dairy Clerks Union. Three union members, including the organizer of the body, have been lodged in jail. Bail was set by police officers deliberately at such exorbitant figures, it was charged, that the union was unable to provide it.

Police Stop Picketing.

Following immediately upon the original move to put over the frame-up, the first steps of which were made last week, police sergeants of the Bathgate and Tremont St. station yesterday prevented all picketing by the union from before struck shops in the section and viciously attacked one of the pickets who asserted his rights to continue.

Union officers declared yesterday that they would expose the whole frame-up and would proceed against the police sergeant who had assaulted the worker.

The three workers who are held in the frame-up case are Irving Friedman, Jack Nestle and David Wecker, organizer of the union. Bail was yesterday reduced from $7,500 each for Friedman and Nestle to $5,000 and from $4,000 to $2,000 for Wecker.

Scab Bosses.

The frame-up case arose out of felonious assault charges by Adolph Gingold, operator of a scab shop at 1616 Bathgate Ave., against the workers who were peaceably picketing the place when attacked by thugs, said to have been employed by the bosses. In the attack Friedman was badly injured with a hatchet swung by one of the thugs.

The Retail Grocery and Dairy Clerks Union is fighting against the 92-hour week and against a wage scale which does not average above $25. In many shops which already have been forced to settle with the union the hours have been reduced by twenty and twenty-five per week and wages have been raised to $40 per week. There has been a strong increase in the union membership.

SMOOT ROARS G.O.P. LOYALTY

Is Hurt at Democratic Claims

WASHINGTON (FP).—Apostle Reed Smoot of the Mormon Church and the republican national committee, sole survivor of the senate ring that backed Taft in the convention of 1912, has rushed out of his cave with a menacing roar. He says it is outrageous that Al Smith Raskob and Robinson should dare to claim that they are the friends of big business in this country, when God knows the G. O. P. has alone kept faith with organized private greed in every campaign since Smoot became an apostle and a pal of Jim Watson. Of course he does not use the word "greed"; he speaks of "business," but as chairman of the senate finance committee he knows the value of soft words in the hard trade of rulership.

Smoot is angry because Smith and Robinson are sidling around to the high protective tariff attitude. Their nerve in trying to make the business men believe that the democratic party is friendly to business—even big business—after all these long years of their denunciation of predatory wealth and the high tariff barons, almost breaks his heart. He reviews their record of low-tariff agitations and warns the business men who may be about to write checks for campaign funds to be on guard and stand by their true friends.

MACHINISTS FORM UNION.

YANKS CRUSH BROWNS; RUTH CLOUTS NO. 42

(By United Press)

The Yankees are out of their slump, evidence of that fact is contained in figures surrounding the 12-1 beating the merciless New Yorkers administered to the St. Louis Browns yesterday.

Babe Ruth contributed homer number forty-two, Bob Meusel added another and the Yankees together solved the best three St. Louis pitchers could offer for a total of 16 hits. Even Henry Johnson, Yankee pitcher, chipped in with five singles for a perfect day at bat.

The champions played errorless ball in scoring their second victory in as many days.

Six runs in the second inning were enough to give the Philadelphia Athletics a 6-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians. Willis Hudlin started for the Tribe, but beat a hasty retreat in the second when the Athletics found his range. Ehmke started for the Athletics, but left in the eighth to allow Hale to pinch hit for him. Rommel ended the game.

All games in the National League were stopped by rain.

PARTY CAMPAIGN IN VIRGIN FIELDS

Communist Drive to Reach New Sections

The National Election Campaign Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party of America is planning to send scores of speakers into part of the United States that were never before touched by Communist propaganda, according to a statement issued last night from the headquarters of the committee at 43 E. 125th St., New York City.

Foster, Gitlow, Nearing, and many other nationally known speakers are preparing to break into the southern states as well as into the industrial regions.

The need for funds to push the biggest campaign ever undertaken by the Workers (Communist) Party is urgent, and at least $20,000 of the $100,000 sought must be in the treasury of the National Committee by August 1.

The statement reads:

"The election campaign is now occupying the attention of the entire country. The capitalist parties are prepared with millions of dollars to spread their anti-workingclass and imperialistic propaganda through the myriad avenues of publicity at their disposal throughout the length and breadth of the United States. Multimillionaires and corporation magnates pack the national committees of both parties. With them the raising of money is no problem.

"The National Election Campaign Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party is planning an extensive touring of speakers that will carry the message of Communism into every state in the union, into the industrial regions of the south, where the party has been hitherto unknown, as well as into the industrial regions.

"Nationally known speakers, such as William Z. Foster, presidential candidate; Benjamin Gitlow, vice-presidential candidate; Scott Nearing, author and lecturer, and many others of equal prominence will invade the south during the campaign.

"With the rapidly worsening conditions of the farmers and the steady growth of unemployment and lowering of wages among the industrial workers, the soil was never better prepared for the sowing of the seed of Communism.

"To rally these exploited farmers and workers for the struggle against capitalism, to mobilize them for the struggle, to organize them into the Workers (Communist) Party—this is the aim of the Workers (Communist) Party in this campaign, and this is the purpose for which the $100,000 Campaign Fund is being raised.

"Our Party appeals only to the workers and poor farmers of this country for support in this campaign. The Party calls on the workers and poor farmers to rally to the support of their Party.

"While we feel certain that the workers will provide the Party with the $100,000 fund to carry on the work, it is a question of the immediate need of money. Therefore, we must have at least $20,000 of this sum in the National Election Campaign Fund treasury by August 1.

"The success of the drive will depend upon the organization work of our Party and its closest sympathizers, who must be drawn actively into the campaign. If we succeed in mobilizing the Party, we will be able to rally the left wing and progressive workers for our Party Election Campaign.

"Workers, support your Party!

"Support the platform of the class struggle!

"Support the $100,000 Communist Campaign Fund!"

Send all contributions to Alexander Trachtenberg, treasurer, National Election Campaign Committee, 43 E. 125th St., New York City.

FEDERAL LABOR FIGHT SPEED-UP

Government Overrules Protests

WASHINGTON (FP).—Once more the National Federation of Federal Employes' protests against speeding-up and laying-off of workers in the U. S. Bureau of Printing and Engraving have been overruled. Summer furloughs have been ordered by H. H. Bond, assistant secretary of the treasury, on the pretext that work is slack. Gertrude McNally, secretary of the Federation, says that sick benefits paid women employed in this bureau, by the union are quadrupled, due to speeding methods used.

MILLINERS VOTE VOLUNTARY TAX

Local No. 43 Launches Drive for Fund

Determined to wage a vigorous fight to rebuild their union despite the campaign against the rank and file being waged by President Max Zaritsky, several hundred millinery hand-trimmers of Local 43, Cloth Hat and Cap Makers International, meeting in Bryant Hall, Wednesday night, voted unanimously to tax themselves one day's wages in order to provide an organization fund.

The meeting was called by the executive board for the purpose of considering the question of the tax. The decision that every member should pay this voluntary tax had previously been adopted at two meetings of shop chairladies. It required now the approval of the rank and file.

Frieda Fraydis acted as chairman of the meeting, Sylvia Blecher and Gladys Shechter meking the report Gladys Shechter making the report followed by a discussion concerning the tax and conditions in the trade, in which a large number of the members took part. The motion to institute the voluntary tax was then unanimously adopted, thus setting in motion the campaign to gather a large organization fund.

MINERS' FAIR WILL BE HELD THIS SUNDAY

Many Organizations to Participate

While John L. Lewis is completing his betrayal of the striking coal miners, this time in the Illinois fields, where he is dickering with the operators for an agreement far below the Jacksonville scale which will undoubtedly exclude completely the thousands of militants who have earned his hatred, the National Miners Relief Committee, 799 Broadway, continues to speed its work of furnishing all possible relief to thousands of miners and their families.

Miners' Solidarity Fair.

All the energies of the organization are now concentrating on the great Miners' Solidarity Fair, to be held in Pleasant Bay Park, Sunday, which is expected to furnish funds that will be converted into food, shelter and clothing for many thousands of men, women and children in the coal fields who are on the verge of starvation.

The Solidarity Fair is being arranged on a huge scale and a large number of working class organizations, representing various nationalities, will participate. The program will include music by the Russian Balaleika Orchestra and two Lithuanian choruses, the Aida Chorus and the Liras Chorus; Polish children dancers, tableaux by the Workers' Relief Scouts, athletics and sports of all sorts, with the Freiheit Soccer Club playing a prominent part; refreshments and dancing to the music of a jazz band.

Strike Film.

The two chief numbers will be the miners' strike film, which will be shown for the first time, and the taking of moving pictures of the big Solidarity parade, in which many well-known workers' organizations will take part.

Many workers' organizations are preparing to attend the fair in a body and thousands of other workers will be present. Tickets are selling fast and should be bought at once. They are on sale at 35 cents each at the National Miners Relief Committee, 799 Broadway.

Although it is impossible to get detailed information, due to the strict censorship at Bucharest, it has been learned that it has warned the banks not to lend money to the rival Bratianu government, which it claims is no longer responsible.

For the Workers! Against the Capitalists!

The Latest Frame-up.

In the attempt by the New York traction gang to frame up Stanley Zellig, the elevated motorman whose train was involved in the Sunday night wreck, is witnessed a fitting culmination to the series of piratical adventures which have marked the history of this band for a quarter of a century.

This incorporated plunderbund with the aid of its subservient henchmen of both old political parties operates in the most lucrative metropolitan domain on earth. Nothing has been too enormous for it to undertake. Nothing so trivial but that it has fought unceasingly for its attainment if it but served its ends.

From the buying up of a whole state legislature, a New York mayor, a city administration, a Public Service Commission, a City Board of Estimate and Apportionment in 1912, with expenditures which involved millions, to the dollar-a-day payment of its little "Beakies" to spy upon and ferret out the thoughts of its workers, all is included in the purview of this octopus of exploitation.

Yet hardly any episode in its quarter of a century of brigandage can equal the callousness with which it has contrived in the past few days to divert attention from its own murderous guilt and to fasten the blame on the innocent driver of the wooden death-traps passed off as "the safest railroad on earth."

This is, of course, a time-honored device of capitalism, one in which the dispensers of commodity-justice are well trained. The district attorney's office and little Pecora, subbing for the chief Tammany henchmen at the head of the organization, did only their "duty" by their masters. For this they are paid and this is their function. But what should cause a shudder among even the hardened apologists of capitalism is the obvious stage craft visible at the court when the motorman was brought in as the "goat" for the Interborough.

Could anything be more grotesque than the picture of the Interborough lawyer, appearing in the defense of the worker behind whom the corporation's guilt is being shielded? And after the farce had run its course, could anything be more significant than the humane legal department of this magnanimous concern in the act of completely washing its hands of the employe whom it at first pretended to defend?

The dramatic climax in this travesty came with the report of the Transit Commission likewise seeking to fasten the guilt on the worker. This body which is sworn to protect the "public interest" and which repeatedly in the past has been forced to condemn the use of wooden cars in its preliminary report completely covers over the most obvious criminality of the traction officials.

This pack is seeking to make capital of the fact that Zellig, the motorman, immediately after the accident appears to have run from the scene. This may or may not have occurred. It would not be surprising if the motorman, temporarily overcome by shock, or dazed so that he was unaware exactly of what he was doing, actually did run off. His appearance in court Tuesday with his head swathed in bandages and still under the influence of the shock would indicate such conduct to have been quite natural.

It would be fruitless, however, to continue this sort of refutation of the methods of the traction-gang and its latest resort to frame-up. It is much more valuable to say a word about the real character of these bandits who are now posing in the role of defenders of the law.

There is hardly a crime on the calendar which this traction gang and the political henchmen which do its bidding have not resorted to. Passing from the well known bribing of public officials and the plunder of the city treasury of hundreds of millions to the more closely related question of responsibility for accidents, we need only recall the famous Malbonne tunnel wreck in which a hundred lives were lost. The disaster took place during one of the periodic adventures of the gang in strikebreaking. The thugs and underworld characters who manned the lines at the time were known to be unfit and a menace. The danger of wooden cars had already been dramatized through previous wrecks.

Yet when it came to final establishment of responsibility for the crime, the gang was able through its manipulation of its traction-controlled justice and the transfer of the trial to favorable judges to escape completely.

The Transit Commission which during the 1926 I. R. T. strike winked at scores of violations endangering the lives of the riders, including that most menacing of all, the tying down of the so-called "dead man's button," a safety device on the motorman's control, now appears again in its true role of "legal" whitewasher for the gang. A real investigation would disclose that Commissioner Charles C. Lockwood, the writer of the report on Zellig, a trustee in banks and a director of other corporations, notwithstanding his pretended friendship for the workingmen—a real investigation might disclose some interesting facts as to the sources from which he "earned" the several hundred thousands of dollars which he is said to have put aside during the last year.

As for the "legal" department of the Interborough, it is necessary only to refer to a famous remark of James L. Quackenbush, head counsel of the Interborough, who has been the author of practically every crime committed by that company, when during the 1916 strike of the traction workers he declared "About all the law that is required in this case will be found at the end of a policeman's billy."

And as for the character of the Tammany judges and courts, enough has been exposed about its particular brand of corruption so that nothing further need be added here.

The working class should fight for the release of Stanley Zellig just as it will fight to the end for the release of every framed-up worker and class war victim from the clutches of the capitalist plunderbund.

CAMPAIGN CORNER

In District 2, which comprises the major parts of New York and New Jersey, Campaign Manager Rebecca Grecht reports that the tremendous job of securing the necessary number of signatures is being done systematically and there is no doubt but the Communist ticket will be on the ballot in both states. Two comrades in an automobile are touring sections of New York collecting signatures. An army of volunteers will soon be turned loose to do this work in New York City.

In other states of the Union the comrades are feverishly working collecting signatures and funds for the campaign.

While the National Election Campaign Committee is lining up workers and exploited farmers, the two capitalist parties are lining up millionaires. The automobile industry is divided in its allegiance between the capitalist parties, General Motors of the House of Morgan having taken over the democratic campaign and Henry Ford, its rival, putting his millions behind Hoover.

As this campaign develops, it is clear that a great shifting of forces is taking place in the political arena. [illegible] republicans are turning to Al Smith and former democrats are [illegible] for Hoover. It was never [illegible] clearly demonstrated that [illegible] of economic interests between the dominating groups in both parties. This would indicate that in the no far distant future a realignment of political forces is due in the United States. The democratic party is no longer based on the solid south, which is long longer "solid" but considerably divided, tho it must be expected that by force of habit and thru the control of the election apparatus by the official democrats the southern states will vote for anything running on the democratic ticket. The democratic party is now as definitely dominated by Wall Street as is the republican party.

The only issues the socialist party can think of raising is the dancing and singing predelictions of Mayor Walker of New York and a tirade against the political immorality of the capitalist parties. The class struggle is never mentioned. The role of the government as a strikebreaker is never referred to. Nothing matters to the socialists except snaring the votes of the small shopkeepers and liberals who formerly supported LaFollette.

The gathering of signatures to put the Workers (Communist) Party candidates for president and vice-president on the ballot in Pennsylvania is proceeding satisfactorily according to A. Jakira, district organizer with headquarters at Pittsburgh. One thousand signatures are already collected. Open-air meetings will be started early in August and the district is planning to appoint a full-time election campaign manager.

The so-called Progressive Party convention held in Omaha, Nebraska, recently, was a complete fizzle, Roy Stephens, Workers (Communist) Party campaign organizer reports. Only one delegate showed up, an old civil war veteran from Iowa. The necessary number of signatures for getting the Communist ticket on the ballot in Nebraska are almost secured. Open-air meetings are very successful, being attended by large numbers of workers.

August 11th and 12th are the dates set for the state convention of the Workers (Communist) Party in California. According to the amended political code of May 1927, it will be possible to place electors on the ballot as "Independent" under the same provisions of the law for state-wide candidates. This requires 12,000 signatures.

Selling Vote Communist Campaign Stamps and securing new recruits for the Party go hand in hand. A comrade in Bridgeport, Connecticut, sold a book to a fellow worker who signified his intention to join the Party. That is killing two birds with one shot, alright.

The Communist Campaign is now beginning to get into its stride. The need for sufficient finances, however, is a great drawback. Thousands of dollars must come into campaign headquarters immediately, in order to help finance the tremendous printing program mapped out by the National Election Campaign Committee. Contributions should be sent in at once to Alexander Trachtenberg, treasurer, 43 E. 125th St., New York City.

Our Party's Election Campaign

By JAY LOVESTONE

IN ORDER to mobilize more effectively the Party and greater non-Party masses, as well as in some instances to meet certain technical legal requirements, in order to dramatize before the American workers the plan of the Party to participate effectively in the presidential election campaign, there were organized a number of state conventions and a national convention for the purpose of adopting the Communist election platform and selecting standard bearers. Already more than 20 states, among these such southern states as Virginia and Georgia have held state nominating conventions.

The National Nominating Convention took place at the end of May.

In the call issued by the Central Committee for the holding of these conventions, we find the following keynote struck:

> "In the presidential campaign of this year, the class conscious workers must mobilize the working masses and unify all the struggles against the exploiters. The Workers (Communist) Party is the only Party of working class struggle in the United States. Our Party is a party of revolutionary class struggle. We are not only vigorous participants but energetic leaders in all the struggles of our working class. The Central Executive Committee is calling this National Nominating Convention in order to mobilize more effectively our Party's resources for participation in the coming presidential elections with a view towards utilizing this election campaign for arousing and organizing more effective resistance by the working class to the capitalist offensive."

State and National Nominating Conventions of the Workers (Communist) Party

The National Nominating Convention was called for the purpose of adopting an election platform, nominating presidential candidates and electing a national campaign committee. The entire Party was mobilized for this convention.

Wide Representation.

Delegates from factories, mines mills, from organizations of the Negro masses, from societies of the oppressed colonial and semi-colonial masses of Latin America, from working class women's organizations, striking miners, textile workers and needle trades workers, were to be found in large numbers in all the state nominating conventions and particularly in the National Nominating Convention.

The number of delegates participating in the convention exceeded all expectations. There were 296 delegates from 39 states and the District of Columbia. There were about 150 fraternal delegates mostly non-party workers from trade unions, cooperatives, youth and working women's organizations, unemployment councils, Negro organizations, anti-imperialist societies, farmers organizations and Councils for the Protection of the Foreign Born Workers. The fraternal delegates especially, were elected at mass meetings of workers. Amongst the regular delegates there were at least 25 Negro workers. Amongst the fraternal delegates there were representatives from Nicaragua, Chile, Mexico, Haiti and Canada.

Proletarian Spirit.

Never before was there so much enthusiasm manifested at a gathering of Communists in the United States at the National Nominating Convention. The bourgeois press was compelled to admit that it was the biggest and most enthusiastic gathering of this kind that they have yet seen. Delegates came all the way from the Pacific Coast to New York by "hopping freights" "riding the rods," because of the high railroad fare. Some came by autobuses, others "hiked", still others organized special tours by automobile, piling in a number of workers into one old second-hand cheap car, secured at an insignificant price, sufficient for making one trip and return, in order to avoid the heavy cost of railroad fare.

Significance of Convention.

The National Nominating Convention was significant in five main respects:

First, there were a large number of delegates who are native Americans. The American bourgeoisie have been pounding away for sometime on the fact that our Party has to date largely attracted foreign born workers. The latter are the workers found primarily in the basic heavy industries.

Second, in this convention, there were delegates who had won the confidence of the masses through years of struggle in the early American trade union movement, Syndicalist movement, and the old Socialist movement as well as in the trade union movement. This convention presented our Party as the inheritor of the best and revolutionary traditions of all these movements.

Third, the Convention clearly established the fact that our Party was the sole champion of the Negroes, the colonial masses, the workers battling against the mine owners, the exploited farming masses, the working class women and youth. The large number of Negro delegates participating in the work and leadership of the Convention was symbolic of the determination of the Party to break through and enter the "Solid South" and very clearly distinguished our Party from the parties of the big and small bourgeoisie — the Republican, Democratic and Socialist parties—in which the Negroes were either segregated or given a back seat.

Fourth, the Nominating Convention brought into bold relief the fact that our Party is now national in scope. Our Party has been called by the reactionary trade union bureaucracy and other capitalist organs, an "eastern" party. At the Convention, there were represented delegates from Main to California and from Texas to Vermont. Every section of the country was represented. Delegations of striking miners and textile workers from New England and from the Pennsylvania-Ohio and West Virginia coal fields played a conspicuous role in the Convention.

Finally, the Convention emphasized to the American workers the fact that our Party is an international party, a section of the Communist International. The greetings from the Communist International evoked tremendous enthusiasm. The election victories of the Communist parties of Germany, France and Poland were of striking and basic importance for us in securing the effective mobilization of our party members and sympathetic non-party masses for the election campaign. The convention denounced the criminal Shakhtin conspirators against the Soviet Union now on trial in Moscow. Pledges of revolutionary proletarian solidarity were made to the Communist Parties of Great Britain, Germany, Soviet Union, France, Poland, etc.

The convention selected Comrades Foster and Gitlow as the presidential standard bearers in the election campaign and adopted the Party election platform.

Record U. S. Exports for 6-Month Period

WASHINGTON, August 1 (UP) —U. S. exports of merchandise during the first six months of 1928 were larger in volume than for the corresponding of any other year, a commerce department survey showed today.

Exports of gold during the fiscal year ending June 30 totalled $627,102,000, which was the largest outward movement of gold on record. Imports of Gold during the 12 months totalled $129, 139,000.

Merchandize exports for the fiscal year totalled $4,877,000,000, imported merchandise was valued at $4,146,000,000.

Cotton exports were about 30 per cent smaller in volume than in 1926-27, because of the decrease in the American crop, but higher average prices for cotton caused the total value in cotton exports to decrease by only 5.4 per cent.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, August 1.—Three American marines were cited here for bravery in their action against the Sandino Army of Independence by the United States commander of the Nicaraguan National Guard.

Their brave action consisted in throwing bombs and turning machine guns upon a small group of Sandino's followers.

WHEN the imperialist ambassadors meet in Paris on August 27, to sign Kellogg's fake pact for the outlawing of war, they will be frisked for guns, razors, stilletos and other lethal weapons by the touchiest members of the Paris police force, according to reports. The French government does not want to risk the possibility of getting its famous Clock Ro[illegible] in the Foreign Office littered w[illegible] bodies gushing blood all over t[illegible] place. Moreover it would be a criminal waste of manpower to permit the mutual destruction of so many expert signers of peace treaties. They will be needed in the future.

MUSSOLINI of Italy and Baron Tanaka of Japan are too busy to make the journey to Paris, so they will assign the task of putting the John Hancock on the treaty to lesser lights. The Baron is too busy trying to carve a slice out of the anatomy of China and the Duce is too busy getting photographed. Kellogg has lots of help so he can leave the war against Nicaragua to secretary of the navy Wilbur while he is on the warpath in Europe for peace.

THE black shirt industry is now almost as prosperous in Italy as the white shirt business was in the United States during the heyday of the Ku Klux Klan. We would not be surprised to learn one of these days that the Duce himself owns a couple of shirt factories. Patriotism being the last refuge of the scoundrel, where can a greater patriot be found than Benito Mussolini? Its about time the castor oil industry experienced a bull market. Perhaps Mussolini himself became an addict and did not choose to run! That may account for his recent indisposition.

GENE TUNNEY knocked Heeney down but not out. The next time Tunney goes into a fight his managers should supply him with a sledge. Heeney was handicapped from the start. He was built for comfort but not for speed and the big syllable and dipthong man could run rings around him. One of the pictures shows Heeney on the floor wriggling as if he sat in a tub of fish glue. Heeney took $100,000 worth of a beating. Oddsbodkns, that happens to be the amount the National Election Campaign Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party is trying to raise for the campaign. Heeney raised it in one night by sitting on the ring.

CHICAGO is having a lot of fun with its police force. One of the most popular police stations in the Windy City is liable to be padlocked as a public nuisance. Prohibition agents raided the station and confiscated a considerable supply of hootch which was being retailed to the prisoners. Now, in retaliation, the police threaten to raid prohibition headquarters.

A NEWSPAPER headline tells us that ex-senator Owen of Oklahoma courted the Tammany tiger in 1924 and asked Al Smith for his aid in swinging the Tammany delegation to his side, when the deadlock between Al and William Gibbs MacAdoo, Wilson's Crown Prince went beyond the breaking point. Owen now says, in other words, that he cannot think of Tammany without feeling the necessity of standing over the rail and feeding the fishes. As a matter of fact, Tammany is much more respectable now than it was in 1924. Our liberal friends admit this. It has moved its headquarters to Park Avenue, and has a multi-millionaire to direct Al's campaign. What's the matter Owen? I am sure if you went the right way about it Tammany would be as generous as Hoover.

MAJOR George L. Berry of Tennessee, president of the pressmen's union and other remunerative industries, has been appointed Al Smith's organizer of the "labor vote." Berry will play the role of trained ram, whose function it will be to induce trade union voters to mark their ballots for Tammany. Berry is the most notorious of the semi-professional strikebreakers. He has turned the pressmens' union into a company auxiliary. If he is not a millionaire as a result of his business activities in the union and outside, then John D. Rockefeller is now soliciting alms on the corner of 42nd and 6th Ave.

BERRY won his majorship during the war. The only powder he ever sniffled was on the cheeks of the pleasant ladies who haunted the Paris cabarets during the war and still haunt them, according to tourist third class travelers. But it is not because of his valor on the field of Mars in Paris that Berry is so highly prized by the American capitalist class. Bravery is a drug on the market and a bottle of champagne would make a hero out of a drug store cowboy. It is because of his strike-breaking ability that the major is appreciated. It's up to Hoover now to match Smith. What about drafting John L. Lewis? He hasn't much to do now since he finished the job of smashing the United Mine Workers of America.

WORLD CONGRESS WARNS OF NEW IMPERIALIST WAR DANGER

SIX GIVEN YEAR APIECE BY NEW BEDFORD COURT

Keller Arrested Again With Seven Others

BULLETIN

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 2.—According to reliable information loom fixers of the United Textile Workers voted overwhelmingly today against the acceptance of arbitration.

Andrew Jzyk, formerly of the loomfixers, now treasurer of the textile mills, visited the meeting at the request of the members and was given the floor in spite of Batty's protest. He attacked Batty's strikebreaking policy. The membership allowed Jzyk to stay and vote on the question.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 3.—Declaring that the interpretation of mass picketing as rioting by the New Bedford court is incorrect and concerns not only New Bedford, but the whole United States, Robert Zelms, of the International Labor Defense, announced today that immediate steps will be taken to release the 84 prisoners sentenced this morning.

Sentences of a year each were given to Ellen Dawson, Elizabeth Donnelly, Jackson, Wales, the Harvard student aiding the strikers, and Eli Keller, the general organizer of the Textile Mills Committee.

Augusto C. G. Pinto, arrested for the eleventh time for picketing at the Whitman Mill, received eight months and a fine of $120.

Amy Schecter, press agent for the Workers International Relief, received a sentence of two months.

Twelve others were given sentences of from six to nine months. The remaining seventy were sentenced to [illegible] months each.

OBREGON MURDER PLOT IN CONVENT

Morrow Appeals for "Law and Order"

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 2.—That Jose de Leon Toral, the slayer of President-elect Obregon, was merely a tool in the hands of a well organized clerical society of murder and violence pledged to remove him from its path, was brought closer to substantiation today following the announcement of Attorney General Correa Nieto, who is supervising the preliminary judicial examination into the slaying. At the same time the influence of the reactionary agrarian forces was seen in the continued attempts of the government officials to connect the crime with persons more or less identified with labor organizations.

The attorney general charged that the young assassin was a member of a terrorist society called the Villa de Guadalupe, the head of which is Mother Superior Maria Concepcion, a nun now being held.

Pliable Tool.

Their meetings were all held in the convent of the nun and the deaths of various Mexican leaders were plotted. The young slayer, it appears, was merely a pliable instrument in the hands of the nun and very likely other clericals who used the easily suggestible boy to carry out their plans. Aureliano Toral, father of the slayer, said his son had turned assassin in obedience to someone else's suggestion, because he never before showed evidence of a bellicose nature."

The attorney general declared that "the Abbess Maria Concepcion is an intelligent woman and has been trying to mislead justice." When asked as to why she continued to meet secretly when convents and religious orders have for more than two years been prohibited in Mexico, the nun refused to answer. During this time she and other nuns have worn worldly dress only.

Following the tack taken by previous reports from the department of justice, Attorney General Nieto sought to convey the impression that Manuel Trejo, said to be a member of the Mexican Federation of Labor, is likewise involved in the [illegible] believe that Trejo is the key to the mystery," he declared.

Mill Barons, Desperate, Cause Wholesale Arrests of Pickets

Made frantic by the solid front of ~~the 30,000~~ New Bedford textile strikers who are now entering the 16th week of struggle, the mill barons are making a desperate attempt to break the workers' ranks. Armed with a decision by Judge Milliken that "picketing is a nuisance," New Bedford police during the past week have arrested hundreds who engaged in mass picketing. Many have already been sentenced to long jail terms. Photo shows police herding pickets into "emergency trucks" borrowed from merchants for the occasion.

PLANS NEW WAR ON COMMUNISTS

A. F. of L. Sees Rise of "Red" Influence

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 2.—Admitting that Communist activities are on the increase and that these activities constitute "a menace to the labor movement," which is taken to mean its misleaders, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in session here today voted to appeal to the government and especially to Herbert Hoover to save them from the danger.

Centers of greatest Communist activities, it was reported to the council, are New York City, New Bedford and Pennsylvania. These regions are known to be those in which the struggle of the workers is most acute, representing the needle trades, the textile mills and the mine districts, a fact which the A. F. of L. bureaucrats did not mention in their charge against Communist activities. They also were careful not to mention that in all these sections the workers have shown overwhelmingly that they favor the left wing and Communist leadership.

MINERS' FAIR HERE SUNDAY

Vivid Strike Film to Be Shown

The struggles of thousands of men, women and children in the mine fields will be brought to Pleasant Bay Park Sunday when the miners' strike film will be shown for the first time at the great Miners' Solidarity Fair that has been arranged by the National Miners' Relief Committee.

This film was taken in the strike fields, not in a studio, and tells the story of the heroic struggles of the miners in scenes that are vivid and gripping. The early scenes show the men working in the mines. Then the strike is called. The men leave the mines in a body. Picketing scenes, scenes of women and children, babies with empty milk bottles. Evictions, building of barracks. Scab mine accidents, ambulances, corpses.

FOSTER, GITLOW WILL MAKE NATIONAL TOUR

William Z. Foster and Benjamin Gitlow, presidential and vice-presidential candidates of the Workers Communist) Part, respectively, will tour the country from coast to coast and from the Canadian border to the Rio Grande, carrying the message of Communism to the workers and poor farmers and organizing them for the struggle against the capitalist and their government.

This announcement was made yesterday at the headquarters of the National Election Campaign Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party, 43 E. 125th St.

The tentative date for the beginning of the tours is September 1st, the campaigners starting in the East and covering the United States in a wide circle that will touch Portland, Oregon, in the Northwest and Houston, Texas, in the Southeast.

Both Fine Speakers.

Foster and Gitlow are two of the best campaigners in the Workers (Communist) Party and splendid speakers. Both have many years of agitational work to their credit.

Foster is a member of the Central Executive Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party and has been in the revolutionary movement 28 years, having joined the socialist party in 1900. He was

BROACH PLANS NEW BETRAYAL

Aims to Stifle Power of Local 3

Members of local No. 3 electrical workers are considerably aroused, it has been learned, at the methods by which International vice-president, H. H. Broach and the local machine which he controls are planning to put over certain proposed amendments to the by-laws of the local.

It has been reliably learned that the machine is planning to exclude all those who are even suspected of being the least opposed to the machine. The customary strong-arm methods will be employed, it is stated.

Among the important changes which are due to be voted upon are one to raise the dues, one to abolish half the regular union meetings and to dispense with the rendering of financial and other reports to the membership.

Progressive leaders of the union are urging the largest possible attendance of the membership and are confident that the danger which faces the union will be averted if only a sufficient number of workers will attend.

The Daily Worker has at various times in the past predicted these developments on the part of the Broach machine, and will carry on the fight against the labor traitors in local No. 3. It has been reliably learned that Broach is planning an attack on the Communists in order to camouflage the issue of his own betrayals.

PASSAIC RELIEF MEET IS HALTED

Police Won't Permit Weisbord to Speak

(Special to the Daily Worker)

PASSAIC, N. J., August 2.—Echoes of the "Hell in Passaic" period during the strike here in 1926 were heard tonight when police broke up a meeting which was to be addressed by Albert Weisbord, secretary of the National Textile Mills Committee and Harriet Silverman, of New York.

Called for Relief.

The meeting, called by the New York branch of Workers International Relief, for the purpose of raising funds for the 30,000 New Bedford textile strikers, was scheduled for the Ukranian Hall, President Street.

Just a few minutes before the meeting was to open, and after over 600 workers were already in the hall, three policemen entered, approached Weisbord, roughly pushed him into a corner and told him that he would "not be allowed to speak in Passaic." Weisbord replied that he would have to consult with the committee in charge. A minute later he returned, stating that the committee had decided to put the question to a vote of the audience.

When Gustav Deak, Organizer of the Passaic textile workers' union and one of the leaders of the last strike put the question to the audience, they thundered a unanimous "yes." Just as Weisbord was being introduced by the chairman, about a dozen police rushed into the hall, and swinging their clubs, freely ordered the audience to leave. when pressed for an explanation, the law and order gentry declared that the meeting was being held in a public hall and therefore that "a permit was necessary."

The audience then marched down to the Hungarian Workers Home, 25 Dayton Ave., where the meeting, with Weisbord as one of the speakers, continued.

RED LABOR INT'L CREATES BUREAU FOR NEGRO WORK

American Militants Participate

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Aug. 2.—Today's session of the executive bureau of the Red International of Trade Unions was held with participation of Negro delegates to the World Congress of the Communist International, representatives from the Trade Union League, the Confederation Generalo de Travaille Unitaire and other organizations in order to discuss the organization of the Negroes.

The executive bureau decided to form an international trade union committee for Negroes composed of two Negroes from the United States and one each from Latin America, Guadaloupe, Martinique and Cuba. Later on representatives from Haiti, East Africa, Portuguese East Africa, Congo, Liberia, French Africa and those Latin American countries where many Negroes are present.

The committee aims to organize the Negroes in trade unions either together with the white workers or in extra unions when the white workers prevent the acceptance of Negroes in the trade unions.

The committee aims to establish relations between the Negroes of the world and to organize the broad masses of Negroes on the basis of class struggle.

WORKERS STRIKE IN ROLLS ROYCE

Reinstatement of Militant Demanded

(By a Worker Correspondent)

The electrical department of the Brewster Rolls Royce automobile factory in Long Island went out on strike last Monday after their demand for the reinstatement of M. Fortoul had been refused. Fortoul was fired "to cut down expenses." To bolster up this hypocritical statement, the company gave him a good recommendation and said they were "sorry." Yet the knowledge of the true reason for his dismissal was immediately recognized by the men. That reason was a suspicion of connection with the "Mascot," the shop paper of the Communist nucleus in the shop.

"The Mascot" had been appearing monthly since February of this year. The company was forced to make many of the small improvements demanded by the paper. The company organized a social and athletic club, which fell flat with the men.

Training Them Young for Imperialist War

Young workers at a Citizens' Military Training Camp learning to handle a machine gun which they may not always use as the bosses desire. ANTI-WAR MEETING AT UNION SQ. TOMORROW

Union Square, tomorrow, at 1 p. m., will be the scene of a mass protest meeting and demonstration against the war danger larger than any before witnessed in New York. Thousands of workers will protest against the gesture of the imperialist, Kellogg, in parading an "anti-war" pact at the same time that secret preparations for a new world war are being carried on with feverish haste.

Several workers' organizations will attend the meet in a body, carrying their own banners and slogans denouncing the war-mongers of the imperialist countries.

Anti-War Slogans.

Among the many signs which militant workers will carry will be "The Working Class Will Never Forget the Lessons of August 4, 1914," "Down With American Imperialism," "Socialist Parties Betrayed the Workers in Last World War," "Kellogg's Fake Peace Proposal is a Smokescreen for War Preparations," "Down With Hoover and Smith, the Candidates of American Imperialism," "Down With Capitalism, the Breeder of Wars," "Hands off China," "Hands off Mexico," "Fight Against Capitalist Military Training in Schools and Colleges," "Wall Street is Aiding Black Reaction in Mexico," "American Imperialism Oppresses Foreign Peoples," "Coolidge and Wilson Served War Mongers, Hoover and Smith Will Serve Them Now," and other slogans and banners of similar nature.

Many Speakers.

Added to the list of speakers already announced, including Ben Gitlow, Communist candidate for vice-president; Robert Minor, editor of the Daily Worker, and Scott Nearing, Communist candidate for Governor of New Jersey, will be Jack Stachel, organization secretary of the Workers (Communist) Party; Alexander Trachtenberg, Communist candidate for congress from the 14th congressional district, and Ben Lifshitz, Communist candidate for assembly from the 6th district of Manhattan.

Workers gathered in Union Square will be urged by the speakers to support the candidates of the Workers (Communist) Party in the coming elections as a concrete means of registering their protest against American imperialism, against the war danger and against the plots against the Soviet Union.

He was given a big ovation when he appeared later at the Sixth Congress of the Communist International.

MOBILIZE ACTIVE CLOAK WORKERS

Preliminary mobilization steps for the great drive to build a cloak and dressmakers' union were completed last night with the holding of an enthusiastic meeting of the active workers in Manhattan Lyceum, 66 E. 4th St.

In his opening remarks the chairman of the meeting, Sascha Zimmerman, of the National Organization Committee, declared that the drive for a union would be officially launched next week with the holding of the huge mass meeting of all cloak and dressmakers in Bronx Stadium Wednesday night. The first stage of this drive, during which an intensive organization campaign will be waged thruout the trade, will last about five weeks. All the active cloak and dressmakers will have to serve as volunteers in this drive, devoting at least three days to the work, he said.

MUST PREPARE FOR OVERTHROW OF CAPITALISM

Chief Rivals Are U.S.-British Imperialists

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Aug. 2—The seventeenth session of the Communist International opened here yesterday under the chairmanship of Siera.

Bell, of Breat Britain, reported on the imperialist war danger, the second point on the agenda of the Second Congress. He declared that the situation demands that the Communist International fix concrete tasks in the struggle against the war danger. The present theses will give a basis for organizing the struggle and overcoming the theoretical weaknesses of the parties.

War Danger.

He stated further that the idea that the war danger is not immediate is dangerous because it leads to passivity. Imperialist rivalry makes war inevitable. Anglo-American antagonism is the chief rivalry in the present situation. Great Britain is trying to keep up with the United States in the armament race, but the latter has more means at its disposal. United States imperialism is penetrating Europe and Latin-America, Canada and India.

The relations between Great Britain and France form a second group of antagonisms. Great Britain has altered its tactics towards France and has even brought pressure to bear on Italy because it aims at forming an Anglo-French bloc.

The relations between France, Italy and Jugo-Slavia form a third group of antagonisms, The Mediterranean question is of vital importance for the British Empire and can cause a world war.

The relations between France, Czecho-Slovakia and Great Britain form a fourth group of contradictions.

War and the Far East.

The relations between Japan, Great Britain and the United States form a fifth group of antagonisms and threaten war in the Far East.

The bourgeois states regard the Soviet Union as their common enemy and strive to subordinate their own differences to this common hatred. The symptoms of the growing anti-Soviet hostility are the Anglo-French rapprochement, the attempts at the blockade of the Soviet Union financially and the rapprochement between the German and the French bourgeoisie in their common hostility to the Soviet Union, vide the break-off of economic negotiations between the Soviet Union and Germany.

Poland, Rumania and the others are feverishly preparing for war under the control of Great Britain and France.

Hence it is the urgent task of the Communist Parties to mobilize all their forces against war.

The significance of the League of Nations must not be under-estimated. The Soviet's disarmament proposals are tremendously important and must be utilized as propaganda.

Kellogg Proposals.

The Kellogg proposals leave the way clear for war against the Soviet Union and were only accepted by the capitalist states in order to gain time. In supporting the disarmament proposals of the Soviet Union, the Communist Parties must never forget that these proposals are never intended to displace the revolutionary struggle for the overthrow of the bourgeoisie.

The Communist Parties must not under-estimate the influence of the reformist leaders on broad sections of the workers. The struggle against the right and left wing of

STATE-WIDE CENTRALIA DRIVE IN WASHINGTON

Trade Unions and Farmers' Organizations Are Active in Big Campaign

A call for a state-wide conference in the State of Washington for early in September, to develop the campaign for the release of the Centralia I. W. W. prisoners, has just been decided upon by the International Labor Defense and the Centralia Liberation Committee, is the announcement just issued by Martin Abern, assistant national secretary of the I. L. D., 80 East 11th St., New York City.

The parole board and Governor Hartley of Washington have not yet acted upon the demand recently made by representative trade union bodies of Washington, International Labor Defense and other groups for the release of the Centralia prisoners. The state-wide conference is called as a demonstration of the wide support for the Centralia victims framed by the lumber barons of Washington and now serving terms of 20 to 45 years at Walla Walla, Washington.

Many Giving Support.

Among the groups that are giving the widest support to the Centralia campaign are Homer Smith, Centralia attorney and closest representative of the prisoners; Charlotte [illegible], secretary of the Seattle International Labor Defense and secretary of the Centralia Liberation Committee; Jake Miller, of the Carpenters' Union; George F. Vanderveer, nationally known attorney and lawyer for the Centralia defense; O. P. Allison, president of the Shingle Weavers' Union, Hoquiam; Elihu Bowles, of the Western Progressive Farmers, Prosser, Washington; W. J. Forston, representing the Everett Central Labor Council; P. Morris, representing the Tacoma Central Labor Council

DICK ORANGE DRINK WORKERS SLAVE FOR TWELVE HOURS A DAY UNDER ELABORATE SPY SYSTEM

By HARVEY O'CONNOR
(Federated Press)

...t quenchers who patronize ...edick orange drink stands are ...rking the 12-hour day. When ... fork over a dime for a drink, ... are lending direct financial assistance to a low wage corporation, specializing in mean tyranny over workers' lives, which is not disguised by marble slabs, shining nickelware and gaudy fixtures.

The Nedick worker, recruited from the ranks of unskilled high school graduates, pumps orange juice 12 hours a day for 35 cents an hour. If he stays with the job and passes the incessant spying of a small army of snoopers, he is raised to 40 cents. This increase is supposed to be granted after six weeks, but actually the employee has to kick long and hard for the extra 5 cents.

This is the highest wage the Nedick worker can hope to get on the fountain. But after a few years, he may become an inspector at $30, gradually increasing his wages to $35. Then he works only 11 hours a day. At the summit of the Nedick scale is the day manager, open to those with years of experience. This pays $40 and represents the last step.

The Nedick "juice squirter" must be busy every minute of the 720 which constitute a shift. When trade is dull he is busy bagging candy, polishing nickelware, washing and scrubbing. Snoopery is developed to a fine art in the Nedick "big family." The snoopers stand across the street or push to the stand when the employee is catering to a rush crowd. Then he tries to shortchange the worker or trap him by insulting remarks into a lapse of courtesy.

Elaborate Spy System.

Often the snooper works with a small boy, who creeps up to the east, is primarily a real estate corstand where he can't be seen by the fountain man. He then watches carefully, reporting at intervals to the man standing around the corner.

The Burnee Corp., which operates the Nedick business throughout the poration. It buys or leases buildings in which its stands are located and by shrewd speculation makes as much, that way as through the sale of drinks and sweets at the cent free stands. It employs about 550 workers in metropolitan New York.

WORKERS STRIKE IN ROLLS ROYCE

"Mascot" began to lay definite plans for the organization of a shop committee. That is when the company began to act. They tried to line up the Englishmen in the shop, asking them to spy on their fellow-workers. Nothing was obtained from this source. The company then began firing for various reasons those whom they suspected of being connected with the paper. When it came to Fortoul, his whole department backed him up, demanded his reinstatement and walked out when their demand was refused.

Competent Worker.

Fortoul is one of the best auto electricians in the industry. The company has found it out, now, if they did not know it before. At present, in spite of a slack period, there are now working in the struck department three foremen, two helpers and two other mechanics who help occasionally. These men were brought in from other departments, except one mechanic who had been helping in the electrical department just before the walkout and who is now scabbing. One of the foremen is the head electrician of the factory at Springfield, brought here just for strikebreaking purposes. The house electrician, who was supposed to have taken over Fortoul's work, has admitted that he is helpless without the helpers in the department. Practically no work is leaving the shop, and that which goes out is fixed up temporarily.

Spirit of Workers Good.

The spirit of the men is very good. The strikers are maintaining complete solidarity. The workers of the whole shop have expressed their sympathy. A leaflet distributed Wednesday by the "Mascot" committee for the organization of the ...ewster R. R. shop was well received. An open-air meeting, held ... noon by the "Mascot" group, was successful.

... workers say that this is not enough. The whole shop must be brought into this fight for the reinstatement of Fortoul and the men of his department. This is just one ... of the bosses to kill every organizational attempt for the purpose of bettering conditions.

Citizen Soldiers Aid One Another

All over the country the American militarists are training workers to fight their battles for them in the coming imperialist war. The picture shows one citizen soldier cooling another with an electric fan after the fatiguing marches which the men are forced to make in camp. The Workers (Communist) Party is arranging demonstrations thruout the United States on Aug. 4, the anniversary of the World War, to protest against the militarist preparation for the next conflict.

CLERKS TO AID IN YOUTH MEET

At its last regular membership meeting, Tuesday, the Fruit and Grocery Clerks' Union, a militant organization of clerks working in the various fruit and grocery stores thruout the city, endorsed the call of the Provisional Committee for a Working Youth Conference to be held on September 25-26, at Labor Temple, 14th Street and Second Avenue.

This union has just completed a strike which lasted many weeks and which resulted in the organization of several hundreds of fruit clerks. Tho the union no longer has any workers out on strike they are carrying on an organization campaign among the fruit clerks in the Bathgate Avenue district in the Bronx.

This is but one of the many labor unions and working class youth organizations that have already endorsed the call and who will send delegates to the Working Youth Conference.

Mine Workers Burned In Dover Explosion

DOVER, N. J., Aug. 2.—Nine workers were badly burned in a fire following an explosion which occurred in the arsenal here. The building was destroyed when the 100,000 pounds of smokeless powder went off.

A similar occurrence took place two years ago when the naval arsenal, one half mile from here was destroyed when powder blasted.

WORKERS PARTY WILL HOLD FIRST N. J. CONVENTION

Candidates Will Speak Sunday

The recent election frauds discovered in Hudson County, New Jersey, will give an added impetus to the Ratification Convention of the Workers (Communist) Party to be held at the Workers' Progressive Center, 93 Mercer St., Newark, N. J., at 10 a. m. Sunday, August 5.

The Ratification Convention Sunday and the Red Proletarian banquet of Saturday, August 4, at 8 p. m. will mark the beginning of a political revolution in New Jersey. This will be the first year that the Workers (Communist) Party will hold a state convention there, and an unusually intense election drive will be launched at the banquet and convention.

The banquet, which all the delegates and other workers will attend, will also be turned into a demonstration against the war danger and American imperialism. The date of the banquet is the same as that of the opening of the world war fourteen years ago. Scott Nearing, Communist candidate for governor of New Jersey, and Albert Weisbord, Communist candidate for U. S. Senator, will be among the speakers.

Arrangements are being made at the Workers Progressive Center for free overnight accommodations for those banqueters who are also delegates to the convention and who come from distant parts of the state.

All workers' organizations, labor unions and fraternal organizations are invited to send delegates to the convention and to the banquet and participate in a historic event of the first political magnitude.

J. Andronov, president of the Borough of Khamovniki, City of Moscow and member of the Moscow Municipal Council, and officials of the Moscow Water Supply Service have arrived in the United States to study the water supply systems of various American cities.

The type of equipment to be used for increasing the Moscow water supply will probably be determined as a result of this visit.

A member of the delegation is C. A. Ozerov, chief chemist of the Moscow Water Supply Service. The delegation expects to visit during the six weeks of its stay in the United States, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Washington, D. C., Detroit, Chicago and several other cities.

MOBILIZE ACTIVE CLOAK WORKERS

To Launch Intensive Organization Drive

lay before the active cloak and dressmakers.

"The preparations for our organization drive have struck terror into the none too courageous ranks of the right wing union wreckers. In a pitiful attempt to discredit our efforts they have been trying to whoop up some sentiment for their own fake organization drive and shouting that the left wing is scabbing.

Poor Schlesinger!

"But actually, despite their attempt to show a brave front, there is complete demoralization in their ranks. The Sigman and the Schlesinger groups are ready to jump at each other's throats. And poor Schlesinger, who has been ostensibly left in command while Sigman is raking in the shekels at his swell summer resort in Iowa, is on the verge of resigning. This same Schlesinger, who on the outside, at meetings, roars like a lion, bleats like a lamb in his office.

"Now is the time when the rank and file workers have a chance to build a union of their own. You active cloak and dressmakers must show the way. Each one of you during the next few days must become a propagandist among your shopmates and co-workers and see to it that the meeting in Bronx Stadium next Wednesday is jammed. The success or failure of this meeting will to a large extent determine the success or failure of our entire campaign. We have a tremendous task before us, but we have a strong union of the workers to gain if we are successful."

Urges Paying Tax.

Boruchovich urged the active members to pay up their back dues and the $10 tax with which all cloak and dressmakers have been assessed to furnish funds for the organization work. He also instructed all the active members to be present at the Bronx Stadium next Wednesday at 4:30 p. m. in order to make arrangements for handling the large crowd.

After Boruchovich, Zimmerman spoke again and emphasized the necessity of all the active members volunteering for organization work during the drive. There were also several speeches by rank and file workers from the floor.

SACCO-VANZETTI MEMORIAL HERE ON AUGUST 22

I. L. D. to Hold Meet at Union Square

A huge memorial meeting for Sacco and Vanzetti will be held Wednesday, August 22, at 5 p.m. in Union Square under the auspices of the New York Section of the International Labor Defense.

Preparations are being made on an elaborate scale to make the memorial meeting in Union Square as large as the historic Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations last year in the same place. Working class organizations throughout the city are being invited to cooperate, prominent speakers will address the thousands of workers that are expected, and the entire meeting will be turned into a demonstration of working class solidarity and struggle against the capitalist class that murdered Sacco and Vanzetti, and to demand the liberation of Mooney and Billings and other political prisoners.

The memorial meeting was originally scheduled to be held in a hall, but it was decided to hold it in Union Square where many thousands of class-conscious workers will be able to join in a tribute to the two great workingclass martyrs.

Maneuvers and Plans for Last War Revealed By British Documents

LONDON, August 2.—British official documents disclosing some of the data relative to the last war, and which covers the period between 1898 and 1904 have been published today. The documents, which are the most important of the series, dating from 1904 on were not published.

What has been published reveals the entente between English and French imperialism against German imperialism and according to the statement of Von Bulow, German chancellor, was really an armed alliance.

The documents also reveal that it had been settled between England and France that if Germany were to invade France 100,000 British troops and 42,000 horses would be landed in France within a period of fourteen days after the commencement of the war. The position assigned to the British troops was marked on a map.

rench Harbor Workers Demonstrate With Red Flag In Spite of Police Brutalities

CREW OF LINER PARIS STRIKES; WALK-OFF SHIP

Auth[illegible]ies Use Clubs At [illegible]monstration

LE HAVRE, France, Aug. 2.—Heavy detachments of armed police were pacing the Havre docks and quays yesterday following an attack upon a demonstration of harbor and marine strikers carrying the Red Flag, in which the authorities fractured the skulls of a number of the workers.

The struggle with the police was part of the demonstration resulting from the attempt of the ship owners and the municipal authorities to man the trans-Atlantic liner Paris with navy men hastily drafted as strikebreakers.

The crew of the Paris began to go out on strike early in the day and before the sailing time practically the whole complement had struck and joined the harbor strikers on the docks.

Attempts of the authorities to enforce the decree of the ministry of the interior, issued several days ago, ordering strikers not to interfere with sailings for the United States, resulted in the struggle on the quays and afterwards, as a demonstration and police raid, in the city.

The Paris finally sailed with a sketchy crew of French navy men hurriedly pulled together from contingents which had been rushed from Brest several days ago when the strike first broke out at Le Havre.

No immediate settlement of the walk-out is held possible by leaders of the strikers while the government and the ship and dock owners persist in their present attitude.

WASHINGTON IN MOONEY DRIVE

Trade Unions, Farmers Active in Drive

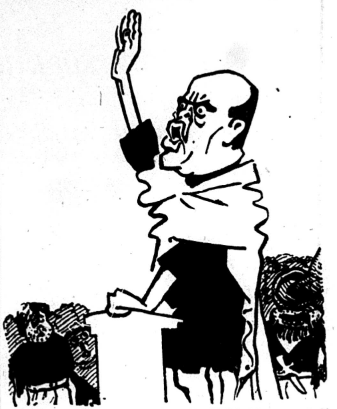
[illegible] Carl Brannin, of the Federal Labor Union; [illegible] the International Labor Defense; Rev. M. H. Marvin; John C. Kennedy, director of the Seattle Labor College; W. D. Lane, Farmers' Grange Association; James A. Duncan, Seattle Auto Mechanics Union, and many others.

To this state-wide conference prominent speakers from outside the State of Washington are being invited. Invitations have been extended to Frank P. Walsh and to Elizabeth Gurley Flynn. The International Labor Defense is organizing a state-wide tour on behalf of the Centralia defendants. Among the speakers will be Carl Braunin of the I. L. D., John C. Kennedy of the Seattle Labor College and others. Meetings are already scheduled for Braunin in Bellingham, Anacortes, Auburn and Everett. Resolutions demanding the release of the Centralia prisoners are being adopted in unions, fraternal organizations, farmers' granges and elsewhere throughout the state.

A statement issued yesterday by the I. L. D. says:

"It becomes increasingly clear that if the Centralia victims are to be restored to the ranks of the labor movement, an organized movement of protest of working men and women only can effect this. The lumber barons and their governmental lackeys want to see all fighters for labor in prison. The working class must fight to free them."

The Fascist Captain Leaves the Ship First



"The captain is the last to leave his ship," has been a good old saying long enough, says the Acht Uhr Abendblatt, of Berlin, but Mussolini has changed all that. "The fascist captain leaves his ship first," is the new slogan which the blackshirt leader is here shown expounding to a fascist audience.

WARN AGAINST NEW WORLD WAR

Must Fight Against Imperialists

the social democrats must be intensified, particularly against the latter, because they are the most dangerous.

The Communist Parties must remember Lenin's words that the "boycott of war" is only a stupid phrase. The Communist Parties, however, are not opposed to mass actions, like the refusal to accept military service and boycott when used as subordinate measures in the struggle to transform the imperialist war into a civil war. Such actions, however, must be strictly distinguished from pacifist humanitarian phrases. The parties must strive to prevent the mother countries from sending troops into the colonies. The parties have not done enough revolutionary propaganda among the troops.

Furthermore the Communist Parties have not reacted sufficiently to recent important events as for example the occupation of Shantung, the entrance of the Soviet Embassy and the Arcos raids and the murder of Voikov.

War Industries.

The struggle against war, however, is now the most important task before all the parties. Factory groups must be formed, particularly in war industries and at the docks.

When war comes the parties must strive to prevent the reformists from placing the trade union apparatus at the disposal of the capitalists. The illegal apparatus must be built up and more attention paid to national minorities. When the imperialists declare war, the Communist Parties must find weapons to overthrow the century-old enemy and establish world Bolshevism. (Applause).

At the proposal of delegates from North and South America, the Congress then despatched a telegram of greetings to the workers and peasants of Nicaragua and the gallant army of independence under Gen. Sandino.

SPIES RULE AT DE LAVAL FIRM

But Workers Have Them All Spotted

when they were discussing factory problems, and the labor situation as a whole.

Recently a man by the name of O'Brien delivered several corner speeches in this city. We all read in the papers that he was going to talk on the menace of Communism, or something to that effect. I went down to hear him, together with several other workers from the De Laval plant. As we reached the spot of the meeting, I noticed that a big car was parked about fifteen feet away from the place where O'Brien was holding his talk. I didn't think anything of it at the time, and walked up into the crowd that was gathered around the soapbox.

Factory Hired O'Brien.

After a short while, a man came out of the car and walked up to O'Brien while he was taking a rest. It was our factory superintendent. He spoke to him for about ten minutes, and then walked away. I am sure now, just as every other worker in the DeLaval plant is sure, that O'Brien was in the pay of the company. I am sure also that among the workers who listened to O'Brien was a crowd of company stool-pigeons, taking in every worker in the plant who attended the meeting, and listening to every remark concerning O'Brien's attack on the Workers Party. Since I made some rather strong remarks about O'Brien's speech being the bunk, I am thoroughly prepared to be fired now any day.

Waking Up.

I want you to know something about the general feeling in the factory. Until a short time ago, the workers knew nothing at all about what was going on in other factories and in other industries all over the United States. We knew nothing about the Workers Party which fights for better conditions for us workers. We knew nothing about The DAILY WORKER that explains our fight in terms of the class struggle, showing that our struggle is the struggle of all the workers in the world. Now we know.

"Daily" Showing Way.

Most of the workers here are still backwark, but such articles as those which appear in The DAILY WORKER, and such phoney speeches as the ones made by the company-paid faker O'Brien are gradually opening their eyes. Soon I hope we will be able to organize a strong union here, and really fight for our rights.

I am going to send other stories about conditions and events here to The DAILY WORKER from now on. It is the only paper in America that prints what we workers write about our own lives.

AUTONOMISTS IN OWN PARLIAMENT IN YUGOSLAVIA

Belgrade Session Is Declared Dull

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Aug. 2.—Declaring that the abbreviated parliament which met in Belgrade for 15 minutes no longer represented Jugoslavia, the parliament of the Croat-Democratic coalition, meeting in Gagreb, called upon all the non-Serbian nationalities to fight against the Belgrade hegemony.

Prebitchevitch, the democratic leader, delivered the key speech, in which he denounced the Belgrade parliament as being responsible for the shooting on June 20, and denounced it as a Serb hegemony which could no longer be tolerated.

Resolutions were passed which pointed out that when the Yugoslav kingdom was created out of the Croats, Serbs and Slovenes each nationality was to have an equal status, but that the Belgrade regime had betrayed the nationalities. The resolutions then went on to declare that the Parliament which met in Belgrade had no power to act, especially in matters of finance and international affairs, for the only deputies present were those belonging to the Serb party. The Serb Agrarian Croat Peasant, Democratic, German and part of the Moslem parties were not represented at Belgrade.

The final resolution called for a coalition of all the nationalities against the Belgrade regime and offered reformist measures for a new constitution and new elections.

Unrest Against Gomez Regime in Venezuela Grows; Report "Plot"

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia, Aug. 2.—The Colombian newspaper La Prensa, reports that several women had been arrested in connection with a revolutionary "plot" against the dictator of Venezuela, Gomez.

The newspaper also reports that the "plot" had become so serious that Gomez has prepared a ship to make a quick departure for Europe if necessary.

Meanwhile the strict censorship existing thruout Venezuela, and the strong measures of the dictatorship do not permit any further news of the revolt to leave the country.

RED CANDIDATES WILL MAKE TOUR

Foster, Gitlow To Cover U. S.

expelled from the S. P. with the Left Wing in 1909 by the reactionary party bureaucracy in the State of Washington. He joined the I. W. W. and took an active part in that organization's activities. He visited Europe in 1910, spending thirteen months there, studying the labor movement.

Foster's Record.

During the war Foster was active in the trade unions, being secretary of the committee that organized 200,000 packing-house workers in 1917. After this, in 1918, he was secretary of the committee that organized a quarter of a million steel workers and conducted the great steel strike of 400,000 workers.

Foster made a trip to Russia in 1921, attending the congresses of the Communist International and the Red International of Labor Unions. Upon his return to the United States he declared himself a Communist, and has since been active in the Communist movement.

Foster is the most polific writer in the American revolutionary movement, having produced more than a dozen books and pamphlets, his latest—"Misleaders of Labor"—being considered one of his most valuable contributions to the literature of the Communist movement.

Gitlow Active for Years.

Gitlow, a member of the Central Executive Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party, has been actively engaged in trade union work since 1913, first in the Retail Clerks' Union and later on in the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

Gitlow joined the socialist party in 1910. In 1917 he was elected to the New York State Assembly on an anti-war platform and in opposition to conscription. He was one of the organizers of the Left Wing of the Socialist Party in 1918 and opposed the wrong tactics of the Russian Federation Group, and was one of the leaders who organized the Communist Labor Party. John Reod, who died in Russia afterwards and is now buried near the Kremlin Wall in Moscow, was associated with Gitlow as editor of the Voice of Labor, a Left Wing organ.

In 1918-1919 Gitlow became connected with the Revolutionary Age, edited by John Reed. Gitlow was the first revolutionist in the United States to be placed on trial for being a Communist. He was sentenced to ten years in prison, three of which he served before the mass protests of the workers forced the government of New York State to release him. He is now under indictment for alleged violation of the criminal syndicalism law of the State of Michigan, said violation consisting of attending a Communist convention in the town of Bridgeman, Berrion County, in 1922.

To Cover Many Cities.

Gitlow has been active in the political and industrial work of the Party since it was organized. In May, 1923, he took over the editorship of the Jewish Daily Freiheit.

The Foster-Gitlow tour will cover every important city and agricultural center from Boston, Massachusetts to Portland, Oregon.

On the southeastern swing San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Denver, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago. Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Louisville, Birmingham, New Orleans, and Atlanta will be covered.

Then they will travel north, speaking in Norfolk and Richmond, Virginia, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and Pittsbugh, Pa., and the principal Ohio cities, both tours ending about the same time on the eve of the balloting the first week in November.

In addition to the Party's national standard-bearers many other speakers of prominence will be toured. Scott Nearing, one of the most popular platform speakers in the United States, who was expelled from universities for his radical views, author of several books on economics, is scheduled for a national tour in the Communist election campaign.

LABOR TO HONOR SACCO-VANZETTI

Chicago Workers to Meet Aug. 22

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—The tragic memory of August 22nd is dawning on the consciousness of Chicago workers as the first anniversary of the misdeed approaches.

A most stirring Memorial celebration is being planned by the Chicago office of the International Labor Defense together with the Sacco-Vanzetti Memorial Conference. It will be held in Temple Hall, Van Buren and Marshfield on August 22, the date of execution of the labor martyrs.

The meeting will be held until eleven o'clock (Chicago time), the hour of the murder, when a thrill of horror vibrated through the entire world. Impressive ceremonies will take place during the moments when life was snuffed out of the bodies of the two workers by the executioners of Boston.

Many of Chicago's prominent liberals and representatives of all shades of opinion, who fought against the execution have been invited to speak.

SPLIT EXPECTED AT KOUMINTANG NANKING PARLEY

Opponent of Chiang Kai-shek Absent

SHANGHAI, Aug. 2.—Renewed struggle among the rival Chinese war lords looms as the fifth plenary session of the Kuomintang party open in Nanking today.

The absence of Yen Hsi-shan, governor of Shansi, from the conference and his known allegiance with Feng Yu-hsiang against Chiang Kai-shek has aroused much speculation here on the outcome of the session.

Yen Hsi-shan left Peking, supposedly bound for Nanking by rail, disappeared on a plea of sickness and turned up again later at Tai Yuen, capital of Shansi.

Southern armies under the command of General Pei Chung-hsi are so reported advancing towards the Great Wall where several thousand of Shantung troops are said to be encamped.

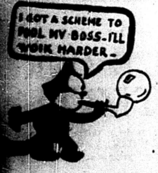
Soap Bubbles



I GOT A SCHEME TO FOOL MY BOSS-I'LL WOIK HARDER—

Sure, he has a scheme that will beat the boss! "I will work like hell and save my money. Then I will become a boss myself." His head is full of these notions. "It's a free country, everybody's got a chance to be rich." A few more soap bubbles—illusions!

The bosses laugh among themselves: "The poor fish," they say. "He still swallows the bait we feed him. Equal opportunity! Democracy! He wouldn't join a union if you paid him. Never went out on strike in his life. Thinks the Bolsheviks are the devil. A fine slave!"

There are 20 millions of these slaves in the United States.

THE DIARY OF A COMMUNIST SCHOOLBOY

N. OGNYOV

What does a boy of twelve think about in the land where workers rule?

This simple diary of a schoolboy in Soviet Russia has puzzled many a wise bourgeois critic. New standards, new ideas, a new life—richer and more creative. Such things seem at first unlikely and fantastic to a dusty brain.

But the "Diary" speaks for itself.

UILD REAL FIGHTING TEXTILE UNION IN FALL RIVER; CITY CALLED SUB CELLAR OF INDUSTR

FALL RIVER, Mass., (By Mail).—The Textile Mill Committee tonight has put over its eighth public meeting for textile workers. We touched another new locality and drew our crowd from the workers of nine mills that are located in the "Flint section." There was a crowd of about 2,500 workers, the chief of police, 25 patrolmen and one patrol wagon present.

This was the first meeting that we succeeded in opening and finishing on the same lot. The chief usually terrorizes the owner at the last minute, and then he marches forth with his "bulls," read a letter he received from the owner, saying he does not wan any labor meetings on his lots.

With drawn clubs they chased the crowd off. The T. M. C. organizers and many of our local live wires then had the workers and marched them to another place, gathering workers as we go and hold the meeting, with good success.

This town is the sub-cellar of the textile industry. When we succeed in organizing this place we have the foundation for a real fighting union. New Bedford is already assured as the ground floor of this industrial edifice.

The speakers last night were Jim Reid and Bill Sroka of the T. M. C. organizing staff, and Fred Beal of the New Bedford union. Peter Hagelius, also organizer in Fall River was chairman.

Friday night we are scheduled t break into the north side where there are many mills in which it is rumored that the chief holds shares of stocks.

HANdOuTS

Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, notorious evangelist of Los Angeles, who some time back spent a few week-ends with her radio operator and came back to town with the story that she had been kidnapped, was in a beauty parlor the other day getting some needed attention. She was told that her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, in Seattle, had issued a public statement reviving the scandal of her trip with the radio enthusiast. Mrs. McPherson said: "This kind of thing is unkind. . . . But in the sacredness which belongs to mother love I shall suffer in silence." These are sweet words. A few months ago when Mrs. Kennedy was her daughter's manager, Aimee used all the words in the vocabulary of an expert mule driver to get her to release her hold on the money bags.

Gems of Learning

W. T. Clemens, assistant secretary Greater New York Federation of Churches:—"Today all the leading universities include courses in religion and religious affairs on their schedules. Columbia has been a leader in this movement under the direction of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler. During the last two years forty courses on religious subjects have been organized on Morningside Heights." The capitalists won't neglect this construction of one of its best weapons.

Charles B. Robbins, assistant secretary of war:—"No one who looks with an unclouded vision on the history of the world and on the present attitude of the nations toward each other can believe that the day of world peace has arrived or is approaching. It is something to be hoped for and prayed for, but not something to be expected, for many generations to come. With the present state of feeling of mankind toward one another throughout the world, the best way to avoid war is to be prepared to meet it—in case it should come—but never by word or act to invite aggression." The [illegible] way to end war is by war—the war that will free the working class from its exploiters.

Nervous Nellie Kellogg, secretary of state: "There is nothing in the American draft of an anti-war treaty which restricts or impairs in any way the right of self-defense. That right is inherent in every sovereign State and is implicit in every treaty. Every nation is free at all times and regardless of treaty provisions to defend its territory from attack or invasion and it alone is competent to decide whether circumstances require recourse to war in self-defense. If it has a good case, the world will applaud and not condemn its action. . ." All modern capitalist wars are aggressive and all can be made to appear defensive. If you pull your gun and kill someone you can always say you saw him reaching for his hip.

Roy Owen West, appointed secretary of interior to succeed Work: "I will familiarize myself for the great office for which I have been chosen." In a couple of weeks there won't be a method of graft in the great office with which he won't be acquainted.

Joseph R. Nutt, banker of Cleveland, treasurer of the G. O. P.: "Another question concerns where it comes from. I feel sure that Chairman Hubert Work will not accept any improper vouchers. . . . No subscription has been requested or accepted where any reasonable question could be rightfully raised as to the donor or the amount of the subscription." The only money that's turned down is made of wood. The G. O. P. treasurer is not that kind of a Nutt.

DESPITE FINES, PERSECUTION, MEN FIGHT ON

Alessandroni Is Called Injunction Judge

(By a WORKER Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA (By Mail).—What happens to Philadelphia workers when they insist on picketing during strikes? The judges, who feel that they are possessed of dictatorial powers, and who ignore the very rights supposed to be given to all "free" Americans by the "constitution"—"take care" of those intelligent, class-conscious and militant workers struggling for their class.

Recently officers and members of the Philadelphia Branch, No. 1, Local 706, of the American Federation of Full-Fashioned Hosiery Workers were arrested and brought before Judge Alessandroni, who has become notorious for his baiting of the workers of Philadelphia.

Nine Months' Solidarity.

The union has been conducting a strike against the Federal Knitting Company, Cambria and James Sts., in the heart of the great Kensington textile and hosiery factory district. This strike was declared on October 31, 1927, almost nine months ago, but the strikers have remained firm picketing the shop daily and refusing to return to work.

This fact has greatly peeved not only the manufacturers, but also their faithful lickspittles, as Alessandroni.

So when the union men appeared, Alessandroni saw his opportunity, and issued an injunction, sweeping in its nature, against the strikers.

He also lectured the strikers, warning them against this kind of alleged "unlawful" conduct such as picketing.

He labelled picketing as "interference with other workers."

However, militant workers are not easily frightened by Vare gangsters of the Alessandroni type.

So the picketing was continued until today, when the manufacturers saw to it that the police took action.

Accordingly, Frank Dolan and Frank Murphy, two of the striking pickets, were arrested. They were taken before Judge Martin, Court of Common Pleas No. 5.

Judge Martin is just as faithful to the powers that be as Judge Alessandroni. The charge against Murphy and Dolan was setting at defiance a court injunction, and therefore contempt of court.

Corrupt Courts.

So Judge Martin fined each of the strikers $100 and lectured them, telling them they would be sent to jail if they continued their "unlawful" conduct.

It is such decisions as rendered in these cases by "Judges" Alessandroni and Martin that makes all workers more and more contemptuous of the courts, that makes all workers realize that the courts, under present American "democratic" capitalistic society, are merely instruments for the protection of a few rich and powerful people, and instruments for the oppression of the workers who have to toil daily for a bare existence.

—C. RABIN.

GREEK TERROR IS DESCRIBED

BERLIN (By Mail).—Reports received here recently give the best picture of the unscrupulous provocation methods of the Greek police during the last strike.

One day a rumor was spread by the press that "the stubborn strikers are seeking those willing to work and setting fire to their dwellings." The evening after the home of a strike-breaker was put on fire and his wife threatened with murder. As she called for help a night-watchman and two gendarmes came, who took up the "pursuit." Then there appeared two more gendarmes, who did not at once grasp the situation and earnestly went after the miscreant.

When the ones who set fire to the house saw that their arrest was forthcoming they shot and killed the watchman and wounded the two gendarmes who had tried to arrest them. The first two gendarmes were not even touched.

The next day the tobacco worker, K. Jordanidis, was arrested and charged with the burning and shooting. Although he proved that he was not there, he was kept in prison.

Save this copy of the Daily for one of the 40,000 traction workers.

Textile Mill Committee Formed in Lawrence

The Ayer Woolen Mill, one of the three largest woolen mills in Lawrence, Mass., has had its own Textile Mill Committee since before the days of the New Bedford strike. The heroic struggle of the 30,000 strikers in New Bedford has distracted attention from the gradual spread of the struggle thruout the New England textile centers. Fall River has its own Mills Committee now, and it is probable that the Pawtuxet Valley in Rhode Island, Lawrence and other towns in Massachusetts, and Manchester in New Hampshire, will presently join the united front against the mill bosses and the union reactionaries.

DEATH; SLAVERY; THE SEA AND HELL SHIPS

(By a Worker Correspondent)

"The times are hard and the wages low—
Leave her, Johnny, leave her . . .
Oh, the times are hard and the
wages low,
Now is the time for us to leave her . . ."

Loudly and pitifully pleading sounds the voice of the chantey man. Mournfully the chorus takes up the strain: "Now is the time to leave her."

Clang, clang fall the pawls, and we wearily tramp around the capstan heaving our ship into the wharf. In port at last! Land of our dreams—Australia, the land of "plenty."

Sold, Betrayed.

The big coal strike of eight months' duration has just ended. Miners were back at work; sold out, betrayed by their leaders. There, too, they had their Lewises, Thomases and Capellinis. History repeating itself.

Ships and ships. . . . Wherever you look you see steamers and "square-riggers." Up the river, near the ballast ground, the "Siberia." Its masts and yards seemed like a forest.

Sailors without number. . . . Like convicts they are working, digging like slaves, filling baskets and hoisting out ballast by hand. Hard work, indeed. Standing in the broiling sun by the hand-winch, heaving, heaving from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m., heaving till your elbows begin to creak. Next day you shift by going below in the hold to shovel sand, coke or rubbish until your back cries aloud in pain. Toiling in chains, hence the name "Siberia."

Under the Lash.

Sailors of all nationalities: French, English, Norwegian, German. All slave, day in day out, under a cruel master's lash, masters who try to beat each other in the number of those whom they discharge. "The harder he is made to work the more he will keep the devil out of his mind," laughingly, cynically say the captains to each other, while, over glasses of whiskey, they discuss ways and means of making their crews desert the ship after the ballast is all discharged.

The ship-owners could easily buy steam-engines, but why need they when sailor labor is so cheap? They can feed him anything they like. If the sailor does not like conditions, "to hell with him. He can desert the ship" and leave his hard-earned pay in the hands of the master. Easy money for the ship-owners and the captain. Yes, easy, but covered with the blood and sweat of the sailor.

If the seaman demands better food and conditions, up goes the police flag. A launch comes to our ship with water patrol aboard and to Maitland jail the sailors go, chained and handcuffed like desperate criminals. With this hard-earned money he pays for the days of his "lock-up" and on the day of sailing, aboard he returns half-starved, sick and broken in spirit.

The Hell Ship, God Bless Her!

"Glenlui" was a smart looking full rigged vessel. Its name was painted, cut and burned everywhere; on bells, capstan bars, wheel, spars, even on cabin crockery, knives and spoons. Above all, boldly and proudly stood out on the cabin skylight: "God speed, good ship 'Glenlui.'" Despite this holy and stupid inscription, the "Glenlui" was neither a good ship, nor had any possible God any particular interest in speeding her. She was like the average "windjammer" of those days of 1910, a hell ship and consequently nearer the devil than the Almighty.

In the North Atlantic, during some bad weather, two sailors, bad and bold, went overboard to "Davy Jones' locker." They cursed too much, so God did not like them. And this is why they have "Fear God and obey your king" bunk on some ships.

Five hundred miles south of the Cape of Good Hope there was another young sailor cut down in his prime—a prime choice for the ever-hungry sharks. (God's will again!) We could have saved the sailor and made the sharks go hungry but for the stupid inscription: God speed the good ship Glenlui. (God was true to His word again.) The ship was really speeding, doing 16 knots and an onion "pee-hauled" on "hard-tack." The young man was left to die behind.

"Leave her, Johnny, leave her," was not sung for no reason. "Glenlui" carried 18 able-bodied seamen before the mast, and aloft, so neat that hypocritical inscription, was the almighty master and his two burly mates. Eighteen men ran away—every mother's Jack, leaving plenty of "jack" in the ever-greedy hands of the "almighty." Twelve months' jay at the rate of £2 per month was more than enough to get drunk on those days.

Forging Names.

The captain certainly had to worry in forging the sailor's signature the captions "stops sold" (on paper). Soon all the stock at stops was sold (on paper), but it was still in the cabin ready to be sold to the next unfortunate seaman. There were some good forgers among the masters "them days." And if some did happen to be clumsy with the pen, there was the first mate to try his hand at forging, and the mate got his share of the spoils, not so much, of course, but enough to keep his mouth shut. The lion's share generally went to the owners, they were so poor and religious!

After holding out for eight months, after prolonged hardships and starvation in the land of plenty—the miners are back at work again. Want and misery everywhere. Seamen who deserted ships are scouting the country for jobs. No work had, not even for tobacco and "tucker" (food) as pay. Land of plenty! Hungry, sick and tired, the sailor finally lands back in port again. Being broke he falls into the hands of a shipping master or a land shark who takes a month's pay in advance for getting him a job on a hell-ship. Of course, the master gets his share of the advance money.

"Westgate" was a fullrigged ship, a main sky-rail yarder, commanded by a sky-piloting, bible-punching "Franciscan padre," Jack D. He spoke to us like the father before signing on.

Spider and Fly.

"You are decent looking chaps," he said, grinning broadly and showing his yellow, big and ugly teeth. "You will like my ship," he says, trying to smile. "They all like her," he lies, knowing that his last crew was still in jail for meeting together aboard ship.

We came aboard. Haul out to "Fare Thee Well" buoys. Set sail for South America and hell breaks loose once again. The once gentle, priest-like man begins to act very ungodly; he is yelling, swearing like the devil, "Main topsail halyards, he roars at the top of his voice, loud as a bull; "come here, you young b———, and give her a pull."

What a change. One can hardly believe his eyes. The Franciscan parde has certainly changed. Ugly, pot-bellied man, looking for all the world like a pig walking on its hind legs. Upturned mouth and full-mooned face, on his bald head a making cap (like the one Mussolini wears), but only of a red color. Between his tusks an ugly pipe, which he is smoking continually, never taking it out of his mouth.

He curses the weather, shakes his fat fist at the heavens and shouts to the man at the wheel, "Keep the royals (sails) shaking, you son-of-a———.

"One For All."

At sea. "Water, water, everywhere; but not a drop to drink." Short of food and drinking water. On pitch dark nights we would gather under the forecastle head and discuss means of bettering our conditions. We were not afraid. All for one and one for all became our slogan. Hell ship, indeed.

Pig-head, as we called the priest-like captain, is "very free" with the belaying pin during the day and with the gun at night. Why should he fear? Hasn't he a large body-guard, comprising ten apprentices, future ship owners, drawn from the middle classes of England?

The ship's cook almost poisoned the "old pig" with some arsenic. The cook was no bourgeois—like the captain. And he was just plain sick of him as the rest of us were.

—PETERSON.

CEMENT HARDENS AROUND WORKER DROWNED IN IT

Only Palms Stick Out On Finished Job

(By a Worker Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA, (By Mail).—For the last few months all that us office help had to do was glance out of the window to see our new annex getting up. Slowly it grew from a flat foundation to a great, tall giant towering above all the buildings within a radius of perhaps a mile or more.

The first glance led one to believe that the building was going up rather slow. But upon closer observation one could see workmen below and above and everywhere, like busy bees, each one doing their little mite. And soon we see another story added to the last. Now the new building stands, a specimen of modern engineering and concrete wonder.

Still the bosses are driving their help around putting the finishing touches and making improvements within and without.

A few of us clerks sat languidly smoking away the time until the whistle would blow and bring us back to the stuffy room in which we slaved eight hours per day for six days in the week.

We glanced up and down at the elevator shafts and machines and winches and pipes and bricks and cement. Occasionally one of us would break the silence by remarking about the chances that this or that workman was taking.

Along comes a thick-set fellow and, seeing us, lazily edges over our way, meanwhile spitting tobacco juice to his side as he asks us for the time.

Hearing us remark about the danger of working on a construction like that he says, "Well, fellows, we're kina brisk with this job here but we only had a few mishaps the most serious one being when that elevator shaft loosened on top and came crashing down. Gosh! you ought to see those devils down here run!"

For a while he started at a few workers wheeling cement in barrows to the mouth of a trough and then dumping the barrows' contents when they would abruptly turn and go for another load. At length the tobacco-spitting individual remarks, "Well, boys, accidents are bound to happen on these jobs but this one sure was a terror. We were putting up a huge wall on a rush job a few months' back, and you know how these cement-truckers are. Well, when we took the boards away from the hardened concrete darn if we didn't see a pair of palms wedged into the concrete. A poor devil had fallen in the chute and had been buried alive in the concrete wall!"

He spit tobacco-juice again, then remarked, "Yep, that building had a living monument—and he's still there."

Our stomachs seemed to battle dangerously with the food we had previously eaten as we gloomily walked back to the office.

The Origin of the Movies— First Motion Picture in 1833

It is not impossible that some form of motion picture was known to the ancients. Titus Lucretius Carus at least 65 years before the Christian era wrote:

"In the year of A. D. 130 Ptolemy, a Greek philosopher wrote a series of books on optics in which he not only described persistence of vision, but also a piece of apparatus in the form of a revolving disk with spots upon it, which demonstrated this phenomenon."

Whatever knowledge the ancients may have had of motion pictures, however, is too remote and too far buried in the murky depths of the past to be of more than momentary interest in the history of cinematography.

Motion pictures came to be a fact in 1833 when there was a social demand for them. W. G. Horner, patented "Zoetrope" or the "Wheel of Life," which consists of a hollow cylinder turning a number of slots around the interior. Between the slots appear a series of pictures representing successive stages of such a subject as a galloping horse, and as the cylinder is rotated one sees the horse apparently in motion. The pictures were drawn by hand, until the year 1877.

In 1872, Edward Muybridge, an Englishman, made photographs of a race horse in motion, which were used for theatres where the nobles went. It is true that, compared to motion pictures of today, the results were crude, but they were pictures in motion, nevertheless.

Recent years marked a complete period of transformation to a new era of motion pictures. At this time we see them popularized to such an extent that for the ruling class they become a weapon to insure their political power. Because the motion picture is so delicate and effective a weapon it can be used as a valuable propagandist.

This type of propaganda must be counteracted. We must have pictures of real life. They must serve for the education of the masses, to raise their cultural and moral level. Our work in motion pictures in the future will greatly be done not in the studio, but on the field, in the mills, mines and factories—where the masses live and struggle.

STAGE HANDS SEEK NEW WAGE SCALE

With the expiration of local agreements between the Stage Hands' Union and Syracuse theatres on August 31, the stage hands intend making a demand for an increase in wages of $10 to $15 per week.

A committee is now working with the co-operation of the other theatrical unions toward that end. The new wage scale will raise the wages of carpenters to $60 for a six-day week, with $20 additional for Sunday work. Other workers, now receiving $45, would receive $55.

RED HOT RIVETS ENDANGER LIVES AT TRIMBLE CO.

Foreman Sees Nothing So Awful in That

(By a WORKER Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (By Mail).—The W. F. Trimble and Sons Company of Pittsburgh does not worry very much about the lives of their employes. The laborers are forced to work in such places where they are always liable to get killed or seriously injured.

The following took place at the site of our employment. The laborers, while working on the ground, noticed that there were a number of workers riveting directly over them. Red-hot rivets were being thrown to the men at work, many of them falling to the ground, where the laborers were at work.

When the attention of the foreman was called to this terrible state he merely smiled and said that if a worker was killed there was nothing so awful about that. Besides the burning rivets falling down upon the laborers, planks were also pulled down after the construction of a concrete wall. Here, too, the lives of the workers were endangered, but the superintendent was not affected by this danger.

This has been going on for quite a long while and the workers did nothing to change these conditions.

Boston Capmakers Denounce President Zaritsky's Injunction Plea Against Local 7

CONSPIRACY TO DESTROY UNION, MEMBERS SAY

“Is [illegible] Crime Against [illegible]anization”

BOSTON, August 2.—The application of President Max Zaritsky of the Cloth, Hat and Capmakers International, for an injunction against the administration of Local 7, Boston, is denounced in a statement issued last night by the local. Zaritsky is being represented by two socialist attorneys, Bearak and Rower, and further hearing in the case will take place Aug. 21.

The statement of Local 7 follows, in part:

“The application for an injunction against the administration of Local 7 (Boston) of the Cloth Hat and Cap Makers International, by President Zaritsky is the culminating point of a whole policy of suppression of all progressive elements in our International. The same high-handed policy is being carried out in Chicago, in New York and in other centers. The progressive group fights against the policies of the International Officers, which policies it considers as dangerous to the best welfare of the vast majority of the membership and as destructive of our organization.

Start Disrupting Tactics.

“The International officials had determined that we must be ousted. They organized factions in our local in an effort to disrupt the normal functioning. When this failed, they trumped up charges against our administration and an investigation committee of International Officers found nothing to base its charges on. Next came the demand that we call special elections because they claimed that the membership had no confidence in us. We agreed to it, and in the elections supervised by a committee of International Officers, we received a substantial majority.

Form Illegal Local.

“Defeated in this last maneuver, our International officers entered on an arbitrary campaign of extermination. They completely disregarded the constitution of our International, of which they are the supposed guardians. They declared us deposed without so much as preferring charges or giving us a hearing.

“The application for this injunction is a detestable act worthy only of misleaders of the workers. To make use of injunctions while labor is fighting against injunctions is a crime against the members of our International.”

A. F. L. CONFLICT IS STILL RAGING

Council Divided Over Smith-Hoover

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 2.—Continued conflict between members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in session here as to the endorsement of either Hoover or Smith is believed to be the reason for the postponement of the discussion on a political program until the last session.

Reports have been issued that the council would not take a stand on the presidency as the way out of the dilemma between the powerful camp headed by Matthew Woll, vice-president of the federation, who is known to have held secret conferences with Hoover, and the camp headed by Green who admits freely that he has practically promised Smith to use his influence to endorse the Tammany governor.

An application for admission into the A. F. of L. was yesterday received from the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters whose recent threatened strike Green was able to call off. Action on the application was likewise postponed but it is known that the federation will make a gesture towards accepting the Negro porters whom the A. F. of L. bureaucrats have consistently barred in the past.

Struggle for Control of Rich Prize Fighting Plums

BOSSES BLAMED FOR OIL BLAST

8 Dead, 72 Injured by Explosion

LAWRENSVILLE, Ill., Aug. 2.—The victims of company red tape and stereotyped “efficiency,” eight workers are already dead and 12 more are in immiinent danger of death here following the explosion yesterday of an old steam oil still of the Indian Refining Company.

Yesterday only one death had been reported, but the toll of victims increased today as more details of the disaster became known. Over 100 workers were endangered, and several men virtually became human torches when caught in the path of blazing oil. Seventy-two were taken to the company's hospital at Vincennes, Ind., ten miles away.

The blast occurred while the refinery's fire brigade was fighting a small fire in a nearby still. When the second fire alarm was turned in, the workers obediently responded to company orders, only to be drenched in flaming oil as it shot out of the exploding still. The majority of those seriously burned were those answering the second alarm.

RAILWAY 'RAISES' WAGE; PAYS LESS

Fires Many Hundreds of Workers

LANCASTER, Pa., August 2.—Accompanied by a nominal increase of wages of from one cent to five cents an hour, the Pennsylvania Railroad, it was learned today, has given the gate to nearly two thousand employes and has speeded up its 25,000 workers to previously unbelievable records.

Railroad employment in April was lower by 5.67 per cent than a year ago. Over one hundred thousand railroad workers have been dropped by the various companies during the past 12 months. At present a railroad employee does at least twice the work required of him ten or twelve years ago.

The announcement of the increases by the Pennsylvania Railroad was made by Calvin W. Long, Chairman of the Executive Board of the Pennsylvania Railroad System Fraternity. The announcement carried the statement that wage increases would amount to about $100,000 per month. While this amount was questioned in some quarters, it was pointed out that the road has decreased its payrolls by at least twice that amount per month as a result of the “rationalization” process now taking place. All railroads have saved $13,691,717 in the last year through reduced payrolls.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 2.—A strike is on by the photo-engravers against the Nashville Tennessean. The strike has been on for three months.

YANKEES LOOSE IN 15 INNING THRILLER

The St. Louis Browns battled on even terms with New York Yankees for 14 innings at St. Louis yesterday and in the fifteenth frame scored the run which meant victory, 4 to 3.

The Yankees opened their artillery in the first inning to score one run while in the last inning it was Stewart, Brown Pitcher, who singled with the bases full to win his own game.

The Philadelphia Athletics made it 15 out of last 16 games with a shutout victory over the Indians. The winners scored six runs off the 12 hits Uhle allowed. Earnshaw, on the mound for Philadelphia, held the Indians to six scattered hits.

The same New York Giants who relegated the Chicago Cubs to the lowest run in first division jerked the Cincinnati Reds out of second place.

A 7 to 5 victory put the Reds one point behind McGraw's aggregation. Joe Genewich, although he allowed 10 hits, managed to keep the reds in check and won his fifth game in eight starts as a Giant.

The Chicago Cubs took a hard fought game at Brooklyn, 3 to 2. The Cubs were outhit, 9 to 5, but played errorless ball to win. Hal Carlson pitched his first complete game of the season for the winners.

Rejects Arbitration Scheme By Kellogg

WASHINGTON, August 2.—The Honduras government today rejected the proposal of Secretary of State Kellogg that the dispute between the Honduras and Guatemala governments over some land near their frontier occupied by an American Fruit company be arbitrated by the Central American Tribunal.

While Guatemala had already accepted on July 18 the Honduras government declined on the ground that the lists of the juriconsuls who were to compose the Tribunal were not presented to the interested governments.

Jingoist Resigns Education Post

WASHINGTON (F.P.)—Resignation of John J. Tigert as U. S. commissioner of education — the chief job in the bureau of education in the Interior Department took effect today.

It was Tigert, a former soldier from Kentucky, who arranged with the American Legion the fantastic and militaristic “Education Week program” of some years ago, with its anti-progressive slogans and flag-waving exercises.

Every new reader of The DAILY WORKER is a potential soldier in the coming battles of the workers.

HILLMAN CLIQUE OUSTS MILITANTS

Removes 5 Candidates' Names From Ballot

Sidney Hillman, who purposely announced some time ago that he intends to “clean up the graft and corruption in the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, local 19,” in which a veritable swamp of corruption was disclosed by the Daily Worker and the Freiheit, was instrumental in the removal of militant workers from the ballots in the election of an executive board for that local.

The militant workers, Dickstein, Brechner, Brandes, A. Nayer, and Abe Shotlin, who have always been among the leaders of those carrying on the fight against the corrupt leaders in that local, were candidates for the executive board, nominated by the workers in whose interest they had fought for the last few years.

But their names were removed from the ballot by the Hillman-Schlosberg hand-picked committee, who left on the ballot only the names of those who were sure to support their own grafting and corrupt administrative clique.

When the stories appeared in the Daily Worker and the Freiheit exposing the graft going on in local 19, Hillman venomously attacked the statements that appeared in the papers, saying that they were a hindrance rather than an aid in ridding the local of its graft. He further stated that he would see to it, personally, that the graft would be wiped out.

USSR Court Lectures Man Who Killed Three-Year-Old Imbecile Son

LENINGRAD, U. S. S. R., Aug. 2. Rather than permit his three-year-old son to grow up a hopeless idiot, Vladimir Orlofsky, an aviator, killed the child and then surrendered himself to the state.

After a brief trial, Orlofsky was found technically guilty and the court sentenced him to six months' imprisonment, but immediately suspended sentence, merely reprimanding him publicly.

The act of the Soviet court in first sentencing him to prison and then suspending the sentence was caused by the fear that other parents, especially among the ignorant of the population, might take Orlofsky's action as a precedent for doing away with their own children. The six months' sentence, therefore, was a sort of warning to others that the court considers Orlofsky's act indeed a crime, although in this case it recognized extenuating circumstances.

Your struggle in shop, mine, mill or factory is incomplete unless you report it to The DAILY WORKER.

SIX GIVEN YEAR APIECE BY NEW BEDFORD COURT

the 240 pickets held in the New Bedford jail in bail of $500 each was followed by fresh police activity today and further arrests of leaders and pickets at the Whitman Mill.

Eli Keller, an organizer of the T. M. C., Elizabeth Donnelly and Eulalie Mendes were seized by the authorities while they were leading the long line in front of the mill. Manuel Kasmiiro and Manuel Costa were arrested with Keller.

The arrival of the police failed to scatter the picket line as the authorities had apparently expected. The pickets defied the police declaring that mass picketing is legal and that they would continue to picket unless arrested. Eight were taken to police headquarters.

In pursuance of the orders of Mayor Ashley to jail all strike leaders for law violations, regardless of the nature of his offense, the police are attempting to arrest all the picket line leaders on whom they can lay their hands.

Results of the balloting on the question of arbitration by unions affiliated with the Textile Council is being awaited here. Present indications are that, in spite of the reactionary leadership of the unions, the rank and file will oppose the arbitration proposal.

Belief that the manufacturers were anxious to end the strike, was expressed by Eli Keller, organizer for the Textile Mills Committee from his cell.

“The manufacturers are eager to break the strike now because the textile season is at hand and if the mills are not started the manufacturers will lose a whole season's business,” he said.

DROP 2 NEGROES FROM GOLF PLAY

Act Was Caused by Race Prejudice

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2 (UP).—Preliminary hearing of the separate bills of equity asked by two Negro golfers against officials of the United States Golf Association because they were disqualified yesterday in the National Public Links Championship tournament will be heard tomorrow morning.

Wilmer Stout, Newark, and Robert P. Ball, Chicago, asked an injunction restraining the officials from continuing the present competition at the Cobbs Creek course until they have reinstated the two men.

Both players turned in scores that would have qualified them among the 32 players who started match play today. They were dropped for technical reasons. The two contend the whole action was taken because they were Negroes.

MINERS' NUCLEUS SENDS GREETINGS TO MOSCOW MEET

Anthracite Conference Hails Comintern

(Special to the Daily Worker).

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 2.—The conference of the Anthracite Workers Party sub-district held July 29, adjourned with the following motion of greetings to the Communist International Congress: “The conference of the Anthracite Sub-district, Workers (Communist) Party of America greets the Sixth Congress of the Communist International, being held in Moscow, as the leader of the world proletariat. We, American Communists, fighting against the most powerful imperialism of the world, are sure that under the banner of the Communist International our struggle will be won.”

The conference after hearing and discussing the reports on the national and local mining situation, adopted a resolution and several motions instructing the units and the newly elected sub-district committee to mobilize the entire membership for the Party campaigns, the most important being the building of a real miners' union in the anthracite. Through building the mine nuclei and left wing blocs, through working for a large delegation to the Pittsburgh miners' convention, the Party will establish itself as an important factor in the struggle of the hard-coal miners and other workers living in the sub-district.

☒ WORKERS (COMMUNIST) PARTY

For the Party of the Class Struggle!
For the Workers!
Against the Capitalists!

A Trade in Blood.

In the treaty just signed between the United States imperialist government with the so-called Nanking government, the American imperialists seek to strengthen the bloody arms of the counter-revolution in China, and in return the Chinese butchers undertake to pay their Wall Street protectors in the blood of China.

By the treaty the American eagle not merely extends its protecting wings over the bloody Nanking reactionaries who have slaughtered tens of thousands of workers and peasants, but gains substantial advantages over its rivals in the struggle for Chinese markets. The eagle extorts a heavy price for its protection.

In return for hypocritical phrases about tariff autonomy, the United States secures the abolition of the likin, or internal tax, which Chinese provincial war lords hitherto levied against foreign goods crossing the provincial borders within China. The United States—in spite of the eulogies in the capitalist press—makes no tangible concession whatever. The only concession is "recognition" by the strongest imperialist bully among those who are maneuvering for the best chances to make a subject colony of China. The treaty provides against a discriminatory tariff and as long as any other power maintains its present treaty no tariff raise is possible.

While the hypocritical American capitalist press tries to cloak the treaty as an act of generosity on the part of the United States, the Kuomintang reactionaries in a vain effort to delude the Chinese masses point to the treaty as evidence of the success of the Nanking regime in securing tariff "autonomy."

The new treaty means nothing of the kind.

The imperialist powers, struggling against each other, are unwilling to grant tariff autonomy. The Nanking war lords will not fight for concessions from their imperialist masters.

The tariff treaty between the United States and the Nanking regime is certain to sharpen the differences between the imperialist powers in their scramble for spoils in China. It intensifies the danger of an imperialist war far greater in scale than the one which started August 4, 1914 and which shook the capitalist system to its foundations.

The workers and peasants of China, who are now conducting a bitter struggle against the Kuomintang war lords and the imperialists, are struggling for the liberation of China. In this struggle they have appealed for aid to the workers of all countries.

The battle against imperialism is not merely the battle of the Chinese workers. It is the battle of the entire working class.

Aid the Chinese working class in its struggle against imperialist oppression and the Kuomintang murderers!

Fight against the imperialist war danger!

Fight for the Chinese Revolution! Help the Chinese workers and peasants drive the American and other imperialists out of China at the point of the bayonet!

$2,000,000 for Clouting Pugs!

Eugene Joseph Tunney, the intellectual representative of the cauliflower ear business, has retired from the squared circle with approximately $2,000,000 in his kick, which was injected into it by the section of the American populace which likes to see others mauling each other, just as some patriots enjoy a nice gory war at a safe distance.

The readers of this paper do not go in for prize-fighting. The hundreds of thousands who read the Communist press never collectively spent enough money on the so-called manly art to keep Tex Rickard in dollar cigars for one week.

Whatever money they have to spare after feeding, clothing and sheltering themselves and their dependents is contributed to the revolutionary movement, which aims to knock out capitalism and give the social championship of the world to the workers and poor farmers.

Gene Tunney collected $2,000,000 in a few years of clouting pugs around a ring and taking a few clouts in exchange. The workers spend their lives performing useful labor and get nothing but less than a decent living in return. Thousands of them die annually of hunger.

To abolish a system of society which showers gold on the pug, the bruiser, and the parasite and starves the producer, the Workers (Communist) Party is organized. In this election campaign it is rallying the masses for the immediate struggles, against wage cuts, unemployment, imperialist wars, and other evils that flow from capitalism. Money is needed for this campaign.

The National Election Campaign Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party, 43 East 125th Street, New York City, has launched a drive to raise $100,000 for the Communist Campaign. We call on the workers and exploited farmers to contribute as generously as possible to this fund.

This election campaign will not decide the issue between the exploited masses and the exploiters. It is only a training exercise during which the revolutionary vanguard of the working class are mobilizing their forces for the struggle and for the final battle in which the bosses will hit the historical canvas never to rise again.

A hundred thousand dollars for a preliminary bout with capitalism.

A hundred thousand dollars to organize the masses for the final struggle that will send the imperialist system to the mat forever.

YOUTH TO DEFEND U. S. S. R.

By I. AMDUR

AMONG the methods of preparing the youth of the Soviet Union for the defense of their country the system of maneuvers—sham battles—is the most widespread and popular. Each Sunday the Y. C. L.'ers of one or another of the six districts of which Moscow is composed, journeys into the countryside to wage a sham battle. Equipped with [illegible] magazines, blank bullets, wooden "maxim-guns," which, when swung round and round make a rattling noise not unlike the real thing, the young "red soldiers" show [illegible] interest and spirit in these military games.

Komsomol Uniforms

Last Sunday some 460 of the youth from the Khamovnitchesky district took train to the suburbs of Moscow. Each of them had a rifle and a belt of blank bullets. Almost all of them wore the new khaki Komsomol uniform (somewhat similar to that worn by the German Yunge Rote-Front fighters). About 35 per cent of the youth were girls.

Some 17 versts out half of the group left the train and struck inland. The second half traveled some 15 versts (verst is three-fourths of a mile) farther. Both groups were accompanied by Red Army officers who explained the [illegible] of the game. The second group were an invading "enemy" marching on Moscow; the first had been hurriedly dispatched from Moscow, to the neighborhood [illegible] the "enemy" was supposed [illegible] where they were expected to appear, with orders to put them to rout at any cost. The aim of both groups was, by using every possible means, to catch the other unaware and gain victory by a surprise attack.

Both parties had been divided into battalions, companies and squads. Special maxim-gun squads and patrols were organized, and a communication company (to maintain contact betwen the companies) formed. Each party was attended by 15 nurses each of whom was fully equipped with medical supplies.

The weather condition, from the point of view of the youth, could not have been worse, although from the standpoint of roughing it they were ideal. It had been raining for the last couple of days and the ground was one vast spongy quagmire. Nevertheless, with light heart and song on lips the gallant "defending army" strode boldly on, over turf highways, through woods, villages, fields, halting periodically to await word from the advance patrols.

THEY had left the station at 9 o'clock in the morning; it was now close on 1 p. m. and still no sign of the opposing force. The going was hard. Through swampy and marshy fields and roads, ankle-deep in mud with water squelching from the boots at every step, they presented a sorry-looking "army" indeed. They were cheered up, however, by the Red Army officers who, during the halts, would praise the spirit of the group as being very soldier-like, indeed, and most disciplined.

And then, breathlessly, the patrol rushed up with the news that the "enemy" had been sighted advancing stealthily about a verst away. A feeling of intense excitement seized the "defending army," all tiredness fell away and, wary and alert, they swiftly sprang to cover, taking advantage of every bit of undergrowth and tree.

For about 10 minutes there was a dead silence except for the monotonous whistling of the rain, and then the "enemy" came into view. Stealthily they came, looking warily about them, but never for a moment supposing of the lurking danger that awaited them immediately in front. Nearer they came, and nearer, then softly was heard the command, "Load"—"Aim"—"Fire."

The air was startled with a deafening sound as dummy bullets and maxim-gun rattles blazed upon the opposing force. "Charge," rang a command, and down upon the enemy swept the "defending army" with triumphant shouts of victory.

It was a complete and successful rout. The "enemy" had fallen, as it were, upon the very point of their opponents' bayonets, and, after a half-hearted but ineffective rally, threw down their arms in token of surrender.

AFTER the excitement had cooled a meeting was held in which the results of the "game" were analyzed. The officers pointed out the mistakes of both sides and particularly those of the opposing force.

Communist Program Outlined; Veil Stripped From Capitalist Parties

THE election platform adopted by the National Nominating Convention of the Workers (Communist) Party is the most complete presentation of Communist analysis and indictment of capitalism as well as statement of the position of the party towards the basic questions confronting the working class that we have gotten out to date. American imperialism is presented in its true light. The striking gap between the wealth of the bourgeoisie and the poverty of large sections of the working class and exploited farmers is brought into clear contrast. The unemployment crisis is analyzed from a Marxist viewpoint and a program for immediate action is proposed. The parties of the big and small business interests—republican, democratic and socialist—are put before the masses in their true light.

Program Outlined.

A program to meet the offensive of the capitalists is outlined in detail. Special attention is paid to the heroic struggle of the miners. Particular emphasis is laid on the need for mobilizing the masses to paralyze the aggressive imperialist maneuvers of Wall Street against the Central and South American countries, China and the Soviet Union. The party pledged itself to do everything in its power to turn the next imperialist war into a civil war and raises the slogan: "Not a man, not a gun, not a cent for the imperialist army and navy." The party called upon the American marines to go over to the side of the revolution in Nicaragua and China. The party demands complete and immediate independence for all American colonies and semi-colonies. We demand immediate recognition of the Soviet Union and establishment of direct connections between the American and Russian working class.

Veil Stripped.

THE veil is stripped from the hypocritical capitalist democracy serving as the most cunning, powerful, ruthless strikebreaking agency in the world—the strikebreaking United States government. The party makes clear its position as an advocate of the building of a national mass labor party, but at the same time emphasizes that it is "a dangerous illusion to think that the workers can assume power by electing more and more members to congress or executive officials."

Our party demands a labor party:

"... Because it considers this the first decisive step towards independent political action by the working class, the first step of the workers to break away from the parties of the bosses. At the same time the Communist Party considers it its duty to tell the workers frankly that a labor party has its limitations and that it will not be able to lead the workers in their final struggle for their emancipation. Only a Communist Party can do that."

Position Clear.

The Communist position, towards tariff and taxation is made clear in the platform. The plight of the exploited masses is brought home very effectively. Particular stress is laid on the oppression of the Negroes. The party demands the abolition of race discrimination and stands for full racial, social and political equality. The platform demands, in part: "Abolition of all laws which disenfranchise the Negroes on line of color. Abolition of all laws forbidding intermarriage between persons of different races. Abolition of all Jim Crow laws. Immediate removal of all restrictions in all trade unions against the membership of Negro workers. Equal opportunity for employment, wages, hours, working conditions for Negro and white workers."

Solidarity.

The platform further draws the attention of the workers to the need for solidarity of all workingmen, native as well as foreign-born, in order to resist the attacks on the foreign-born workers, which attacks are only part of the general offensive against the whole working class.

The status of working women and working youth and an immediate program to meet these conditions are outlined in the platform.

Prohibition.

In discussing the prohibition question, the platform brands alcoholism as "one of the most terrible social diseases of capitalist society." It declares further that "only the overthrow of capitalism will sweep away the despisable bootlegging industry and the equally despicable corrupt, hypocritical prohibition enforcement."

The platform then declares:

"1. The Workers (Communist) Party favors the repeal of the Volstead Act and the 18th Amendment.

"2. Dissolution of the federal and state prohibition enforcement apparatus.

"3. Energetic propaganda against alcoholism as one of the most malignant social diseases under capitalism."

Our summing up slogan is "Forward to a Workers' and Farmers' Government." We emphasize that a workers' and farmers' government in the United States will

"... free all American colonies immediately, grant the right of full self-determination to all Latin American peoples, will realize social equality for Negroes, will disarm the master class and will arm the working masses, will expropriate all large scale industries, railroads, power plants, meat-packing plants ... will nationalize all large land estates and will hand them over to the mortgaged and tenant farmers and agricultural workers, will nationalize all banks and commercial interests."

Class Struggle, Slogan.

The whole spirit and purpose of the party election campaign is summed up in the conclusion of the platform which calls upon the working masses "to go forward by means of relentless class struggle" and emphasizes that:

"The Workers (Communist) Party is the party of the class struggle. It is the deadly enemy of capitalist society. It fights for the complete unity of the working class, for the united struggle of native born, foreign born and Negro workers against the common enemy—trustified capital."

We have gotten a good start in our election campaign. The coming months will see our activities intensified. The entire party is being drawn into the election campaign. The outlook is, that because of the energetic activities of our party in the big struggles of the workers, like the miners and textile strikers and the needle trades, our American section of the Communist International will receive this year many times greater support in the election campaign than ever before.

This means more calluses on the Chinese back and less rice in his bowl.

THE revolt in the Anglican church in Great Britain brought on the resignation of the Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England. The skypilots are quarreling over the revised prayerbook. It is too radical for some of the boys. I do not know whether the rival factions have donned the armor of battle over the virginity of the "Blessed Virgin," the immaculate conception or the existence of three gods, amalgamated into one, but still maintaining their autonomy. The prayerbook was referred to parliament and parliament gulped a flagon of ale and threw the prayerbook out the window. It was too far to the left for most of the members. Things are coming to a pretty pass in England when even the infallibility of a prayerbook is questioned.

Danger of Imperialist World War Increases

By OLGA GOLD.

The Capitalist Nations Are Planning Attack On Soviet Union

THE constantly increasing war danger is becoming more and more acute. In the coming imperialist war, the United States, the most powerful capitalist country in the world, the country where the bourgeoisie still finds itself firmly seated in the saddle, will play a leading role.

The increase in the need of American imperialism for export of its surplus capital is tremendous. While in 1923, the United States exported a total of $495,662,100.00, in 1917 the total export of capital from the United States was $1,575,960,575.00, an increase of almost 300 per cent. (This is taken from Jay Lovestone's America Today.) This indicates clearly the active role the United States will play in the coming imperialist war.

The intervention of American imperialism in Nicaragua is an example of American intervention which clears the road for the increasing oppression of Mexico and South America. We can foresee the approaching war striking over the horizon all over the globe.

One of the factors of the acute danger of an imperialist world war is the increasing hostility between Great Britain and the United States. These antagonisms and conflicts between the imperialist nations are over the control of world markets, raw materials, etc. Still another factor of the increasing approach of war is the struggle in the Pacific over China by the powers of imperialism, the sending of warships and air forces to fight against the Chinese workers.

The Chinese workers are the world's most exploited. The weekly earnings of the most skilled workers, such as building trades workers, painters, etc., is hardly above three dollars and fifty cents. The common laborer gets from one dollar to one dollar and fifty cents per week. The labor day is twelve hours and sometimes much more.

Great Britain, Japan and America each have a special interest in suppressing these workers. American trade in China has increased four times over in the last twenty years. The United States has investments in China amounting to $70,000,000, Japan's investments amounting to over a billion and Great Britain an investment of one billion dollars.

Last year, when the Chinese people bravely revolted against this imperialist mockery of the existence of a people, tens of thousands of proletarian men, women, and children were murdered. Because they wish to free themselves from the double yoke of exploitation, by the Chinese militarists from within—by the foreign capitalists from without, their heads are cut off and hung on high as a vain attempt to kill the movement for freedom, to strike terror and dread into the hearts of the workers.

The imperialists realize that the Soviet Union acts as a spur and an inspiration to the development of the revolutionary movement the world over, that the oppressed of all nations and peoples are watching with eagerness all of the events in the Soviet Union, and that the S viet Union is a tremendous bl against their attempts of conq and war. They therefore plan ar attack on all fronts against the Workers' and Peasants' Republi

Great Britain is leading the w having spent two million pounds espionage and the fomenting plots of war, but it will be a un front of all of the invading perialist powers who will against the champion of the w ing-class movement.

A. F. OF L. ADMITS DEFEAT IN FIGHT ON FUR WORKERS

JAIL THOUSAND AT HUGE PARIS ANTI-WAR MEET

Red Demonstration in Spite of Police

PARIS, Aug. 5.—More than one thousand workers who had gathered at the Ivry, a suburb of Paris to demonstrate against the danger of a new imperialist war in defiance of a government edict forbidding all demonstrations held under the auspices of the French Communist Party were arrested today.

The little town of Ivry took on the appearance of a besieged town when three thousand Republican Guards, armed with rifles, machine guns and hand grenades, surrounded it and charged the demonstration one hundred and fifty young Red Guards who were selected to maintain discipline at the meeting were among those arrested. The Communist Deputy, and mayor of the suburb, Capdeville, was also arrested.

Vaillant-Couturier, Communist leader and one of the editors of L'Humanite, was arrested at a meeting at an anti-imperialist meeting last night when he urged workers to attend today's demonstration against war in spite of the police ban.

The threat of deportation hangs over the heads of foreign-born workers who participated in the demonstration against the imperialist war danger.

Defying the police, the Communists are planning to hold another huge demonstration tonight. Police and troops are being mobilized for the demonstration.

PARIS. Aug. 5.—Ninety-six Communists were arrested today in connection with a Red demonstration against militarism in the woods in the vicinity of Paris.

Before the demonstration the government announced that it would break up any meetings held by the Communist Party. The edict was issued by the Poincare government in its attempt to check the rapid growth of the French Communist Party.

The demonstration was held in connection with the anniversary of the World War to protest against the danger of a new imperialist war. Speakers stressed the necessity of fighting against the war danger, of mobilizing support for the Soviet Union and the struggling masses.

HAYWOOD ASHES PUT IN KREMLIN

Thousands Honor Dead at Funeral

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Aug. 5.—Following a solemn funeral ceremony, the ashes of William D. Haywood, American Communist leader, and Eugene Landler, leader of the Hungarian Communist Party, were placed in the wall of the Kremlin in the first workers' and peasants' republic.

All morning the urns containing the ashes stood exposed in the October Hall of the Labor Palace, where posts of honor, consisting of four comrades each from the American, Hungarian, German, British, French and other delegations stood guard.

The urns were carried to the Red Square, accompanied by American and Hungarian delegates to the World Congress of the Communist International.

With tens of thousands of Moscow workers attending, Semard opened the funeral ceremonies.

The masses were then addressed by Semard, of France, for the Communist International; by Alexander Losovsky, president of the Red International of Trade Unions, for the Central and Moscow Committees of the All-Union Communist Party; William W. Weinstone, for the Workers (Communist) Party; Bela Kun, for the Hungarian Communist Party; by Starchov, for the Communist Party of China, and by Carl[illegible] for the Negroes.

At the conclusion of the meeting the urns were walled into the Kremlin, accompanied by the strains of the Funeral March and the International.

New Bedford Strike Leaders Jailed

Eli Keller, organizer of the Textile Mills Committee and Elizabeth Donneley, children's organizer of the T. M. C. have been jailed by the police, the now open agents of the mill bosses. The picture shows two militant leaders. The arrest of the leaders has failed to dampen the courage of strikers who continue to defy police orders in picketing at several mills.

USSR WORKERS FIGHT AGAINST WAR DANGER

MOSCOW, August 5.—The anniversary of the outbreak of the world war was marked by workers' demonstrations thruout the Soviet Union at which were pointed out the preparations for a new war by the imperialist power and the desire of the workers and peasants of the Soviet Union for peace. All newspapers carried articles which pointed out the necessity for a struggle against war.

The editorial in the Moscow Izvestia pointed out that the capitalist nations were heavily armed and that the struggle for markets is no less accute than in the years preceding the war. The United States is declared to be the most powerful na-

ALLIANCE SEEN IN NAVAL PACT

French and British Jingoes Hail It

PARIS, August 5.—The Franco-British naval pact, although still kept seceret, has aroused the Parisien capitalist press to hailing it as a further political and military bond between the two governments.

Enough has been related from official and semi-official sources to reassure the militarists and conservative opinion that technically nothing had been done to hinder the growth of the French navy and that unlimited development of the French land forces will not be interfered with.

That the conservative forces are frankly very pleased over the pact of mutual development is shown by editorials in "Le Temps" and the statement of a well-known conservative political writer who said: Haven't the Germans frequently said we were soldiers of England? The English have become to some extent our sailors. The interests of England and France are complementary."

Hailed as War Agreement.

LONDON, August 5.—The British press comment on the naval pact between the English and French Governments, whether they be favorable or unfavorable, agree in their opinion that the pact represents a virtual alliance for the benefit of both powers.

It is pointed out in many papers that the new pact is analogous in many ways to the old alliance of 1906 which prepared the way for the landing of British troops on French soil if France were attacked.

The Manchester Guardian, a liberal paper, suggests that besides the actual pact itself certain agreements have been entered into between the two naval and military departments to provide for a pooling of the two navies in time of war. The conservative paper, The Saturday Review, looks with disfavor upon the freedom given the French military authorities to strengthen their land forces.

SOVIET AVIATOR TELLS HIS STORY

Babushkin Joked When Marooned in Arctic

MOSCOW, August 5.—A tale of brave men in the frozen wastes of the North, surrounded by hardships, continual storms and ice, and in spite of all comradely and good-spirited, was told by the Soviet flier Babushkin, who just arrived here from Archangel, where the ice-cutter Maligin has docked.

The hardy and stalwart Babushkin, who worked in a factory and as a member in the Red Army had fought in the civil war, recounted his story with real relish, his eyes tinkling with the spirit of adventure and a devilish humor. His listeners could not help but feel the unbreakable spirit of the man who related how he and his companions joked, while they were hemmed in by ice and marooned on ice packs.

Eat Bear.

He told how he made fifteen flights in spite of wind and storm and on every one of his flights he met with a storm that more than once forced him to land far from the mother ship. One storm forced him to fly only 160 feet above the ice and finally grew so fierce that he could do nothing but land and wait.

Our radio was broken and we sat there for three days, cut off from the world. Our provisions ran low so we killed a bear and cut out and ate the soft parts, being careful to throw the rest away so as to avoid attracting more with the smell of blood.

"The fourth day it cleared so we flew back but the Maligin had gone. Fruitlessly we explored the whole region but then we were forced to land to save our fuel. Fominikh,

Demonstration for the Jailed Leaders

(Special to the Daily Worker)

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 5.—Following the announcement by the Fall River Textile Mills Committee that demands of workers would be sent to the American Printing Company and the Lincoln Manufacturing Company, both of this city, with the ultimatum: "Accept or we will strike," 3,000 textile workers massed here at one of their regular nightly meetings at Liberty Lot, unanimously passed a call to strike and elected a committee of one hundred to carry the letter and the strike vote to the mill bosses.

Simultaneously with the reading and acceptance of the letter Chief of Police Feeney and his officers appeared on the field and arrested the leaders of the Textile Mills Committee, in spite of protests from the meeting.

Mass Demonstration.

Resentment among the workers was almost indescribable as the whole meeting responded to the police violence and streaming from Liberty Lot poured down to the jail where they staged a mass demonstration in the streets, demanding the immediate release of their leaders.

Jim Reid, Sam Weisman, and William Soroka, all leaders of the Fall River Textile Mills Committee, were the men arrested. They are held on warrants charging them with disturbing the peace similar to the

THOUSANDS AT ANTI-WAR MEET

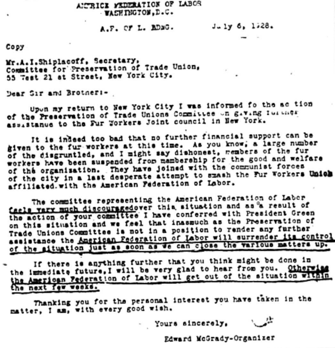
Gitlow Hits Powers; Flays Kellogg Plan

Over a thousand workers gathered on Union Square Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. to participate in the demonstration against imperialist war on the fourteen anniversary of the beginning of the last world slaughter to "make the world safe for democracy."

Benjamin Gitlow, candidate for vice-president of the United States on the Workers (Communist) Party ticket, stressed the significance of the preparations now in progress by every imperialist nation of the world for future warfare. Other speakers denounced the Kellogg Plan as a hypocritical gesture, stressing its failure to include the Soviet Union in the pact, and flayed the imperialist powers for having shrunk so squeamishly from Maxim Litvinoff's proposal at the Geneva conference for complete disarmament.

Other speakers included Ray Ragozin, Robert Minor, D. Benjamin, Rebecca Grecht, Manya Reiss, Anthony Bimba, and Jessie Taft of the Young Pioneers.

Copy of McGrady Letter Admitting Defeat



AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR
WASHINGTON, D.C.

A.F. OF L. BLDG. July 6, 1928.

Copy

Mr.A.I.Shiplacoff, Secretary,
Committee for Preservation of Trade Union,
55 West 21 st Street, New York City.

Dear Sir and Brother:-

Upon my return to New York City I was informed fo the ac tion of the Preservation of Trade Unions Committee on giving further assistance to the Fur Workers Joint council in New York.

It is indeed too bad that no further financial support can be given to the fur workers at this time. As you know, a large number of the disgruntled, and I might say dishonest, members of the fur workers have been suspended from membership for the good and welfare of the organization. They have joined with the communist forces of the city in a last desperate attempt to smash the Fur Workers Union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The committee representing the American Federation of Labor feels very much discouragedover this situation and as a result of the action of your committee I have conferred with President Green on this situation and we feel that inasmuch as the Preservation of Trade Unions Committee is not in a position to render any further assistance the American Federation of Labor will surrender its control of the situation just as soon as we can close the various matters up.

If there is anything further that you think might be done in the immediate future, I will be very glad to hear from you. Otherwise the American Federation of Labor will get out of the situation within the next few weeks.

Thanking you for the personal interest you have taken in the matter, I am, with every good wish.

Yours sincerely,

Edward McGrady-Organizer

RELIEF VITAL TO WIN NEW BEDFORD STRIKE

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 5.—If the Workers International Relief had not furnished food to the 256 textile strikers arrested Monday afternoon when picketing the Whitman mill, they would have starved for two days while held in jail awaiting trial, it was learned today.

The arrival of the food sent by the Workers International Relief was greeted by cheers by the workers who were closely herded together in small cells. "Hurrah for the Workers International Relief!" was the slogan.

Taken into custody Monday afternoon the workers were refused any food by the prison officials who claim that those arrested late in the day are not entitled to food. When William Schwarzfeller, local relief director of the Workers International Relief was informed of the police ruling, he immediately rushed food to the prison: It consisted of 500 sandwiches, 100 doughnuts,

WORKERS CHEER N. J. CONVENTION

Weisbord and Nearing Address Delegates

NEWARK, N. J., August 5.—The New Jersey State Convention of the Workers (Communist) Party for the purpose of ratifying the platform of the Workers (Communist) Party, opened here today at the Workers enter, 3 Mercer St., with delegates representing almost every big industry in the state present.

Scott Nearing, named candidate for Governor of New Jersey on the Workers (Communist) Party ticket, and Albert Weisbord, candidate for the U. S. Senate, addressed the delegates present, stressing the fact that New Jersey is one of the open-shop states, controlled by the big corporations, and that the fight will have to be carried on with all the resources available to open the eyes of the workers slaving in the big factories to the necessity of organization and of voting the Workers (Communist) Party ticket.

Delegates present represented the Botany Mills, Passaic; Forstman and Hauffman, Garfield; Wright Aeronautic Co., Patterson; Tide Water Oil Co.; Bayonne. Singer Sewing Machine Co., Elizabeth; Standard Oil Company, Bayonne; the Du Pont Chemical Co., Arlington and many other of New Jersey's large open shop industries.

Great enthusiasm marked the proceedings at the meeting. Protracted cheering and the singing of the International greeted the speakers who struck the keynote of class struggle.

A complete report of the New Jersey convention of the Workers (Communist) Party will appear in tomorrow's issue of The Daily Worker.

LEAGUE BLESSES NANKING TERROR

Virtually Recognizes War Lords

GENEVA, Aug. 5.—The Nanking regime was recognized by the League of Nations as representing China today when it accepted the nomination of Sac-ke Alfred Sze, Nanking's minister to Washington as the delegate to the September meeting of the League Assembly.

The virtual recognition by the United States followed by the action of the League of Nations, is looked upon as marking the acceptance of the business men's government of Nanking as the "responsible representative" of China.

COMMUNISTS ANSWER CHALLENGE OF GREEN

Reply to Threat With Call to Workers to Throw Out All Labor Misleaders

That the members of the Workers (Communist) Party are active in the New Bedford textile strike, in the coal mining regions and industry in general, was frankly affirmed today in a statement issued by Benjamin Gitlow, vice-presidential candidate of the Workers (Communist) Party, in reply to a decision of the executive council of the A. F. of L., in session at Atlantic City, which declared for a new war of extermination against Communist influence in the trade unions.

The statement is as follows:

Communist Activities Expanding.

"The executive council of the American Federation of Labor, in session at Atlantic City, a summer resort patronized by bankers, business men and trade union bureaucrats, while marking time over the delicate problem whether to endorse Al Smith or Herbert Hoover, the two Wall Street candidates in the election campaign, broke the monotony of their wait by issuing a fresh declaration of war on the Communists.

"According to press reports of this threatened offensive, the high-salaried officials of the A. F. of L. discovered to their amazement that, despite several previous wars of extermination against the Communists, the latter are more active than ever and that their activities are expanding.

"Reports to William Green from trade union 'organizers' are reported to reveal that the Communists were actively engaged fighting on the side of the striking miners in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Illinois, with the striking textile workers in New Bedford—in fact, wherever the struggle between the exploited workers and the employers develops into an open clash.

Green Sees "Moscow."

"President Green is said to have in his possession copies of a call for a miners' national convention in Pittsburgh issued by the Communists and of a convention of railroad workers to be held in Chicago. He denounced these efforts to build militant fighting unions as a work of 'disruption,' and declared 'we shall deal with each situation as seems best, and we shall do everything possible to protect American wage-earners against the designs of Moscow, which are entirely revolutionary and which we thoroughly understand.'

"For the hundredth time the executive council of the A. F. of L. has declared that it would drive the Communists out of the trade unions.

TWO YEAR OLD UNION WRECKING DRIVE FAILS; LEFT-WING BOARD WINS

McGrady Letter to Shiplacoff Admits Workers Have Repudiated Right-Wing

Green Orders Abandonment of Terror Reign as Money Payments Give Out

Routed, beaten into final surrender, discouraged beyond all hope of continuing the fight of union wreckers in the American Federation of Labor has further, the right wing crew openly admitted its defeat in the Furriers' Union and is taking steps to liquidate all traces of the treacherous struggle which for nearly two years it has waged with bribery and corruption, by means of the black jack and the lead pipe, with the aid of police thugs and gangster squads, against the efforts of needle trades workers to maintain their unions.

Game Is Up.

"The American Federation of Labor will surrender its control of the situation just as soon as we can close the various maters up," Edward McGrady, A. F. of L. organizer and chief of the right wing wreckers, wrote in a letter to A. I. Shiplacoff, "socialist" job-holder and secretary of the so-called Committee to Preserve the Trade Unions.

A copy of the letter which has come into the possession of the left wing Furriers' Joint Union Board, and which has just been made public, was written to Shiplacoff by McGrady immediately as the latter upon a recent visit to the city was informed that no further funds would be forthcoming to the labor fakers. By this admission is revealed one of their reasons for having launched the drive on the workers in the needle trades.

Consternation!

The receipt of the letter by the little "socialist" job-holders putting a formal end to the game which in fact had long since been played out, caused a temporary flurry of consternation in the right wing camp. A hurried conference, it has been learned, was called for July 17 at which desperate efforts were made to raise funds to continue the attack. At the same time the word was passed to the police industrial squad to intensify its murderous assaults on the needle trades workers

WAR LORDS SPLIT AT NANKING MEET

Fight On in China Over Spoils

SHANGHAI, Aug. 5.—As the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang is unable to muster a quorum and proceed with its sessions at Nanking reports received here indicate that General Yen Hsi-shon, governor of Shansi, is removing his troops from the Peking area and concentrating them in readiness for open warfare. Simultaneously, Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, has left Nanking, and is reported to have refused to participate in the Kuomintang sessions.

The first indication that the opposing factions within the Nanking regime has come to an open breech was the sudden retirement of General Yen-Hsi-shon to his province of Shansi when he was expected to be on the way to Nanking. The removal of his troops from the Peking area, where he was left in charge by Chiang Kai-shek, and the report that he was concentrating them has led to the general belief that warfare may break out at any moment between the Kuomintang generals.

At the same time the withdrawal of Feng Yu-hsiang from Nanking, is considered here a confirmation of the report that he had allied himself with General Yen against Chiang Kai-shek and his faction.

In the meantime General Chiang Kai-shek, who just arrived in Shanghai, is believed to be attempting to induce the Canton group of the Kuomintang to participate in the plenary sessions and form a quorum.

That the disagreement between the Nanking regime and the Japanese government is growing sharper is indicated by reports from Tsingtao that the Japanese officials there had not permitted the Nanking representatives to fly the Kuomintang flag. At the same time the boycott exercised by Chinese merchants against Japanese goods is reported to be growing stronger.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 5.—There is a rumor current among official circles in Shanghai that the German government is preparing to recognize the Nanking regime. The German minister is expected here from Peking.

FUR T.U.E.L. TO MEET TONIGHT

This meeting is open to non-members as well as members and is regarded as of the greatest importance as the management committee of the Joint Board will render a report on its activities and its plans for the future.

The use of electric trucks instead of hand trucks has resulted in a great decrease of employment among the longshoremen.

VESSEL FINDS POLISH FLIERS

Fascists are Sighted Off Coast

LISBON, Aug. 5.—The Polish trans-Atlantic plane "Marshall Pilsudski," piloted by Louis Idzidowski and Casimir Kubala in an attempt to succeed in a publicity stunt flight following in the footsteps of the ill-prepared Nobile "expedition," fell near Cape Finistere and was found by the Hamburg-American Line steamship Samos, and has been brought to the Portuguese port of Leitoes.

One of the fliers, Major Kubala, was seriously injured and was taken to the military hospital at Oporto.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—The Polish aviators, Idzidowski and Kubala should have awaited more favorable weather before starting their flight to America, several French aviation officials said today.

They said that the flyers had been rushed by the Polish government, who had been planning the flight for some time, resulting in the fliers leaving before they had made adequate preparations for a cross-Atlantic flight.

Majors Leon Idzikowski and Casimir Kubala are fascists and now very active in the counter-revolutionary armies that invaded the Soviet Union after the revolution. They are known to be the instigators of progroms against the Jews in Poland and are involved in the notorious Danzig "corridor" incident.

Foster and Gitlow Will Start Country-Wide Election Campaign Tour in September

WORKERS ROUSED BY COMMUNIST ELECTION DRIVE

Red Candidates Start September 1

The most extensive and intensive Communist propaganda and organizational campaign ever undertaken by the Workers (Communist) Party will start September 1st, when William Z. Foster, candidate for president of the United States, and Benjamin Gitlow, candidate for vice-president, will begin a nation-wide tour that will take them from Massachusetts in the East to Oregon and California in the West, to Texas and Georgia in the South and from there back to New York, where they will finish the two-month trip on the eve of polling day.

The itinerary of the heads of the Communist ticket was made public yesterday by the National Election Campaign Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party from election head-quarters at 43 East 125th Street.

Reports reaching campaign headquarters from all parts of the country indicate that the workers are extremely interested in the Communist campaign, the better informed of them growing daily more hostile to the democratic and republican parties and disappointed in the liberal hogwash of the socialist party preacher candidate, the Reverend Norman Thomas, who is appealing to the liberals and small business men and ignoring the class struggle of the workers and poor farmers.

For the first time since the organization of the Workers (Communist) Party, in 1921, Communist organizers are building the Party in every state in the union, taking advantage of the interest aroused among the masses by the election campaign to make new contacts and to explain the program and platform of the Party to the industrial and agricultural workers, to the poor farmers and the persecuted Negroes.

With the Party, already on the ballot in several states and thousands of Communists collecting the necessary number of signatures to place it on the ballot in at least thirty of the forty-eight states in the union, the Foster-Gitlow tour is sure to reach hundreds of thousands of workers who never heard the Communist message before.

As campaigners Foster and Gitlow have few equals. Both have years of agitational and organizational work behind them, and are accustomed to the hardships of protracted speaking tours.

The schedule of dates is as follows:

Monday, September 3, Philadelphia; Thursday, September 6, Monessen or Canonsburg; Friday, September 7, Pittsburgh; Sunday, September 9, Cleveland; Monday September 10, Youngstown; Tuesday, September 11, Bellaire; Wednesday, September 12, Toledo; Thursday, September 13, Grand Rapids; Friday, September 14, Gary; Saturday, September 15, Indianapolis; Sunday, September 16, St. Louis; Monday, September 17, Springfield; Wednesday, September 19, Duluth; Thursday, Sejtember 20, Iron Range; Saturday, September 22, Bismarck; Monday, September 24, Plentywood; Wednesday, September 26, Great Falls; Friday, September 28, Spokane; Sunday, September 30, Seattle; Monday October 1, Portland; Tuesday, October 2, Astoria; Thursday October 4, Oakland; Friday, October 5, San Francisco; Sunday, October 7, Los Angeles; Tuesday, October 9, San Diego; Wednesday, October 10, Phoenix; Thursday, October 11 Tucson; Saturday, October 13, San Antonio; Sunday, October 14, Houston; Tuesday, October 16, Fort Worth or Dallas; Wednesday, October 17, Oklahoma City; Thursday, October 18, Tulsa; Friday, October 19, Arma, Kans.; Sunday, October 21, Minneapolis; Monday, October 22, Omaha; Tuesday, October 23, Kansas City; Wednesday, October 24, Milwaukee; Friday, October 26, Chicago; Saturday, October 27, Pontiac, Mich.; Sunday, October 28, Detroit; Monday October 29, Reading; Tuesday, October 30, Philadelphia; Wednesday October 31, Boston; Thursday, November 1, Haverhill; Friday, November 2, Fall River; Sunday, November 4, New York; Monday November 5, Providence.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5.—Dr. I. M. Rubinow, statistician, social worker and former socialist, has accepted an invitation to become executive director of the Zionist Organization of America and of the United Palestine Appeal.

The office which Dr. Rubinow will fill has been newly created and is looked upon as an effort on the part of the Zionist organization to silence criticism such as nearly disrupted its last convention concerning gross mismanagement and financial juggling on the part of officials.

The former and socialist will have the close co-operation in his work of the notorious, labor-baiting Judge Otto Rosalsky, chairman of the United Palestine Appeal in New York.

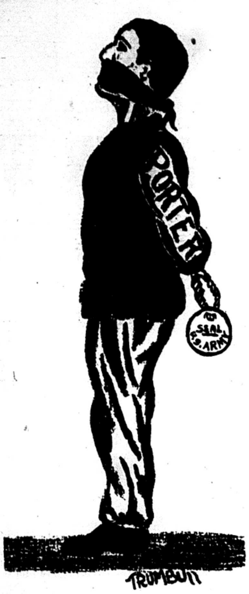
FOR 2½ YEARS?

By W. M. Trumbull



PROFIT GRABBED BY GAS COMPANY

By H. BARUFKIN.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5 (FP).—Two widows wept ceaselessly and children mourned for their fathers, killed through greed of the Philadelphia Gas Works Co.

The gas company, a trust which holds up the Philadelphia public to the tune of millions each year, sent out a gang of 50 men—working nine hours a day for $4.14—to dig a ditch for a fence around its huge plant at Passyunk Ave. The ground there is of soft clay. But no shoring or bracing was put up for workers' protection.

When the ditch was three feet deep, the seven-foot embankment towering over it began to slide. Within a few minutes it had completely buried two workers and imprisoned two others. Their comrades dug frantically with hands, shovels and buckets to free the trapped men. When uncovered one was dead, another died soon after reaching the hospital and two were treated for serious injuries. The two workers killed were Anthony Cinquino and Joseph Carrutto.

Both had been working for the gas company about three weeks. Carrutto, 34, had been employed at the McCain sugar refinery. But unable to support his family on three days work a week, he quit to look for another job. Cinquino, 40, had been working for the Atlantic Gas Refining Co. as a fireman four years. One Sunday he was caught washed up a few minutes before the whistle blew for quitting—and he was fired.

Neither left enough for funeral expenses. Carrutto left a widow and a child, eight years old. Cinquino is survived by his sickly, shrunken widow and five children ranging in age from two months to eight years.

200 ARE DYING OF DUST POISON

At least one hundred and possibly two hundred workers exposed to the hazards of rock-dust inhalation are slowly dying while the Tammany Board of Health, assisted by the obedient officials of the union to which the workers belong, are apparently seeking to hush the matter up until after election.

Investigation of the extent of sillicosis, a disease contracted by rock drillers, sand blasters, subway construction workers and workers similarly exposed, was first begun by the Tammany Board of Health. Thomas J. Curtis, head of the Tunnel and Subway Constructors' Union, at first complained of the danger to which nearly 7,000 workers are known to be exposed.

More recently, whether through pressure exercised by the Tammany machine or for other reasons, Curtis has quieted down and the Tammany department of health has announced that it would be at least January 1 before the report would be ready. The report originally was to have been made public August 1.

Attempts are being made to blame the workers, as usual, for the delay in the investigation by statements that they are reluctant to give out information about their illness. The reason given is that they fear to lose their jobs.

INSURANCE FIRM SHORT $3,500,000

The insurance company had $309.-115,719 of insurance in force on Jan. 1, 1928. It reported 160,000 policy holders and gave its assets as $43,186,431.

Attorney General Stratton Shartel of Missouri was notified of the shortage yesterday.

SOVIET AVIATOR TELLS HIS STORY

while trying to repair a wing fell into the water, the temperature of which was just about freezing. It was a great moment when at last we sighted the Maligin. Fominikh jumped up in the cabin and did a folk dance."

His story went on to tell of narrow escapes on melting ice, of polar bears that ran around like dogs, of days and nights in succession of flying in search for the missing Italia crew, followed by stretches of 24-hour sleep at a time.

To help pass the time on board the Maligin the sailors and fliers issued a weekly newspaper. Due to the lack of foreign news local talent supplied short stories, amusing incidents, cartoons and sketches. A regular workers' correspondence w instituted that even included letters from the polar bears complaining of the hunting. Mechanic Groshev was made the point of a joke. When flying with Babushkin he always insisted on leaving his heavy fur coat behind so as to enable the plane to carry more fuel.

When the Maligin heard that the Krassin had rescued the five Italia men marrooned on the ice near Foyn Island, it turned in search for the missing Amundsen group. Failing to find them near Spitzbergen, the ice-cutter could only return. Babushkin describes how they made their first landing for days as follows:

"The arrival in port and how we rushed for fresh tomatoes and fruits from the peddler women without even waiting to bargain I shall never forget. After that I slept for thirty hours straight getting up every fifteen minutes to drink milk.

"During the next few days we gratified another hunger—we had not seen a newspaper for the last eight weeks. I have never devoured so many Izvestias at one time before in my life. Then for the first time did we realise that the attention of the whole world was focused upon us."

Many School Children Suffer From Diseases

The bureau of physical welfare of the Cleveland Board of Education reports that examination of nearly 73,000 school children from the kindergarten and early school grades showed that at least 7 out of every 10 had physical defects.

Nearly one-sixth were suffering from malnutrition, 32,000 children had defective teeth, 7,000 had goiter, 1,600 had heart disease and 2,000 had defective hearing. Nearly 20,000 children of 14 to 18 years who applied for work permits showed, in general, a still larger percentage of defects Since many of the physical defects can be prevented or controlled the department of health education believes that the necessity for more health work in the schools is clearly demonstrated.

MEXICO CITY, August 2 (U.P.)—Jose Deleon Toral, assassinater of president-elect Obregon, was not alone involved in the crime, but had others back of him, according to a statement issued today by Government prosecutor Cerrea Nieto.

Nieto declared that he believed that Toral was a member of a terrorist organization which met frequently and talked over the possibility of assassinating leaders of the Government.

Accused In Huge Baseball Swindle

William Pringle, alleged treasurer of the so-called Albany baseball pool is awaiting trial in connection with the swindle he is reported to have run. He is charged, however, not with giving the prizes in his pool to a "dummy" winner, but for "violating the federal anti-lottery laws." Hundreds of workers, chiefly young men and boys, have been taken in by this and similar frauds. Pringle is in the center of the above group.

DEATH TOLL OF MINERS GROWS

By B. K. GEBERT

The coal mining industry of this country is the slaughter house of the miners and mine workers. This is shown by the government statistics of the Bureau of Mines showing that during the first six months of 1928 accidents at coal mines caused the loss of 1,128 lives. The production of coal during this period was 271,-392,000 tons, showing a death rate of 4.16 per million tons as against 3.86 for the same six months of 1927, based on 1,225 fatalities and 317,526,000 tons of coal. The record for bituminous coal alone from from January to June, 1928, was 901 deaths and 234,289,000 tons, with a fatality rate of 3.85; while that for anthracite showed 227 deaths, 37,-103,000 tons and a death rate of 6.12. The same period for 1927 showed 947 deaths in bituminous mines, 276,629,000 tons and a death rate of 3.42; for anthracite the record was 287 fatalities, 40,897,000 tons and a fatality rate of 6.80. The industry as a whole had 1,225 deaths, with a production of 317,-526,000 tons and a death rate of 3.86 during the first half of 1927.

Killings Increasing.

During the month of June, 1928, 135 miners were killed in the mines. Thirty-two of this number were killed in the anthracite mines of Pennsylvania. The remaining 103 deaths occurred in bituminous mines in various states. The death rate per million tons of coal mined during the month was 3.27, based on a production of 41,264,000 tons of coal, as compared wth a death rate of 3.92 for June, 1927, based on 172 deaths and 43,884,000 tons of coal produced. The fatality rate for bituminous mines alone for June, 1928, was 2.86, with a production of 35,963,000 tons, and that for anthracite mines was 6.04 with a tonnage of 5,301,000, as compared with rates of 3.22 and 7.44, respectively, for June of last year, based on an output of 36,627,000 tons and 118 deaths, and 7,257,000 tons and 54 deaths.

Six Killed In Explosion.

One major disaster occurred during the month of June, 1928. This was an explosion at the open-shop mine at National, W. Va., on June 20, which caused the death of six men.

One hundred and thirty-five miners killed in June! One thousand one hundred and twenty-eight killed during the first six months of 1928! This is the price the miners are paying for the "privilege" of working in mines that are nothing else than death traps. Everyone knows that accidents in the mines can be reduced to a minimum, but this costs money, and the miners are free on hand. The bosses are more concerned about the mule for which they must pay at least $100. Miners by the hundreds around the mines are forced by starvation to work under these hazardous conditions.

Allies of Death.

The speed-up system, cutting down forces in great numbers, cutting down price on piece work, are the things that are helping to increase the number of deaths. The families of the dead miners are left in misery and starvation. On pay day in front of every mine one can see a line of widows with great numbers of children begging for pennies from the miners, and alongside of them are miners that have lost their legs, arms, eyes, hearing, etc.

Yes, this is the condition that is offered by the bloody coal operators who are responsible for this wholesale massacre of miners and suffering to those left behind.

The union bureaucrats will never put up a fight for safety measures in the mines, for such working conditions that will reduce accidents to a minimum. The government mine inspectors and the company fire bosses who are supposed to look after the safety measures in the mines are simply a joke. No one is concerned about the lives of the miners. Their lives are the cheapest. The miners themselves in every mine and local union must fight for their right to look after the safety measures in the mines, and force the companies to install safety devices for their protection in the mines.

According to telephone officials, operators' wages, which averaged $13.04 for each telephone in 1925, will drop to $6.40 in 1930 and 90 cents in 1936.

YWL CELEBRATE SEPT. 9 TO 16

The National Committee of the Young Workers (Communist) League has decided that the fourteenth International Youth Day will be celebrated during the week of September 9—16. Extensive preparations have been made to make International Youth Week this year the greatest demonstration against capitalist war and militarism the league in America has ever held.

Meetings in Every City.

Every city in the country will hold indoor and outdoor meetings in protest to the militarization of the young workers and the present danger of war. The league recognizes that the danger of war is greater than ever before. The contradictions between the imperialist powers, the offensive against the Soviet Union and the imperialist attacks on the colonial peoples, are today laying the basis for a future war for Wall Street. The tremendous growth of armaments and the armed forces constitute a real menace to the young workers of this country.

Pacifists Betray Workers.

The socialists and pacifists are playing their usual role of betraying the workers and International Youth Week will show the young workers the role of these organizations and also the attempt to cover up the feverish military preparations by holding disarmament conferences such as the coming Kellogg peace conference in Paris.

Appeal to Servicemen.

An appeal to the soldiers and sailors will also be issued by the league. "Do not fight the wars of Wall Street!" "Fight for the workers against the bosses!" will be some of the demands of the league.

All sections of the league should immediately start preparing for the celebration of International Youth Day. Make I. Y. D., 1928, a living example of the struggle of the working youth against capitalist militarism and war.

11 MORE DEAD IN HEAT WAVE

Eleven persons died yesterday in New York City from the excessive heat, even though the torrid wave receded a bit from the peak it reached on Saturday. The storm that shook the suburbs on Saturday, inflicting heavy damage and causing several deaths, exerted a slightly cooling effect on the city temperature.

Yesterday brought showers to the suburbs again, but the heart of the Metropolitan district remained as hot as the day before.

SHANGHAI TEA WORKERS JOIN CAFE STRIKE

Unions Support 3,500 Strikers

SHANGHAI, Aug. 5.—The 3,000 tea shop and cafe employes who have been on strike for some time were joined by 500 workers of the Japanese tea company here who went on strike to secure wage increases and the reduction of working hours.

The employers locked out the workers and requested the authorities to expel the strikers from the company houses.

Eight great trade unions including the postal, the tobacco and the printers' unions called a joint conference to organize relief for the strikers.

Accounts in both the Chinese and foreign press show that the strike situation is regarded with anxiety and is declared to be menacing.

Michigan University To Educate Czarist Girls Free of Charge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Russian czarist girls, now grown women, who may claim to be "graduates" of Russian universities, are sought as beneficiaries of the Barbour scholarships at the University of Michigan, according to an announcement by the U. S. Bureau of Education.

"More than 70 women from oriental countries," says the bureau, "have already availed themselves of the Barbour scholarships which provide $800 per annum and university fees for attendance at the University of Michigan."

Inquiry at the bureau developed the fact that President C. C. Little of the University of Michigan had explained that the money had been provided by the late Levi Barbour, a regent of the university.

It was further developed that the graduates of Russian universities were probably to be women who had not been students in Russia since the revolution. They were to be girls of the old Russian empire.

Denver Workers Start Struggle Against Low Injury Compensation

DENVER, August 5.—Organized workers here have launched a campaign against the present state compensation law. At the same time statistics show that accidents while at work have increased by 8,539 since 1919.

The weekly compensation for injuries received at work at the present time is only $9.26. The workers here propose to increase this to $13.45 per week as compensation.

Accidents at work have increased from 11,258 in 1919 to 19,797 in 1926. Employers have made no attempt, in this period to install safety devices.

MEET PROTESTS CHINESE TERROR

From 200 to 300 Chinese workers gathered yesterday on the corners of Pell and Mott Sts. in spite of a boiling sun listening to speakers denounce imperialism in China yesterday afternoon at a meeting held under the auspices of the New York branch of the All-America Anti-Imperialist League.

Su Mei Chen, representing the Sun Yat Sen Club of New York, spoke on imperialism and war, stressing the fact that the first leads inevitably to the second, and that the conflict of all the imperialist nations now angling for a foothold in China will result in a war of the imperialist nations. Ying Hsren of the Chinese Workers' Peasants' Alliance explained Japanese imperialism in China, and Yung Ying Hsu, a member of the Students' Alliance spoke on American Imperialism in China.

Others who spoke were H. T. Tsieng, of the Workers' and Peasants' Alliance; Harry Wakes of the Seamens' Union; Seizo Ogino of the Japanese Workers' Association in America, and Harry Gannes acting secretary of the All-America Anti-Imperialist League. Harriet Silverman, secretary of the New York branch of the league was chairman.

This meeting, was only the first of a series that the league plans to hold.

Twenty-five dollars were collected from the Chinese workers at yesterday's meeting, all of which will be sent to aid the Chinese trade unions.

Tens of Thousands of German Workers Mass at Huge Berlin Anti-War Meeting

TREASON COPIES OF VORWAERTS ARE HANDED OUT

Armament Peril Is Pointed Out

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—Tens of thousands of German workers, labor organizations, women's organizations and the Red Front Fighters yesterday participated in the huge demonstration against the coming imperialist war on the anniversary of the 1914 declaration of war. The masses filled the Lustgarten in front of the royal palace, where the German warlords arranged their part of the final act in the precipitation of the struggle between the imperial 14 years ago.

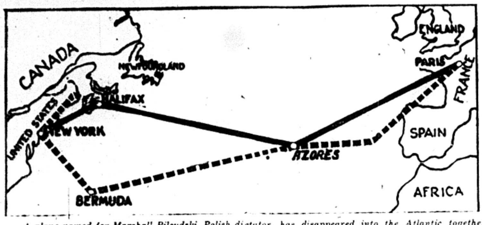
Around the vast set of workers' faces upturned to listen to the addresses, battalions of the Red Front Fighters formed a ring which the Berlin police and reserves did not feel inclined to attack.

Duplicate copies of the Vorwaerts, the German social democratic organ, containing headlines revealing their betrayal of the German workers during the early days of the war in 1914 were distributed to the masses.

Speakers urged upon the assembled workers and sympathizers the danger of a new imperialist war for which the capitalist governments of the world are feverishly preparing at the same time that they attempt to hide their armament race in peace pacts and pacifist sentiment.

The treacherous role of the social democrats and the pacifists in screening the armament preparations of the imperialists was also pointed out.

Lost Fascist Transatlantic Fliers and Their Probable Route



A plane named for Marshall Pilsudski, Polish dictator, has disappeared into the Atlantic together with the latest imperialist fliers to attempt the hop. Both fliers are members of the Polish fascist officers organization.

A special train will bear contestants from the middle-western states. The meet is open to all worker athletes affiliated with the American Athletic Union clubs as well as to all Labor Sports Union members.

The Headless Wonder

"I Just Work Hard: I Let Al Do My Thinking for Me!"

In the country called You-Es-Ay which, as you know, is but a short distance from here, the most curious sort of custom has been established under which, conveniently enough, the millions of workers who toil there have been entirely relieved of the strenuous mental labors so taxing to the average worker.

There the bosses long ago hit upon the happy device of entrusting the thinking of the people to a small number, later to but one or two. Also, as differing and conflicting ideas are costly to produce, and somewhat dangerous to circulate, a plan was further worked out to standardize these ideas and to produce them on a large scale, on a cheap commodity basis, quite as tin cans or pork and beans are here manufactured.

AND, OF COURSE, THE SAME MEN WHO OBTAINED A MONOPOLY ON THE PRODUCTION OF TIN CANS AND OTHER COMMODITIES, NATURAALLY TOOK OVER THE TASK OF PRODUCING THE COMMODITY-IDEAS.

Gradually the heads of the workers in You-Es-Ay, Because of continued disuse, became smaller and smaller, until they disappeared entirely. Yet the workers themselves were the last to suspect this fact, for not having any heads, how could they use them to discover their deficiencies?

Their capacity to work was, however, in no way impaired. They were, in fact, made to work harder than before. Their arms, legs and bodies developed remarkable power and endurance.

THE WORKER BECAME A HEADLESS WONDER!

Above is a recent photograph of a headless worker in You-Es-Ay. Beneath is one of the dispensers of the order-made Commodity-Ideas. This particular hokum-shooter, whose name is Alski Smithovitch, is employed by one of the biggest bosses in You-Es-Ay, called Morganitski.

The readers of The DAILY WORKER know about the strange doings in the country called You-Es-Ay.

They have met the headless wonder—and they can expose the men paid to do the thinking for the workers.

ONLY 73,200 FILIPINO WORKERS ORGANIZED

MANILA, Aug. 5.—There are 73,200 organized workers in the Philippines, according to the latest available figures, and they are members of 105 trade unions in three national federations. The total number of workers in the Philippines, which has a population of 12,000,000 is 2,857,000. Of these 2,500,000 are employed in agriculture, 50,000 in fisheries, 11,000 in forestry and lumber, 3,000 in mining, 118,000 in commerce and transportation trades, 12,000 are in government employ, and 113,000 in factories and workshops. The industries with the largest number of workers are the sugar and the tobacco industries with 15,000 and 14,000 workers, respectively. Among the wage earners are 619,000 women, of whom 607,000 are employed in agriculture.

The working hours are nine and a half in commerce and the transport trades, and eight hours in the mines and government jobs.

GITLOW REPLIES TO WM. GREEN

Takes Up Challenge of Labor Fakers

Party confirms the reports of the agents of William Green that the Communists are actively engaged helping the textile workers of New Bedford fight the wage-cutting offensive of the textile barons as they helped the coal miners defend their standards of living against the attacks of the coal barons headed by Andrew Mellon, with whom John L. Lewis, the wrecker of the United Mine Workers of America, is associated in the republican party.

"The Workers (Communist) Party considers it one of its main tasks to help organize the unorganized workers, who are left without help or guidance by the A. F. of L. bureaucrats, and to reorganize the existing unions that are being steadily weakened by the treachery of Green and his associates. The Communists in the trade unions are always to be found fighting with and for the workers for a better standard of living and in defense of better working conditions, while the ten and twelve-thousand-dollar-a-year labor leaders are hobnobbing with the bosses, in politics and business, and leaving the workers to the mercy of the employers.

New Miners' Union.

"The once-powerful United Mine Workers of America, of which President Green was formerly secretary-treasurer, is now destroyed and the rank and file under the leadership of progressive fighters are building a now miners' union that will carry on the fighting tradition of the men and women who risked and lost their lives to organize that mighty body of coal diggers which which was for decades the backbone of the American trade union movement.

"John L. Lewis, who drew $20,000 in salary and expenses in one year, while the striking soft coal miners and their dependents were living on a few cents a day, has effectively performed the job of destroying the U. M. W. of A. He is supporting the republican party in the elections—the party of Teapot Dome, A. B. Fall, Injunction Daugherty and Strikebreaker Coolidge. The rank and file of the miners are now determined to get rid of Lewis and his gang and organize under the leadership of men who believe that the way to win strikes is to fight and not to beg for favors from the capitalist politicians.

Communists Not at Atlantic City.

"While 28,000 textile workers are holding the line against a ten per cent wage-cut in New Bedford and hundreds of them, including Communists, are being clubbed, arrested and jailed, Green and his companions are enjoying the cool breezes at Atlantic City and from their comfortable hotel quarters inciting the police and militia of Massachusetts to a more vigorous strikebreaking policy.

"The central executive committee of the Workers (Communist) Party believes that the time is ripe for the exploited and betrayed members of the American Federation of Labor to prepare the skids for William Green and his Wall Street lackeys on the executive councils and elsewhere. The declaration of war against the Communists will be met by the militant rank and file with a counter-offensive to clean the unions of the reactionary officials, who have nothing in common with the workers and are living in luxury on salaries and expense accounts that bankers might well envy.

Red Election Campaign.

"The Workers (Communist) Party in the election campaign will carry the Communist message into every state in the Union and will expose the corrupt leaders of the A. F. of L. as the tools of the employers in the trade unions and the agents of American imperialism, who are preparing to lead the masses into the next imperialist war as they led them into the last.

"Had the leaders of the American Federation of Labor shown as much energy in fighting against injunctions, against wage-cuts, against the open-shop drive, against company unions, and for the organization of the unorganized, they would not be regarded today by millions of American workers as a set of corrupt, lazy, money-grabbing fakers, who, while earning the reward of the employers in official positions and the emoluments that accompany those positions, have also earned the contempt of every thinking worker who is loyal to the class of which he is a member.

"William Green and his associates are meeting in Atlantic City with the primary purpose of bargaining with the republican and democratic parties for their influence over the trade union vote. It is not known to those corrupt labor leaders that presidential victories are on the side of the biggest money bags. They want their share of the swag. And since both parties are about equally flush, the trade union leaders are having a harder time than usual making up their minds which to support. But whether they support Smith or Hoover or throw down the bars and let each labor skate play a lone hand, their decision will not have much influence on the working-class vote. They cannot fool all the workers all the time.

For Worker-Farmer Government.

"The Workers (Communist) Party calls on American labor to support its candidates, William Z. Foster and Benjamin Gitlow, on the national ticket and to organize around its program, which declares that the capitalist system must be abolished and a Workers' and Farmers' government substituted for the capitalist governmental apparatus that functions solely in the interests of Wall Street."

The statement is signed by Benjamin Gitlow, acting secretary of the Workers (Communist) Party of America.

5,000 WORKERS SARIKE IN BIG BELGIAN TOWN

Figures for June Are Largest of Year

BRUSSELS, Belgium, August 5.—Five thousand workers at the plant of the Fabrique Nationale company at Liege yesterday walked out on strike against what their leaders declare are unfair clauses in the mutual insurance plan imposed upon them by the owners of the corporation, a report from that city states.

Altho the leaders have issued the statement announcing the insurance clauses as the causes of the strike it is widely known here that the whole insurance scheme, mulcting the workers of a regular portion of their sleneder wages, has caused intense resentment among the men, and the probability of a strike at this concern has loomed since the discussion began on the plan.

The whole city is reported to be taking a vital interest in events at the Fabrique Nationale. Liege is the largest industrial town in Belgium, in the heart of the iron and coal district. It rivals Namur as an armament production center. Owing to its significance the industrial region and its proximity to the German Dutch frontiers, the Belgian government is always prepared to take extraordinary measures in handling strikes in Liege.

POLICE ARREST 2 HAT WORKERS

Co-operating with the right wing bureaucrats in an effort to prevent the rank and file millinery workers from building a union of their own, police on Thursday arrested two millinery workers, Ida Shorr and Diano Lenken, for distributing leaflets.

The leaflets, issued by the Trade Union Educational League, protested against the union-smashing tactics of the right wing. They were being distributed between 36th and 38th Sts., on Sixth Ave., when Policeman Michael McCarty arrested the two workers.

The defendants appeared Friday morning in the Second Magistrates Court before Magistrate Abraham Rosenblut who postponed the case until next Wednesday, the two workers being released in $500 bail each. They are being defended by Jacques Buitenkant, representing the New York Section of the International Labor Defense.

30 GUARDSMEN FELLED BY HEAT

Lined Up in Hot Sun; Officers Fan Selves

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 5.—Thirty members of Company E, 112th regiment of the Pennsylvania National Guard, fell in a dead faint yesterday while lined up in the blazing sun in front of the city hall here as officers and officials of this city and county, carrying fans and attired in comfortable suits, reviewed them.

The condition of some of the guardsmen is serious, and one is not expected to recover. Almost every other guardsman of the company was ill today.

120,000 Farmers are Homeless After Flood in Mississippi Valley

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5. — According to figures recently compiled here, the Mississippi Valley floods of this year have made 120,000 people homeless and have inundated hundreds of counties.

The details were given by Robert E. Bondy, manager of the eastern area, who returned today from an inspection tour through the valley.

The economic losses of the farmers in the regions where the flood took place have been unusually heavy. Although there has been no loss of life, on account of the slow rising of the water, which enabled the farmers and their families to reach safety, many of the poor farmers have had their homes and what other little possessions they had completely wiped out.

ANTI-WAR MEETS HELD IN U. S. S. R.

Tchitcherin Comments On Kellogg Pact

tion, and due to overproduction, is in competition for markets with all the western nations. The United States, the editorial says, holds an enmity towards the Soviet Union.

The Izvetia, pointing out that the Kellogg anti-war pact allows the imperialist nations certain spheres in which to carry on war unmolested, points to the Lithuanian-Polish conflict as a possible cause for war. The editorial says:

"There can be no doubt that the aggressive speeches of the Polish militarists are an expression of the mood reigning in the governing centres of the great powers."

The very nature of the Soviet Union, which is not an imperialist power, and the need for economic development within its own borders, the Izvsetia declares, "is objective evidence of the sincerity of the Soviet peace policy for those who are not convinced by the practical manifestation of this policy."

The Izvestia also points out that four-fifths of the soldiers in the last war were workers and farmers and for this reason the reports of new destructive inventions can not frighten the Soviet Union. "All these deadly weapons are directed by man, and he, as we have seen, is in the main our own proletarian," it says.

MOSCOW, August 5.—M. Tchitcherin, Peoples' ommissar for Foreign Affairs of the Soviet Union, declared that the Kellogg pact is an instrument against the Soviet Union unless the latter is invited.

"It is not yet too late," he said. "The compact has not yet been signed, though its initiators have already finished their parleys. They still have the full possibility of dealing with the Union of Socialist Soviet Aepublics if they really desire to make the compact something besides an instrument against Russia. Their willingness or unwillingness to discuss it with the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics will establish what exactly is their aim — peace or preparation for war.

Declaring that the Soviet Union would not join in the parleys until it received all documents and data relative to the compact, Tchitcherin continued,

"Our Government is ready to participate in parleys the result of which depends on their substance But we consider that the possibility of our signing the Kellogg compac is not excluded."

SOVIET EOPORTS SHOW INCREASE REPORT SAYS

Fight Insurance Plan In Liege

According to cable reports received today by the Amtorg Trading Corporation, Soviet exports for June across European frontiers, amounting to 59,000 rubbles, were the largest this year and represented an increase of 19 per cent over May and 40 per cent over June last year. Imports totaled 72,500,000 rubles for the month, also the largest this year with the exception of the month of May. Small seasonal declines in the output for June of products of mining and manufacture were recorded. However, most of the principal Soviet industries showed substantial increases over the production for June 1927.

Coal production at 2,602,100 metric tons showed an increase of 9.5 per cent over last year. The petroleum output, totaling 1,008,400 tons, gained 21 per cent over June 1927. The output of steel which amounted to 336,200 tons was 16 per cent greater than in the same month last year while the output of pig iron at 272,000 tons showed a gain of 8.5 per cent. The production of cotton cloth amounted to 191,700,000 meters, slightly exceeding the June 1927 output. On the basis of the output for the first nine months of the year the Sovuzzoloto Gold Trust estimates gold production for 1927-28 at 37,000 kg. for 1926-27.

Grain procurements for June registered a 30 per cent gain o May, the procurements of 353,90 tons being also 27 per cent great than for June last year. Loading increased from 28,700 cars in Ma to 30,800 cars in June, a gain of per cent. The wholesale price dex for June was 17.7 (1913-10 as compared with 171.5 in May a 174.1 in June, 1927.

THE DIARY OF A COMMUNIST SCHOOLBOY

This simple diary of a schoolboy in Soviet Russia has puzzled many a wise bourgeois critic. New standards, new ideas, a new life—richer and more creative. Such things seem at first unlikely and fantastic to a dusty brain.

But the "Diary" speaks for itself.

Herb Hoover: "Every Californian crosses the state line with gratitude that God made him this same state. I return this time with a deep sense of responsibility..." To whom? Wall Street. This sort of Bologna sells well in California.

Chairman Work of the G. O. P.: "We have good candidates and don't need to spend so much." The $4,000,000 admitted is regarded as small. It is compared with what will really be spent.

Judge Hatfield, of Washington: "'Nice people' sometimes become intoxicated, and when the do, some indulge in conduct unbecoming their status in society." Nice people have nothing to fear if they're nice to judges.

Deputy Commissioner William E. [illegible]Connor of Chicago: "We stand ready and willing to carry out the orders of the new police commissioner. If he wants Capone, we'll get him." Capone has enough money and brains to fix things with the new commissioner.

F. M. Sackett, republican senator, Kentucky: "All American exporters are looking for Hoover because they believe it will be the best thing for American export trade." Many a big business man expects Herb to help him out.

William Allen White, noisy editor from Kansas: "Let no one ever say that the New York press is biased, is controlled against the free expression of any creed, or is unreliable in publishing the news. My experience proves the contrary." He hasn't been on the picket lines [illegible]ly.

George H. Moses, senator, eastern regional director of the republican party: "You can be sure that Mr. [illegible]skob, isn't going to have all the business vote for his candidate. Indeed, far from it." Far from it.

William J. Leonard, foreman of the July federal grand jury in Brooklyn: "Evidence brought to us tended to show that not only democratic politicians, but also republicans were involved in the Queens graft. There seemed to be a sort of 'gentlemen's agreement' between them to share in the boodle." Naturally.

Overexertion to make a living is the common lot of workers. Overexertion to make a record is the habit of sportsmen who thereby win a few pennies to support a family by endorsing some cigarette they never smoked. MEN WERE READY FOR STRIKE HE ADMITS AT MEET

Fails to Explain Why He Called It Off

(By a Worker Correspondent)

Last week I attended a meeting called by the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters at the St. James Presbyterian Church. The meeting was called for the purpose of getting support for the Pullman porters who are fighting against the open-shop company. We all want a strike to defeat the company and that is why we attend the meetings, but not just to hear our organizers tell us that they will get strength just by joining the A. F. of L.

A minister by the name of Rev. Ives, spoke and then a man by the name of Walter White of the N. A. C. P. Then we heard from our general organizer, A Phillip Randolph, who again put a lot of weight on a "campaign to educate and enlighten the public." From what he said in his smooth way, it is hard to tell whether he meant we are to educate the public to strike for us.

Old stuff.

No, I guess he meant the same old stuff: Don't fight, go slow, let the boss step on you. When our leaders get that old "higher education" bunk, its good-bye fight, which is the only way you can win.

Then Randolph told us that 85 per cent. of the porters were ready to go out the last time a strike was to be called. Well, if that is true what kind of leader was he not to have acted according to the sentiment of the men.

At that time Green, president of the A. F. of L., said it was no time a strike, and we know that privately Randolph said to some people that he did not think the men would respond to the call for a walkout. Even at the meeting he admitted that he was astonished at the spirit of the men! Can you beat it? That's a leader for you, no confidence in his soldiers and now he says that 85 per cent. would have come out.

Stop Manouvering.

The question I want to ask is: Is Randolph still speaking just for publicity and is he trying to fool the company or the porters? Well, he can't fool either of them. So he better make up his mind to lead a fight or get out and let somebody else lead.

Then we heard from a man called Richard B. Moore, who spoke on behalf of the Harlem Tenants' League, and said: "We pledge the support of our organization to the porters in a militant struggle." That sounded different and so we listened. He said: "Mr. Green did not organize the porters. These leaders have suppressed the spirit of the workers and betrayed them." He said we must not now submit to the dictation of any one who advised no strike. Then he warned the porters against the prejudiced labor leaders who have kept the Negro workers segregated just as the bosses have done. "When you go into the A. F. of L. you must not fall under the influence of these narrow craft monopolists," was the way he put it. Well, that sounded different and we applauded. I believe we should fight and not go in for this fake "enlightenment of the public" bunk, which is all it is.

Best Part Was USSR,

It's a bad day for capitalist newspaper editors who try to paint the U. S. S. R. as inhospitable and uncivilized. No sooner had the Krassin picked up and sent home the Blackshirt boys who had run away than John Henry Mear and Captain Coloyer (above) reach New York after a record trip around the world and blurt right out in the papers that they had their best time in the U. S. S. R. F. L. Curtis describing the trip in the New York Sun says:"

"The most interesting part of the journey. . . was the flight over Siberia. They were the first Americans ever to make this trip in a plane and the Russians whom they encountered made much of them. Everywhere they stopped they were greeted by official reception committees and dined in state. They were not permitted to spend any money while in Russian territory and their Communist hosts were uniformly friendly even where none of the natives spoke a word of English, which happened several times.

A.F.L. ADMITS DEFEAT IN FUR UNION WAR

in the frantic hope that "something might happen."

The appeal to the right wing labor fakers for a last desperate stand against the rank and file was written by the same "socialist" Shiplacoff. Enclosing the letter of McGrady with its farewell swansong from both himself and Green, Shiplacoff, president of the pocket workers' union wrote pitiously:

"Our Conscience."

"Just what can be done I don't know, but I do know that it would weigh heavily on your conscience and on mine if we did not make a serious attempt to prevent the recapture of the Furriers' Union by the Communists."

The letter in which McGrady sent the final notification of the A. F. of L. defeat in the struggle against the rank and file in the needle trades, co-incides with the recent declaration by the Federation executive council that the left wing and the Communists have increased their influence in the American Labor movement. That declaration also contained a feeble announcement that the A. F. of L. officialdom would begin another war against the Communists. How accurate this statement was intended to be may be judged from the position in which these officials, by their own admission now find themselves.

McGrady's letter to Shiplacoff follows:

"AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR
"WASHINGTON, D. C.
"A. F. of L. Bldg.
"July 6, 1928.

"Mr. A. I. Shiplacoff, Secretary,
"Committee for Preservation of Trade Unions,
"55 West 21st St., New York City.

"Dear Sir and Brother:

No More Money.

"Upon my return to New York City I was informed of the action of the Preservation of Trade Unions Committee on giving further assistance to the Fur Workers Joint Council in New York.

"It is indeed too bad that no further financial support can be given to the fur workers at this time. As you know, a large number of the disgruntled, and I might say dishonest, members of the fur workers have been suspended from membership for the good and welfare of the organization. They have joined with the Communist forces of the city in a last desperate attempt to smash the Fur Workers Union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

"Very Discouraged."

"The committee representing the American Federation of Labor feels very much discouraged over this situation, and as a result of the action of your committee, I have conferred with President Green on this situation and we feel that inasmuch as the Preservation of Trade Unions Committee is not in a position to render any further assistance, the American Federation of Labor will surrender its control of the situation just as soon as we can close the various matters up.

"If there is anything further that you think might be done in the immediate future, I will be very glad to hear from you. Otherwise the American Federation of Labor will get out of the situation within the next few weeks.

"Thankin you for the personal interest you have taken in the matter, I am, with every good wish,

'Yours sincerely,
(Sikned) "EDWARD McGRADY,
Organizer.

Immediately upon receipt of the McGrady letter, Shiplacoff sent a hurried call for help to chief representatives of the right wing crew of union wreckers. The letter follows:

"July 11, 1928.

"Dear Friend:

"A moment's reflection on the enclosed will probably bring you to the conclusion it brought me that we cannot very well afford to have the Communists reintrench themselves in the Furriers' Union.

No Hope.

"Fraternally yours,
(Signed) "A. I. SHIPLACOFF.
"Tuesday, July 17th, 3 West 16th Street."

Beginning of End.

The two letters reproduced above mark the beginning of the end for the right wing fakers. Gangsterism terrorization, open aid of the bosses, thousands of dollars received from the Committee for the Preservation of Trade Unions, from the yellow "socialist" Jewish Daily Forward and from other sources, have been powerless to compel the workers to desert their leaders and to abandon the struggle. The letters vindicate the belief of rank and filers that it is now only a matter of time before all the right-wing wreckers will be sent scurrying back to their holes and the task of rebuilding the shattered Furriers' Union will be pushed on a larger scale by the membership.

ADJUST FRONTIER DISPUTE.

CUBAN REIGN OF TERROR GROWING UNDER MACHADO

Deportations, Jailings Follow Fake "Plot"

The story of a plot to kill President Machado of Cuba, and to establish there a "reign of anarchy and Communism," as reported by the Cuban bourgeois press, had its sequel, not in the execution of the "criminal," called variously, Miguel Gonzalez or Severino Rey or Domingo Germinal Gonzalez, as was announced, but in the simple deportation from the Cuban territory.

Dispatches from Cuba to New York reported that Germinal Gonzalez had "confessed" his intention to kill Machado "for the cause and for his class." He was described as the leader of the "anarcho-Communist" movement of Cuba and the former editor of "Tierra," the anarchist weekly of the Havana I. W. W., and the "Accion Directa," an anarcho-syndicalist weekly, both long ago suppressed.

Gonzalez hed been deported once before from Cuba as a "Spaniard," because his parents were born in Spain.

Immediately after his arrest, which took place in Santiago de Cuba, the chief of police of that city was congratulated for his important service, "because the intentions of the anarchists were, after the assassination of the president of the republic, to start a Communist revolution, which would have caused an American intervention in our territory.

In spite of this plat, a few days later Gonzalez was merely deported. But a number of other arrested men, whose names were not given to the press, are still in jail.

Santiago de Cuba is the main support of General Mandiete, the leader of the "Partifi Nacionalista," the only party which opposed the unanimous nomination of Machado for the next presidential term.

Supporters of Mandiete were arrested. Among the supporters of Mandiete are some of the yellow labor organizations.

More arrests were reported when in the public parks and on walls unsigned posters were found attacking Machado and opposing his re-election.

War Danger

The danger of a new imperialist war does not necessarily express itself only in building bigger navies, and armies, and preparing war ammunition, but works together with the pressure upon the workers, the bourgeoisie offensive expressed in reduction of wages, growing unemployment, destruction of the labor movement, denying the workers the right to organize, getting out injunctions against picketers, sending its militia to crush the workers during strikes, as when using its troops against the fighting miners and preventing the textile strikers of New Bedford from picketing. All this accompanies and is part and parcel of the acute war danger. For the more servile and helpless the workingclass is, the easier will it be for American imperialism to wage war.

Our memories are still fresh from the last great massacre of peoples. Twenty million people mostly of the working class laid down their lives in the last great world war. The cry of the capitalists was "War to End War." "To Make the World Safe for Democracy." In reality, like all capitalist wars, it was a war to make the world safe for imperialism. Wars are made to protest the profits and increase the power of the capitalists to further exploit and subject the workers.

The Workers (Communist) Party is coming out daily with revolutionary warning to the toiling masses of the danger of the coming world war. It makes clear to the workers that the wholesale slaughter and bloodshed is the outcome of a capitalist system, that war is inevitable under the profit system, that only with the defense of the Soviet Union and with the transformation of a capitalist war between imperialist powers into a civil war, the workers to take possession of the political power and of the wealth, the workers to control the state industries as in the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, only in this way will there be an end to the horrible, wanton slaughter and destruction of millions of lives.

The Workers (Communist) Party calls upon all workers to organize their forces, to rally to the banner of the American Communist Party under the leadership of the Comintern, the only party which champions the campaign to defeat the Wall Street war and to defend the Soviet Union, the first workers and peasants government of the world.

China and Amsterdam.

The struggle of the toiling masses in China for their emancipation from the power of the foreign imperialists and their own militarists represents one of the most heroic pages in the history of the emancipation movement throughout the world.

Nevertheless the Chinese masses engaged in this struggle do not receive the aid and support of the international labor organizations to which they are entitled. While the Red International of Labor Unions and its sections have done their utmost to contribute to the victory of their Chinese brothers, neither the Second International nor the Amsterdam International have lifted a finger to check the furious onslaught of the imperialists against China, to hinder the dispatching of innumerable troops and warships and to put an end to the outrageous shooting of defenseless Chinese masses.

Already in 1925 the Executive of the Amsterdam International, discussing at the August session the question of China and of the need of extending material and moral support to the Chinese workers, contented itself with passing a resolution expressing the pious wish that:

> ". . .the Chinese workers might succeed in improving their miserable conditions by creating a powerful trade union movement and by consistent economic struggle."

As to the material aid, it was declared in the resolution that:

> "In view of the unsettled situation in China, in view of the lack of sufficient direct information, and also in view of the economic situation in the countries affiliated to the International Federation of Trade Unions, the latter was unable just now to start an international campaign of financial aid."

Even the more characteristic of Amsterdam's attitude on the question of the revolutionary movement in China, was the answer given by Oudegeest, former secretary of the Amsterdam International, to a delegation of the Chinese Trade Unions in March, 1927. In answer to the request of the delegates to send a Commission of Amsterdamers to investigate the situation on the spot, the worthy leader of reformism declared:

> "The trade union movement is interested in a constructive movement which can develop only in such countries where political tranquility prevails. Whilst there is no such tranquility in China, the Amsterdam International does not intend to send a delegation to China."

This reply was quite cynically frank.

Oudegeest declared outright that the Amsterdamers cannot go against the bourgeoisie which considers it necessary to crush the Chinese revolutionary movement. Only after the establishment of sepulchral tranquility in China by the British and Japanese by means of blood baths like those of Wan-Kiang and Tsinan, only after the shooting of the best leaders of the revolutionary trade union movement by Chiang Kai-shek and other hangmen, will Amsterdam think it fit to study the state of affairs in China.

And it ought to be said that Amsterdam has been consistent to the end. Whatever the blood baths and atrocities perpetrated by the imperialists and militarists in China, Amsterdam and its sections kept silent. Amsterdam which considers itself the only representative of international trade union organizations could not manage to establish contact with the three million trade unionists in China.

Only when the counter-revolution got for the time being the upper hand over the revolutionary forces in China, only when it seemed to Amsterdam that the political "tranquility" spoken of by Oudegest had set in China, its leaders got active, and the question is now raised of establishing close relations with the fascist trade unions which have been set up by the hangmen of the Chinese workers.

Addressing the meeting of the National Committee of the General Confederation in France, in March of this year, on the perspective development of Amsterdam, Jouhaux declared:

> "We might go into China where the workers, disappointed in Bolshevism, will turn our way."

Nevertheless the Amsterdamers were rather hasty in their jubilations. The revolutionary movement in China, having suffered an admitted defeat, is not dead. Relying upon the active aid which will be rendered by the class conscious proletariat of the world in spite of the reformists, the Chinese proletariat will carry on to the end the great cause for which it has made and is continuing to make innumerable sacrifices.

"That Is Diplomacy."

The Mexican newspaper Excelsior published Saturday an editorial in which it licked the boots of the Wall Street ambassador, Morrow. "Mr. Morrow's work makes us say, 'that is diplomacy,'" says the newspaper in a spirit which makes us want to inquire into its sources of income.

The editorial is a virtual declaration that the real successor of the murdered Obregon as president of Mexico is none other than Dwight W. Morrow.

To quote a few passages:

> "Mexico can not discard that confidence which Ambassador Morrow has placed in us since he has come among us and learned to know us. That dignity, that bravery, that calm which Mr. Morrow found in the Mexican people following the murder of President-elect Obregon should convert us to complete discipline and unanimous cooperation with legal orders. Civilized peoples are distinguished from barbarous races by their acceptance of laws.
> "The Ambassador's words call us to our responsibility, and we are no constitutional country if we do not heed them.
> "Our great task is to unmask the ideas of those who are undisciplined and to show our politicians that their greatest duty is to merit the confidence of the outside world."

So the actions of J. P. Morgan and Co's partner "should convert Mexico to complete discipline." Whose discipline? Morgan's. "The ambassador's words call us to our responsibility. . . ." "Responsibility" to whom? To a foreign power—to the United States.

And "those who are undisciplined" unquestionably are those Mexicans who refuse to accept the discipline that Dwight W. Morrow, impudent imperialist from Wall Street, is trying to force upon Mexico. The bold truth is that Morrow, in his dual capacity as representative of the International Bankers and of the United States government is pressing Mexico with carefully veiled military threats (so carefully veiled at present that the Excelsior says: "Thanks to him the American government has lost that aggressive attitude with which at times it confronted us") as well as by the subtle pressure that the banking monopoly can wield upon a nation in financial need.

The newspaper Excelsior has virtually declared a program of punishment of any "undisciplined" portion of the Mexican population that may fail to bend the knee to the Wall Street ambassador. The suggestion is obvious that the workers in plants held by United capitalists, and peasants whose demands for land might conflict with "legal orders" as conceived by Morrow, will very likely come into conflict with the new "discipline."

In the few but fast-moving days that have elapsed since Obregon's assassination, Mexico has been dragged many degrees toward complete subjection as a Wall Street colony under a dictatorship appointed directly from Washington.

The Mexican masses are yet to be heard from. And there is strong reason to think that the Calles government is trying to stifle the voice and still the actions of the masses by suppressing gatherings and trying to compel both workers and peasants to "let Calles do it."

Inactivity of the workers and peasants of Mexico now would mean to "let Morrow do it."

The Panhandling Trust.

It's rather funny when John D. Godfrey, mendicant officer of the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, as quoted in a capitalist newspaper conducting a campaign against panhandlers, complains that 2,000 beggars are making a good living in New York City—chiefly from panhandling in the subways. Just at the time when the Interborough subway millionaires are doing a neat little "panhandling" job to compel the payment of a 7-cent fare that will mean an increase of 40 per cent in their gross income, or hundreds of millions of dollars, this reference to subways looks suspicious. But perhaps that is only secondary to Mr. Godfrey.

His primary purpose appears to be the promotion of the lucrative business of the "organized charity." The charity monopoly is losing something like $30,000,000 a year, according to this complaint, which is being picked up by pencil-peddlers or by plain moochers. The crippled and broken victims of capitalism no longer able to work and those unemployed who may have given up hope of obtaining employment, should still be slaves of the charity trust, according to the theory of the professional charity organizers. "Keep off the street, you bums," they say in effect, "we have a monopoly on hand-outs and mooches."

Military Training at the Leagues' Schools

Oppressed Must Learn Use of Arms to Cast Off Slavery

By WILL HERBERG

"An oppressed class that does not strive to learn to use arms . . . deserves to remain in slavery."
—LENIN.

THE decision to incorporate some elementary forms of military training (drill, etc.) into the curriculum of the Young Workers (Communist) League Summer Schools has caused a certain amount of surprise and perhaps a trace of opposition among even some sections of the party membership. This reaction is not entirely unexpected.

America, Land of Pacifism.

America is the classic land of pacifism. In America petty bourgeois pacifism has unfortunately left deep traces on the labor movement and even on the more advanced elements. We cannot here go into the well-known historical reasons for this, but it is an obvious fact that until the influence of the proletariat revolution in Russia began to be left in America practically the entire opposition to militarism and war in the labor movement revolved within the narrow limits of pacifism; it is characteristic that "conscientious objection" developed as the most popular and recognized "weapon" against the world war. Really revolutionary ideas on militarism and war came to the fore only towards the end of the war when the most elementary lessons of Bolshevism and the Russian revolution began to absorbed. It needs no long discussion to prove that in the American movement traditions of pacifism are strong and traditions of revolutionary-Leninist struggle against bourgeois militarism and imperialist war very weak. Pacifism still exercises its influence in the labor and revolutionary movements. . . .

Pacifist Opposition to Training.

The "shock" some feel when they hear of the military training in the league schools is a clear manifestation of these pacifist remnants. Some immediately raise the question: "But isn't the league AGAINST military training? What kind of face will you have when, on the one hand, you fight military training in the City College of New York and other colleges, and, on the other, you institute military training in your own schools?" Others, however, are not so "naive", they are "for" the military training "in principle"—but they raise all kinds of arguments against it "in practice"—"We aren't prepared for it now," "It'll bring all kinds of 'trouble,'" and so on, arguments that amount to the same thing in the end.

TO produce such "shocks" was precisely one of the objectives for instituting military training in our schools; that is, to dramatize in clearest possible form our Leninist position on militarism and to utilize this to effect a real work of clarification. Already some good results in this direction have been obtained.

Not Against All Militarism.

Our Leninist position on militarism and war is very clear aad certain. We are NOT against war and against militarism "as such." We are against IMPERIALIST war; we are against BOURGEOIS militarism (i. e., the militarization of the proletarian and farmer youth to fight in the interests of the bourgeois-ie). But we are in favor of REVOLUTIONARY wars (wars of oppressed colonial peoples against the imperialist powers, civil wars of proletarian revolution); we are in favor of the military training of the proletarian youth to learn to use arms in the interests of their class and against the bourgeoisie. "An oppressed class that does not strive to learn to use arms . . . deserves to remain in slavery" (Lenin). We are therefore opposed to pacifism (which opposes, "as a matter of principle" ALL war and ALL military training) just as fundamentally as we are to bourgeois militarism and in fighting against the influence of bourgeois militarism and jingoism over the working class youth, we must at the same time fight just as energetically against the influence of pacifism. Pacifism is a deadly poison to a class fighting for its emancipation; in present-day relations pacifism is a most useful support and prop for imperialism. To break the pacifist illusions of many elements of the working class youth and to win the youth away from both jingoism and pacifism to the revolutionary class struggle is one of our most important tasks.

BECAUSE of perspective of revolutionary struggle, we are willing, yes, anxious, to have the proletarian youth learn the use of arms—especially the most advanced sections of the young workers—for this training on the part of the working class is a very necessary prerequisite for the proletarian revolution. "The bourgeoisie has militarized the entire people—now it is militarizing the youth. Tomorrow, perhaps, it will militarize the women. So much the better! So much the faster do things go forward—so much nearer is the armed uprising against the bourgeoisie" (Lenin). Our main task, of course, is to prevent the young workers who are being militarized from becoming traitors to their class; it consists in winning them for the proletarian class struggle and getting them to use their training for the benefit of the workers and not against their own class. This is our main task and this attitude is in no contradiction to—on the contrary, it clearly falls in with—our bitter and most determined struggle against new imperialist wars and bourgeois militarism.

It is not, however, for the actual military instruction, that military training was included in our school curriculum. We realize very well that under present conditions and for the next period of time, the chief way for us to obtain military instruction is in the military organizations of the bourgeoisie (regular forces, National Guard, military schools, R. O. T. C., C. M. T. C., etc.). (Of course, as Comrade Gorkic points out, Jugendinternationale, May, 1928, the sending of our comrades into these bourgeois military institutions "implies no rejection whatever of the attempt to set up a class organization of the proletariat to provide military training for young workers"). Our chief reason for including military instruction in our schools is to make clear, in a way that mere teaching cannot itself accomplish, to the students, to the league as a whole, and to the young workers, our Leninist position on the question of militarism and our complete differentiation from the pacifists. And here also we are having success.

Correcting Pacifist Errors.

THE American league has had some experience with pacifism. It was not so very long ago that we were very correctly branded as having committed some of the worst pacifist errors—and the fault was not all ours, but was shared by the whole movement. Since then, however, under the closest direction of the Young Communist International, we have gone a good way towards stamping out the last remnants of pacifism in our own league ranks, and in carrying on a broad propaganda of the Leninist principles of militarism and war among the young workers, but we can even now record to our credit some success in actual anti-militarist activities, some noteworthy accomplishments. But the important thing above all is that we are on the right track. . . .

Mexican Working Class Must Fight Reactionaries

Catholic Church, Morones, Allied With Wall Street Imperialism

By HARRY GANNES
and LEON S. RUIZ.

When Jose de Leon Toral, the 23-year old art student, fired five shots into the body of Alvaro Obregon president-elect of Mexico on July 17th, what a sigh of relief must have escaped from the breast of Wall Street's ambassador to Mexico, Dwight Morrow!

Let us not be mistaken about Obregon. He was not the foremost enemy of American imperialism in Mexico. His own pockets had been lined through the sweat and blood of the Mexican peasants. Obregon found the revolution of 1910 profitable to him; it not only gave him political power but wealth. At the same time, he had the support of Mexico's revolutionary armed peasants. He was the national unifying force of these peasants. He based his power upon their armed strength. Obregon was by no means a tool in the hands of Morrow such as Machado, president of Cuba, is in the clutches of Wall Street.

Murder of Obregon Political.

The murder of Obregon was not an accident or a personal matter. The combined enemies of the one-armed general had attempted to assassinate him twice during the last two months.

His main enemies were: The reactionary clericals and the Catholic church, which had been waging a losing fight. Calles was beginning to make important concessions to the church, undoubtedly under the coaching of Morrow. They did not know what treatment to expect from Obregon.

Morones, the reactionary leader of the Mexican labor movement, particularly the Confederacion Regional Obrera Mexicana (CROM), was extremely antagonistic to Obregon. He had threatened to meet the ascension to power of Obregon with armed revolt. He was also a candidate on the Labor Party ticket controlled by Morones against Obregon. Though he was the only candidate against Obregon, he received about 1,000 votes. At a recent banquet in honor of Obregon, charges were made against Morones as being a tool of American capitalists against a challenge that Morones made against Obregon.

The blame for the murder of Obregon was first laid to the church by the chief of police when he said he was "already in a position to make public that the responsibility for the crime belongs to the catholic clergy." These very same catholic clergy had been dancing quadriller around Wall Street, and were not averse to a few murders to bring back the happy days in Mexico when everything was owned by the church. In later days, they were willing to divide this honor with Wall Street on the assurance of support from this quarter.

Morones Friend of U. S. Imperialism.

But now new charges have been made. Contrary to the usual custom the assassin has not been executed summarily, but is being held in the hope of further confessions. Open charges against Morones are being hurled from the Obregonist camp. He is called the "psychological author of the crime." Morones with some of his cronies was forced to quit government positions in the Calles cabinet. He is reported to be in hiding in Mexico City. Morones is a friend of American imperialism and an ally and warm supporter of Green of the A. F. of L. He is one of the most reactionary leaders of the Pan-American Federation of Labor, outstripping at times Green in todying to U. S. bankers. When Dwight Morrow came to Mexico Morones did everything he could to win his favor. Morones ordered the CROM to demonstrate in honor of Morrow when the partner of Morgan first came to Mexico.

All Deny Guilt.

Morrow, Morones and the Catholic Church disclaim any knowledge of the murder and call upon the government to punish the guilty. Whichever was responsible for the crime, all three are pleased. We state categorically that the clergy is guilty of the crime.

Who is Obregon? Both Calles and Obregon had fought together in various phases of the 1910 revolution which ultimately established the present Mexican government. In late years, however, there had developed important differences in the policies of Obregon and Calles. Both Calles and Obregon favored the importation of American capital, and the conciliation of U. S. imperialism. They did not support the same groups. Calles supports Wall Street outright. Morrow has won Calles over and seems to be bending him to the Wall Street wind. Obregon had a weakness for the western brand of United States bankers. He favors the Standard Oil of California and the California bankers.

Told You So

BY the time this appears in print the meeting of the executive council of the A. F. of L. held in Atlantic City may have adjourned and some decision reached regarding the capitalist candidate to be supported this year by the "bona-fide" labor leaders. Or, as is threatened, they may postpone final judgement until they hear the acceptance speeches of Hoover and Smith over the radio.

THEY decided one important question, however. They voted to raise a fund of $150,000 to erect a marble statute of the late Sam Gompers. The funny thing about poor Sam is that since his death the fund to rig up a separate corner in the league of nations headquarters in Geneva in his honor is not yet much more than ninety eight cents. Unless one of the members of the executive council has a sculptor in the family we fear that marble will not experience a bull market as a result of the A. F. of L. decision.

GENERAL MOTORS would like to eat its cake and still have it. If Al Smith wins G. M. will have a latch key to the back door of the White House and the prestige accruing to an organization that motored a president into the executive mansion will be worth millions of dollars in advertising. But in the meantime, General Motors wants to sell automobiles and lest fanatical Republicans might turn to the lowly flivver, Mr. Sloan, president of G. M. warns its employees that the name of the corporation must not be used in the election campaign. General Motors intends to remain neutral even if one of the several floors of the G. M. building is occupied by the Democratic National Campaign Committee.

THE nation wide chain of Childs restaurants has deserted the vegeterian cause and has taken back to its bosom the prodigal meats that were banished by the founder of the marble-tiled hasheries. Tho it costs money to dine in those starched emporiums one gets an education thrown in with the meal. Childs discovered that meat was bad for the human system and not so good for the cashier's cage. Vegetables could be purchased more cheaply than meats and a little propaganda would make the patient like a vegetarian dinner as well as a couple of pork chops or a sirloin of beef

BUT the confounded customers would not be saved. After leaving the best part of a dollar in a Childs joint the diner went away only partly satisfied and since human nature is what it is it is very doubtful if the people can ever be converted to the idea that they are better off hungry than with contented tummies. A customer would leave Childs with a grouch and reair to the nearest Nedick stand for a glass of pineapple juice and a "hot dog." He would have his meat.

BUT the confounded customers would not be saved. After leaving the best part of a dollar in a Childs' joint the diners went away only partly satisfied and since human nature is what it is it is very doubtful if the people can ever be converted to the idea that they are better off hungry than with contented tummies. A customer would leave Childs' with a grouch and repair to the nearest Nedick stand for a glass of pineapple juice and a "hot dog." He would habe his meat.

THE Childs' restaurants began to lose customers. The old racket of clattering dishes degenerated into a faint murmur. The starched waitresses stood around listlessly or, as soon as a stray customer made for the door darted to his vacant place in the trail of the lonesome dime. Childs, a chronic vegetarian thought things were going alright. Being a fanatic he would risk his stockholders' fortunes rathen than haul down the cauliflower banner. But his stockholders went to bat and demanded that the embargo on meat be raised. They had not a thing in the world against vegetables, they insisted. But neither had they anything against meat, and if the customers insist on pork and beans, veal stew or a small steak, why not let them have it? So meat is returning to the Childs' menu. It is marching back with drums beating and the pens of publicity men flying, in the act of writing its praises. A tremendous advertising campaign will be carried on to sell meat to the public who were led to believe by a previous Childs' advertising campaign that it just stopped of being deadly poison. Childs has learned from some mysterious source that the use of meat is not the cause of all human ailments but the abuse of it.

In recognition of the support given them by the New York Section of the International Labor Defense, a delegation of striking fruit and grocery clerks will attend the big outing in Pleasant Bay Park Saturday, August 11, that the I. L. D. is arranging. Thousands of workers in every trade, representing every nationality, will take possession of Pleasant Bay Park for that day and take part in the many activities that are being arranged.

Of special interest among the numbers on the program will be the mass scene. This will symbolize the struggle of the class-conscious workers to free their comrades who are behind the bars of the capitalist dungeons for their devotion to the workingclass. A large number of workers will take part in this mass scene which will dramatize in a vivid manner the work that the International Labor Defense is doing.

Besides this mass scene, there will be many other numbers included on a program of unusual interest. Among these will be a torch light parade, athletics and games of all sorts, open air dancing with music furnished by a first-class jazz band, refreshments and many other activities. A unique feature will be the taking of movies of the outing.

The proceeds of the affair will go to aid class war prisoners and their families.

WOMEN ASSIST IN MINE RELIEF

Form Organization In Many Cities

By VERA BUCH

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 5.—The miners' wives who are appealing so anxiously to the American working class have not waited passively for help to come from the outside. On the contrary, the organized miners' wives have been extremely active in relief work. While they cannot even begin to fill the great need in their villages, still their achievements, considering the circumstances, are remarkable.

Anyone who knows the soft coal region would not think it possible to raise relief here. Company towns where everyone is on strike, isolated by many miles from bigger places where workers other than miners live, towns far from a railroad line, bare little villages with nothing but the rows of miners' shacks, the union hall, a few little stores. But in these desolate mining villages the women have managed to do something.

Turtle Creek Tag Day.

The women of Renton and North Bessemer are combining in a joint tag day, in Turtle Creek and neighboring towns, for which they have obtained a permit. The North Bessemer women gave a picnic recently. They went out with empty pocketbooks and came back with $38. This was realized from the admission fees and from other sources.

The women in Slickville take up collections at their meetings. Each member gives a quarter. Here, they have not been on strike so long, and the quarter, with some sacrifice, can still be given.

Got Truckload of Food.

The women of Triadelphia, West Virginia, went with a truck into the city of Wheeling and came back with the truck loaded with food for the strikers' children's kitchen.

The methods of disposing relief are just as varied. In Bentleyville, they take care of the sick out of their little fund, doctor's bills, medicine and confinement cases. In Lansing, Ohio, they recently shared a great luxury among the members—a sack of sugar for their coffee. Some auxiliaries give relief money, some give groceries, some take care of only especially needy cases.

Work Progressing.

Women in many cities have organized themselves into national miners' relief committees and send what they collect through house to house collections, picnics, tag days, and entertainments of every variety, to the central relief headquarters at 611 Penn Ave. Potatoes, flour and other necessities are bought in wholesale quantities and sent to the mining camps.

Police Clerk Held On Forgery Charge

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 5.—Ernest Banks, 43, clerk in the Newark Police Department for more than twenty years, was today suspended, stripped of his shield and arrested on two charges of forgery here.

It was announced that Banks had confessed to having used the money from two forged bonds to cover up shortages amounting to $4,000 in the accounts of the Police Building and Loan Association, of which he was secretary until two months ago. He said he lost the money originally through betting on horse races and other gambling.

The Gutters to Keep Cool In for Workers' Children

The stifling heat in the overcrowded tenements on New York City's East and West sides and the Bronx and in the Negro section in Harlem results in many deaths yearly. The children to escape the heat and foul conditions are forced to make the best of fire hydrants in the refuse-laden gutters. The picture shows a typical scene in a New York street, but it might be in any other large city in the country.

POWER INTEREST IN RADIO TRUST

Chicago Body Exposes Violations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (UP).—Revocation of the licenses of 11 large radio broadcasting stations was demanded of the Federal Radio Commission today in a series of resolutions received from the Radio Protective Association of Chicago.

The association cited stations operated by the General Electric Company, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, the Radio Corporation of America, and the National Broadcasting Company, charging they constituted a "radio trust" in violation of the anti-trust monopoly clause of the federal radio act.

The stations named were KDKA, Pittsburgh; WGY, Schenectady, N. Y.; WEAF, New York; WJZ, Bound Brook, N. J.; WBZ, Springfield, Mass.; KOA, Denver; KGO, Oakland, Calif.; KYW, Chicago; WBZA, Boston, and WRC, Washington, D. C.

The association charges also that interests in radio patents owned by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company were controlled by operators of super-power radio stations in the United States in violation of the radio statute prohibiting a broadcasting licensee to own or control any interest of any kind in a telephone, telegraph or cable company.

COLOMBIA BENDS TO STANDARD OIL

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 5.—The draft of a plan which will create a national petroleum company, making easier domination by the Tropical Oil Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, was announced in the chambers today by Minister of Industry Montalvo.

The amount of United States capital invested in the Colombian oil fields is at present between $80,000,000 and $90,000,000 according to the report, and the new plan will facilitate the investment of many more millions of dollars by the Standard Oil Company.

The new plan for United States investment followed the suspension of all oil legislation recently by the president of Colombia. Moreno, author of the basic draft, which was passed by the chamber a short time ago declared today that the plan is "designed to establish a new open door nationalization policy."

MINERS ESCAPE DEATH IN MINE

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, Aug. 5.—Details of a serious dam burst at Buchan's Mine, near Indian Lake, that did tremendous damage and threatened death to many workers, reached here today.

The storage dam at the mine burst last Monday. Sweeping down the valley for five miles, the water carried railway trestles, bridges, miner's shacks and timber with it.

One side of the power house was swept away. The power house was flooded, and the generators still are under 20 feet of water. A newly completed concentrating mill was destroyed.

Men living in shacks and houses escaped narrowly, losing all their possessions. Laborers working in the main tunnel escaped miraculously.

Many workers saved their lives by rushing to the top of a hill, where they were isolated until rescued by breeches buoys.

U. S. NAVY TO BE 'TAKEN CARE OF'

France and Italy In Submarine Race

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The pact was received here today and Kellogg refused to make any comment on it until he had conferred with the navy chiefs and experts.

United States government circles here admitted that the delegation that would go to the Geneva disarmament conference would look sharply after "distinctive American naval interests."

Naval Race.

PARIS, Aug. 2.—Figures available here show that France and Italy are engaged in a naval race for the domination of the Mediterranean. The new giant submarines being built by both governments will bring France's total to 38 first line submarines and Italy's to 25. Of the smaller submarines France has 30 with 8 more being built and Italy has 31.

Gambling by American Legion Is Permitted

NEW ORLEANS, July 30 (FP).—Police stopped the roulette wheels and other games of chance at the Fourth of July festival of the American Legion at City Park, which was held by the legion to raise money for their sick fund. A few hours later the order was countermanded and gambling went merrily on. The Community Chest approved a budget of $3,602.00 for the year 1928 for the benefit of the American Legion in this city.

PAY GERMAN WAR CLAIMS.

The German metal firm of Hirsch and Sons in this city has been paid its claim of 80 per cent of its total claim of $3,000,000. The plant was taken over by the United States government at the outbreak of the war, utilized for manufacture of war materials against Germany, and has now been returned to the original owners.

POLAND WARNED OF MANEUVERS

War Danger Lurks in Vilna Situation

BERLIN, August 5.—The German foreign office sent a note to the Polish government today warning them against the massing of Polish troops on the Lithuanian frontier.

With reports from Warsaw indicating that Poland is under a military rule with its army holding maneuvers and held in readiness for field duty, a massing of Pilsudski legionnares, numbering 40,000 soldiers, is scheduled for August 12 at Vilna, near the Lithuanian frontier.

It is believed that the antagonism between Lithuania and Poland has been fostered by Pilsudski's Vilna organ, Glos Prawdy, which has published false reports of mobilization of the Lithuanian army and border clashes.

ELECTIONS IN PANAMA SURE

Gov. Party Has Only Candidate in Field

BALBOA, C. Z., Aug. 5 (UP).—Early returns in the national elections here today indicated an overwhelming victory for the liberal (government) Party ticket headed by Florencio Harmodio Arosmena, only candidate for the presidency.

The opposition (Porras Party) withdrew their candidates from the field last week and virtually the only opposition which the liberals have at the polls comes from the smaller parties. The Porras Party's reason for withdrawing was due to charges of alleged irregularities on the part of the liberals which they declared would prevent a fair election.

Special measures were taken by the authorities to cope with any disorder should it arise. The cities of Panama and Colon were particularly quiet although cavalry patrolled the streets throughout the night.

BOSSES BREAK AGREEMENT

DETROIT, Aug. 5.—The contract between the Moulders' Union and the Peninsular Stave Company here has been broken by the company. The contract had been made in 1859 with the company, when the union was chartered with its international.

ALL FALL RIVER MILL WORKERS VOTE TO STRIKE

Walk-Out Unless Demands Granted

warrants issued for the July 28 meeting when Feeney broke into the empty tenement rented by the Textile Mills Committee to escape police molestation while speaking.

Seize Leaders on Strike Eve.

The warrants had been held over the week with the deliberate intention of seizing the leaders of the Textile Mills Committee as the strike date approached. All cases were continued.

The enthusiasm with which the letter of demands and the strike call vote were carried was tremendous and has seldom been equalled in this city, never since the union officialdom sold out the men in the spring of this year. Everywhere expressions of faith that new life has come into the Fall River textile situation under the leadership of the Textile Mills Committee are heard from the men.

All week long great overflow meetings whose one and conscious purpose has been preparation for the been held nightly at Liberty Lot struggle looming in Fall River have from which the menace of police interference has hailed to keep away the workers.

(Special to the Daily Worker)

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 5.—Police here have arrested Peter Helegius, leader of the Fall River Textile Mills Committee and Jack Rubinstein, leader of the New Bedford Textile Mills Committee on warrants issued for a Fall River meeting which the police raided and were locked into a vacant room while Rubinstein concluded the speech the officers were attempting to interrupt.

Both the leaders were taken to Fall River.

RELIEF VITAL IN MILL STRIKE

eight cases of peaches, 20 gallons of coffee and 20 gallons of milk.

The following day, the police authorities continued their starvation policy, undoubtedly hoping thereby to break the fighting determination of the workers. The Workers International Relief again got into action and sent several hundred more sandwiches, coffee and fruit to the imprisoned workers.

That night they were transferred to the House of Correction where they were given "food." The Workers' International Relief, being informed that the food was not fit to eat, again sent supplies to the workers. This time, however, the relief committee was barred, the arrested workers being compelled to eat the garbage handed out or starve. It is charged that those arrested on charges of robbery and theft were given superior food in the House of Correction that was given to the arrested workers.

The Workers' International Relief intends to increase its relief work in feeding the mass of strikers daily as well as in being prepared for emergencies such as Monday. Lack of funds is making it difficult for the relief committee to do all of the necessary work that should be taken care of.

Workers in all parts of the country are urged to rush funds to the Workers' International Relief, 49 William St., New Bedford, Mass.

SEAMEN MEET IN PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 5.—The International Seamen's Club of this city got off to a flying start Saturday with a meeting attended by scores of seamen and a number of harbor workers, many of whom signed up as members.

Among the workers present were many members of the International Seamen's Union, who joined up following the rally.

George Mink, organizer of the Philadelphia Club, addressed the seamen, pointing out to them that the need of organization has never been more urgent than it is at this time.

The large attendance and enthusiasm shown at the meeting lead the organizers of the club to believe that many more seamen will join up in the near future.

The official index of the cost of living iis 78.4 per cent above the average for 1913.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY GAINS SWELL EACH YEAR

Rockefeller Wealth Multiplied 25 Times

By LELAND OLDS
(Federated Press).

Once again the mid-year dividend discussion calls attention to the enormous wealth Standard Oil has poured into the coffers of the multimillionaire clique since the courts dissolved the original trust under the Sherman act in 1911. This wealth is measured not only by the total of $2,012,728,422 in cash dividends distributed from 1912 to June, 1928, but also by an expansion of more than $4,000,000,000 in the market value of Standard Oil securities.

The expansion in market value is little more than a capitalization of the increasing ability of the oil interests to profiteer at the expense not only of the American people, but of users of oil round the world. Added to the cash dividends, it brings the total wealth which Standard Oil has grabbed for its owners in the last 15 years up to more than $6,000,000,000. This money was made on investments with a market value of $1,000,548,485 in 1912.

Steady Increase.

There have been stock dividends totalling $1,450,888,795 and stock split-ups which do not alter the book value of the outstanding securities. But of greater importance, although less spectacular, has been the increasing amount the market is willing to pay for available stock in whatever form offered. Thus 981,383 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey, with a market value of $375 a share, or a total of $368,768,625 in 1912, have expanded to 24,317,219 shares, with a market value of $42.75, worth a total of $1,039,561,113 on July 17, 1928.

The Wall Street Journal also calls attention to the days when John D. Rockefeller purchased old Standard Oil of New Jersey stock at less than $200 a share and people predicted he would go broke if he kept up his optimism.

PEASANT LEAGUE TELLS CALLES TO STAY TWO YEARS

Calls for Labor-Farmer Coalition

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—A manifesto issued today by the National Peasants' League of Mexico demanded that the congress continue the term of President Calles for two years and warned the militarists against aligning thmselves with any political group.

It warned the militarists that any such political group organized for revolt was a doomed failure as evidenced by the failure of the recent revolt in spite of the aid of the whole Mexican reaction.

The statement pledged the National Peasants' League to support the Calles military against all armed movements and called upon all labor and peasant groups to make a united front with this end in view.

The statement declared that the clericals were responsible for the assassination of Obregon and deplored the unfounded attacks against Morones and others, but rejoiced at his downfall. The C. R. O. M., it declared, was now stronger by the purging, which will result in the arising of new leaders, making possible a common alliance of all proletarian forces.

Urged to Support Calles.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—As the official Obregon campaign center was closed, Aaron Saenz, campaign manager for the former President-elect Obregon, declared today that the Obregonistas must place their faith [illegible] "revolutionary personality" [illegible]alles and in congress. He also ex[illegible]sed confidence that the assassination of Obregon would be cleared up.

In his declaration Saenz called for the unity of all Obregon parties and others "uncontaminated by the horrible crime."

The public declaration of Saenz is looked upon as indicating the victory of Calles and the defeat of the Obregon extremists, Manrique and Soto y Gama.

The Obregon party of Vera Cruz came out today in a demand that Calles remain as president for two years more.

Communist Statement.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—The El Machete in an editorial on the trial of Toral, declared that it was impossible to continue accusing the Crom leaders as the intellectual authors of the assassination of Obregon.

"The Crom leaders stand unaccused by any material data," the editorial states. "We do not desire to defend individuals who have proved disastrous for the working class, but it is now impossible to utilize accusations as an offensive against workers organizations."

The editorial stated that the execution of Toral was now unimportant, but that it was necessary to destroy definitely all clerical foundations in accordance with the slogans of the Communist Party:

"Not a single cent for Rome!" "Not a single priest more for Mexico!" "Alertness against reaction and against all those wishing to divide us at this difficult moment!"

CROM OFFICIALS KILL MILITANT

Fear Activities of the Peasants League

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Aug. 6.—Saturnino Salomon, organizer for the National Peasants League, was assassinated [illegible] Tres Valles by officials of [illegible] local Crom (Mexican Federation of Labor) union.

Saturnino Salomon, had been very active in the region, urging the peasants to organize under the National Peasants League and to ally themselves with the more militant section of the Crom rank and file.

The Crom officials, it is believed, being afraid to lose their prestige and positions, did away with Salomon in order to prevent a successful labor-peasant coalition.

Communist Held Without Trial

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—The Communist Party here intensified its efforts to secure the release of Roberta Celis, a Communist, who has been held by authorities, since last November without trial.

Flayed Fascist Conduct

Vladimir Myakovsky, the Soviet Union's celebrated poet, is shown in the picture. His attaks upon the cowardly conduct of the fascist Italia fliers in abandoning Dr. Malmgrem to die in the ice and against Nobile's personal conduct in permitting his own rescue before that of his comrades, were a large factor in turning the attention of the world to this new fascist atrocity.

STRESS PERIL OF IMPERIALIST WAR

Communist Congress Points to Danger

(Wireless to the Daily Worker)

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Aug. 6.—The eighteenth session of the World Congress of the Communist International opened here with a report by Garlandi, of Italy.

The speaked declared that Italy suffers from a lack of raw materials. The peace treaties have given her neither colonies nor sufficient spheres of influence. Hence Italian fascism is striving to alter the status quo and is preparing a war which is regarded as the solution of its economic difficulties.

Thirty-seven per cent of the Italian budget is devoted to military and police purposes and even these figures are falsified. The expansionist tendencies of fascism are supported by Great Britain. Italy plays an important part in the British plans against the Soviet Union. However, Italy is not completely bound to Great Britain and seeks to derive advantages from the economic rivalry betwen Great Britain and Germany.

The Italian proletariat is internationalist and solidly for the Soviet Union. The Italian social democrats are the same as all the others. They announce that fascism can only be overthrown when Bolshevism in Italy is destroyed. An energetic fight is necessary against these traitors. War is inevitable and our policy must be determined by this.

Anti-militarist work among the peasantry must be increased. The

22 MEN TRAPPED IN SUBMARINE

ROME, August 6.—Reports from the Stefani Agency received here this afternoon state that the Italian submarine F-14 was sunk in over 100 feet of water after having collided with the destroyer Giuseppe Missori this morning.

The exact number of men trapped in the sunken submarine has not yet been ascertained. It is known that boats of the F-14's type carry a normal crew of 22 men during time of war, but several more may have been added in what may be preliminary war maneuvers.

Lovestone Reports to Red World Congress on U. S. Imperialism

TELLS OF FIGHT ON PREPARATION FOR COMING WAR

Discusses Work Among Negroes

(Wireless to The Daily Worker)

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., August 6. Jay Lovestone, Executive Scretary of the Workers (Communist) Party, as co-reporter on the War Danger, yesterday outlined to the World Congress of the Communist International the condition of American imperialism, its gradual penetration of many countries, the preparations which it is making for war and the efforts which the American Communists are making to defeat and overthrow American imperialism for the purpose of establishing a dictatorship of the proletariat in the United States.

"We talk of American imperialism," Lovestone said, "not in order to advertise it but in order to mobilize the workers to destroy it."

American capitalism has a dominating situation in the world market and in a number of important industries. Capital export from the Unite States is growing and is accompanied by increased aggressiveness against other nations and against the workers.

Formally considered, the United States has no such large colonies as Great Britain, but by economic penetration in Central and South America, these countries have been forced into dependance on the United States and turned directly or indirectly into colonies or semicolonies.

Economically Canada also has bedirectly into colonies or semicolonies.

The American foreign policy cloaks aggressive imperialism with hypocritical pacifist phrases, Simultaneously the United States is carrying on a war against Nicaragua. Intervention against China and the Soviet Union also plays a great part in the war plans of the American imperialism. Propaganda against the Soviet Union and attacks on the Soviet disarmament proposals belong to the ideological preparation for imperialist war. Further symptoms of war preparations are the colossal increase in armaments, the mechanization of the army, the growing identification of the state apparatus with the great trusts.

Yellow International Hears Our Own Morris

(Radiogram to Daily Worker)

BRUSSELS, Aug. 6.—Today the first working session of the third congress of the Second International was held here.

Paul Faure of France and Arthur Crispien of Germany acted as chairmen. Mertens greeted the congress on behalf of the International Federation of Trade Unions, while De Graeve spoke in behalf of the Socialist Youth International.

Three speeches were then made concerning the post-war economic situation and economic policy of the working class.

Morris Hillquit of the United States, Naphtali of Germany and Cramp of Great Britain spoke. The speeches were for the most part colorless. The trusts, said the speakers, were to be fought through the International Labor Office of the League of Nations which should establish con rol and later develop the capitalist trusts into national and international economic organizations. The main slogan of the congress is: "National instead of capitalist trusts."

Caught in the Act; Capital's Candidate Reviews Troops

The role of governor Alfred E. Smith, democratic presidential candidate, as the agent for Wall Street and imperialist war was never more graphically de picted than in this picture where he is shown reviewing the sixty-ninth regiment of Manhattan and the fourteenth regiment of Brooklyn at Peekskill. Accompanied by a staff of officers, war and Wall Street's candidate smiles admiringly as he sees the rows of well-trained cannon fodder ripe for the coming imperialist harvest.

ADMIT M'GRADY LETTER GENUINE

"But Didn't Mean It," Shiplacoff Says

Public admission was made yesterday by A. I. Shiplacoff, leader of the right wing in the Jewish labor movement, and by Edward F. McGrady, A. F. of L. agent in the fight against the Furriers' Joint Board, of the authenticity of the letters which admitted defeat for their union-wrecking activities, and which were published in these columns yesterday.

While admitting the genuineness of the letters, both these enemies of the fur workers nevertheless vehemently denied that they had any intention of doing what their letters said they would do, namely, "get out of the situation within the next few weeks."

These statements were made in "Women's Wear," an employers' trade journal, and succeeded in arousing amusement among those who read it, because of the painstaking manner in which Shiplacoff repudiated his own and his colleague's statements made in the letters. The program chiefs also admitted being "discouraged" at not being able to destroy the left wing Joint Board. Shiplacoff himself sent McGrady's letter to a large group of right wing heads in the city, in which he told them to "reflect" a bit on the seriousness of McGrady's letter.

The prize argument presented by Shiplacoff to the bosses' paper was that McGrady and the A. F. of L. never intended to get out of the situation, but that it was merely a means of "stirring up interest" in the plight of the right wing in the fur industry among the other right wing union officials and socialist party chiefs.

McGrady Confesses.

McGrady was a little more wary in making public statements when confronted with the damning evidence of defeat of his union-destroying efforts, which he has continued for almost two years. He said that he didn't "mean" what he had written, offering as proof the recent decision of the A. F. of L. executive

A. F. L. FAT BOYS LABOR WEARILY

But Bring Forth Only Political Mouse

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 6.—The battling forces of the American Federation of Labor Executive Council contended four hours today over the question of Smith, to be or not to be endorsed, and finally adjourned in sweaty indetermination. The "fat boys" labored but brought forth a political mouse owing to the great division between the Hoover backers and the Smith supporters.

Faced with the documentary proof printed in yesterday's issue of the Daily Worker that the federation through Edward McGrady, gang organizer, had written of its intention to abandon the fight against the fur workers, Green declared that the report "could not now be confirmed."

Supremacy of Nordic a Myth Scientist Says

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 6.—The facile and boisterous exponents of "Nordic supremacy" got a severe jolt today when Prof. R. D. McKenzie, of the University of Washington declared that the theory has no real foundation and "arises from the conceit of the Nordic."

Speaking at the round-table discussion of the Institute of Politics here, McKenzie said that no basis for this supposed supremacy exists from a biological point of view, or from that of technical development.

"The more we study and classify human beings scientifically," McKenzie declared, "the more confused we become about the meaning of the term race, because the peoples of the world are all mongrels, hybrids or mixtures of emigrating peoples of the past."

The old color classification has no scientific validity, the speaker declared. "We might as well try to classify flowers by their colors."

"The concept that the Nordic is superior to the Oriental because he has more and larger industries has no basis in science," Prof. McKenzie said. The Nordic's industrial superiority is merely an accident, he declared, and will be equalled by the Oriental and the Negro in the future.

Only about 20 per cent of the 800,000,000 people that are in or face on the Pacific are white, he stated, and it is unthinkable that the future of the Pacific should belong to the white races alone.

HOLD HUGE CLOAK MEET TOMORROW

Rally to Be Historic in Workers Struggle

Tomorrow evening at about 6 p.m. the huge mass rally, which promises to be one of the most significant in the history of the struggles of the cloak and dressmakers, will be opened by the leaders of the National Organization Committee in the Bronx Stadium, near Starlight Park, E. 177 St.

At this meeting the workers will inaugurate the drive for the upbuilding of a real union of the workers in their trade, and will launch the final campaign for the annihilation of the company union headed by the right wing, socialist officialdom.

Tens of thousands are expected to turn out to this huge meeting in a demonstration of their determination to do away with the betrayals of the Sigman and Schlesinger clique of traitors, who are further depressing the already miserable working conditions of the workers. This was contained in the call for the meeting issued by the Joint Board Cloakmakers Union.

"Wednesday you will all assemble in the Stadium to demonstrate before the world your readiness to begin the drive to abolish the sweat shop system forced upon you by the Sigman Schlesinger gang," the call for the meeting declares.

10 DIE, 60 HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

2 Illinois Rail Flyers "Sideswipe"

MOUNDS, Ill., Aug. 6 (UP).—The Chicago-to-New Orleans Limited and the Memphis-St. Louis Chickasaw flier on the Illinois Central were derailed and partially wrecked here today, and at least 10 persons were believed killed. The trains "sideswiped" in passing.

Six known dead were:

L. A. Drennan, Mattoon, Ill., express messenger on Chicago-New Orleans train.

Mrs. Annie Covey, West Orange, N. J.

Joseph Zdenck, West Orange, N. J.

Three unidentified Negro women.

Seven cars of the north-bound train and 10 cars of the Chicago-New Orleans Limited were derailed.

The wreck was indirectly caused by an iron pipe which obstructed the south-bound track. The crew of the Chickasaw saw it and stopped the train. The New Orleans Limited, on the adjacent track, struck the obstacle and sideswiped the standing train.

Between 50 and 60 injured were taken to St. Mary's Hospital at Cairo, which is 16 miles south of the scene of the wreck. Twenty-eight of the injured were Negroes.

TAMMANY SLAPS AT FARM RELIEF

Raskob Gives Up Plan He Promised

Democratic leaders have abandoned the recently announced intention to draft a definite farm relief plan.

This was revealed tonight in the announcement by Chairman John J. Raskob of the national committee that he has requested Prof. E. R. A. Seligman of Columbia University, brother of the Wall Street banker, to make a "survey" of the agricultural problem which Raskob said would "require many weeks if not months of hard work." Raskob recently announced he would direct drafting of a plan to be submitted during the campaign.

WORKERS STILL SWELL RANKS OF STRIKERS AT MILL COMMITTEE CALL

Answer Shout of "Strike, All Out," by Tie-up of Printing Division

New Bedford Masses Greet New Allies as the Struggle Spreads to Key Textile City

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 6.—Two thousand workers in the textile plant of the American Printing Company here, walked out on strike today in answer to the call of the Textile Mill Committees, thus spreading the struggle of neighboring New Bedford's 28,000 strikers to this huge mill center.

By mid-afternoon 2,000 of the company's 4,300 operatives had answered the strike call issued in the morning, with even the capitalist press admitting that night-fall would find nearly every worker out.

2,000 Walk Out.

The Textile Mill Committees' executive board, granted full power to set the strike date by a textile workers' meeting last Friday, met last night and acted with lightening swiftness, in calling to struggle those employed by the American Printing Company.

Fight Wage Cut.

The strike was officially declared, after Manager Durfee for the company publicly refused to meet with the plant's mill committee, when they demaded abolition of the 10 per cent wage cut enforced last January and further improvements in working standards.

The American Printing Company is the largest of the ninety-four mills in Fall River, which employs over 35,000 workers. Late reports showed that several hundreds of workers in the Lincoln Manufacturing Company had also joined the strike, the strike call including this plant also.

Tie Up Division.

With indescribable enthusiasm, the workers in the printing division poured out into the streets in answer to the shouts of the committee in the mill walking from room to room. "Strike! All Out!" was the committeemen's cry, which grew in volume as it was picked up by the men leaving the machines.

Leaders of the workers organization immediately announced that a mass picketing line would be thrown around the plant at 4:30 this afternoon, to meet the shift of night workers as they enter.

Police Aid Bosses.

A picket line of the workers out of the Lincoln Manufacturing Company plant are already face to face with an intensified police dictatorship. Police lieutenant Violette has already challenged the pickets at the Lincoln mill and ordered not more than two to patrol the gates. Those orders, workers declared, will be completely ignored. Refusal of the pickets to leave on the lieutenant's order was answered by his taking the names of ten leading pickets. Warrants will undoubtedly be issued for their arrest.

Fully prepared for the response elicited by the workers to their strike call, the leaders of the Textile Mill Committees are methodically working on organizational plans, preparatory to issuing a general strike call in this huge cotton manufacturing center.

The officials of the Textile Council are being directly accused by the workers with having assisted the employers in putting over the wage cut, by faking a vote of the union membership, when they balloted on the issue of "strike" or "no strike."

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 6.—Mass strikers' meetings at the north and south ends of the city, under the auspices of the New Bedford Textile Workers Union of the Textile Mills Committees sent their greetings and pledges of solidarity to the workers of the American Printing Company in Fall River, who struck this morning in a struggle against the wage cut.

The thousands who jammed the meetings went wild with enthusiasm when the speakers announced that 2,090 in the neighboring mill center had joined their ranks in a fight against the mill barons and their agents, the officials of the A. F. T. G. and the U. T. W.

TO BOOST BUDGET FOR ARMY, NAVY

Announce Increase in Appropriations

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 6.—While the Kellogg "peace" pact is being peddled around the world, increased appropriations for all the war and navy departments and all branches of the aviation service are contained in the preliminary estimates of the federal budget for the fiscal year of 1929-1930.

This was announced here today by Gen. Herbert Lord, budget director, who stopped here on his way to Cedar Island Lodge for a conference with President Coolidge.

The entire budget for 1929-1930 will be slightly under $3,700,000,000, according to his preliminary estimates, Gen. Lord said. This is about $400,000,000 more than for the last fiscal year. The federal government will also have a paper deficit of $90,000,000, he stated, but its revenues will be greater.

BROACH AIMS TO CONTROL UNION

Has Program Ready for Local 3 to Pass

(By Electrical Correspondent)

The meeting on Thursday evening of local No. 3 of the Electrical Workers Union will tell whether the workers in the trade or the reactionary Broach machine will control our union.

At this meeting the Broach machine is planning to put through a set of so-called ammendments to the by-laws which will put the membership into a backseat and will give to the Broach machine the full power to do as it likes with the organization.

Among these hcanges are one which eliminate one half of the meetings, one which dispense with the making of financial reports to the union, and one which eliminate yearly elections. Another amendment is to increase dues.

A Deliberate Sell Out.

In order to cover over this deliberate sell-out, the Broach machine declares that these things are necessary in order to maintain the good conditions on the job. For this reason also, Broach is now demanding $150,000 a year from the members.

It would be interesting to know about the wonderful conditions enjoyed by the electrical workers to justify such a betrayal. At the same time this will refute the gen-

BRITISH RAIL BETRAYAL

Tom Mann Scores Misleaders in Letter

(From Tom Mann, England.)

Dear Editor:—

My personal greetings to yourself. I hope you are none the worse for the short imprisonment. I feel sure you will be interested in knowing something of our forthcoming annual conference of the National Minority Movement. I am always deeply interested in reading the Daily Worker and in seeing how the fight is going on in the United States of America. Always you are full of activities, as, of course, we all should be. Continue, comrades, and with you and with us persistency in the right path will get us there.

Reformists Uneasy.

We are having an especially hot time just now. The reformists are very uncomfortable because of our work, and many of them are savage with us. You will have seen reports of the Miners' Federation, held last week at Llandudno, and may have seen that the chairman, Herbert Smith, lost his temper and left his seat on the platform to go to the gallery to have a hand at helping to put out of the hall some mem-

COOLIDGE, STEEL BOSS?

Cal May Manage Huge Morgan Firm

HIBBING, Minn., (FP) Aug. 6.—The present political servant and the future industrial boss of Minnesota's iron miners, Pres. Calvin Coolidge, visited the gigantic domain of the steel trust on the iron range surrounded by company officials. Coolidge came from his summer capital in northern Wisconsin near the ore ports of U. S. Steel and he returned the same day. The mystery of his vacation choice is somewhat cleared up by this journey.

When judge Elbert H. Gary died it was common gossip that Coolidge had been selected by J. P. Morgan to succeed him as chairman of the U. S. Steel Corp. in 1929. Gary died prematurely for these plans but the place has been kept open by splitting Gary's job into 3 parts, to be reunited, according to the dope in financial circles when Cal is free from the white house.

Learns the Ropes.

With the president on the trip from Superior and Duluth to Hibbing and other iron mining centers was Pentecost Mitchell, head of the Oliver Iron Mining Co., the big steel trust subsidiary. In the Duluth ofogressive Leaders Point to New Mine Union as Only Hope of the Coal Diggers

IS SELL-OUT WN AS AID TO AL OPERATORS for Delegates to Convention

(Special to the Daily Worker)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 6.—Evidence of the correctness of the position taken by the progressives in the mine struggle are seen here on all hands as the operators have either flatly rejected the overtures for a "settlement" made by the Lewis machine or have made merely gestures at settlement, in the meantime proceeding post haste with their union-wrecking preparations.

In a leading article in the current issue of the "Coal Digger," the official organ of the National Arrangements Committee for a new miners' union, the point is stressed that only through the leadership of the honest militants and progressives and the formation of a new union can the situation be saved. The news article follows:

Aid to Coal Barons.

"The abandonment of the Jacksonville scale and of the national agreement by the Lewis machine has failed to bring any settlements in Pennsylvania and Ohio. It has only added encouragement to the coal operators in their determination to enforce the open shop.

"In the Pittsburgh district the offer of the Fagan officialdom to use the yard-stick of logic and reason' and the declaration of their readiness to go into negotiations with the operators without any basic demands, brought no results. Not a single operator has so far responded to Fagan's offer to settle on any terms.

"The Pittsburgh Coal Company definitely declared that it has nothing to negotiate. The retirement of Horace F. Baker from the presidency of the Pittsburgh Terminal Company, first looked upon as signifying a change in the "labor policy" of this company, proved of no effect. No sooner did the new president take his post than he declared that this second largest coal company will deal only with the miners as individuals. The smaller coal companies are obviously following this lead of the outstanding open shoppers.

No Results.

"The situation is not much different in Ohio. Hall's invitation for negotiations was definitely rejected by the Coal Operators' Association. The conference held at Columbus with a few of the small, independent operators brought no results, and some of these operators indicated that they will not participate in the meeting called by Hall for August 2.

"Illinois is the only exception. Negotiations are now going on between the Fishwick machine and the operators, which will no doubt result in a wage cut for the miners and a check-off for the Lewis-Fishwick henchmen as their reward for turning the U. M. W. A. into a company union.

"These developments leave no further doubt that the U. M. W. A. is wrecked, and that Pennsylvania and Ohio will be added to the definitely non-union fields. There is only one choice left for the miners—to break with the Lewis machine and to gather their forces in the new union in preparation for new struggles to re-establish union conditions. Miners, elect your delegates to the National Miners' Convention at Pittsburgh, September 9 to 16."

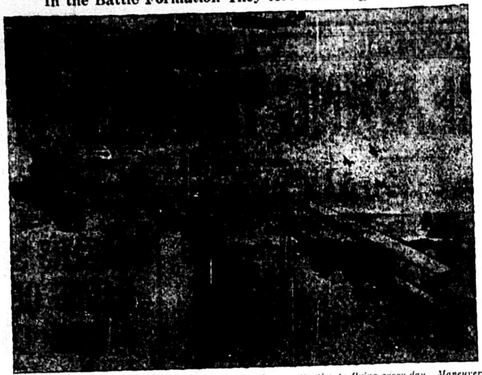
The dividend will be paid September 14 on stock of record August 16.

In the Battle Formation They Are Planning to Take



Imperialism in the United States is paying more and more attention to flying every day. Maneuvers which are to be used against enemy imperialists in the coming conflict are practised over every air landing field in the United States. The picture shows nine planes in battle formation as the militarists hope to see them soon.

RED CONGRESS WARNS OF IMPERIALIST WARS

outbreak of war means the outbreak of civil war.

Applaud Kun.

Manuilsky then informed the congress that Bela Kun was present. Kun was greeted with protracted applause as he rose. Semard welcomed him in the name of the congress. Kun was immediately elected to the presidium and took his chair at once.

Schneller, of Germany, then made his report, declaring that the situation in Germany is different today to what it was in 1914. He said that the new factors are alterations in the imperialist groupings, the alliances of today are less permanent than formerly, militarism is more widespread, the League of Nations is the instrument of the imperialists against the Soviet Union and the colonial peoples, there is a strengthened reaction, fascism, alliance of the reformists with the state apparatus and employers.

On the other hand, there is the existence of the Communist International with the mass organizations under its influence, the existence of the Soviet Union, of the nationalist revolutionary movement in China, India, etc., the tremendous strengthening of the revolutionary proletarian movement throughout the world, the radicalization of sections of the peasantry and middle classes. Hence the new world war will bring much larger masses into movement and the imperialists will not be able to conceal the class character of the war against the Soviet Union or suppress the revolutionary movement so easily as in 1914.

Anti-Soviet Front.

The Kellogg peace pact has strengthened the position of the new German imperialism. The pact is directed against the Soviet Union. The German bourgeoisie is prepared to enter an anti-Soviet front in return for alterations in the disarmament conditions and alterations on the western frontiers. In case of war Germany might remain neutral temporarily but would, in fact, represent the most important base for operations against the Soviet Union.

The increased preparations for war are accompanied by increased repressive measures against the workers. Fascism in Germany is not strong at present, but could play an important part in the event of war. The German social democrats are now openly supporting the imperialists. This gives us a better basis for exposing them. The most important thing in the Communist anti-war policy is that we do not wait until war breaks out, but act now.

War is not an independent question, but is connected with all policies. All parties must work out a concrete plan for struggling against war. Legal work must be connected with illegal work upon the basis of winning the masses. When war comes we will follow the example of the Russian workers.

French Prepare War.

The nineteenth session of the congress opened under the chairmanship of Murphy, of Great Britain. Bell, of Great Britain, read the text of the resolution for the fourth of August, which was unanimously adopted. Following the speech by Jay Lovestone, of the United States, Barbe, of France, addressed the congress. He reported that the French bourgeoisie is feverishly preparing for war. Armament expenditures have increased fourfold in recent years. The latest French military law, which was adopted with the support of the French social democrats, represents an important measure in the preparation for war. The French social democrats are the agents of the imperialists and are openly supporting imperialist policy.

The French Communist Party has made great progress in the struggle against French imperialism. The former anarchist anti-militarist traditions are being abolished. The campaign against the war in Morocco greatly assisted in ripening and consolidating the party.

As far as concerns the conflict between France and Italy, the party has connected the fight against fascism with the fight against war.

The party has done particularly good work among recruits, reservists and sailors. The young generation, in particular, would assist the party in transforming the imperialist war into a civil war.

TO HOLD LEFT WING FESTIVAL

To crowd the season of open-air affairs for this year, the Trade Union Educational League, local New York, is arranging a Workers' Open-Air Festival to be held at Ulmer Park, Brooklyn, on Saturday, August 25th, a festival which will mobilize all the left wing workers in the city and environs and which bids fair to outdo in gayety and entertainment all previous picnics, fairs or outdoor bazaars.

A committee of the local T. U. E. L. is hard at work making up a program for the occasion, which, it is promised, will remain unrivalled in the annals of outdoor affairs.

Ulmer Park may be reached by the B.-M. T., West End line, to the 25th Avenue Station.

All left wing workers are urged to buy their tickets as soon as possible.

SAY LABOR SPY IS NOT GUILTY

Jury of Peers Clears Lessig

A so-called unofficial labor court yesterday pronounced guiltless Adolph Lessig, who has admitted that his name has been on the books of a spy agency as charged by the union from which he was expelled.

Lessig who is suing the Daily Workers for $50,000 libel because this paper exposed his record was "tried" by a jury of his peers consisting of Philip Umstadter, president of local 51 of the Printing Pressmens' Union, Joseph Dudley, a lawyer of Paterson, Carl Holderman of the Full Fashioned Hosiery Workers, and James Myers, industrial secretary of the Federal Churches of Christ in America. They could find "no evidence," they said.

The complete report, it is stated, will not be ready until Sept. 5.

The International Auxiliary Company on whose books Lessig's name was found was caught red-handed spying on the machinists, molders, textile workers and other unions.

Tens of thousands of circulars containing the call were distributed by hundreds of volunteer workers.

The cloak and dressmakers were also called upon to assist the committee of the N. O. C. that may come to their shops for organization purposes. "Drive the Sigman underworld gangster committees from the shops," was another slogan raised by the union.

In going to the meeting the directions given are: East Side Interboro subway to the E. 177th St. Station.

TURN FESTIVAL INTO BIG RALLY

Benjamin and Ragozin Talk to Assemblage

In spite of the intense heat that has held New York City in its clutches for the past few days, a successful festival under the auspices of the Brownsville section of the Workers (Communist) Party was held last Friday at 154 Watkins St., Brooklyn.

Members of the Workers (Communist) Party, the Young Workers (Communist) League, the Young Pioneers, and sympathizers and a group of young Negro workers attended the affair. Ray Ragozin, arriving after she had addressed an open-air meeting urged all non-party members present to join the Workers (Communist) Party and to participate actively in the struggles of the workers.

D. Benjamin, in a short speech, called attention to the present war danger, emphasizing the fact that all the nations are preparing for a new war by building greater armies and navies while they speak of the Kellogg "peace plan."

The affair, originally scheduled to be only a strawberry festival, assumed the importance of a Workers (Communist) Party campaign rally.

council, which called for further struggle against growing Communist influence.

He then remarked that he would have a fuller statement to make later on.

This in well-informed circles is taken to mean that the executive council of the A. F. of L. will be the recipient of frantic calls for a new public announcement of a "war to the finish against the Communists in New York." It is therefore expected that a loud trumpet blast will be immediately forthcoming from the American Federation of Labor chiefs, Matthew Woll and William Green.

Letters Raise Havoc.

That such a step is inevitable seems certain, in view of the terrible havoc by the publication of these letters, in the already completely demoralized ranks of the labor traitors.

Yesterday's news that the A. F. of L. bureaucrats admit defeat in their fight against the Joint Board created rejoicing among the thousands of fur workers who gathered in the fur district during the morning and noon hours. The eager workers bought up all available copies of the Daily Worker and the Jewish Daily Freiheit they could lay their hands on and bundles were taken up to the shops for the benefit of those who did not come down to lunch.

Fisher and Haimowitz, two of the so-called business agents of the right wing Joint Council, appeared yesterday in the fur district. The workers quickly surrounded them and jeered and hissed them out of the market.

Accompanying the rejoicing of the furriers in the fur district there was also a dominant note of militancy and determination to rally all forces to administer the final deathblow to the traitors. The fur district was ringing with assurances of the workers to carry on the fight until the union-wrecking forces are completely annihilated and the Furriers' Union restored to its former strength.

ORGANIZER WILL HELP TEXTILE STRIKE IN TOUR

Jeannette Pearl Begins Work in New Haven

In accord with its policy of furthering an intensive agitational campaign on behalf of the striking workers of New Bedford, Jeannette D. Pearl, prominent in labor activities for many years, has been engaged by the Workers International Relief as field organizer for the eastern district to arouse public sentiment in these states in the interest of the workers now in the midst of one of the most important textile struggles in recent history.

The work of the field organizers will be to stress the fact that a mass protest should be aimed at the particularly vicious assault on the textile pickets and their wholesale arrest as a means of intimidating the workers in the ranks and using these tactics in an effort to frighten them back to work, thus destroying the strike.

The Workers International Relief feels that it is now necessary that the cause of the strikers be made better known to the population centering about the strike area, and to workers all over the United States. Miss Pearl who begins her tour in New Haven, Connecticut today will immediately begin arrangements for large demonstrations, mass meetings and conferences in order to arouse sympathy and secure cooperation for the striking textile workers in their struggle for decent living conditions.

Miss Pearl has been active for many years in the labor struggles throughout the United States. For the past two years she has been field organizer of the National Council for the Protection of Foreign Born Workers, and has made extensive tours covering the principal cities of the middle west states in the interest of the foreign born workers.

Miss Pearl's tour will be part of a nationwide campaign to enroll members in the organization of the W. I. R. and to establish branches in the principal cities of the country.

All organizations in the cities that Miss Pearl is scheduled to visit, have been called upon to cooperate with her in the various activities which she has planned for the benefit of the New Bedford textile strikers.

COPS BEAT UP TAXI DRIVERS

Commissioner Fails to Act

Charges that they were "lumped up" and brutally assaulted by detectives, police officers and a police lieutenant of the Gates Avenue station, have been made by three taxi drivers. One driver has made a complaint direct to Police Commisisoner Warren.

According to Murray Pfeffer, one of the drivers who made the charge, he and three other taxi drivers, employed by the Norman Taxi Company, were driving in a cab on their way home early Saturday morning, July 28th, when for no reason at all they were stopped by a cop, who flourished his gun at them and ordered them to the Gates Avenue Police Station, Brooklyn. Upon their arrival they were beaten up by the cops who gave no reason for the slugging.

Pfeffer's story is as follows:

Cops Holds Up Man.

"We had arrived at the corner of Marcy and Gates Avenue, when we saw a policeman with a gun holding up a man. As we drove up the cop flourished his gun and ordered us out of the cab, then lined us up and "frisked" us for weapons. After this he took us to the station house at Gates and Marcy Avenues, although we had not been placed under arrest on any specific charge.

"Here we were taken into a back room by detectives, police officers and the lieutenant where they beat us up."

"At the time I and the other taxi drivers could smell liquor on the breath of the lieutenant. The officers did not charge us with anything in particular, but asked us questions such as: "Did you buy the suit you are wearing on the east side?" and other obviously drunken questions. Each time I replied the lieutenant would hit me. In doing this he cut my chin and the bruises still remain."

Taxi drivers declare that these charges like most other similar charges of cabmen will be pigeonholed.

INSURANCE FUNDS MISSING.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. — Roy C. Toombs, president of the International Life Insurance Company of St. Louis, has been asked to explain the absence of $3,500,000 in securities. All of the remaining assets of the company are in the hands of the State Insurance Department, pending further developments.

MARTHA NORELIUS SETS TWO WORLD RECORDS

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 6 (UP).—Two world's records and two Olympic records fell today in swimming events of the ninth Olympiad.

With the track and field events ended—with America an easy winner both in number of first places and in total points—interest was divided between swimming and boating events, and Joie Ray's announcement today that he planned to retire from running and seek a coaching job after he competes in the Irish national games at Dublin, August 15.

National League.

The Chicago Cubs lost valuable ground in the National League race Monday by dropping both ends of a doubleheader to the Phillies, 8 to 7 and 5 to 1. The Cubs rallied in the late innings of the first game but fell one run short of tying the score.

American League.

The Chicago White Sox won from the New York Yankees yesterday 5 to 4, although they were forced to go 15 innings to turn the trick. The Yanks managed to hold their league lead of 3½ games by virtue of Philadelphia's defeat at Detroit.

NEARING TO LEAD IN JERSEY TOUR

Functionaries Meeting to Be Held Aug. 11

NEWARK, N. J., August 6.—A tour of New Jersey by Scott Nearing and Albert Weisbord, candidates for Governor and U. S. Senator, was one of the plans announced by the State Ratification Convention held last Saturday and Sunday.

Delegates from all parts of the state attended the Red Banquet and the Convention, and a program was prepared for the most vigorous campaign the Party has ever undertaken here.

A meeting of all New Jersey speakers, organizers and agitators, directors of Party units and locals and of the Young Workers (Communist) League will be held in Newark Saturday, August 11, 3 P. M., at 93 Mercer Street.

In order to acquaint the workers of New Jersey with the platform, aims, and work of the Workers (Communist) Party and to prepare them for the tours of our state candidates, open air meetings must be held regularly in every city and town in New Jersey at least once a week. To make these meetings and the campaign successful New Jersey must use all her own forces. All comrades capable of speaking or of being developed into speakers in any language must be utilized. If, for any reason, they cannot speak in their own town they can be used in one near by.

The bureau will meet twice a month. At each meeting a leading speaker will be sent from the district, will lead a discussion on some important subject, will pass out outlines for talks and will make suggestions, criticisms, etc., on public speaking.

All New Jersey oranizers must see to it that a list of all comrades who can be used as speakers or developed for that purpose is immediately sent to E. Stanley, 93 Mercer St., Newark. They must also instruct these comrades to attend the meeting at this address Saturday, Aug. 11, at 3 P.M.

The following comrades must attend: All organizers and agitators, directors of party units and locals; all organizers and agitprop directors of League units in New Jersey; all comrades who have spoken before at open air meetings.

MEXICAN PARTY STRESSES FIGHT ON WAR DANGER

Scores U.S. Imperialism in Statement

MEXICO CITY, August 6.—The manifesto of the Communist Party of Mexico on the fourteenth anniversary of the world war, issued here today denounced the Versailles Treaty as farcical and pointed out the failure of the League of Nations.

It indicates how the League of Nations has done nothing to prevent the imperialist rule of China and the fascist-Greek-Jugoslav conflict on the Adriatic, or the [illegible] of Nicaragua by United States imperialism.

It points out that the League of Nations is only a successful coalition of the imperialist governments and is directed against the Soviet Union.

The manifesto denounced the hypocrisy of Kellog's peace drive, when at the same time American troops were in Nicaragua, Haiti, Panama and Cuba and points out the brutal imperialism of the United States in Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Since, the statement declares, England and the United States are preparing a new world war which will have repercussions in the Caribbean area and in Mexico, the only possible tactics for Mexico is to combat the pacifism of the reformists and prepare for a true workers and peasants revolution.

CMTC STUDENTS QUARANTINED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (UP).—Twenty-nine Citizen's Military Training Camp students at Fort Eustis, Va., have been quarantined as a result of the death of Emmett Naughton, Cumberland, Md., who died from cerebral meningitis.

Several companies of the students were sent home after tests by physicians showed no sign of the disease. The others were held because they came in contact with Naughton.

American Capitalist Grabs Power, Light System in Nicaragua

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (FP).—Public utilities in Managua, capital of Nicaragua, have been taken over by the W. B. Foshay Company, of Minneapolis, near neighbor to Secretary Kellogg who lives in St. Paul. The Foshay concern has recently bought up numerous small electric light and other utility properties in Portland, Ore., and other western cities, and has issued large amounts of stock which it is selling to the public. The Managua deal is said to represent an outlay of $800,000, and to include the electric light, water and ice systems.

SERB-CROATIAN DIVISION GROWS IN NEW KILLING

Croatians Oppose Nettuno Pact

ZAGREB, Jugoslavia, Aug. 6.—The national division between Serbs and Croatians was sharpened today when the editor of the Belgrade newspaper Jedinstvo was shot and killed by a Croatian railway worker as revenge for the shooting of Paul and Stefan Raditch in the Belgrade parliament on June 20.

The Jedinstvo is held responsible by leaders of the Croatian Peasant Party for spreading hatred against the Croatians and directly inspiring the assassination of Paul Raditch. A few days before the shooting in the Belgrade parliament the Jedinstvo urged that "Raditch and Pribitchevitch should be murdered for Jugoslavia's good." After the shooting the paper wrote, "Yet more Croatian blood must flow." In spite of the protests of the Croatian party leaders the Belgrade government did nothing to suppress the paper.

In the meantime the two separate parliaments continue to hold their sessions, one in Belgrade, which claims to be the Jugoslav legislative body, the other in Zagreb, which is composed of the Croatian-Democratic autonomists.

BELGRADE, Aug. 6.—A commission of the abbreviated parliament which is meeting here, minus the representatives of the Croatian Peasant Party and the Democratic party which total about 100 deputies, has ratified the Nettuno conventions, which gives the Italian government special rights on the Adriatic.

The parliament at Zagreb, composed of the Croatian opposition, has declared that whatever international agreements entered into by the Belgrade session are null and viod and represent only the will of the Serb hegemony.

EXPOSE BRITISH RAIL BETRAYAL

Tom Mann Writes to Daily Worker

bers of the Minority Movement. The chairman undoubtedly was hoping that one of the Minority men would have struck him and that he would have gone to public meetings with the evidence of physical combat on his features, which would have been a good asset had it so happened, but it did not. Such struggle as there was took the form of pulling and pushing, and so on, but it was physical force all right, deliberately resorted to by those who are declared opponents of physical force and say they will not be identified with we revolutionaries as long as we favor realizing our economic freedom by means of force.

Reformist Tactics.

The disturbance arose over the fact that several Minority men had been elected as delegates to the conference from Scotland, but the old official crowd in Scotland refused to grant credentials to the men so elected, but did issue credentials to others who had not been elected as delegates by the workers' votes, so when the properly elected men turned up at the conference they were refused admission to the conference floor as they were without credentials, so they made their way into the gallery and commenced to address the conference from that position. A sequel to this and continuation of it took place yesterday in Glasgow, when the Scottish miners' executive met and the Minority delegates attended and endeavored to participate as delegates (which they were by election), and as a consequence the chairman, Bob Smillie, sent for the police to come and put the Minority Movement men out of the hall. This was done. Of course the matter will be fought out, and whatever happens in regard to this particular case the revolutionaries will triumph, not with the miners only, but in the other industries also.

300,000 Miners Jobless.

It is well known that there are three hundred thousand fewer men working at the mines than was the case a few years ago. Then there were 1,250,000 working in and about the mines. Now only 970,000. The output of coal is practically the same as when the larger number were at the mines. The explanation is that machines have taken the place of men, especially mechanical coal cutters and coal conveyors. The government themselves admit that there are fully 200,000 surplus miners under existing conditions. All they can suggest is migration or emigration. The real remedy is, of course, in reduced working hours; therefore the six-hour day instead of the eight.

Attack on Wages.

The difference between the attitude of reformist trade unionists and of Minority Movement men is seen clearly in the case of the railways. It is our constant attitude to fight continuously for the raising of the standard of life, and therefore never to consent to a lowering of the standard of life of the workers to make it easier for the bosses. Meetings have been held recently between the officials of the Railwaymen's Unions and the companies. The rank and file have not been consulted on details, but J. H. Thomas, the political secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, asked the men to trust their officials in any negotiations. Now the companies have told the officials they must tell the men they must all submit to serious reductions. Ever since the war the men have received a war bonus to meet the increased cost of living. The companies' proposals are:

"The immediate withdrawal of the whole of the war bonus, the cancellation of payment for night work, Sunday duty and overtime; temporary suspension of the guaranteed day and week in return for a guaranteed week, which would embrace all time, whether overtime, Sunday duty or night work."

Today these proposals are receiving attention at the hands of the union officials. Such outrageous conditions would never have been suggested but for the absence of all militancy on the part of union officials and their proffered assistance to the companies to help them to stabilize their position. Before this can reach you I expect some vigorous action to be taken by the militants, which you will learn of by cable.

Sends Greetings.

I enclose you our invitation circular calling our fifth annual conference of the National Minority Movement at the end of August. By the subjects enumerated you will gather the character of the conference. I very much wish you were coming to be present at the conference sessions. Please accept of the best comradely greetings to yourself and the Worker staff, and greetings from us to all your readers.

Fraternally yours,
TOM MANN.

U. S. PUPPETS WIN IN PANAMA

Gov't Controls Polls; Wins 'Victory'

PANAMA CITY, Aug. 6.—With the election of Florencio Arosemena previously assured by the withdrawal of the Porras opposition candidate, an unofficial check of the polls indicate that the government party has acquired the overwhelming majority of the 45 seats in the national assembly and in the municipal councils of all the districts.

A complete victory in the general elections was assured the government forces when the Porras party withdrew its candidate, Dr. Jorges Boyd, who is at present in Washington, and declared last Thursday that their party would not vote.

During the voting the entire police force and militia were on duty throughout Panama in order to prevent opposition to the government-controlled elections.

Reformists Congress Attacks Communists, Supports Kellogg Pact

BRUSSELS, Aug. 6.—The first session of the third congress of the Second International, which has just opened here, was marked by a vicouis attack on the Communist Party by former Premier Vandervelde of Belgium who called the Communist "traitors to the working class."

Hand in hand with this denouncement of the Communists for keeping class lines distinct the congress listened to excited praise of the League of Nations by Arthur Henderson, who was a member of Ramsey MacDonalds' cabinet, and who urged support of the League of Nations as "a beacon which never thus fa rhas been extinguished."

The English laborite also called upon the congress and the League of Nations to support Kellogg's anti-war pact.

Air Militarism Comes to Grief in Crash

One of the results of the increasing air militarism in the United States has been the growing number of accidents due to insufficient training of pilots and amateurs who attempt to fly. The picture shows the debris of a Waco biplane which crashed near the Cranford flying field, N. J. Staro M. Steiger, German military ace, was killed in the disaster. The wreck was caused when a student lost control.

CAL TAKES PEEP AT IRON MINES

Slated for Steel Boss, Is Rumor

fice of the Oliver in the Lyceum Bldg. is the center of the spider web of steel trust esponage which radiates to all points in the iron range and the head of the lakes. Any worker who failed to take his hat off to Cal would be spotted and reported to the Lyceum Bldg. Any worker or friend of a worker donating a quarter or half dollar to the Communist campaign funds would be similarly blacklisted. Any worker of the thousands in the steel trust employ who helped arrange a meeting to get Tom Mooney out of jail or to raise relief funds for the striking miners or textile workers would be marked for persecution by the Oliver company.

Cal, a Steel Stockholder.

It is this sort of corporation that Coolidge is to be promoted to after his service to the Morgans in Washington. He is also a stockholder in the U. S. Corp., just as Chief Justice Taft of the U. S. Supreme Court draws $10,000 a year from steel trust securities given him by Andy Carnegie. Open or concealed, steel has its minions everywhere.

Mexico's Revenues Exceed Estimates

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6 (UP).—Mexico's revenues for the first six months of the present year were approximately $5,000,000 above the estimate for the period, a financial statement issued by Minister of Finance Decca asserts.

It was stated that general business conditions in the country are "fair." The greatest loss during the period was in the oil revenues, which were $2,500,000 below estimates.

OREGON TO NAME CANDIDATES

Plan Nominating Meet for August 12

With the arrival of Sorenson in Oregon, the work of placing the names of the Workers (Communist) Party candidates on the ballot is being pushed, and all signs indicate that the great timber state of the northwest will soon be among the states where the exploited workers and farmers will be able to vote for William Z. Foster and Benjamin Gitlow on election day.

Candidates of the Workers (Communist) Party in the state will be nominated at an electors assembly meeting to be held on August 12 at 2 p. m. in the Public Library meeting room, at 10th St. and Yamill Ave., Portland, according to a telegram received at the headquarters of the National Election Campaign Committee, 43 East 125th St., New York City.

Sorenson has issued an appeal to sympathizers as well as all members of the Workers (Communist) Party to be present at this meeting.

The members of the Workers (Communist) Party in Oregon are conducting a vigorous election campaign by mail and through speakers. Owing to the bad economic situation in which the workers are placed in the state, the workers are discontented with the rule of the old parties, and are readier than ever to listen to the speakers of the Workers (Communist) Party, and to read Communist literature, Sorenson reports.

Who wins when you read your bosses' paper?

NEW ARGENTINE LAW WILL BAN WORKERS PRESS

Grants Immunity to Gov. Editors Only

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 6.—A move for new legislation against the working class press was instituted in the chamber of deputies here today when a press bill was introduced which granted immunity from arrest for all editors who swore allegiance to Argentina.

The bill will grant immunity from arrest to all those editors who will indicate their support of the present administration by an oath of allegiance. All editors who refuse to take this oath will be liable to arrest.

If the bill passes the chambers, it is generally believed that it will be used as a legal excuse to suppress all trade union, working class and revolutionary publicat'ons.

LEAGUE SCHOOL TO CELEBRATE

CLOQUET, Minn., Aug. 6.—The Young Workers (Communist) League Educational Courses here will hold its commencement program on Saturday evening, Aug. 11.

The program will consist of a speech by a student, musical numbers and various other numbers, all being course talent. In addition, there will be a speech made by one of the instructors. After the program, there will be dancing with good music.

These courses are being held in various parts of the country to educate the youth in the class movement of today. Training leaders of the youth from our own ranks is a very important task of these courses.

All workers of Cloquet and surrounding territory should come to the course commencement. Let's come and give encouragement and inspiration to the youth going out into the class struggle.

Be a Bolshevik!

WHAT PRICE CHAMPIONS!

Fifty millions of workers would recognize the photograph at the left.

Possibly two hundred thousand would know the other person.

In this striking incident is revealed the backwardness, the weakness—yes, the disgrace of the working class.

* * * * *

Gene Tunney, champion of the prize ring, millionaire, ignoramus, in spite of his touted interest in the arts, fighter for his own petty ends—retires to spend his quickly "earned" fortune—how?

Ben Gold, leader of the heroic fur workers, much-jailed, slugged, poor, so that at times he cannot pay his room rent—will never retire from the fight which, in the immediate sense, is not his own battle at all, but that of others.

And only yesterday the combined forces of reaction and betrayal—the labor fakers, the boss battalions, the police squads, were forced to acknowledge defeat in a struggle of two years' standing.

The battles of Gene Tunney have no significance for the positive developments in society except to retard them.

The fight which Ben Gold is leading is the very fabric of those developments.

* * * * *

Ben Gold by himself has little or no significance, he weighs just a bit more than half as much as Tunney; he is only two-thirds as tall; he has no more than one-third the strength of the champion of the padded ring. But Ben Gold's work will stand long after Tunney's very name will have been forgotten.

IT ISN'T ENOUGH TO BE A CHAMPION.

YOU MUST BE A CHAMPION OF THE WORKING CLASS!

Today that means more and more definitely: Be a Bolshevik!

It means to build the organization of the Bolsheviks.

It means to support the official organ of the Bolsheviks.

It means to become a writer-fighter for The DAILY WORKER.

BE A BOLSHEVIK!

BROACH TOOK HUDSON AVE. JOB FROM LOCAL 20 FOR DEMANDING ORGANIZATION OF UTILITY WORKERS

(By Electrical Correspondent)

Some time ago the membership of Local No. 20 were granted the right by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers to do the work of the Hudson Avenue Power House. Local 20 is an organization of public utility electrical workers.

In view of the fact that Local 20 successfully undertook to organize the Hudson Avenue Power House, the members of Local 20 were entitled to this consideration.

The insistence by members of this union for complete organization of the utility electrical workers has become unbearable to H. H. Broach, International representative in New York. Broach is determined to smash Local 20 for it's militant demand for complete organization of utility electrical workers.

On becoming aware of the work granted the members of Local 20, Broach immediately set about taking that work away from them under the pretense that the work in question rightfully belonged to Local 3. As a result of this destructive policy the work of the Hudson Avenue Power House was lost to the members of Local 20 and to the members of Local 3 as well.

Far from discouraging the members of Local 20, the smashing tactics employed by Broach serve only one purpose, that of exposing him in his true role, that of a master labor faker.

—R. A. M.

O, Mr. Broach: Worker Correspondent Paging You in Name of 5,000 Unionists

SOME POINTED SOME TERRIBLY MEAN QUESTIONS

But "Caesar" Knows the Answers, No Doubt

(By Electrical Correspondent)

When W. H. Broach of the Electrical Workers' Union first came to New York for his so-called "organization" campaign he told the membership that it would not cost the local one cent and that it would give a lot of money to the local treasury. To prove it he turned over the first ten thousand dollars. He also claimed that the dues were too high and said that the local should run much cheaper since it had so large a membership. He also said that no man should be elected for more than one year at a time. Broach always claimed it was a business organization.

Some Questions.

Now, Broach, show the members what a good man you are by sending each and every member a financial statement of the Local No. 3's finances so that they may read and study it. Don't be afraid, if you are a good business man. Also tell us what right the treasurer has to sign checks all hours of the night and early morning? Has he got legal vouchers for all checks he signs, and have all vouchers been read to the body as they should be read according to our local's by-laws?

At one of the meetings this year you said that it cost the organization $190,000 for lawyers' fees. Now, if everything is on the "up," as you say it is, let us know what law firms got the money and how much each firm received. Why the high costs of the lawyers? You also said at the last meeting that you would use $200,000 right away if you could get it. Why do you need such a large sum of money if the local is in ship-shape order, as you claim?

How About the Dinner?

Tell us about the dinner that J. Livingston, the electrical contractor, gave last year, where you spoke to the contractors about the coming agreement. We understand that you told them a lot of mistakes were made and that you would rectify them. When they asked you about the fines that were imposed upon the members you said that you would also take care of that, and that you would "see to it." When they asked you about labels on fixtures you told them that you could not write it into the agreement, but you agreed right there at the dinner that the contractor belonging to group No. 1 of the contractors' association need not bother about labels. Did you write them a letter to that effect? You also told them that you would agree to any system of helpers they wanted, even the old one, that is, one helper to each man; and, besides, you gave them to understand that they could write their own agreements so long as they would sign with you. Is this not the truth, Broach? Yes or no?

And Another Dinner?

There was another dinner that you and the contractors had, at No. 2 Park Ave., where you told them what a nice electrical business they had and how you were going to make it better for them by putting the BX out of the way, also how one of your own field forces spoke and put his foot in it by telling them how "cheap" some of them were and how they were cutting the price of the work on one another and ruining the trade.

Well, we're not always going to stand by and see you bleed young American boys and helpers by the enormous dues that your pet officers of the local want to put over on them. It is you and the contractors. Birds of a feather flocking together.

Now, about the building trades council. They, as a body, voted not to interfere with our affairs. Tell us what part Halcket, Patterson and Reamally played in that little party and who on the council had sent that little letter to the contractors and who had dictated it, and what was the cost to the local, if any, and who got the money?

Now, Broach, your organization committee organized the subway electrical workers. Now tell us what pay they get and what part of the electrical trade they do. Also, who runs the electrical conduit in the subway? Tell us the number of men organized in the subway and what was promised them by your field men. Do you know that he told them he could "class A" each after one year?

Your pet executive board is fining members large sums of money, some as high as $500, and the excuse they give to the man fined is that they do not work according to the electrical code. Now, Broach, we would like to see you and your pet officers take an electrical examination; above all, your business manager, Fliess, and you, Broach.

How many members have been fired from the job and what consideration is given to the contractor who does your bidding?

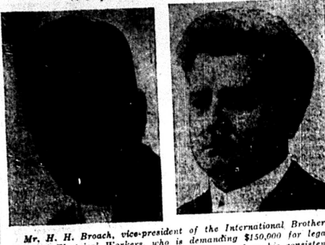
What salary does McIntyre draw and what payroll is he on? If you and your officers have the membership at heart, why don't they stop draining their salary and put their money into a fund for the members who are out of work, so that they can pay unemployment insurance?

No, you don't want that. What you want is to bleed them for more when you know that they cannot pay now.

The telephone company has not had any agreement for the past 15 years. How is it that you don't stop them when you and your business manager know that the old agreement is being violated every day? Still you talk a lot about them at the meeting. Please tell the membership about your connections with the telephone company. Are you afraid of them, or is there another reason why you do not organize the large public utilities? We would like to know these facts, Broach.

S. D.

Well, Don't They Look It?



Mr. H. H. Broach, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who is demanding $150,000 for legal "expense" a year. He is not basing his demand on his consistent refusal to organize the unorganized or, in fact, to organize anything, or his alleged dickers with the contractors, or those swell Park Avenue dinners, or his program for squelching protests from progressives and swelling the net receipts for the Broach machine. These, however, are the net results of his misleadership so far. Next is international treasurer William A. Hogan, financial secretary of Local 3, exposed at the time of the Lakewood Building trades investigation among other labor corruptionists, he still is kept in power by the Noonan machine and works together with Broach. What has he got on the machine that they have to keep him in office?

A MESSAGE TO ALL ELECTRIC WORKERS

The Daily Worker has for two years been making an active fight for better conditions in the electrical workers' trade. For the past year this paper has found it necessary to expose the role played by H. H. Broach, International vice-president of the Brotherhood, who came into the New York situation as a "progressive" and a "reformer."

Two years ago the Daily Worker was practically unknown to the electrical workers. Today, several hundred of them read it regularly. This is only a small number compared with the thousands in the trade.

This message is written to the thousands of electrical workers into whose hands this issue will be placed in order to explain to them the real purpose of this paper and the part it plays, and must play, in their struggles.

OWNED AND CONTROLLED BY THE WORKERS.

The Daily Worker, unlike the papers of the big business interests, is not conducted for profit. It does not live on advertising and operates on a deficit 52 weeks a year—made up, of course, by the workers themselves who own, control and direct its policies. In fact, the Daily Worker is the only daily paper in the English language really owned and controlled by the workers themselves.

The Daily Worker cannot be bought up; it cannot be influenced to stop its fight against the labor traitors—because it speaks for a party that cannot have any other program.

When the Daily Worker first began its exposures of Broach and his local gang, the little tryrant fumed and stormed and threatened to send for the writer of the article. BUT BROACH KNEW BETTER!

GAME OF A LABOR FAKER.

His game now is to attack the Communists as "radicals," impractical," "foolish, etc. He claims to have tried their methods and have found them "unworkable." More lately he has been passing along the lie that the Communists have wrecked every union in which they have been active. Now, every intelligent worker must understand that this is the usual smoke screen put out by the labor fakers to hide the real issues.

The issue is not Communism and the Communists.

The issues in the labor movement today are lowering wage levels, the increasing unemployment, the attack of the bosses on the unions, the large masses of the unorganized, used by the employers to drive down the standards of the organized workers, scab conditions on the job, craft divisions in the unions which weaken the struggle of the workers.

These are the issues and the important arises of whether the leaders will fight against these evils or lay down and work with the bosses.

The Daily Worker says fight! The Communists say fight! That is why the bosses and the labor fakers hate the Daily Worker and the Communists.

AND THAT IS WHY THE DAILY WORKER IS THE PAPER FOR THE WORKERS!

Only a small number of the electrical workers understand the message of Communism. But this is the right road for them to follow just the same. They and other workers will learn this fact with the sharpening of the struggle.

Every electrical worker should read the Daily Worker:

(1) Because the Daily Worker is the only paper which really speaks for the workers and truly represents their interests.

(2) Because it fights the enemies of the workers, inside and outside of the labor movement—no other paper does this.

(3) Because the Daily Worker, fights for the organization of the unorganized, for better wages, decreased hours, union conditions on the job, for a labor party, for a workers' and farmers' government, for a world fit to live in for those who toil.

IT IS YOUR DUTY TO BUY, READ, DISTRIBUTE, AGITATE FOR THE DAILY WORKER. You are a worker; it is your paper. It needs your help just as you need the advice and help of the paper and the movement which it represents.

BUY THE DAILY WORKER REGULARLY! Get your newsdealer to carry the paper. This is your fight!

Also you must write in to the paper. Become an electrical worker correspondent. We will keep your name in confidence, and correct your English if necessary.

The Daily Worker has nearly three thousand worker correspondents from every trade and section in the United States.

We now have a dozen or more correspondents from the electrical industry who helped to make up this page. We should have one hundred. It is your duty to write to your paper. Your fight is incomplete unless you report it to the Daily Worker.

BROACH AIMS TO GET MORE POWER IN LOCAL THREE

Amendments Ready for Thursday Meet

eral idea that the electrical workers are rolling in luxury.

About two years ago the electrical workers in New York were demanding an increase in wages. The Brotherhood sent H. H. Broach, its international vice-president, to take charge of the situation. After conferring with the bosses who had, as usual, been bitterly opposed to the wage increase, Broach mysteriously announced an easy victory.

Later it became known just what took place at the conference table between Broach and the employers. The bosses at the time were complaining that a considerable part of the work in the trade was being done by the open-shop, smaller concerns. The game agreed upon was to organize these small shops so that the big fellows could eliminate their competition. This was the trade made by Broach.

Broach Admits Deal.

In a hearing before the Industrial Survey Commission last winter, Broach openly admitted that he came to New York City at the request of the big fellows in the industry to eliminate "the carpet baggers" as he called the others.

The O'Hara administration, which then controlled Local 3, fought against the policy of opening the books to new members, a policy which was bad for the union just as its other policies and methods worked against the interest of the members. How Broach got rid of the O'Hara group is well known to the labor movement.

That Broach did this job for his own purposes and not for the good of the organization soon became apparent.

Then Broach proceeded halfheartedly with his so-called organization scheme. That he really knows practically nothing about how to organize mass workers, in spite of his high-sounding boasts, has been amply proved in New York just as it was proved during his activities in the 1919 steel strike where those working with him testify that he was wholly incompetent and that he is "yellow."

The organization fizzle in New York cost the union about $100,000.

Then the real career of the "Little Caesar" began. He introduced a set of regulations in the local which can be equalled only by the practices of the greatest labor faker, Berry, of the Printing Pressmen's Union. If a member discusses union issues at the meeting, he is liable to a heavy fine or suspension. Hundreds of members are kept out of the meetings, a gang of spotters watch at the entrance. Hired sluggers and paid police in the fashion of the John Lewis of the mine workers, are the methods of Broach.

One of the chief schemes Broach was interested in was the sale of insurance to the membership. The real graft of this scheme cannot be exposed here. Soon Broach began promising the men that if they "behaved" everything would be "wonderful."

But, conditions on the job were going from bad to worse. When the present unemployment crisis set in, the members naturally looked to Broach for some real plan of relief. He offered them "sympathy" and finally admitted that he could do nothing. When the members fought for a plan, 500 of them were excluded from the meetings.

Then the "great organizer" announced his famous scheme about "BX.' (Metal-insulated wire. Ed.)

Well, every member knows how this turned out and no more need be said about it.

No real organization drive, no protection of the men on the jobs. If a union man gets fired, he is told he is "out of luck." No attempt to organize the public utilities, which the International has agreed not to touch. Instead we have vicious attacks against the Communists, an issue which he uses as a smoke screen to hide his own failures.

Low Wages, Bad Conditions.

The average electrician in New York works no more than 6 months a year and averages no more than $35 per week. Nearly a dollar and a half a week total charges goes to the union. How much is left?

And how about the thousands who work under non-union conditions at $6, $7, and even less, per day?

Every single member of the union must come to the Thursday meeting and fight for his union. A reactionary machine can win only because the members stay away from meetings and refuse to fight.

The progressive electrical workers demand:

1. The elimination of the dictation of Broach and the freedom of the rank and file to run their own affairs.

2. Every barred man must be permitted to enter the meeting and take part in the union business. He must be given an opportunity to express his views no matter what these are and no matter whom these opinions displease.

3. A plan for unemployment relief. Reduction of high salaries during the period in which members are out of work and some of them starving. Reduction of dues.

4. The elimination of the gangster rule at meetings, the elimination of the spotters and the reign of terror.

5. A real organization campaign. A union controlled in the interests of the membership.

FIVE THOUSAND MEMBERS AT THE THURSDAY MEETING! DEFEND THE UNION AGAINST THE TRAIORS AND THE BOSSES' AGENTS!

ORGANIZATION ALWAYS FOILED BY H. H. BROACH

No Effort to Unionize Now Being Made

(By Electrical Correspondent)

Your articles on Local 3, of the I. B. E. W. carried in your militant paper well express the sentiment of not only the progressive members of Local 3 who have red blood in them, but also that of the unorganized electricians in New York.

The unorganized electricians who are working for unthinkably low wages and miserable conditions are also affected by the present administration in Local 3.

H. H. Broach, who is well named "Little Caeser" is not only betraying the members of Local 3 but also the great majority of the unorganized electricans. Although the members of Local 3 are heavily taxed to pay a salary of $115 a week to an organizer no attempt is being made to organize the unorganized electricians.

Demands Organiatoin.

The electricians of New York have demonstrated time and again their determination to become unionized. Several organizations were formed for the last 12 years with the aim of entering into Local 3 or becoming a branch of Local 3 and thereby improve their conditions. They all failed. The desire for a union was especially demonstrated in 1926, when 1,600 electricans joined the organization known as the E. W. A., within a period of six months.

H. H. Broach seeing the organization grow by leaps and bounds, decided to break it up. He proposed to take all the members in at $150 initiation fees without any discrimination. The E. W. A. agreed, for that time the fees were $200 and the books closed.

One of the conditions that Broach demanded was that the organization dissolve at once. This was done.

After waiting for over a year less than 200 out of the original 1,600 succeeded in entering Local 3. The rest were turned loose.

This, however, did not discourage the men who were determined to fight for a livelihood. The men organized again into the Alteration and Maintenance Union, which was later changed to the Independent Local 1.

Send in Stool Pigeons.

But here again, the organization after a few months of existence dissolved. The corrupt and dishonest leadership of this organization together with the stool-pigeons whom Broach sent in, sold out the organization. One set of officials sold it to Broach, another one to Dick O'Hara, former president of Local 3, who was expelled from that local on charges of graft and corruption.

At the present time there is no attempt being made to organize the electricians. This despite the fact that electricians are suffering most from unemployment and as a result of this—low wages.

The wages of the average electrician today is $6 per day.

But because of the miserable conditions these men are undergoing and because of the experience they had with H. H. Broach, the determination towards organization is greater than ever before.

The electricians will not be fooled any more by job-seekers in their own organization nor will they be fooled by Mr. H. H. Broach, the "Little Caeser" of Local 3.

UNORGANIZED ELECTRICIANS.

Max Marcin announces the metropolitan premiere of his new play, "Trapped," of which Samuel Shipman is co-author, for this evening at the Forrest Theatre. The cast includes Felix Krembs, John Miltern, Frank Monroe, Calvin Thomas, Linda Watkins, Edward Woods, Mary Robinson, Alf Helton, Ralph Locke, Clarence Risien and George Larken.

And now we shall have a musical version of "Romeo and Juliet." At least George White says so. He plans to make a modern circus of the Shakespeare play—extremely up-to-date. He is working on the book and lyrics with Ray Henderson doing the score.

Katherine Carrington has been engaged for "An Unmarried Father," the play by Floyd Dell and Thomas Mitchell, which will be Crosby Gaige's first production of the season.

MAY WIRTH CHIEF ATTRACTION AT LUNA PARK CIRCUS

Luna Park's Circus is being over crowded, so Manager Arthur Jarvis has decided to increase the seating capacity of the stadium. The increase in the attendance at the circus is due to a series of acts that heretofore have only appeared with the largest circuses.

May Wirth supported by the various members of the famous Wirth family, recognized as the greatest equestrian act in all the world is the top line at Luna Park. Adele Nelson and her trained baby elephants is another, and "The Aerial Smiths" is a popular third. Another feature is the comedy clowning act of the DeKos Brothers.

1,128 Miners Killed at Work in Country in Last Half Year

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 6.—One thousand one hundred twenty-eight miners were killed while at work in the various mines in the United States during the last half year, the Bureau of Mines reports. The bituminous fields have taken a toll of 901 lives and the fatalities in the anthracite mines amounted to 278.

BROACH ATTACKS BARRED MEMBERS AT RECENT MEET

Insults Progressive Who Dared Flay Him

(By Electrical Correspondent)

At the regular meeting of Local 3, I. B. of E. W. last Thursday at the Central Opera House, East 67th St., Broach made a most demogogic attack on the hundreds of members, whom he has barred from meetings in a strenuous effort to belittle them in the eyes of the membership. He stated that in any organization of 7,000 members, at least 500 or 1,000 are mentally unbalanced, and that this trait can be traced to their family trees.

Broach then referred to Israel Josephson, a member in good standing who is barred from meetings, as being a "flathead." Josephson is one of the many who have dared to take the floor and voice their opinions in direct opposition to Broach's reactionary tactics. Broach says that Josephson had the nerve to come to his office and dare to demand his "rights." Broach sarcastically denounced Josephson for not knowing the difference between "rights" and "wrongs." It seems that Broach detests any man who, like Josephson, opens his talks with the salutation of "Fellow workers."

Broach admitted the fact that he has organized a clique, or machine, saying that this was necessary in order to have perfect "harmony" and cooperation inside the local. He stated that the Communists should be the last on earth to squawk about his machine, as they themselves had organized the most powerful machine in the world soon after the revolution in Russia. Broach completely dodges the fact that the "machine" organized in the Soviet Union is solely for the benefit of the workers, whereas his machine is for the full benefit of himself and his officials.

Broach stated that he did not deem it advisable to consult the membership in reference to the changes and additions to the laws. His reason for this was the fact that the membership was not fully familiar with the conditions as they exist inside the local at the present time. Therefore he decided that the officials, who were thoroughly familiar with all "facts," should assume the full responsibility.

The progressive group of Local 3 urges every member to attend the next regular meeting of the local and take the floor to denounce the man who has proven to be a reactionary labor faker.

Huge Drive to Aid the Chinese Trade Unions Called for Saturday and Sunday

WORKERS URGED TO PARTICIPATE IN BIG CAMPAIGN

Volunteers Asked to Report Immediately

A mammoth nation wide tag day is being organized for Saturday and Sunday, for the benefit of the Chinese Trade Union, according to information given out today by the Committee to aid the Chinese Trade Unions, with offices in Room 314, 96 5th Avenue, New York City.

A call for volunteers has been issued and the committee expects to mobilize 5000 from New York alone to go into the shops, factories, on corners, subway stations, theatres, outdoor meetings, picnics, etc., to collect funds for the aid of Chinese Trade Unions, in reply to the appeal for aid from the All China Federation of Labor Unions to the workers of America.

Call Upon Workers.

"We address ourselves to you, the workers, because we know you are our only reliable ally and friend" they say in their appeal, "And we are convinced that having heard our appeal you will not desert us.

"Dear Brothers, we have our heads chopped off, our trade unions have been dissolved over a year now, and we are forbidden under pain of death, to take part in any strikes, even of a strictly economic charactr."

Bloody Suppression.

Nevertheless, these bloody methods of suppression have failed to weaken the struggle of the Chinese workers against world imperialism and native reaction. It is the duty of the workers of all countries and especially the imperialists countries to paralyze the blow dealt by the imperialist to the Chinese Labor movement, and to extend to it every possible aid.

The Committee calls for volunteers to report at the National office, Room 314, 96 5th Avenue for boxes and authorization to collect money for the relief fund, or to call by phone, Watkins 10128, for information about getting the material at a station near their homes or working places.

"Come to the aid of the Chinese workers in their heroic struggle, against the suppression of their unions and the murder of their leaders and members," the appeal stat-

JUDGE UPHOLDS BLACK-LISTING

Hits Pacific Coast Marine Workers

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—The blacklisting of marine workers by Pacific Coast ship owners has been legalised by Federal Judge Kerrigan.

The blacklisting is veiled by calling it the "marine service bureau." Marine workers must apply to these bureaus for jobs and their conditions of work are arbitrarily decided upon by ship owners. Seamen have no choice in taking a job on a particular ship for a particular voyage and cannot choose the employment to which he is best fitted, but must take whatever job there is on hand when his turn comes on the employment register of the so-called bureau. Only seamen who register at the blacklist quarters can secure employment when there is work to be had.

Even officers are allowed little freedom by this blacklist scheme. They are deprived of the right to select those men who are best suited to the particular work needing filling. Cornelius Anderson, a mate of a vessel, was sued for damages when he did not comply with the blacklist rules. Judge Kerrigan rejected the opinion of the supreme court which stated that the ship owners violated the Sherman anti-trust act and stated that the marine worker "is free to refuse employment if he is not satisfied". He also added that seamen "may show there are instances" where the blacklist has "worked an injustice," but he seemed to think that the workers ought not to complain about "occasional injustice."

SOUTHERN LABOR HITS LOW WAGES

GREENSBORO, N. C., Aug. 6.—A general workers' campaign throughout the entire Piedmont section is being made against low wages and for unionization of labor. This campaign is being especially directed against the textile mill owners.

In connection with this activity of trade unionists, workers here have held a mass meeting to protest low wages and urge organization. Workers are alert to the poor conditions which they must face as industrialization proceeds in this state.

Escape From Sultry Tenements to Overcrowded Beaches

The best New York's workers can expect as relief from the stifling heat of the tenement districts is escape to the overcrowded beaches. The above picture shows a typical scene at Coney Island where thousands of workers are crammed together to get a breath of sea air or coolness in the water.

SPEED PLANS FOR BIG I. L. D. OUTING

With the big outing of the New York section of the International Labor Defense at Pleasant Bay Park next Saturday only a few days off, preparations for the affair are being speeded and from present indications it will be one of the greatest proletarian outings ever held in New York.

The entire left wing movement will be represented at this outing to demonstrate solidarity with their comrades who have been jailed by the capitalist courts and with the struggle to free them. A portion of the proceeds of the affair will go to defend striking fruit and grocery clerks in the clutches of the courts and the rest will be used to aid other class war prisoners and their families.

The two big features of the affair will be the mass scene, symbolizing the fight to free victims of the class war, and the taking of moving pictures of the torchlight parade. These pictures will be shown on the screen a few weeks later and workers will be able to see themselves in the role of movie actors.

Other numbers on the program will be a torchlight parade, open-air dancing to the music of a jazz band, games and athletics, and refreshments. The outing will start at 12 noon and last until the late hours of the night.

Tickets for the affair are now on sale at 35 cents each and can be bought at the office ofthe I. L. D., 799 Broadway, Room 422, and at the Workers' Center, 26-28 Union Square.

NEGROES FIGHT DISCRIMINATION

Protest City Acts in Galveston

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 6.—Declaring that Negroes of Galveston county are being discriminated against in a manner comparable to the treatment of animals in this city, and urging that the same rights and privileges be granted to the Negroes as to the white people, a campaign has been begun here, demanding that the signs at Menard Park, reading "For White People Only," be removed and that the Negroes be given the privilege of walking in and through the park, sitting down, and listening to the municipal band concerts.

The fight is being carried on under the leadership of John H. Clouser, a teacher of the city, in the West District, and by Dr. M. J. Moseley, a Negro physician, both of whom appeared before the board of city commissioners and filed a petition asking that permission be given them to build a playground for Negro children. Although they stated that this was the main reason for their appearance before the board, they admitted that there are many other matters of discrimination against their race that the Negroes in Galveston resent strongly.

Clouser protested that the Negroes of the city had supported that campaign to establish the municipal band concerts in the Menard Park both with their financial and moral aid, and that keeping them out now when the concerts were formally established was an act that was both unfair and underhand on the part of the city officials.

MORE WARSHIPS FOR FRANCE.

PARIS, August 6.—In accordance with the France Naval program, in developing fast and efficient warships, the navy yard at Nantes has just launched a new destroyer, carrying the most modern engines of destruction. Oil Grafter Defies Extradition Efforts

PARIS, August 6 (UP).—Henry M. Blackmer, of Denver, tonight awaited developments in the United States Government's latest attempts to end his self-imposed exile in France.

The western oil millionaire, who left his native country when the government sought his testimony in the Teapot Dome oil investigation, said through his attorney that he would fight every attempt to enforce the government's application for extradition on charges of filing fraudulent income tax returns.

He was one of the few men believed by government prosecutors to be able to reveal affairs of the mysterious Continental Trading Company, Inc., of Canada, which, as a dummy concern in the oil transactions, made a profit of more than $3,000,000 during its short existence. The company's affairs were clouded in secrecy until a few months ago.

POLISH FASCIST FLIGHT A STUNT

Premature Attempt Made for Publicity

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 6.—Further explanations on the part of the Polish fascist fliers, whose plane, the "Marshall Pilsudski" was rescued from the waters of the Atlantic by the steamer Samos, verified reports previously extant that the flight had been undertaken merely as an international gesture for the purpose of showing off Polish fascism before the eyes of the world, in a manner similar to the ill-prepared and disastrous Nobile "expedition."

In spite of criticism and warnings levelled against them by French airmen who themselves contemplated a trans-Atlantic flight, but who postpoed it because of adverse weather conditions, the two aviators, Louis Idzidowski and Kasimir Kabala, both of whom are notorious fascists known to have participated in the counter-revolutionary border attacks on the Soviet Union after the proletarian revolution, were prompted by the Polish fascist government into undertaking the premature flight.

Although their plane was not in good condition, having developed engine trouble, and although the weather conditions were definitely against the chances of succeeding in such a flight, Polish fascism decided not to delay the exhibition.

CONFIRM REVOLT IN VENEZUELA

Anti-Gov. Forces Try to Seize Munitions

CUCUTA, Columbian-Venezuelan Frontier Aug. 6.—While Dictator Gomez of Venezuela has established a strict censorship of news, reports received here confirm rumors of a revolt against the dictatorship in Venezuela. Reports received here today indicate that the fire that took place in the capital of Caracas was caused by anti-government forces who attempted to obtain ammunition from the garrison.

The police report on the fire released from Caracas headquarters definitely lays the blame for the fire on the revolutionary groups who tried to detract the attention of the soldiers in this way and gain access to the munition stores in the outskirts of the city.

Details are lacking, but it is reported that Colonel Roberta Fossi, a former friend of Gomez, is the leader of the revolt. The first uprising occurred when Fossi induced students during a carnival at Caracas to revolt against the dictatorship.

HUGE STRIKE OF COAL WORKERS LOOMS IN SAARE

Miserable Wages for Long Hours

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Aroused by the brutal refusal last May of a wage increase by the French owners of the Saar Basin coal mines, 75,000 coal miners of the Saar region are making active preparations for a strike.

With wage scales at a level where chronic poverty, misery and disease are the lot of practically all of the 75,000 miners and their families, the cynical refusal of the wage raise has driven the coal diggers to desperation and sentiment among them is strong for a huge walk-out throughout the Saar Basin.

Huge Profits.

Mine leaders point out that the French owners have made far greater profits out of the toil of the miners than did the former German owners. They brand the plaint of the French operators that "the economic situation does not permit" an increase as false and hypocritical. Spurred on by the success of the militant tactics of the Ruhr miners, by which they won several wage increases, mine leaders, yielding to pressure from the rank and file, are going ahead with preparations in a determination to shut down every one of the mines should the mine direction commission fail to obtain an authorization for the increase from the government by mid-August.

Metallurgical Workers May Strike.

There is a strong possibility that the Saar miners would be joined by the metallurgical workers in the event of a walk-out. The steel workers were also recently refused an increase.

The Saar lies between France and Germany and is the last of the ownerless countries left from the war. In 1935 the Saar will decide which country to join and France is anxious to retain complete control over this rich region.

The Saar Basin with its coal provided France with all she needed to regain her position as the continent's greatest steel producer. It has proved to be France's richest acquisition of the war.

That the French government is genuinely concerned over the situation is evident from the fact that it has already started a propaganda campaign seeking to brand the spirit of revolt among the miners as the work of "political trouble-makers." The 250,000,000 francs profit which French capitalists cleared from the Saar Basin during the first three years of their occupancy has made it one of France's choicest industrial plums and from present indications it is probable that the government will give the mine owners complete co-operation should the workers walk out, stopping at nothing in its efforts to crush the strike.

LOVESTONE HITS IMPERIALISM AT RED MEET

Talks at Red World Congress

in Latin America in the spirit of the Monroe Doctrine aims at securing the domination of these countries.

In The Far East.

In the Far East the United States imperialists support the open door policy which aims at the consolidation of the American position in China.

The aggressive tactics of dollar diplomacy are also expressed in the Dawes plan. Anglo-American rivalry is intensifying. The chief cause of this rivalry is the penetration of American imperialism into South America and the Far East and the competition for raw materials, especially oil, cotton and rubber.

American competition in India is also sreious.

The chief reason for American hostility against the Soviet Union is their fundamental difference in character. The financial control of Poland must be regarded as part of the American policy against the Soviet Union.

The reactionary trade union bureaucracy in America is the tool of American imperialism. The "socialist" party is closely connected with the trade union bureaucracy, and both are filled with hatred of the Soviet Union.

The Communist Party in the United States fights against the pacifist illusions which represent a great danger. It has organized demonstrations against the Nicaraguan war and, thanks to the close cooperation of the Young Workers (Communist) League, it is carrying on a successful war campaign for China. Anti-militarist propaganda is also actively carried out.

The Communist Parties of the United States and China must cooperate in order to organize the Chinese masses in the United States.

Work among the Negroes must also be connected with the fight against war. The Workers Party appeals to the workers to mobilize to defend the Soviet Union, it demands immediate recognition of the Soviet Union and the development of trade relations.

Our efforts are directed towards transforming the imperialist war into a civil war for the establishment of the dictatorship of the proletariat.

VOTE COMMUNIST!

For Vice-President
BENJAMIN GITLOW

☭ X WORKERS (COMMUNIST) PARTY

For the Workers! For the Party of the Class Struggle! Against the Capitalists!

No, the A. F. of L. Is Not "On the Fence."

The hope, based upon purely aesthetic grounds, that the "fat boys" of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor do not exhibit their bellies in bathing suits while meeting at Atlantic City to consider "the position of labor" for the coming election, is absolutely the only hope that can be held in connection with that session.

All talk to the effect that the A. F. of L. bureaucrats are "on the fence" is a piece of tommyrot that could be found nowhere on earth but in the United States, just as these peculiar American labor misleaders could be found nowhere but in a rich man's seaside resort during this kind of weather.

"On the fence?" What are they on the fence about? The profound question that is causing Bill Green, Matty Woll, Frank Morrison and the rest to sweat into their mint juleps is whether to support Al Hoover, the Demipublican candidate for president, or Herbert Smith, the Republocratic candidate.

In other words, which of the two capitalist hangmen is to be supported by the treacherous A. F. of L. leaders as the hangman to operate on the working class during the next four years.

From the working class point of view, this is not "being on the fence," in any political sense. Political issues are class issues. . And on the class issues the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor is not "on the fence" but has long ago taken its position in favor of the capitalist class. To be either for Hoover or Smith is to be for the capitalist class against the working class, there being not the slightest class difference between the social interests these two candidates represent. Unlike their British, German and French colleagues in the profession of betraying the working class, Green and his associates do not even play with those empty phrases of "social-democracy" which marshall the petty shopkeepers and the more backward sections of the working class in European countries. In Europe the Bill Greens would be obliged to support the capitalist class against the workers, through supporting the European Norman Thomases. To support Norman Thomas, the Socialist Party candidate, would be to uphold the capitalist class. But the Fat Boys' Council at Atlantic City does not have to resort to that sham. They are just straight-out for capitalism and say so.

The A. F. of L. misleaders are not on the fence. They're for capitalism, for strikebreaking, for imperialism, for everything that their masters dictate. And as for the choice between Smith or Hoover—well, that's just a small inside business deal.

But we appeal to the honest workers of this country, both in and out of the A. F. of L., to disdain the advice of those prostituted leaders and support their own working class cause. Join the only party that fights against capitalism—the Workers (Communist) Party.

And vote Communist.

Little Caesar Rides for a Fall.

He came here amid a flare of trumpets and the loud beating of drums: Broach, little Caesar of the electrical workers. He immediately proceeded to clean out, to use his own figurative expression, "the cesspool of corruption" which he found in local 3; he agreed to organize the thousands of unorganized electrical workers; he promised to bring "order out of chaos,"—another of his dramatic phrases.

If Broach had lived up to but one-tenth of the promises which he made two years ago, he would today be acclaimed not only by the six thousand members of local 3, but even by the Daily Worker which was the first to point out the demagogic and treacherous character of this little egotist.

Broach has attacked the Communists, among other reasons because, according to him, they are extremists. They expect everyone to be a Communist, he has said. It is not true that the Communists demand that every worker or every trade union leader instantly become a Communist before uniting with him for a common struggle against the enemies of the workers. While Communists know that only their full program is adequate for the final complete freedom of the workers, whereas they rightly fight for leadership in all struggles of the workers, the Communists have many times in the past and are now making common cause with those who honestly and courageously fight for the workers' interests.

If Broach is now being attacked by the Daily Worker and the Communists, he has himself to thank. It is necessary to stress this point because not all members of local 3 have seen through the camouflage which he has thrown over the real issues.

That the Daily Worker and the Communists attacked the little labor faker long before his true character was understood by the rank and file is only a proof of the Communists' clear insight and right to leadership.

Just as the Daily Worker has been proven right in its previous estimate of this little tin god, it will be borne out in the new prediction that Broach rides for a fall. And the reasons are not hard to see:

Broach has made common cause with the big bosses in the electrical industry. He has entirely neglected the interests of the vast majority of the union. Long before he launched his great New York crusade, it was known to this paper that the Noonan machine of which he is a member had made a deal with the public utility corporations not to organize their plants. While boasting of the great fighting qualities of the International leadership, Broach and the machine of which he is a part has ordered union members to work on scab material made in other states in fear that the order of the scab judges in the New Bedford Cut Stone Case would apply to them.

That this streak of "yellow" is no isolated strain, just become visible, is proven by the conduct of Broach during the 1919 steel strike when the same streak was recognized even by the reactionary labor traitors with whom he worked to sabatage that great battle.

No detailed exposure of this little bosses' man, his reign of terror, his exclusions, his gangster methods and frank sell-out is here necessary. On another page will be found a more lengthy account of his doings.

In answer to this proud boast that "I am neither a Communist nor a Matthew Woll," it may be said that if he had brains enough to be a Communist, his character would nevertheless probably cause him to exceed the record of treachery of Woll, Berry, Lewis and Green. Broach is really in Hogan's class, and in that direction he is proceeding.

The workers in local 3 should come in a mass to the Thursday meeting. Five thousand strong is the required number. Such fakers as Broach thrive on the apathy of the membership. He cannot defeat the mass strength of the rank and file.

Local 3 electrical workers may learn from the heroic struggle of the needle trades' worker whose victory against the A. F. of L. misleaders was only yesterday made public.

Oust Broach and eliminate Broachism from the union! Win back local 3 of the Electrical Workers Union for the rank and file!

HERE FIDO!

The Present Imperialist Dilemma in China

Contradictions Among World Imperialists to Turn "Victory" Into Defeat

By EARL BROWDER.

THE program which international imperialism had laid down for the Chinese Kuomintang has been carried into effect.

The trade unions have been suppressed, the peasant unions outlawed, the Communists driven into hiding, tens of thousands of the leaders of the masses have been slaughtered. All the lower organs of the Kuomintang have been dissolved, mass meetings of any kind are strictly forbidden, power is concentrated entirely in the hands of the military, the generals, one and all puppets in the hands of British, Japanese, or American imperialists.

The program of freedom from imperialist domination has been branded officially as "senseless repetition of empty slogans," and even Dr. Sun Yat-sen's last will has been denounced as a "Communist forgery." Kuomintang officials lick the boots of imperialism at public banquets, receiving in return a patronizing pat on the shoulder, followed by admonitions that they must do better still before they are really in good grace again with the real powers of this world.

At first glance over the Chinese scene, it would seem that the imperialists have cause for nothing but self congratulations.

But this is a contradictory old world, even for our "great rulers" who control the battleships, armies, aeroplanes, poison gas, etc. This "great victory" of theirs is already causing them loss of sleep.

In fact the very extent, completeness, the sweeping nature of their "victory", has, quicker than could have been expected, exposed the shallowness, the futility, of these attempts of imperialism to direct the course of history in China.

"Too Much Victory"

The dilemma of imperialism is illustrated vividly by an article in the "North China Daily News" of March 5, written by Mr. George Sokolsky, an imperialist theorist and authority. Significantly, the article is entitled "Reaction in the Kuomintang"; in content it is a wall of despair, and a detailed demonstration that "victory" for imperialism in China today may well be the shortest road to destruction. It this article had been written by a Communist, and published in the Moscow "Pravda", it might perhaps be discounted as a "wish-fulfilment"; but the writer is well-certified as a faithful henchman of Britain, the "North China Daily News" is usually spoken of as the official organ of the British in China. It is worth while to quote and to comment at some length upon Sokolsky's words.

The opening paragraph strikes the note of apprehension, of fear, that pervades the imperialists in China today, and connects this fear immediately with exactly those facts which Britain has directed her whole diplomacy to create. Listen to this:

> "The Kuomintang are going through a reactionary period, in which it becomes increasingly important to measure the Rightward swing of the pendulum to be able in some manner to forecast the Leftward reaction which seems bound to follow. The Nanking Government seem to be incapable of envisaging any Leftward movement in the immediate future. They have been steadily suppressing not only Communist organizations, but Kuomintang locals.
> They heve permitted persons who have had no connection with the Kuomintang to hold high office in the Government; and they have permitted themselves to become embroiled in conversations and discussions with Northern mandarins who are anathema to the people of the South and to the soldiers who have been trained in the Whampoa Academy or who have been under Chinese and Russian Communist agitators."

"A possible understanding between Nanking and Peking," which Sokolsky sees as a result of these developments, he then offsets with the dangerous effects upon "the standpoint of the mass view of the present Nanking Government." Then he proceeds to an analysis of the composition of that Government. His conclusion should be interesting to the masses of America and England, who have been so thoroughly informed by the imprialistic press that Nanking represents "law and order" in central and southern China as against the "anarchism" of the revolutionary masses. Sokolsky finds it necessary to throw aside this mask for the moment, because he is warning his class of danger to itself, and therefore he must face some facts. Therefore he characterizes the meaning of the latest "reorganization" of Nanking (return of Chiang Kai-shek to power) as follows:

> "Politically, the balance of power fell into the hands of a group of men, the leaders of whom have during the past decade or two been open and avowed ANARCHISTS. Their intellectual heritage has been a denunciation of the orderly processes of Government." Their opposition to the Communists was based primarily upon"the normal antipathy of anarchists" to the centralized system of government advocated by them."

Very interesting, indeed, Mr. Sokolsky, to learn from you that all your effort for law and order to China have culminated in placing in power the "anarchists" of China. And we must thank you for this little lesson on the natural affinity between the imperialists and anarchists in a revolutionary situation!

And what results from this anarchist domination? Let Mr. Sokolsky answer the question:

> ". . .They are responsible for a reaction which could have only one of two results, either a recrudescence of the power of the Communist Party of China, or the moral collapse of the Kuomintang, through its intimate association with mandarinism."

Thus, imperialism, having gotten what it wanted in the Kuomintang, finds that it got too much; it suffers from an embarrassment of riches in this direction; through the pen of Mr. Sokolsky, it cries out against the contradiction which threatens it with defeat by means of its very victory.

Mexican Working Class Must Fight Reactionaries

By HARRY GANNES and LEON S. RUIZ.

General Alvaro Obregon was born in Nogales, state of Sonora. From Sonora comes almost all the revolutionary leaders of the 1910 upheaval. Obregon began his career as a small land owner. In the revolution of 1910, he was reputed to be the only leader who never lost a battle. He got his title of "general" after the death of President Madero. Under Madero he defeated the famed General Pascual Orozco in Chihuahua. He returned to his plantation and resumed civil life. Again he took up arms under Venustiano Carranza when Victoriano Huerta seized power.

Together with Francisco Villa he was leading light of the revolutionary army. Francisco Villa split with Carranza. Obregon fought against Villa and it was in this fight that he lost his right arm. When Carranza was elected president he named Obregon Minister of War.

Obregon Breaks with Carranza.

Two years later Obregon broke relations with President Carranza and announced himself as a candidate for president. His friends warned him that Carranza wanted to imprison him or assassinate him; so he fled to Cuernavaca, and from there he declared his sympathy with the rebel movement initiated in Sonora by Governor de la Huerta and General Calles, the present president of Mexico. This was a peasant uprising, and many other states followed the example of Sonora. Obregon was elected to the presidency in 1920, after a short term of de la Huerta as provisional president.

After his term of office he returned to Sonora to line his pockets. He was able to get practically a monopoly on the bean crop.

He was called "Mexico's man of iron," because of his boundless energy and fearlessness. He was the only leader who had national support of the peasants.

Article 27 of the Mexican constitution of 1917 was forced into that document by Obregon against the wishes of Carranza. Obregon represented at that time the land hungry peasants and their antagonism against the church and foreign imperialists which had confiscated most of the land. Article 27 provided for the restoration of the communal lands to Indian villages, and authorized each state or territory to fix the amount of land any individual might own and to divide the excess. It deprived the religious organizations of the right to own land, and declared ownership of all mineral and petroleum resources to be vested in the nation.

These provisions were never carried out. Calles endeavored to put into effect some half-way measures against the church. With regard to the land laws, which affected foreign imperialism, and mainly U. S. finance capital, he completely capitulated to Wall Street.

Morrow Wins Co-operation.

The appointment of Morrow, an imperialist par excellence, was the beginning of closer co-operation between Calles and Wall Street; a softening down of the antagonism against the church, and a general coming closer of the Mexican government and U. S. interests. At the same time, Calles' government proceeded to disarm the peasants in order to prevent any reprisal in the event the Mexican politicians reached an agreement to sell Mexico bodily to American bankers.

Every indication is that when the Mexican congress meets it will re-elect Calles for a term of two years, or put his relative, Saenz, in his place. Either way, Calles wins and, with him, Morrow wins. The old policy of capitulation will be carried on unless the peasants and workers awaken to the danger of the situation and destroy the reaction wherever it shows its head.

CAMPAIGN CORNER

The demand for the National Platform of the Workers (Communist) Party is increasing by leaps and bounds. This is the most popular booklet ever gotten out by the party. Amid the confusion created by the publicity experts of the democratic, socialist and republican parties, the "Platform of the Class Struggle" comes like a ray of sunshine in a fog.

A check for $10 from Pittsburgh for 150 additional copies of the Platform brings the number consigned to the headquarters of steel and coal to 450. Every miner should have a copy of the Platform. It points out the road the miners as well as other workers must travel in order to solve the problems that confront them. Those problems—unemployment, wage-cutting, brutalities of coal and iron police, etc.—will be with them until they abolish the system that breeds those evils.

O. Zimmerman, literature agent for the Milwaukee local, sends a check for $5 for 70 copies of the National Platform. In the stronghold of the socialist party, the city that sends Berger to congress, the workers are seeing more clearly every day that the socialist administration of Daniel Hoan is no more in the interests of the workers than is the administration of William Hale Thompson, the republican, in Chicago. The socialists have no intention of interfering with things as they are. Their aim is to give an efficient administration, so that they may curry favor with the capitalists. An efficient capitalist administration is of no benefit to the workers. It benefits only the owners.

The National Election Campaign Committee offers bundles of leaflets free of charge to those sending in their names and addresses on blanks appearing in the Daily Worker and other Communist publications. This is an opportunity that every class-conscious worker should avail himself of. A postage stamp and a postal card addressed to the National Election Campaign Committee, 43 East 125th St., will bring a bundle of leaflets to your door FREE.

The Communist Campaign Fund is growing stouter day by day, but compared to the treasuries of the republican and democratic parties it looks like an invalid. Hoover's manager sent out a call for $4,000,000. This is the figure that will be given to the public. Both sides have plenty of money, and they might as well spend it buying votes as buying European dukes for their daughters. Buying votes is more profitable. The darned duke may die of the itch, but a few hundred thousand invested in votes may bring juicy sewer and garbage contracts.

One hundred thousand dollars to turn the spotlight of publicity loose on the parties of imperialism and on the other bourgeois party, the socialist party, that is masquerading as a working class party! This money is needed now to print literature and tour speakers. Send in your contribution immediately to the National Election Campaign Committee, 43 East 125th St., New York City, Alexander Trachtenberg, treasurer

Told You So

SOME people may get discouraged after reading this and come to the conclusion that it is foolish to believe anything one is told. It is not. Every fad has its day and it is good while it lasts. A vegetarian diet is no more deally than a meat diet. No doubt the truckmen will lose by the new orientation toward meat, but think of what the poor butchers suffered during the long tomato, carrot and lettu[illegible]ree of the Childs' restaurant[illegible] As for diet, any normal person is the best judge of what to wrap his skin around. I have seen goats living to a hale and ripe old age, though being addicted all their lives to a tin can dessert. I have seen cows that would eat the stock of a second-hand clothing store for lunch and prowl around for more, live so long that they seemed immortal. Not that I recommend either of those diets to my readers. But what may be sauce for the gander may be gall for the goose.

SEVENTY-NINE replies to one ad for a thirty-dollar-a-month job. This is the proud boast of the New York World. A lady advertised for a woman "neat, clean, kind and with good common sense, who likes to live in the country and who is fond of dogs" and incidentally of one lady. She was assured "kind treatment and $30 a month." There were 79 applicants. This gives the lie to the prosperity claims of the republican party. It is a graphic picture of the horror of unemployment—millions of men and women all over this rich land scrambling for the privilege of working for a wage of $30 a month.

WARREN T. McCRAY, former governor of Indiana, who was sentenced to a prison term in Atlanta for using the mails to defraud, is back to solvency. Since his release from prison a short time ago he has succeeded in organizing two companies and selling oodles of stock. Fourteen millionaire friends of his put up the money to stand him on his financial feet again. Had the governor stolen a bottle of milk to stop the cries of a hungry child instead of swindling people out of hundreds of thousands there would be no millionaire friends to come to his rescue. He would be a marked man for the rest of his life.

THERE is a considerable difference of opinion as to what the Kellogg treaty commits the United States to. Kellogg says it does not commit us to war and Senator Watson of Indiana says it does not commit us to peace.

Mine Room Has Only 4 Corners In It

(Special to The DAILY WORKER).

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 6.—"The trouble is," says Frank Zebrak, a striking miner of Harwick, Pa., "there are only four corners in a room."

When the rain starts pouring in through the barrack roof about midnight, and new leaks seem to be springing everywhere, it helps to move the bed into another corner and line up the pots and pans on the floor to avoid flooding the place.

"But as I was saying," he continued, "there are only four corners in a room, and we only got twelve pits. Can you fellers do anything about tar-roofing the barracks?"

Wind and Rain.

Zebrak and a committee of other strikers hiked and "bummed" rides on the highway from Harwick to the National Miners' Relief Headquarters at 611 Penn Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa. The tar paper, they reported, is almost in shreds, due to sharp winds and constant rain storms. There are seven rows of barracks in Harwick, and about thirty families in each barrack.

Rheumatism and Whooping Cough.

Rheumatism, he said, is spreading among the strikers in the damp, flimsy, over-crowded barracks. The whooping cough, too, is spreading. Two of Sam Krusac's five children have the whooping cough, while Krusac himself is suffering from pneumonia.

"The doctor told one of our boys that he'd lose his wife, if they didn't move out of the barracks," Zebrak said. "He got eight kids, too. But there's no place to move, except out in the rain. If you fellers could only give us some tar-roofing, we'd put it on ourselves."

Bread O[illegible]

The same request comes from many other camps. But every penny the National Miners' Relief Committee has at its disposal must be converted into food and rushed to the camps where hungry men, women and children are waiting for it. Only special contributions, marked "to be used for roofing" may be used for this purpose, the committee has ruled. All funds must be sent directly to room 314611 Penn Ave. Pittsburgh, Pa.

A. F. OF L. LEAVES MISLEADERS FREE IN VOTE SELL-OUT

Fakers Split Between Capitalist Parties

(Special to The DAILY WORKER)

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 7.—Officials of each separate local or international union of the American Federation of Labor throughout the country will be left free to hog-tie the workers politically within the coral of any of the old party machines, according to the final announcement issued here by the Federation Executive Council which today completed its sessions.

Neither Smith nor Hoover are endorsed officially.

The council report said that "neither the republican nor the democratic platform contain all the proposals submitted by labor. The republican contains much less of labors proposals than does the democratic platform. The injunction plank in both of the platforms is unsatisfactory."

Sell to Highest Bidder.

The statement by the council which was taken to be most significant declares that the officers and members of the American Federation of Labor "may exercise their political judgement in a way which will be to the individual and collective interests of all working men and women." Couched in the customary phraseology of camouflage, this is taken to mean that any labor official may sell to the highest bidder.

The official statement of the council issued after the meeting read:

"After giving consideration to all the facts relative to the candidates, the executive council of the American [illegible]ation of Labor should continue [illegible]dhere to its non-partisan political [illegible]olicy during the ensuing campaign. All information regarding platforms, candidates and their records will be compiled by the non partisan political committee and

ENGDAHL FLAYS IMPERIALISTS

Adopt Bell's Theses for Commission

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Aug. 7.—The twenty-third session of the World Congress of the Communist International opened yesterday morning under the chairmanship of Murphy, of Great Britain. The anti-war discussion continued.

The following delegates all spoke: Dimitrov, of Bulgaria; Engdahl, of the United States; Fiala, of Austria; Cheng-kuang, of China; Spector, of Canada; Peluffo, of Latin America, and Yaroslavsky, of the Soviet Union.

Engdahl declared that American imperialism is not only responsible for its own crimes in China, but also shares responsibility for the Japanese and British crimes. The Workers Party is conducting an energetic struggle to expose American imperialism and mobilize counter-forces. The Party also energetically supports the toilers of Latin America against American imperialism.

The Kellogg peace pact is not an instrument for peace but for preparation of imperialist war against the Soviet Union."

Spector declared that the Canadian Party does not sufficiently mobilize the masses against the war danger. The war danger exists also in Canada and demands the closest attention from the Party. The anti-war work must be systematized and strengthened among all sections of the workers.

Peluffo declared that no strong organizational forms exist in Latin America. The most important task before [illegible] Party therefore is to organize the existing revolutionary forces against war and for the defense of the Soviet Union. The struggle must be conducted against American imperialism, the social democrats and the bourgeois pacifists.

Yaroslavsky described the anti-militarist work of the Bolshevist Party before the revolution. The Bolshevists concentrated chiefly on

CLOAK MEET IN BRONX TONIGHT

Giant Rally to Make History, Says Call

In a final call to the workers in the cloak and dress industry here, to come to the huge mass meeting to be held tonight in Bronx Stadium, the National Organizational Committee issued the following call which will be distributed by the thousands in every district where workers and to be found. Louis Hyman, Chairman of the N. O. C. signs the call.

The call says in part:

"Today is the Bronx meeting.

"Today you will raise your voice against the company union, against the sweat shop, against everything that has helped to make your life miserable during the past two years!

"Every worker who is suffering and slaving in the cloak and dress industry must come to help lay the foundation for the rebuilding of our union.

"Enough suffering, enough slavery! Let us become free men and women. Forward to the Stadium meeting! Long live the union of the workers!"

The circular is signed: "Joint Board of the Cloak and Dressmakers Union of the National Organization Committee.

Directions to the meeting are simple, it is stated. The meeting place can be reached from all parts of the city by either the Lexington or the Seventh Ave. Subway on a Bronx Park train. The station is E. 177 St. The Stadium is two blocks from the station, next to Starlight Amusement Park.

The Organization Committee of 500 will come to the meeting where they will be appointed as captains in charge of keeping order at the rally.

Rumors have been circulated by the right wing Sigman union to the effect that the meeting has been postponed. The Organization Committee declares to the workers not to heed any rumors or possible handbills that may announce postponement. The meeting will be held under all circumstances, they stated.

Earthquake Destroys Five Mexican Towns

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 7 (UP).—Five towns in the state of Oaxaca were partly destroyed by an earthquake Saturday, according to despatches received here tonight.

Fifty were reported at Pinotepa but only two persons were known to be seriously injured.

Despatches from Oaxaca said the towns were "semi-destroyed."

2 Seamen Are Badly Burned in Ship Blast

LINDEN, N. J., Aug. 7.—Two seamen were seriously burned and many others narrowly escaped injury today in an explosion which wrecked the tanker Pacific, of the U. S. Fuel Corporation.

Captain Anthony Merski, 28, and George Terrable, 26, both of Lodi, N. J., were enveloped in flames and severely burned before they could be rescued.

The blast was believed to have been caused when the feed pipe of a gasoline engine on the vessel became clogged, causing the engine to backfire.

TO AID M'GRADY SAYS BILL GREEN

Yellow Press Waxes Hysterical

With a great fanfare of trumpets the right wing Jewish Daily Forward came out yesterday with a hysterical denial of the importance of the two letters written by the right wing leaders of the attack against the fur workers, Edward F. McGrady and A. I. Shiplacoff, in which they admitted being defeated by the left wing Furriers Joint Board. A telegram by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor was used to "prove" that Shiplacoff and McGrady were only joking when they signed their names to a confession of failure.

Charles Stetsky, of the defunct right wing Fur Joint Council issued another statement to the same effect, Hugh Frayne A. F. of L. organizer, McGrady and Matthew Woll issued pitiful denial, but to no avail. The impression left by the letters, which speak for themselves, is ineradicable even from the minds of the manufacturers who read about it in their own trade press. This despite the fact that the reports in these journals were extremely favorable in assigning space to the denials of the right wing leaders. This was admitted by many manufacturers when their impressions are recorded.

McGrady's letter admitted that his Joint Council company union had been unable to destroy the left wing Joint Board, and that if financial aid was not forthcoming from the committee, then, the A. F. of L. would withdraw from the situation.

He is held without bond, but the International Labor Defense has intervened and is endeavoring to obtain the release of Jakub.

KELLOGG PALES BEFORE U. S. S. R.

French Gov. Fears to Invite Tchitcherin

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Reports in the Berlin press that Georges Tchitcherin, Peoples Commissar for Foreign Affairs of the Soviet Union, had indicated that the Soviet Union would accept an invitation to send a representative to the Kellogg conference scheduled for August 27 in Paris, has brought a statement from the state department to the effect that only 15 nations already invited would sign the pact at Paris.

The reported statements of Tchitcherin that the compact as now formulated and with the Soviet Union uninvited would constitute a bloc against the Soviet Union, and that in the event of his participation he would suggest basic changes, since the pact did not provide for disarmament and as such was not a treaty to outlaw war, have led to fear in official circles that Kellogg would not succeed in carrying his pact through with any amount of dignity should Tchitcherin be present at the Paris conference.

Would Embarrass Kellogg

USSR PROTESTS SALE OF SHIPS

Rumania Seized Boats in 1917

By EUGENE LYONS.

MOSCOW, Aug. 7 (UP).—Russian-Rumanian relations, always strained because of the Bessarabian question, have been made far worse by the reported seizure by Rumania of certain former Russian properties, it was made plain today.

The Soviet government, it was learned, proposes to protest energetically, and to threaten reprisals, against the reported seizure and subsequent sale of the properties.

The new situation arises from a report that Rumania had sold 200 vessels of various types, the property of the former Russian Danube Steamship Company, as well as other properties estimated here to be worth several million gold roubles. A rouble is 50 cents. The properties were left by the retreating Russian armies in 1917. Russia claims that the ships and other properties undeniably belong to her.

The steamship company, it is claimed, was a Russian government institution even before the revolution.

RADIO TRUST SAYS IT ISN'T

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The Radio Corporation of America, now under the control of the power trust yesterday filed a brief with the Federal Trade Commission in reply to the nominal complaint filed with the Commission of unfair trade practices and monopoly.

The Radio trust defended as legal, such practices as cross-licencing of radio patents under which seven corporations pooled their patents and thus restrained competition.

EXPOSE SMITH AS ENEMY OF POOR FARMERS

Foster and Gitlow to Tour Rural Districts

When Al Smith, presidential candidate of the Democratic Party, rejected the equalization fee feature of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, he gave additional proof that he is owned and controlled by the financial barons of Wall Street, who will not surrender their acquired right to fleece the farmers to the limit, according to a statement issued today by the National Election Campaign Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party, with headquarters at 43 East 125th St.

"The 'best minds' in the Democratic Party been brooding for weeks over some formula that would win the votes of the exploited farmer for Al Smith and at the same time satisfy Wall Street that Al's election would not impair its power to skin the farmers which it now enjoys under the benevolent regime of Calvin Coolidge.

No Relief for Poor Farmers.

"While the McNary-Haugen bill offered no solution of the problem that confronts the exploited farmer, being an attempt to bring relief to the big farmers only, Coolidge opposed the measure because the big financial interests of the East want the agricultural industry completely in their control.

"It is significant that Al Smith the democrat and Calvin Coolidge the republican oppose every proposal that might help in any way to give the farmers relief from the oppressive dictatorship of the finance-capitalists. Both parties are now dominated by the same interests, and the workers and poor farmers who still believe that the democratic party is an anti-Wall St. party should take to heart the lesson of the latest testimony of loyalty to Big Business given by the candidate of Tammany Hall.

Jockeying for Votes.

"Both capitalist parties are jockeying for the agricultural vote. Their game is to kid the farmers along until election day. After the first week in November, the presidential veto will fall on any measure that passes thru the congressional gauntlet, whether the White House is occupied by Tammany Al or by Hoover.

"The poor farmers should expect nothing from the republican and democratic parties but heavier mortgages and more intense robbery by the elevator trusts and the railroads. When Al Smith called on Governor Lowden, republican, of Illinois, to help him find a solution of the farming problem, he proved that he was not concerned about the problems of the poor farmers, but with those of the millionaire 'gentlemen' farmers. Governor Lowden is summering at his palatial summer home in Thousand Islands, while millions of tenant farmers are out under the burning sun, slaving from dawn until dusk, trying to make enough to keep body and soul together.

Organize!

"The National Platform of the Workers (Communist) Party presents the poor farmers and agricultural workers with the only solution of their present plight. It urges them to organize for the struggle against their enemies and the political agents of those enemies—the republican, democratic, and socialist parties. It points out that at least 40 per cent of the whole agricul-

TO DISCUSS DRIVE AT MEET TONIGHT

Plan Campaign in Williamsburg

The drive for signatures in Section 6, Williamsburg, covering the 14th, 13th and 6th assembly districts of Kings county, is expected to gather fresh impetus from the special functionaries' meeting to be held tomorrow at 8.30 at 46 Ten Eyck St., Brooklyn.

One week from tomorrow a special membership meeting of the section will be held for mobilization for the first "Red Sunday," to be observed in Williamsburg on August 19. The plan of the Williamsburg section is to hold "Red Sundays" often and, if necessary, "Red Saturdays" and "Red Weekdays," until a sufficient number of signatures are obtained to assure the placing on the ballot of Peter Midolla, Anton Bimba and Herbert Zam, Communist candidates from the 6th, 13th and 14th assembly districts respectively.

Communist Nominee

George J. Saul, subdistrict organizer of the Workers (Communist) Party, who was chosen as Communist candidate for Governor of Colorado at the recent convention in Denver. Saul has spent more than 20 years among the workers and farmers of Colorado and was active during the Colorado coal strike last year.

ALL OF FASCIST CREW OF 31 DEAD

Submarine Sunk During Military Maneuvers

ROME, Aug. 7 (UP).—The 31 men who went to the bottom of the sea in the submarine F-14 when it was sunk in a collision, have been found dead, it was officially announced tonight.

The submarine was raised to the surface tonight and as rescue crews jumped into the craft, hopeful to find at least a majority of the imprisoned men still alive, they were greeted with the full extent of the tragedy—All of the crew dead.

Radio telephone communication with the sunken ship, which was maintained until shortly after noon today, had indicated that all—or at least most—of the men aboard were alive. Then, when the communication was broken off; it was feared something had happened down in the submerged vessel.

The F-14 had sunk at an angle of 70 degrees. Work of raising was started, but because of the angle of its slope it was feared that its storage batteries had upset and that part of the crew had been asphyxiated by fumes of sulphuric acid.

Experts believed, after the announcement, that the ship's complement of two officials and 29 men must have succumbed to the acid fumes.

MURDER ATTEMPT ON WALDEMARAS

See New Polish Move Toward War

WARSAW, Aug. 7.—Details of a plot to assassinate Premier Valdemaras of Lithuania were printed today by "Glossprawdy," official mouthpiece of the Polish fascist war minister, Pilsudski, in what is suspected to be a new attempt to set off hostilities between Poland and Lithuania. Poles are reported to have been involved in the attempt.

The paper discloses the existence at Kovno of a widespread plot to assassinate not only Premier Valdemaras but several other Lithuanian ministers. A number of arrests have been made according to the same report.

Polish fascist leaders and military heads have sought consistently during the past few years to precipitate a war with Lithuania.

NEW BEDFORD ARRESTS

441 Jailed Since Textile Strike Began

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Described by the bosses and by reactionary labor officials as a "peaceful" strike in which the police and the city authorities are "gentlemen," the publication yesterday by the International Labor Defense of a list of arrests for picketing, shows on the contrary, that the New Bedford textile strikers are facing a most vicious police and court terror. In spite of this, the ranks of the 28,000 strikers not only holds rock-solid but is being augmented by additional thousands walking out of Fall River plants in a struggle against the wage cut.

Since May 10, 441 strikers have been arrested or otherwise brought to trial before the mill bosses' courts. The New England district office of the I. L. D. records:

TEXTILE PICKETS BRAVE POLICE TERROR AS MORE LEAVE MILLS; 20 JAILED

New Recruits Swell Ranks of Strikers While Walk-out Spreads

First Time in Their Lives on Line, Men and Women Stand Firm Under Slugging

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 7.—In defiance of a savage police attack launched against the first picket demonstrations of the strikers here, and against each successive line that formed and reformed in spite of a total of 20 arrests and the clubbings of men, women and children, picketing continues and many more workers in the American Printing Company and the Lincoln Manufacturing Company textile plants are joining the ranks of the strikers.

Strikers, picketing for the first time in their lives, meet the repeated police attacks with the most inspiring courage and despite the arrests of the picket line leaders. The eleven pickets arrested last night were increased by the jailing this morning of nine more strikers, among whom was James P. Ried, Fall River Textile Mill Committees organizer.

The first line of about 800 were led from Liberty by Reid to picket duty at the American Printing Company Mills. The police patrol immediately attacked. Reid, Peter Hogelias, Manuel Rogers, and Jessie Cardiero were arrested.

Sweeping down on the second line the charging police arrested, Antone Souza, Raymond Mendes, Frank Chaves, Joseph De Pachecs, Antonio Lopez, Joseph Carvalho, and Louis Ferreira.

The thousands of strikers and sympathizers then went back to Liberty Lot for a mass meeting, in spite of the police who tried to bar the way to the meeting place to the stream of workers headed there. The largest meeting ever held in Fall River was then held.

Bill Seroka, chairman opened the meeting in spite of the sudden appearance of 50 police under Chief Feeney. Albert Weisbord, leader of the Textile Mill Committees rose at

MILL UNION HITS PRISON TORTURES

Textile Committee Replies to Foes' Slanders

(Special to The DAILY WORKER)

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 7.—Albert Weisbord, leader of the Textile Mill Committees and just released from a charge of "trespassing" in a Fall River court, was enthusiastically cheered by strikers at two big mass meetings here, where he told New Bedford's strikers of the growing strike in the neighboring city.

The Textile Mill Committees are calling a mass meeting especially for the members of the United Textile Workers' Union of the A. F. of L. Thursday. These workers will be openly appealed to there to join the T. M. C. Ten thousand leaflets will be distributed by the union for this purpose.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 7.—Announcement was made by Eli Keller of the New Bedford Textile Workers' Union that criminal and civil court action against all police officials and patrolmen who are charged with assaulting strikers will be taken in cooperation with the American Civil Liberties Union. The NBTWU is gathering evidence of the beating in prison of Alphonse Lamirios, A. C. Pinto and other strikers. The evidence will include a broken policemen's club in the union's possession which was broken over the head of one of the strikers on the picket line.

Keller, general organizer for the union also issued a statement denouncing the latest trick of the enemies of the strike, namely that of a slander campaign against the Textile Mill Committee leaders. The statement says:

"During the last week a widespread campaign to discredit the New Bedford Textile Workers' Union was conducted by the bosses who are using the police, prison officials and the A. F. of L. union officials as agents. The rumors that these people spread among the arrested workers included that the organizers of the NBTWU are receiving $75 a week as wages for leading the strike. We brand such charges as falsehoods without any truth whatsoever. The organizers of the NBTWU do receive wages, the amount being just enough to enable the organizers to subsist during the strike.

"Another rumor that was spread last week while the strike leaders

AIM TO PERFECT DEATH MACHINES

4,000 BARBERS GO ON STRIKE TODAY

Recognition of Union Aim of Workers

Four thousand barbers will go on strike today in Greater New York to force recognition of the union by the 2,000 non union shops in the borough of Manhattan, according to an announcement made yesterday by Abe Greenwald, manager of local 752 of the International Union of Journeymen Barbers.

The strike which was decided upon, after a unanimous vote of the members of the union on July 18, is being called under the leadership of locals 752 and 900 The main purpose of the strike will be to have the 2,000 non-union establishments recognize the International Union of Journeymen Barbers. Further disputes, such as bettering of hours and increase in wages for the barbers will all be possible after the complete recognition of the union has been obtained, according to a statement made yesterday at the union office.

In the present strike, no wage disputes are involved. The union members realize the importance of building up a strong union so as to be better able to deal with the bosses, and their energies in this strike will all be exerted toward the recognition of the union.

REFORMISTS IN ATTACK ON USSR

BRUSSELS, Aug. 7.—The second session of the third congress of the Second International was marked today by a vicious attack on the Soviet government by members of the former Social-Democratic party of old Russia.

The "socialists" raved about the "brutal tactics" and "terrorism" of the Soviet government and called it a "menace" to civilization, terming the Workers' and Peasants' government a "betrayer of the working class."

Some of the British delegates urged the resumption of diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union in order to mend the economic situation in England.

Walter M. Trumbull, Ex-Soldier, Calls for Nation-Wide Campaign to Free Porter

FORMER PRISONER SAYS LABOR CAN RELEASE STRIKER

Sends Appeal From Sanatorium

A call for a more extensive drive to free John Porter, vice-president of the New Bedford Textile Workers' Union and Organizer of the Young Workers (Communist) League, who was sentenced to two and a half years at hard labor on a technical charge of desertion following his activities in the strike and the Communist youth movement, is made by Walter M. Trumbull. A former soldier himself, Trumbull was sentenced to 26 years at hard labor in 1925 for his leadership in the Communist organization in the army in Hawaii, but was released by mass protest after one year behind the bars.

The one year spent in prison by Walter Trumbull was sufficient to break down his health, and for more than a year he has been ill with tuberculosis. At present he is in the William H. Maybury Sanatorium, Northville, Michigan.

The following article was written in the sanatorium:

By WALTER M. TRUMBULL

The case of John Porter is just one more instance in which the army czars prove beyond doubt in whose interest they work. Once more have they fallen in line with the mill barons and their ilk.

The struggle to free Porter is more difficult because of his relatively "short" sentence of two and a half years than it would have been if the authorities had gone ahead with their original plan to give him a life sentence. The officers of the court-martial hoped to make the sentence stick.

40 and 26-Year Sentences.

When the court-martial in Hawaii gave Paul Crouch and me sentences of 40 and 26 years, they also hoped to make their sentences stick. They made the mistake of allowing their hatred and fear of the working class to cause them to pass sentences that shocked the entire country. Their evident savagery caused even hard-boiled capitalist papers to register a protest.

The army has learned something from these cases. They are applying their lesson to the case of John Porter. They know that it is much easier to prevent reduction or complete release from what sounds like a relatively short sentence. In this case, they made every effort to hide the class issue in the case, giving the maximum on a technical charge of desertion. Also, it must not be forgotten that the military authorities often try military prisoners by court-martial and give long sentences for something alleged to have been done while in prison, thus preventing their release at the end of the original sentence.

Danger of Longer Sentence.

It suits the purpose of the military authorities to give Porter a "short" sentence now and then upon some pretext or other court-martial him again for the purpose of keeping him in jail. It is a very clever method, and we must work with greater effort to spoil this plan of the bosses.

Porter has taken a militant stand. There was no cringing on his part before the court of officers. He hurled his defiance in their teeth and it was they who showed uneasiness.

Protests Can Free Porter.

There was another lesson learned from the case of Paul Crouch and myself—a lesson for the class-conscious workers. We learned the power of protest meetings, letters and telegrams of protest to the war department. Were it not for these, both Paul Crouch and I would be in the power of the army czars now!

Comrades! John Porter must and will be free! Write and wire protests to the war department! Organize protest meetings and demonstrate your opinion of this plot to keep an active worker silent.

Free John Porter!

ELECTION DRIVE ENLISTS NEGROES

The work of collecting signatures in Section 8, Brownsville, is being carried on not only by the membership of the section and the Young Workers League members, but is being actively aided by non-partisan organizations, chief among them the United Council of Working-class Women, the Independent Workmen's Circle and various Jewish workers' culture clubs which have their headquarters in the section. Some of these organizations have already been assigned definite streets on which to send signature solicitors.

The signature campaign in Brownsville has revealed that increasingly large numbers of Negro workers are showing a keen interest in the Workers Party candidates and platform. The new headquarters of the section at 154 Watkins St. are being regularly visited by a growing number of Negro workers inquiring as to the Party and what it stands for.

SECTION 1 CALLS ELECTION MEET

Workers' Clubs to Be at Conference

The Communist Election Campaign is daily gaining more momentum in Section 1, dowtown, August 24 will mark the beginning of a much more extensive campaign in that section, especially with respect to the signature drive to put the Workers (Communist) Party candidates on the ballot. On that date all the workers' clubs, sick and death benefit organizations, fraternal and language organizations which meet in that section will convene to consider ways and means of helping to put the Communist candidates on the ballot.

The conference, which will be held at 8 o'clock, at Section 1 headquarters, 60 St. Marks Place, is expected to be representative of many nationalities, among them Italians, Russians, Poles, Ukranians, Hungarians and Armenians. Section 1, a working class center, is the seat of the fraternal activities of many language organizations of workers.

Two Delegates.

Each of the organizations will be represented by two delegates and will be elected to function actively in cooperation with the section for the furtherance of the election campaign. While the bulk of the task of the members of the fraternal organizations will be soliciting signatures, they will also function in open air meetings, forming committees for collections, sale of literature and arrangements committees.

All workers' clubs, all language organizations and fraternal clubs are requested by the Campaign Committee of Section one to elect two delegates to the enlarged election campaign conference of August 24.

The signature drive in Section one is being accelerated. "Red Sunday", held in that section last Sunday, resulted in the gathering of 100 signatures in a comparatively short time. According to S. Milgrom, campaign director of the section, a prize will be offered to the member who first obtain fifty signatures in the 8th A. D.

The Young Workers League, at a special campaign meeting, elected a Young Workers Campaign Committee which will mobilize all the young workers of the section for active participation in the signature drive. This participation of the young workers will be especially stressed on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, on which days no other League activities occur.

Headquarters for the 6th Assembly District have been opened by Section at 2nd Ave. and 2nd St., the headquarters of the Downtown Jewish Workers Club. Within several days the Section expects to open headquarters in the 4th A. D. in the vicinity of Rutgers Square.

Calverton and Gold to Debate Attitude of Radicals on Sex

A debate will be held Friday evening, August 10, at the Labor Temple, Second Ave. and 14th St., between Michael Gold, editor of the "New Masses," and V. F. Calverton, editor of the "Modern Quarterly," on the subject: "Do Radicals Pussyfoot on Sex?"

Calverton will attack what he regards as the failure of the radical movement to take a definite position on sex, while Gold will defend the viewpoint of the "majority" on the subject.

Proceeds will go to the "New Masses."

CHICAGO DRIVE IN FULL SWING

Chicago Election Meets Held

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 7. — The election campaign of the Workers (Communist) Party in Chicago is in full swing. Collection of signatures has been carried on very intensively, and the placing on the ballot of the Workers (Communist) Party ticket is now felt to be beyond doubt. Proceeding from the premise that a local campaign on the basis of local candidates stimulates the national campaign, efforts are being made to nominate congressional candidates in ten out of twenty-seven congressional districts in Illinois.

Hold Open-Air Meets

The open-air street meetings campaign is also in full swing. One 100 percent American police captain of the Sheffield Ave. police station has sworn not to permit the Workers (Communist) Party to hold any street meetings within his domain. But the Party has resolved to hold street meetings there, "police captain or no police captain." This war has resulted up to now in a number of casualties on the party's side. But although frequent arrests have been made, there have not yet been any serious after-effects.

Arrest Workers

The town moguls of Waukegan have decided not to permit the Party to carry on election campaign activities in the streets. There have been a number of arrests here with cases still pending in court. But the Party is determined to carry through its campaign.

For the first time very intensive work is carried on in those sections of the city primarily populated by Italian speaking workers. Serio is holding enthusiastic meetings every night, soliciting readers for the Party press and new members.

The outstanding feature of the present campaign developments are the systematic activities for open-air meetings and also petitions, circulation in the Negro territories on the south side and in the industrial section, section 2, south side, Pullman and Hegewisch. The response to the campaign in these territories is most promising for the final results of the campaign.

CHARGE POLICE GRAFT IN CONEY

Residents Say Cops are Bribed by Bath Owners

Members of the Van Sicklen Tax Payers Association, an organization made up of people living in Coney Island away from the amusement center, at its regular Monday night meeting in Guffanti's Inn, Ocean Parkway and Neptune Ave., passed a unanimous resolution, requesting that an investigation be made on charges that the Coney Island police are working hand in hand and being paid by the owners of private beach bath houses to force residents to wear full clothes on the way to the beach and thus pay for the privilege of bathing.

The resolution, read by Walter Cleary, president of the association, condemned the action of the Coney Island police in serving summonses on hundreds of people living in Coney Island daily, for going through the streets in bathing suits.

The action of the police, it is charged, is caused by the owners of the bath houses, who, the organization implies, have given graft to the police in efforts to increase their own business. No ordinance against walking in the streets in a bathing suit in Coney Island, has ever been passed, and the arrests are therefore illegal.

FOOD FOR MILL STRIKE IS CALL OF RELIEF BODY

Relief Body Calls for Contributions

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 7. —"More food for the strikers and their wives and children!" is the slogan of the Workers' International Relief which is conducting the relief activities for the 28,000 textile strikers of this city.

With the police continuing their campaign of arresing pickets and strike organizers, the need of defending and obtaining relief for the workers becomes more necessary than ever before.

Yesterday the Workers' International Relief branch of Springfield, Mass. sent a truckload of bread to feed the strikers. It consisted of 1,300 pounds and was equally divided between the two relief stores in the north and south end of the city. The Springfield W. I. R. has promised to furnish more bread in the near future.

Fifty-one pecks of potatoes were donated to the W. I. R. yesterday by F. Silva, of Chase Road. He told members of the relief committee that more potatoes would be forthcoming shortly.

Macaroni to the extent of 500 pounds was contributed yesterday by the Tagus Importing and Exporting Co. of this city. In addition, a committee of strikers went fishing yesterday and brought in a quantity of scallops.

With the needs of the relief committee increasing daily as more strikers apply for assistance, a critical situation is developing. To enable the workers to continue on the picket line, food is necessary. Wire or mail funds at once to the Workers' International Relief, 49 William St., New Bedford, Mass.

Celebrate Birth of Child by Donating $18.50 to the Daily

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Aug. 7. — At a camp fire in celebration of a baby born to Paulino Morganstein and S. Schwartzberg, both members of the Workers (Communist) Party, held on the camping grounds near Peekskill, $18.50 was collected from the workers present and sent to the Daily Worker.

The couple say that the birth of the Young Pioneer has spurred them on to increase activity in the Workers (Communist) Party, and promise that more funds will soon be forthcoming to the Daily Worker.

OBREGON PARTY ASKS CALLES TO STAY TWO YEARS

Papal Organ in Vain Effort to Shift Blame

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 7.—The call of the Obregon party in Vera Cruz under the leadership of Adalberto Tejado, whose election as governor of Vera Cruz has just been announced, to extend the term of President Calles for a period of two years was supported today by General Amado Aguirre, governor of the southern district of Lower California.

Manuel Puig Casauranc, minister of education in President Calles' cabinet at a dinner of scientific societies here today, declared that "The world may be assured that the successor of President Calles will be selected according to law."

Vatican Attacks Calles.

ROME, Aug. 7.—The semi-official organ of the Roman Catholic Church, in an article on the assassination of President-elect Obregon, attempted to transfer the responsibility for the crime to President Calles, who, it charges, had planned the assassination himself.

In spite of the fact that Toral was seen to fire the shots that killed Obregon, the Vatican paper charges that someone else directly influenced by Calles had done the shooting.

COUNCILS DRIVE FOR CHINESE AID

Appeal to Women to Help on Tag Days

An appeal was issued from the headquarters of the United Councils of Working Class Women yesterday to participate in the tag days for the aid of the Chinese Trade Unions and workers which will be held this Saturday and Sunday.

The appeal, which is made for the purpose of securing increased funds and help for the Chinese workers and peasants, oppressed both by the reactionary Nanking regime and by the foreign imperialist powers, is made to all members of the militant women's organization, and especially to the secretaries of the different councils.

Kate Gitlow, secretary of the United Councils of Working Class Women, in a statement made yesterday, described the utter want and miserable conditions under which the Chinese workers and their wives and children are forced to undergo at the hands of the reactionary forces. "The lot of the workers is miserable enough," she said, "but the position in which the women and children are placed by far exceeds that of any nation in the world today." She stressed the fact that in view of these conditions, the American women ought to do all in their power to help their Chinese comrades.

Boxes for those who will participate in the collection campaign are now ready at the headquarters of the organization, 80 East 11th St., room 533. Members of the councils can get them on any days except Saturday and Sunday, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Secretaries of the different councils have been asked to mobilize the women for the tag days.

pate at Paris another alternative is talked of here. It is that Kellogg, as the originator of the compact, could invite the Soviet Union to send its representative to Washington. But this procedure is thought to be doomed to failure by many observers here.

In the first place, they point out, Tchitcherin is reported to have said that he would attend only the first conference, at which he would attempt to make changes in the Kellogg pact before the question of signing it could be settled. In the second place, it is pointed out, Kellogg would feel embarrassed to have a representative of the Workers and Peasants government in Washington.

French Government Afraid.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The reports that the Soviet Union would be willing to attend the anti-war conference at Paris and discuss the question of outlawing war with representatives of the powers have led government officials and newspapers here into launching a bitter attack against the Soviet Union.

"LABOR UNITY" HITS AUGUST WITH A BANG

The perspective of a month of not only the leading struggles of the American working class but of the high lights of battles in other countries is given more and more clearly in each number of "Labor Unity," the official organ of the Trade Union Educational League, the militant magazine of the progressives and the left wing in the labor movement.

Last Number Always Best

The last August number of this publication is the best yet. This statement has been made on several previous occasions by the reviewer for the Daily Worker—and in all cases it has been true!

Hitherto unpublished material from the mining fields appears with an abundance of fine illustrations which now feature this paper. Not only accounts of the trade union struggle in the coal fields, but an excellent survey of the future of coal in all its phases mark the issue.

Host of Features.

The rising tempo of the textile struggle is reflected with unusual vigor. Political news, women and the elections, a cartoon by Fred Ellis on a republican campaign chairman riding the strikebreaking, G. O. P. elephant, an article, on the Australian trade unions, an account of crisis in the British mining industry craft unionism in the American food industry—international news and notes, sparkling and, yes, smashing editorials—how can one number contain all this and still maintain the standard of excellence which it has set?

There is only one answer to this difficult question and every worker must have it answered for himself—at a price so low that even a wage slave can afford 20 cents.

WINDOW CLEANER STRIKE IN N. J.

16 Shops Fight Wage Cut, Long Hours

(Special to The DAILY WORKER)

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 7.—Window cleaners here have gone out on strike against a wage cut and an increase in hours. Today is the second day of the strike.

Fifty window cleaners of 16 shops are on strike. Window cleaners have been arbitrating with the bosses since June 7, when their agreement with them expired. Four shops of window cleaners settled with their bosses. The window cleaners on strike are members of their local union, No. 22, meeting at the Ukrainian Labor Hall, 57 Beacon St.

Besides trying to effect a wage cut, the bosses intended to make the window cleaners work a whole day Saturday instead of a half day, as they had been working under the agreement which expired on June 7. The window cleaners, up to the time that they went out to try to settle with the bosses, worked eight hours per day, a half day Saturday and received $45 per week wages.

JOHN STRATON AND AL SMITH IN FUNNY ACT

Church Is Chosen for Vaudeville Stunt

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Governor Smith, the Tammany candidate for president, today challenged Rev. "Dr." John Roach Straton, "fundamentalist" minister, to a debate in Cavalry Church, New York, in reply to the statements of Straton that Smith is "the deadliest foe in America today of the forces of moral progress and true political wisdom."

"In the spirit of American fair play," Governor Smith, in a letter to "Dr." Straton, asked for the opportunity to debate with the "fundamentalist" in his church.

It is not known whether the public will be able to enjoy this exchange of wits, for at Straton's office in New York today it was stated that he has "gone to the lakes" and will not be back until the end of August.

Opinion is divided as to whether the charge is based on the corruption and gambling under the Tammany regime, or the fact that Smith happens to be a catholic while Straton is a protestant "fundamentalist."

BANKS REPORT RECORD CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (UP).—Total resources of national banks in the Continental United States, Alaska and Hawaii on June 30, were $28,508,239,000, the largest in the history of the national banking system, exceeding by approximately $350,000,000 the resources of the banks on December 31, 1927, Comptroller of Currency McIntosh announced today.

Figures for the current call date of June 30 were reported by 7,691 national banks and exceeded also by $934,552,000 returns of 7,734 banks reporting as of February 28, 1923, date of the previous call for condition.

artillery and technical troops where there were a large percentage of workers present. The Communist Parties must utilise old experiences and proceed courageously to work. Colonial armies and colored troops must also be propagated. The Congress must instruct the Executive Committee of the Communist International to publish valuable literature concerning the experiences of the Bolshevists in army and navy work, including experiences and lessons of the recent world war. (Applause.)

Bell Speaks.

Bell, of Great Britain, then made his closing speech. He declared that the war danger is the central point of this Congress. Few speakers attacked his theses which expressed clearly that the League of Nations is a tool of the imperialists in their preparations for war.

In regard to colored troops, the Congress and the Parties must pay more attention to them. The theses stress clearly the importance of work among the national minorities and the sailors. The Parties must not underestimate the importance of work in the mercenary armies. The boycott slogan concerning mercenaries is absolutely correct and Leninist.

The social democrats and the reformist trade union leaders are supporting the war preparations of the bourgeoisie. Our task is to expose the aims of the bourgeoisie and make impossible the transport of troops and recruiting among the workers. Our duty is to weaken the bourgeoisie and make war impossible. The main resistance to war must be organized in the factories.

Slogans Correct.

The central idea of the theses is the transformation of the imperialist war into a civil war. Fraternization is not an aim but a means for undermining imperialist warfare. We need not fear such slogans as "desertion in the fight against war." The slogan of the formation of proletarian militia is absolutely correct. Its replacement by a toilers' militia would only be confusing.

The latest Polish action in identifying the Soviet government with the Communist International proves that the war danger is the central question. We must support the efforts of the Soviet government to maintain peace and simultaneously must increase the struggle against imperialist war. Energetic work will result in the extension of the social revolutionary front in case of war. Following his closing speech, Bell's theses were unanimously adopted as a basis for a commission.

Hysterical Hokum!

He promised to send me a diamond ring. He said he would get a divorce and then we would . . . I was in raptures.

Suddenly he wrote that he must never see me again . . .

The above hectic episodes with their heart-breaking underscriptions are part of a series running currently in one of New York tabloids. This travesty on a newspaper is read almost entirely by workers. Its circulation in one day exceeds that of The DAILY WORKER for a week.

Gutter garbage, sex-sensation, charmingly gilded news-swill—Hysterical Hokum!

For the most part the workers fail to understand the role played by these hoodlum news sheets. They help to cover up the decaying spots of the capitalist system; they excite and drain the energies which should be directed to the struggle of the workers against their real enemies, the bosses; they create a false world of lurid lures and fascinating fables from which the worker has the greatest difficulty in extricating himself.

How shall we argue away all these fool illusions? The struggles of the workers will do the trick, to be sure, but we have an important part to play. And we will all admit that we do that part better than it is being done at present.

We cannot collar the thousands of workers individually and so convince them, even if the method of abstract argument alone were effective. Life is too short to engage in a man-to-man crusade.

ORGANIZATION OF THE RED AID IN URUGUAY

By TUZZAR

THE Red Aid in Uruguay (Seccion Uruguaya des Socorro Rojo International) has existed since February, 1926. However, its activity up to the commencement of 1928 was chiefly conducted by its central committee. The work of the Red Aid in Uruguay consisted in assisting workers arrested in connection with strikes, etc., assisting their dependents and assisting the political fugitives who sought refuge in Uruguay from the white terror in the neighboring countries.

In this way, in 1926, 25 political prisoners and five political fugitives were assisted, and in 1927, 42 political prisoners and three political fugitives were assisted. The political affiliation of these 75 revolutionary workers was 10 anarchists, 33 Communists and 32 non-party workers.

Trade Union Sabotage.

The Red Aid was supported in its work by only a small portion of the workers. The trade unions, anarchist and autonomous, which have formed their own prisoners' defense committee, did not only refuse to assist the Red Aid, but even refused to take part in the campaigns arranged by the Red Aids.

Since February, 1928, a reorganization of the Red Aid is being carried out with a view to turning the organization into a mass one upon the basis of individual membership. It can be said without fear of exaggeration that during March and April great organization work has been carried out. The central committee issued an appeal to the workers which was reprinted as a leading article in the daily newspaper "Justicia." The appeal contained the aims and objects of the Red Aid and appealed to all workers to join its ranks. It was decided to organize provincial committees in 18 districts. There is no provincial committee in the capital of Montevideo and the work of such a committee is carried out by the central committee. Twenty-one district committees will also be organized.

At Work in 8 Provinces.

SUCH committees are now at work in 8 provinces and they are composed of not more than five members. The work in the province of Rocha is particularly good and the committee here has already secured 150 members.

Energetic work is being carried out to persuade the workers to become individual members of the Red Aid. On the 16th of April a conference of officials with the central committee was held and the course of the conference showed that the Red Aid now has 500 individual members. In reality the individual membership is still greater for some of the provinces were not represented at the conference.

This conference decided upon the plans for the work of the organization. Each organization, which is collectively affiliated to the Red Aid, will now appoint one member who is directly responsible for the Red Aid work. The provincial organizations received instructions as to how committees should be formed with the co-operation of other working-class organizations.

Over 50 Organizations.

The efforts of the central committee to secure further collective affiliation on the part of working-class organizations are not less important. At the present time there are over 50 organizations affiliated to the Red Aid, including the workers' unity block (Bloc de Unidad Obrera), which represents 33 unions with 4,800 members.

Many political, trade union, cultural and sport organizations have adopted decisions to pay regular monthly contributions to the Red Aid. However, in consequence of the strike movement and the great unemployment, the financial support accorded by the trade unions is not very great.

Newspaper Prints Articles.

The Red Aid has secured publicity space in the daily newspaper "Justicia." Almost every day communications are published concerning the support granted to prisoners and their dependents. During the course of two months 75 articles and notices concerning the Red Aid were published. All material is signed by the Red Aid.

DURING this period a campaign was carried on for the release of Isodoro Azzario, who was arrested in Panama and extradited to the Italian government. A leaflet was printed and distributed and a special propaganda placard was published and stuck up everywhere. A mass meeting was also held. On the committee which was formed in connection with this campaign various parties and organizations were represented, including the Communist Party, the socialist party and the sport federation.

The 18th of March was celebrated by the Red Aid with the publication of three long articles in the "Justicia."

Celebrate May Day.

On the first day of May the section took part in the main column of demonstrators and marched under its own slogans. The section has also organized a special inspection service in order to make possible direct assistance for the political prisoners.

The work among the foreign-born workers was also not neglected. There are four such groups at the present time, an Italian, a Polish, a Jewish and a Hungarian.

Many strikes take place here and the collisions between the workers and the police are always accompanied by numerous arrests. By their activity the representatives of the Red Aid have secured the release of a number of workers. During the last three months 26 arrested workers and two political fugitives were assisted. In general, it may be said that the Red Aid in Uruguay has started on the right road toward building up its organization all over the country, securing masses of individual members and toward transforming the organization into a mass one.

"The program calls for protection of the farmer against special exploitation by the distributing agencies of production, my railroads, meat packers, milk trusts, and grain elevator combines; a federal law for the creation of a special farm relief fund of $1,000,000,000 to relieve the conditions of the tenant and mortgaged farmers, the fund to be administered by organizations of working farmers; a federal law against forced farm foreclosures; abolition of all federal and local taxes on working and tenant farmers; the land to belong to its users; complete freedom to organize and strike for the agricultural workers; a federal law to guarantee a seven-hour maximum working day and a 48-hour weekly rest for all agricultural workers; a yearly vacation with pay for all farm laborers; extension to agricultural workers of all benefits of social insurance and labor protection legislation demanded for industrial workers."

KELLOGG TO AID OIL BARONS IN COLOMBIA FIGHT

Mellon Interests Hit By New Decree

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The State Department, while refusing to comment on the repeal by the president of Colombia of the Barco Oil concessions, Mellon controlled, intimated that it was watching developments carefully.

Some time ago the Mellon interests appealed to the State Department and it is felt here that the United States government, understanding the full implications of the case, would take some action if the Mellon company would not gain satisfaction in direct dealings with the Colombian government.

British-American Oil Feud.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 7.—The action yesterday of President Abadia in upholding decree of the previous administration which cancelled the Barco oil concessions of 5,000,000 acres which is owned by the American Gulf Company and the Carib Syndicate, both controlled by Mellon has led to renewed protests to the American State department by the United States oil companies and the institution of proceedings in the Colombian courts against the decree.

The new Colombian oil law which gave special rights to the Andean Oil Company (British controlled) and the threatened resignation of three cabinet members is generally believed to indicate that American oil interests are organizing a fight against the added privileges given the British company.

Although the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has also been given special privileges by the new law, the repeal of the Barco Oil concession, in which Mellon has a leading interest, is symptomatic of the increasing influence of British oil power in Colombia, it is alleged.

That such is the case is also evidenced by the editorial in "El Tiempo," a Bogota newspaper, which, it is believed, would not under different circumstances have taken the attitude it does. The editorial states: "If we have to hurt Secretary Mellon's interests to defend our rights, that does not mean hostility to the great northern republic."

Gulf Stream Flows West at One Point

LONDON, Aug. 7 (UP).—Great Britain, with a tinge of amusement was discussing today the possibility that a change in the course of the gulf stream might change for the worse the already notorious British weather.

Captains of the liners Homeric and Majestic on their last voyages reported that at one point the gulf stream, which now softens British weather, was flowing westward.

Newspapers and the public are speculating on what might occur if the gulf stream really changed its course. Great Britain is as far north as Labrador, and if it were not for the warming gulf stream, England would be ice cold.

Walker informed him he could go safely, since there was no danger of his trial coming up until the October term of court. In the meantime he had gone away and his case came up before the Grand Jury, which promptly indicted him and set date for trial. Since he had gone away for work, he could not be located immediately. The court ordered the bond forfeited. He is now held in jail and bond has been refused.

International Labor Defense has taken up the case and is making efforts for release on bond and the quashing of the dynamiting charge.

CRISIS COMES WITH DEATH OF RADITCH NEAR

Zagreb in State of Tension

ZAGREB, Jugoslavia, Aug. 7.—As Croatia threatens to withdraw from the Jugoslav kingdom and declare an autonomous state, the Belgrade government has drafted several regiments for duty in Zagreb to suppress an expected uprising.

The situation is quickly drawing to a head because of the critical condition of Stefan Raditch, Croat leader, who was shot in the Belgrade parliament on June 20. Death is thought to be rapidly approaching and the event of his death will, it is generally believed, be the occasion for armed revolt in Zagreb, where the political situation has caused feeling to run high.

The opposition parliament in Zagreb, which has repudiated the Belgrade parliament as only representing a Serb hegemony, has passed resolutions virtually declaring Croatia an autonomous state. Public demonstrations in favor of a free Croatia are taking place here.

Stefan Raditch is known for his opposition to the Nettuno pact with the Italian government and his publicly expressed enmity to Mussolini and the fascist dictatorship.

Members of the American Society of Chemists, meeting at Northwestern University, Chicago, whose main business in life is preparation for war, heard a proposal for the use of humane gases in war which merely put an army to sleep. The trouble would be you would have to use 16-inch guns on an enemy to enforce upon him the use of the humane gas.

Herbert Hoover has written a letter to Mrs. L. S. Butler, of Des Moines, asking her to send him facts concerning his mother whose chum she was. His mother died when he was ten. This sudden interest in information concerning his mother has developed since newspapermen and cameramen have started following him around.

George Fleming, Jr., 11, of Chicago, sent Al Smith $1. The governor sent him back an autographed photograph of himself. The governor came out considerably ahead on that deal.

"Oh Mama who's the dame!"

"That's Senorita Zitta, Spanish dancer, who was arrested for speeding."

"Oh Mercy did she go to jail!"

"Tush! Tush! Adolph, she held her skirts up high enough to get a suspended sentence."

"Well why didn't dad get a suspended sentence?"

"He works for a living. The courts are made for pretty girls and rich men same as summer resorts.

Gems of Learning

Miss Jane Hoey, Assistant Director of the Welfare Council:—"The idea of social work today is not to lift the burden off the back so much as it seeks to fit the back to carry its own burden." It would be even better if the capitalists and their army of social workers would just climb off the back.

George H. Lorimer, Editor of the Saturday Evening Post:—"I see Sinclair (Lewis) once a year and we don't ordinarily quarrel. He insists that I regard his work as too outspoken and frank, and I do. I think he says a great deal that is not necessary. . . ." Lorimer says a lot of things in favor of the capitalist system in his paper that are not "necessary."

Forges Davanzati, Fascist, in Rome Tribune, regarding Kellogg peace pact:—"Fascist Italy has nothing against America's good intentions but detests all this international journalistic chatter and the hypocritical welcome thereof as the beginning of a new era in international relationships. Fascism's spiritual mission bids her hold aloof from such hysteria, nor can fascism reconcile this anti-war pact with the actual, formidable land, air and sea armaments." He tells the truth when he's mad.

PTOMAINE POISON KILLS TWO.

96 PERCENT ARE UNORGANIZED OR RULED BY GANG

J. P. Ryan Is One Head of Gunmen

(By a Worker Correspondent)

One of the most outstanding industries which play a great role in the achievements of capitalist powers in time of war is the marine transport industry, the seamen as wall as the waterside workers.

During the last war the officialdom of the International Longshoremen's Association and the International Seamen's Union supported the policy of collaboration with the government whole-heartedly in its policy of winning the war.

Speed-up; No Unionization.

Members of these organizations were worked to the point of exhaustion, the speed-up system was much in use and wage and union discussions were laid aside by the reactionary officials who were supposed to protect the interests of the organized members. Both of these organizations were affiliated with the A. F. of L. and supported Sammy Gompers' program of winning the war for "democracy" and Wall Street imperialism.

The seamen were well utilized by the conflicting powers. Thousands of marine workers lost their lives when the ships on which they were working were sunk by the submarines. Many were lost due to the fact that the ships were unseaworthy. Anything that could be slapped together quickly and had cargo space in her was used as a ship. The U. S. Shipping Board was training men who never before in their lives had seen a ship to become seamen in a course of two weeks. Seamen who know nothing about navigation but could figure a little mathematics had issued to them mates' licenses (red tickets) and with this weird assortment of character the ships put out to sea, some never to be heard of again.

Messrs. O'Connor, Ryan & Co.

T. V. O'Connor, head of the United States Emergency Fleet Corporation, got his start in his career as the result of being a good and loyal class-collaborationist at the time the workers were slaughtering one another for the safety of Wall Street investments. Many other trade union officials followed his treacherous example.

Today we find at the head of the Longshoremen's Union, Joseph P. Ryan, president of the Central Trades and Labor Council, a well-known henchman of the gang ruling Tammany Hall and leader of a clique of gunmen who control the union, with a rank and file of members having no voice in the affairs of the union and not organized to resist the gang rule.

The Seamen's Union is too small. Ninety-six per cent of the seamen are unorganized today. They have no power in the marine industry at the present time. The ship owners have fully realized the inefficiency of the officers aboard ship during the last struggle and to insure themselves of having good cannon-fodder in the coming struggle and have fostered a bill creating a Merchant Marine Naval Reserve so that they may have good slaves to serve their interests at a demand to suit themselves.

We must remember that there is, however, a good percentage of seamen who are more radically inclined than in any other industry. In every struggle of the workers the seamen have taken a leading role and in many countries have been the vanguard of the workers' revolutionary movements. We must not allow the seamen to be used against their fellow-workers in the next struggle, but must utilize them in fighting only for their class in the battle against the master class. The workers of the marine industry must be organized into a strong militant and international union. They have a mighty power which they can use for the benefit of the working class movement. They must and will do this. B.

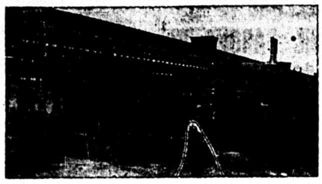
Where a Mill Committee Was Organized



The Wood Mill in Lawrence, Mass., one of the largest textile mills in the world is shown in the picture. Here a Textile Mill Committee had formed months ago. The demand of the workers for a united front against the bosses and the corrupt union officials has spread thruout New England and is fast leading to the organization of mill committees in all textile centers.

NEW HAVEN ANTI-WAR RALLY DESPITE POLICE

(By a Worker Correspondent)

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (By Mail).—An attempt was made by the police of this city to break up the Workers (Communist) Party open-air meeting held here last Tuesday, July 31, which was one of a series of anti-war meetings held in this district on the occasion of the fourteenth anniversary of the daclaration of the world war, arranged by District 15 of the Party and the Young Workers (Communist) League.

The cause for the action of the police in trying to break up the meeting and forbid any future meetings was ostensibly the objection to the statements made by Charles Mitchell, the district organizer of the Party, the main speaker of the evening, which was in effect that "the last world war was a commercial war and for the control of the world market by groups of the imperialist powers and that the slogans, 'for democracy,' etc., were used to fool the workers of every country, who did the fighting, and that the soldiers of every country were told that the enemy soldiers were barbarian, uncultured and must be exterminated," etc.

This evidently, the police thought, was going too far in revealing to the masses not only the purpose of the last war, but also the secret machinations and conspiracy against the workers going on at the present time and the mad race for armament on the part of the open-shoppers and the imperialists the world over, who are getting ready to start another world slaughter of human beings, especially the preparation to attack the Soviet Union. Thinking that this was a good opportunity to show to their masters that they are faithful servants to capitalism they decided to stop these Communists from telling the workers the truth.

A "guardian of law and order" who, evidently was sent there by his masters to watch for "objectionable" statements and encouraged by the presence of several of the "Legionnaire boys," after pretending to listen to the speakers for some time, rushed over to the platform and said: "Hey, you, you have said enough. Now take your g—— d—— soap box and get to h—— out of here before I lock-up the whole bunch of you."

At this time voices from the audience, which numbered over 300, began to be heard, showing that the police had no right to interfere with a peaceful meeting of this kind, etc. The whole crowd expressed great sympathy toward the speakers and the Party and urged that the meeting be continued in spite of the objection of the police. This seemed too much for them to swallow and after 15 minutes' hesitation on the part of the protectors of private property, whether the Party had a right to free speech or not, finally decided that it was not the best time to score a victory for the open-shop bosses, who control the very life and destiny of the workers in every city in this state, and decided to let the meeting continue and the speakers resumed their speeches.

This meeting was a tremendous success. It was the best that the Party members had held in this city for some time.

CAMPAIGN CORNER

THERE is a little state—relatively little, of course—on the Atlantic seaboard that is owned by a family of powder magnates. Perhaps the good patriotic citizens of Delaware would resent the suggestion that they owe allegiance to the DuPont family and not to the state, but catch anybody getting elected senator from Delaware unless he has dynamite behind him.

Now, there comes to us from Wilmington, Del., a city in the state of DuPont, a request for 100 copies of the Party Platform, two books of Vote Communist stamps, one thousand each of the leaflets "Down With Government by Injunction," and "Organize for the Struggle Against Unemployment," and 100 campaign buttons. The comrades have already filed enough petitions with the secretary of state to insure the party being on the ballot in the elections. Which proves that Communists are not afraid even of dynamite.

A monster state field day and picnic will be held in Charter Oak Park State Fair Grounds, Hartford, Connecticut, on August 19. There will be athletics, track events, dancing, a soccer game between Scandinavian workers and Swedish Americans. There will be mass singing by four national workers' choruses. And the speakers will be Benjamin Gitlow, Communist candidate for vice-president; Anthony Bimba, editor of Laisve; William McKenzie, Workers (Communist) Party candidate for governor; Rebecca Grecht, Communist campaign manager for New York and New Jersey, and J. O. Bentall labor journalist. The park accommodates 5,000 and the price of admission is only 25 cents.

The Workers (Communist) Party election campaign is blasting its way south to the Mexican border. In the course of making the necessary preparations for putting the party on the ballot in New Mexico, Communist organizers advertised the Communist press and the various radical publications that support the Communist policy. Now the farmers of New Mexico are interested in the United Farmer, published in North Dakota, and are ordering bundles for distribution. The comrades in New Mexico are very much pleased with the work they are doing, and so is the National Election Campaign Committee

The revolutionary exploited farmers of North Dakota are through with the renegade farmer-labor leaders. They are working hard to put the Workers (Communist) Party candidates on the official ballot. A. C. Miller, who was a member of the legislature in 1925, writes an excoriation of Senator Shipstead, who rode to the senate on the shoulders of the exploited farmers and industrial workers, but has betrayed both. "We must get the Communist program to the masses," writes Com. Miller.

A comrade from Wolf Point, Montana, sends in $5 for the Campaign Fund. "Paste assessment stamps in my card and return same," he says. Wolf Point is only one train stop from the nearest main line stop to Plentywood, capital of Sheridan County, which is known all over Montana for having a red administration. Evidently the red rays from Sheridan County are penetrating the sleepy stillness of its neighbor, Roosevelt County.

"WOMAN OF PARIS" AND "CALIGARI" AT CAMEO

Charles Chaplin's "A Woman of Paris," which gave Adolphe Menjou his start to starring fame is being shown for one week at the Cameo Theatre. This film is revived regularly in the "little cinema" of Paris and Berlin where it is considered one of the major art productions of American studios. It is not generally known that Chaplin himself played a small role in this serious effort—that of a bearded railroad porter.

As a companion film, the Film Arts Guild is presenting "Caligari," the German film classic. There is a report that UFA will seek to remake this film with the original supervisor at the helm, Erich Pommer, and to incorporate sound effects.

Commencing August 11, the Film Arts Guild will present one of Emil Janning's early efforts, "Fortune's Fool," a tragicomedy of war's aftermath, in which the Teutonic screen-genius plays the role of a profiteer who comes to grief through gold-lust.

WAITRESSES FORM UNION.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 7 (FP).—Long hours and low pay have forced waitresses to organize into Local 810 and to affiliate with the Central Labor Union. During the summer season at Atlantic City, hotel and resort bosses believe in the 84-hour week and $12-$15 for women workers.

YOUNG WORKERS IN CHINA MILLS ARE EXPLOITED

Children Toil Under Inhuman Conditions

The utter absence of legislation on labor protection in China, not to speak of the protection of Child Labor, enables the foreign and Chinese capitalists to exploit the workers, and especially the women and children in an inhuman fashion Textile mills in China employ children between the ages of 6 and 7 Young workers are mostly employed in the textile mills.

According to the figures obtained by the investigation of the All China Federation of Trade Unions 93,414 out of 124,181 workers were juniors, of whom 69,404 were young women workers, while 8,549 were young boys under the age of 13. This preeminence of the labor of young workers existing not only in the textile trades.

The average working day is twelve hours, not infrequently it is more. The maximum wage of all the workers is approximately 40c. The minimum wage is between six and ten cents a day. This does not apply to skilled workers who comprise an insignificant section. In the majority of cases no help is given to injured workers. Workers injured at work receive no pay whatever during convalescense. Should death follow the family receive from 10 to 15 dollars.

In the contracts between the workers and employers a clause is frequently included stating that should death occur while working the employer is not responsible. Workers coming late frequently lose their wages for the whole of the day. Fines ranging up to several days pay are made for the slightest infringement of the rules and regulations of the plant. At the Japanese factories the number of times workers are permitted to go to the lavatory is limited, a special control being set up.

Children Work Twelve Hours For 5 to 18 Cents.

The wages of young workers and especially of the children are much lower even than the miserable wages received by the adult workers. An investigation of wages in the textile mills of Shanghai showed that children earned from 5 to 18 cents a day for 12 hours work.

During the last few years, what with the civil war, floods and droughts, articles of first necessity, especially rice, salt and meat, have gone up tremendously in price. In many towns, as a result of the financial crises, wages are paid out with much delay. In the state enterprises, however wages are paid out in depreciated war bonds, etc. All these factors have lowered the real wage. The young workers were the first to suffer the effects. On the other hand these factors and the destruction of the railroad have been instrumental in reducing the purchasing power of the broad masses of the population. Many enterprises in the light industry are closing down or curtailing their production, unemployment is on the increase, while adult workers are being replaced by juniors and children.

Strikes Gain.

Hence, during the past few years a strike movement has been gaining ground and the young workers have been most active. It happens frequently that juniors and children come out on strike independently.

The program of demands of the youth section of the All China Federation of Trade Unions is as follows:

1. The working day to be limited to eight hours.
2. The employment of children under twelve years be prohibited.
3. Young workers not to be employed on night work or in dangerous work.
4. Equal pay for equal work.
5. Young workers to be insured against accidents.
6. To prohibit physical punishment or harsh treatment of the young workers and especially the apprentices who must not be used in the home to render personal services.
7. The wages of apprentices must be raised as the qualifications rise. After apprenticeship, the wages of the former apprentices must be the same as the adult workers.
8. The term of apprenticeship must be limited to a maximum of two years.
9. To improve hygienic conditions for young workers and apprentices.
10. Training for young workers to be given free of charge.

Many in Unions.

In view of the fact that the trade unions of China put no age limit on the members enrolled, there are a large number of young workers in the trade unions and they enjoy the same privileges as the adult workers. Frequently representatives of the young workers are to be found in the executives of the trade unions.

Many difficulties are met with in conducting activities among the young workers. The overwhelming majority of the juniors (up to 80 per cent) are illiterate, which handicaps the use of the press as a means of education. And as a result there is a dearth of active workers without whom it is difficult to set up activities on a sound basis.

Rare Beauty in "White Shadows" at the Astor

ABOVE all "White Shadows in the South Seas" brings sheer glorious beauty to the Astor Theater. The sea, the sky, and the palm fringed fairy-like South Sea Islands have never been protographed like this before.

Monte Blue

For once, too, the artificiality of Hollywood has been subdued to give the story a chance. Add to this some natural acting of the natives and sound effects to sharpen the dramatic qualities and all together they make this surely one of the best pictures presented on Broadway in many months.

It is also not without social content. The whole story is based on the white man's exploitation of the natives that dooms these naive children of nature. All the dangers of pearl-diving that kill the natives are dramatically pictured. Some of these undersea scenes are a wonder of technical perfection and real artistry. The exploitation of the natives and the corruption of their lives is vivid. White shadows come to the South Seas and bring ruin in their wake.

All this is interwoven into a plausible and always beautifully photographed story that logically ends in tragedy because it must. The sound effects are used only to sharpen dramatic high spots and they are splendidly utilized. Once particularly it is superbly effective. A doctor has worked for hours to save the life of a pearl diver, whose lungs have collapsed. He sits on the steps of the hut to escape the wailing of the natives. As he does so, he hears the rioutous racket of dancing and music of a nearby saloon frequented by whites. At the thought of all this as a mark of so-called civilization the doctor laughs derisively. Words nor photography could have given the answer better. Sound effect made it art.

The picture was produced in the Marquesas Islands with the assistance of native tribes. Their customs, habits, mode of living, songs and especially their dances are all a part—and incidentally the very best part of this spectacular film story. The whole is based on the book of the same title by Frederick O'Brien and directed by W. S. Van Dyke.

LILLIAN ROTH

One of the principals in the new Earl Carroll "Vanities," which opened Monday night at the Earl Carroll Theatre.

Monte Blue plays the part of a doctor who has "gone native." Raquel Torres, an attractive little Mexican newcomer to the films, plays the leading feminine role.

There is also a good deal of proof that this is a Hollywood product. The natives are too often grouped to serve almost as a chorus on the stage. There is much theatrical in other spots. The villain is too much like Simon Legree, despite the fact that boss technic is somewhat different in the islands. The movietone musical accompaniment is based on Irving Berlin's "Flower of Love," and that, too, is a long way from the South Seas. So Hollywood brings its hokum to Broadway.

"White Shadows of the South Seas" is, however, a good film story realistic tragedy of the supposed realistic tradedy of the supposed benefits of profit-seeking "civilization." The simple natives living in primitive. commercial fashion are ruined morally, given vices unknown to them before and wrecked physically under the inspiration of profit-seeking civilization. And the church throws its moral cloak over it all and shames natural beauty with a hideous Mother Hubbard dress. Surprised as you may be this is all obviously the main theme of the picture.

PENNSYLVANIA R. R. WORKERS IN REAL WANT

Speed-up, Joblessness Fruit of Boss Union

(By a Worker Correspondent)

PHILA. (By Mail). — Misery among Pennsylvania railroad workers is greater at the present time than ever before during the past eight years due to lay-offs, speed-up and wage-cuts, according to reports given out by the Woman's Aid of the Pennsylvania Railroads. Never in the history of this organization, has there been such a misery, unemployment and sickness as now, among the employees of the Pennsylvania railroad and their families.

This society reports that there has been an increase of 3,921 visit paid over last year's 32,417 and last year was a record year. Most of the applications for relief were directly due to members of the railroad workers families being unemployed. Another factor is that workers often suddenly fall sick or ill because of the insufficient nourishment that can be purchased with their meagre wages. And these poor workers have only company unions to "protect" them.

Workers are forced to lie that they are part owners of the Railroad, being called employee stockholders, but unable to provide medical care or food for themselves or for their families during a short spell of illness or when they are all of a sudden forced to lose more wages by being put on part time work.

Speed-up for Workers.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's repair shops, are, at present, working on a part time basis, according to workers employed there. And company spies and speed-up is what faces these workers. In the shops they hang up posters stating that if you still want "prosperity" and your job you should vote for Hoover.

Yes, having W. W. Atterbury, wife of the president of the P. R. R., or the rest of the nice ladies connected with this charitable bunk, call and give aid where work and decent wages are what workers lack. None of the exploiters ever appealed to aid the workers. Parasites like E. F. Stotesbury, M. W. Clement, T. B. Hamilton or the house of Morgan, the bankers of New York, all outstanding stockholders and controllers of this utilities business, are not affected by poverty but enjoy the fruit of the labor of the workers. These facts ought to prove to the workers of the P. R. R. what they need is not a company union but a strong industrial union to take control of what has been stolen from them by these capitalist exploiters.

Over 50,000 Expected at Sacco-Vanzetti Demonstration on Union Square Aug. 22

WORKERS RALLY IN MEMORIAL TO LABOR MARTYRS

Minor, Nearing to Be Among Speakers

The first memorial demonstration of the legal murder of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti will be held in Union Square, New York City, on August 22. The demonstration will voice the sentiment of the workers of America, stressing the positions that even though the memorial day of their deaths will be a day of mourning, the workers will devote their lives to the task of destroying the capitalis system that killed these and many other champions of the working class in cold blood because of their opinions.

Rose Baron, secretary of the New York Branch of the International Labor Defense, which struggled for years to save the two martyrs from a death that was inevitably to be meted out to them by capitalist justice, will be in charge of the preparations for the demonstration. She was one of the organizers of the demonstration that was held in Union Square last year, on the eve of the execution, after Governor Fuller and his committee of evening-clother professors had refused to stop the murder.

Four platforms will be constructed on the square, draped in black. On them, the pictures of Sacco and Vanzetti will be hung. The demonstration will begin at 5 p. m. before evening, and more than 50,000 workers from all parts of New York, are expected to attend.

Among the speakers at the huge mass meet will be Leonard D. Abbot, formerly editor of the Outlook; Robert Minor, editor of the Daily Worker and Workers (Communist) Party candidate for United States Senator; Scott Nearing, candidate for Governor of New Jersey on the Workers (Communist) Party ticket; Ben Gold, militant leader of the Furriers Union, and William Montgomery Brown, formerly an Episcopalian bishop. Mrs. Sacco, widow of one of the martyrs, has been invited to come to the demonstration.

submitted to the officers and members of the American Federation of Labor, so that they may exercise their political judgment in a way which will be the individual and collective interest of all working men and women.

"In connection with this very important decision, the executive council is taking into consideration the fact that the Candidates of the two great political parties for the presidency of the United States will deliver their speeches of acceptance in the month of August, we firmly expect that each of them, in these addresses, will make declarations of great significance to labor.

"We anticipate that they will express their opinions regarding injunction relief legislation and will amplify the declarations of the platforms of the political parties relating to labor and labor questions. We will await with very great interest the expressions of each of the candidates, reserving to ourselves a final decision regarding our future policy during the remainder of the campaign."

Workers carrying on the struggle in the trade unions and against the bosses on the other hand are learning more and more definitely that only the Workers' School conducted by the Workers (Communist) has the right program and instruction for the working class. The Workers School has been increasing in the number of its students and influence throughout the country.

The council also voted to withdraw support from Brookwood Labor College, of Katonah, on the grounds that the institution has been found to be Communistic.

Among the reasons for the condemnation of the institution is believed to be so much more "material" however.

There are no Communists on the staff of the school. Its teachings are known those primarily of class collaboration.

The fact seems to be that the A. F. of L. has made up its "mind" not to contribute to the Endowment Fund which Brookwood has been seeking to raise. It has no use for the liberals and individualists who dominate its policies. The labor misleaders prefer to control their "educational" propaganda through the Workers' Education Bureau, endowed by the Carnegie Foundation.

MORGAN MONEY TO AID FASCISTS

De Rivera To Receive $25,000,000

Another step in extending the power of United States finance throughout the world was indicated by the announcement of J. P. Morgan & Co. that it had extended credit of $25,000,000 to the Spanish dictatorship of de Rivera.

In 1925 Morgan advanced a credit of $100,000,000 to the tory government of England: in 1926 Belgium received $50,000,000 credit from the same company: Italy received $150,000,000 in the course of two years, and $110,000,000 worth of German bonds, procured with the aid of the Dawes plan, was sold here by Morgan.

MILL PICKETS DEFY POLICE

this moment and ordered the police off the lot, this being union property. The police remained.

Police Retreat

The thousands assembled, who had just witnessed the police brutality on the picket lines, surged angrily toward the police squadron intent on driving them off. Despite the fact that Weisbord called on the workers to be calm, the police officials ordered their cohorts to melt away quietly which was slowly done.

A picketing demonstration of about 700 appeared this morning. They were again attacked by police. Nine were arrested this time, bringing the totals up to 20 arrested. They are all to appear in the local court for trial. The Textile Mill Committees has obtained legal aid from the International Labor Defense. Charges here as in New Bedford are "disturbing the peace and parading without a permit."

Before the nine strikers were arrested the picket demonstration had been broken and formed again four times in succession.

Cheer Pickets In Mills

Workers in the cotton division who had not as yet gone out on strike ran to the windows and looked down upon the brutal onslaughts of the police against their fellow workers. They shouted encouragingly to the pickets. Many of them left their looms and joined the strike.

Nathan Durfee, assistant treasurer of the company, till now declaring that the all divisions are going full blast, today admitted that the printing division is tied up.

With an outburst of hysterical hatred, the local capitalist press here, is printing first page editorials denouncing the strikers and calling for an intensified police terror. The cries of the bosses and their agents for the suppression of picketing fills the air. The workers are called upon to follow the leaders of the reactionary American Federation of Textile Operatives, who are opposed to the strike.

Plans for picketing tonight and tomorrow morning are more elaborate than ever, the Textile Mill Committees leaders declared.

LAUNCH DRIVE FOR MOONEY AND BILLINGS IN N. Y.

Labor Defense Picnic This Saturday

The fight to free Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, victims of one of the most notorious frame-ups in labor history, will be officially launched in New York City at the outing of the New York Section of the International Labor Defense in Pleasant Bay Park Saturday.

Part of the proceeds of this outing will be use to start an extensive, city-wide campaign, embracing every section of the labor movement, that will demand the immediate release of Tom Mooney and Billings, who for 12 years have been behind the bars for their devotion to the workingclass. The funds that will be provided by the I. L. D. outing will also be used to defend striking fruit and grocery clerks and to aid other victims of the class war and their families.

Mass Scene.

Symbolizing the fight to free Mooney and Billings and other class war prisoners will be a mass scene that will be one of the chief features of the outing. Many workers will take part in this scene which will be an expression of the militant spirit of the affair.

Another unique feature of the outing will be the taking of moving pictures of the various activities. The several thousand workers that are expected at the affair will help to make a movie that will later be shown in various parts of the country.

The program for the outing is being arranged so that every person will have something to interest him or her every minute of the time. Other numbers included are athletics and games, a torch light parade, open-air dancing with music by a leading jazz band and generous refreshments. Starting at 12 noon, the affair will last until the late hours of the night.

Tickets for the outing are on sale at the office of the New York Section of the I. L. D., 799 Broadway, room 422, and at the Workers Center, 26-28 Union Square.

WORKER ATHLETES AT LABOR SPORTS MEET

By FRANK HENDERSON.

Strong, sturdy proletarian youths from shops, mills and factories the country over are talking and preparing for the second annual track and field meet of the Labor Sports Union, to be held August 25-26 in New York City. Sectional sports meets held in various cities to determine the local representatives to the national meet add enthusiasm and give more interest to the sports movement which has become of prime importance to the workers generally and to the youth in particular.

What a contrast to bourgeois athletes are these young workers who, after a day's toil in the factories and mills, shut off from the fresh air, come to the athletic field to build better bodies so that they can better withstand and combat the vicious exploitation by the capitalists.

Bourgeois Athletes

The bourgeois athletes, when preparing for their corrupt professional sports, lounge in the best of hotels and summer resorts, and have access to the best equipment and fields for their daily workouts the only work they do when preparing for a meet.

While bourgeois athletes ride in Pullmans to their meets, athletes of the Labor Sports Union, representing the young workers of America, hike and ride in trucks. Traveling in true proletarian style!

Parasite Spectators.

What a contrast even in the spectators. Bankers, factory owners, presidents of corporations, and intellectual parasites are present at the meets of the bourgeois sports organizations, as relaxation for their heavy labors in extracting profits from the toil of the wage slaves. It is the function of bourgeois sport clubs to keep the minds of the workers from their miserable conditions. The bosses have the workers so "buffaloed" that many workers are more interested in the figures of the base-ball score sheet than in the figures of their pay envelope.

Workers all! Come and see athletes of the working class perform. Come to the second national meet of the Labor Sports Union.

Give your support to workers' sports and not to the corrupt professional sports of the bourgeois sport organizations. Workers, support meet of the Labor Sports Union.

SEE WAR PERIL IN TREATIES AND RACE FOR ARMS

Danger of Imperialist War Acute

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The Franco-British naval pact, which has thus far been kept secret, and is now arousing much comment. Demands for the publication of the pact, is being voiced by the press here.

That the agreement provides for a pooling of the French and British navies in time of war, and for an unqualified development of France's land forces, is practically considered as a fact both by conservative and liberal papers.

Deadly Planes Prepared

LONDON, Aug. 7.—According to the account of an Aeronautical expert who writes in the Daily Mail the English and French war departments are experimenting on a new type of plane, that invisible and noiseless, will be able to make its way far into enemy territory and drop poison bombs that will be able to destroy a city at a time.

The experiments have already succeeded in producing a noiseless engine and a mist of a dull greenish color that will enable the plane to travel unseen and unheard.

Horsepower and Labor Power.

The National Industrial Conference Board has published an interesting comparison between the manufacturing methods of the United States and those of Great Britain. If the document has some of the quality of an imperialistic boast of the still-growing colossus of American capitalism over the already disintegrating British Empire, it is nevertheless based upon some highly important facts.

Selecting eight major manufacturing industries in the United States, it is shown that the American manufacturers use one and a half horsepower more, per worker employed, than does the British manufacturer. American steel and roller mills turned out in 1925 a total product of $2,946,068,000, as the product of the labor of 370,726 wage earners, while British mills turned out $660,895,000 worth of products with 200,181 wage earners in the preceding year (1924). This means that the labor of one average worker in the respective countries was approximately:

American worker produced $7,946 per year
British workers produced 3,301 per year

In other industries it is said that the ratio is much higher, the worker in America turning out as much as two and a half to three times as much as the British worker in some instances. But in automobile manufacture the figures are startling. $4,745,660,000 worth of cars being made in the United States by 430,303 wage earners in 1924, while $374,124,000 cars were produced by 145,704 Brtiish workers in the same year. This would mean:

American worker produced $11,028 per year
British worker produced 2,567 per year
(Figures approximate)

The National Industrial Conference Board attributes the higher productivity of labor in the United States to an estimated 12.85 horsepower to each worker in this country, as against 9.15 horsepower per worker in Great Britain.

Without verifying the accuracy of the figures, we know that the general condition indicated here tells the story of the rapid decline of the once world-dominating British Empire and the heavy inroads of the new candidate for world-domination, the vital repacious imperialism of the United States. We say it tells the story, but it is only one side of the story. The figures given indicate the tremendous rise in the organic composition of capital in this country, the relative low organic composition of capital in Great Britain, and the consequent tremendous relative surplus value being gathered in by the American finance-capitalists through the world market in competition with the badly worn British competitor.

But the figures on horsepower leave untold the story of the speed-up and destruction of man-power of the American workers. Nowhere in the world is human life eaten up by the killing grind of mass-production under capitalist exploitation as in the United States. Nowhere are working class lives so recklessly destroyed as in the United States. The innocent figures say that so much is produced per worker; but they do not say how much faster the human laborer is worn out and thrown on the discard. These statisticians speak of higher wages arising from the greater use of power per man. It is true that American imperialism has been able, through its favored position in the world market, to raise standards of living for the upper strata of the working class which is allowed a beggars' share of the loot which imperialism extracts from super-exploitation of less favored workers. But it is also true that this capacity to bribe a "labor aristocracy" to the support of imperialism a la Gompers, cannot last.

The imperialist boast of the American capitalists will be short-lived. With all its exhuberant power, with all its gloating with victory over the sicker imperialism of Great Britain, the Wall Street Empire is itself infected with the germs of death. Imperialism is essentially a decaying, a death-marked stage of capitalism—the last period of its life. Imperialism is not only the period of unprecedented violence and power and unprecendented monopoly of wealth—it is also the period of Proletarian Revolution which brings the final orgy to its conclusion in the death of capitalist society and the dawn of a new society.

The statisticians tell one side of the story of the Wall Street triumph over England, the wrenching of Canada, Australia and other terain from the weakening British Empire, but they leave untold the story of the impending world war that is inevitable in the very "development of horsepower" of which they boast—the war and the downfall of these imperialist by the hands of the same working class and colonial peoples whom they boast of exploiting at a higher rate of profit.

"Something" About Aviation.

"A universal sigh of thanksgiving," says the New York Herald-Tribune, will greet the news that Major Idzekowski and Major Kubala, the two Polish flyers, were pulled out of the water alive after their failure to fly the Atlantic. "But the disappointment will remain acute," continues that newspaper. "There was something about the adventure of these two quiet but intrepid souls that rendered it intensely dramatic, . . ." and "which reminded us of a young man named Lindbergh."

But why not tell what the "something" was, that rendered this adventure so "intensely dramatic" to the Herald-Tribune?

The mysterious "something" is the simple fact that the clumsy aviators are two famous fascist military adventurers who attempted the flight for political purposes. And the political motive was the hope for a blare of publicity and laudation of the bloody fascist regime in Poland, the opportunity for which would have been given by a successful landing in the United States, the land of dollars which can under favorable circumstances be borrowed in preparation for reactionay war.

The strangely inarticulate emotion of the reactionary Herald-Tribune, organ of the Coolidge-Hoover dynasty, is understandable when we realize that it is necessary to make the bloody fascist government of Poland popular if it is to be useful as one of the first instruments for war against the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

The two professional white guards had attended to their political atmosphere much better than they knew how to cope with the atmosphere over the Atlantic.

The Present Imperialist Dilemma in China

By EARL BROWDER.

The White Terror in China; Contradictions Among the World Imperialists

These very illuminating paragraphs are given the heading: "Too Much Repression." Lest the careless reader may conclude that Mr. Sokolsky disapproves of the White Terror, let us quickly remark that this is not so, that he and his friends were engaged at that same moment when he wrote, in reproaching the Chinese for laxity in applying the death penalty to labor agitators. Mr. Sokolsky is actually only complaining against history that the results of his policy do not coincide with the wishes of the imperialists. That the reader may get the full flavor of it, we quote the entire three paragraphs:

"In the matter of administration the reaction compromises in every respect with a politico-commercial and mandarin element in nationalist territory. They believe that an outward semblance of order justifies the suppression of every organ of public opinion which reflects the attitude of the masses, whom they themselves have influenced to think and act politically. They have forbidden mass meetings of the people and are intolerant to all forms of dissent.

"They have not only driven the Communist Party of China underground, but even within the Kuomintang, differences of opinion are regarded as intolerable and are driven underground. Their anti-Communism has become so marked that they seem to be prepared to effect no change in the current status of China's international relations except such changes as might end the misunderstanding between the Nationalist Government and the foreigners.

"More Dangerous."

"It is, perhaps, not the place of a foreigner who has, for three years, been constantly denouncing the Communist Party of China, to criticize unfavorably such a policy. Yet this reactionary policy is, in my opinion, more dangerous, at the present time than an open and frank Communist policy, for it is unreal and untrue and does not represent the consensus of opinion of large, articulate elements among the Chinese people and it can only result in lulling the foreigners and the conservative Chinese into a false security, from which the recovery may prove to be exceedingly costly."

Mr. Sokolsky neglects to say anything about the part played in creating the repression whose results he fears; therefore let us remedy his omission a bit. While he wrote, the streets of the International Settlement, Shanghai, were plastered with bills in all languages, signed by the "Municipal Council" (a British-Japanese-American body, headed by an American, Fessenden), proclaiming rich rewards for information leading to the arrest and execution of all persons guilty of the following capital crimes: "Murder, kidnapping, armed robbery, agitation among workers, causing strikes, Communist activities." Prospective informers are told how they can remain anonymous yet still collect their rewards.

Not Enough Murders.

A few days earlier, the "Municipal Gazette" published an exchange of letters between the Council and Mr. Kuo Tai-chi, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs of the Nanking Government. Mr. Kuo Tai-chi had requested the aid of the "International" police in carrying the Kuomintang repressions into the "Settlement"; the Municipal Council replied, pledging their assistance, but gently rebuking Mr. Kuo because in the past his government had failed to execute all the trade union leaders turned over to them by the Municipal Council, for a few of them had only been sent to prison, and one or two had even escaped altogether. This British-American-Japanese Council expressed regret at this shortcoming of the Nanking Government.

And Mr. Sokolsky complains of the "reaction in the Kuomintang," of "too much repression," and the danger of "recrudescence of the power of the Communist Party of China"! If those gods on Olympus, who are reputed to have had a sense of the ridiculous, are still on the job, that old mountain must be shaking with their uproarious appreciation of this.

"The Communists Are Suppressed; Therefore—We Must Suppress the Communists"

The imperialist, with the assistance of the Kuomintang, have just completed a major operation on the Chinese revolution—that is, they have eliminated the Communists. That being accomplished, what is now the next task? Mr. Sokolsky gives the answer; the next task is to overcome the Communists. Already more than 70,000 heads have been cut off this Hydra, but if Mr. Sokolsky is not mistaken they must have been immediately magically replaced with seven million new ones.

General Li Chi-hsin earned a brilliant banquet and reception in the British Crown Colony of Hongkong, presided over by the governor-general himself, by slaughtering 17,000 workers in Canton and carting off their broken bodies "like so much cordwood," as it was described by a sympathetic and approving Britisher.

In Hankow each daily newspaper records nonchalantly the execution of another batch of "Communist bandits."

In Shanghai the British seize hundreds of trade unionists, to turn them over to the Chinese police of Chiang Kai-shek, who calmly proceed to put them through weeks of indescribable tortures before dispatching them.

A thousand times we are told that these things are regrettable necessities, the desirable result being that now "Communism has been eliminated in China." Let Mr. Sokolsky sum up the conclusion for us:

"Anyone who is keenly sensitive to current movements in Chinese politics feels the powerful undertone of Communist activity, throughout nationalist territory. The Communist Party of China and its Left Wing Kuomintang adherings are effectively reorganizing their agitational work among the lower strata of the masses. In every village between here and Nanking and between here and Hangchow, the Communists are appealing to the peasants, laborers and the young students, to free themselves from the reaction. Posters appear overnight denouncing the Kuomintang, the Nanking Government, the Nationalist flag and General Chiang Kai-shek. In factories, in spite of government support and government protection, employers sense the discontent created by Communist activities. Mere suppression will never solve this problem."

The Twilight of the British Empire Is Approaching

By HARRY GANNES.

On Saturday, July 7, the British section of the League Against Imperialism was established in London. Following the last Imperial Conference in 1926 and the present investigations of the Simons Commission in India, the formation of an anti-imperialist organization in England is of foremost importance.

The conference of the League Against Imparialism in London was attended by 343 delegates representing 170 organizations. These included 24 trades councils and local labor parties; 32 Independent Labor Party branches; 32 Communist Party locals, 12 co-op, guilds, and 56 trade union bodies. Altogether the delegates represented 100,000 workers of the London district.

Saklatvala, Cook Speak

Alex. Gossip was the chairman. Among the speakers were: K. Saklatvala, M. P., Harry Pollitt, A. J. Cook, Fenner Brockway, Srinivar Iyengar, of the Indian National Congress, Fung Saw, of the London Kuomintang, and Dr. M. Awad of the Egyptian University. J. Maxton, M. P., who recently created a little stir in the ranks of the Labor Party, because of his left phrases and opposition to the Mond Conference (for rationalization), and who was expected at the conference, was not able to be present because of a "left-wing" conference in Glasgow.

A. J. Cook who spoke on the resolution on "Imperialism and War," particularly took occasion to attack a memeber of his trade union who is at the peresent moment sitting on the Simons Commission, representing the Labor Party in the task of further shackling India. Cook said: "Vernon Hartshorn does not sit on the Simmon Commission with the sanction of the miners. He never asked permission. He took it. George Lansbury ought to be here on this platform instead of insulting our Indian comrades."

Founded on Labor.

One very significant fact to be recognized in the formation of the British League Against Imperialism is that it is founded entirely on labor organizations. While the British Labor Party, through the instrumentality of MacDonald, Thomas, Landsbury and their ilk, have chained the British workers under their domination to the chariot-wheel of "His Majesty's" imperialism, the rank and file is beginning to break away and to fight imperialism on a clear-cut program.

For a while the labor party misleaders opposed imperialism with a few phrases. But during the last few years they have been the foremost supporters and aids of the empire. The service of the labor aristocracy has stood British imperialism in good stead through trying days of Indian agitation, Egypt's chaffing, and particularly the Chinese revolution. Just now, several Labor Party members are sitting on a capitalist committee that has been repudiated even by the Indian bourgeoisie.

But the situation is changing very rapidly in Great Britain. Unlike the United States where the aristocracy of labor still profits by imperialism, the British workers suffer the pangs of a declining empire. Unemployment and wage-cuts are beginning to affect not only the coal miners and the unskilled workers, but the whole brunt of waning British imperialism is being pushed on to those workers who in the heyday of capital were the backbone of the empire.

Background of League.

The background of the formation of the League Against Imperialism presents quite a different picture. Eleven per cent of the entire British working-class (about 12,000,000) are out of work with no prospects of finding any. There are 1,273,360 jobless today as against 1,069,386 in 1927. The building trades are begining to suffer acutely. The New York Times (July 23, 1928) in an article on British unemployment says of the textile industry:

"A further increase in unemployment in the textile also is likely. For every seven yards of cloth Britain exported before the war she now exports only four."

Of 101 classified trades there has been a decline in 62. Shipbuilding, the flower of British industry, is suffering heavily. Since March there has been a drop of 238,232 tons.

The solution offered by the imperialists in Great Britain, of course, is the extension of the empire.

This leads to war. In its policy of agression, the British masters at the same time find it necessary to batter down the standard of living of the English workers. At first they were met with resistance. Now they receive the support of the British labor leaders. Most typical is the Mond Conference — an endeavor to speed up the entire working-class on lower wages. The Ramsay MacDonald family, undoubtedly, labor under the illusion that it is possible to revive British imperialism to the point where the aristocracy of labor will again benefit from it and thereby lessen the tension of the struggle. For this reason they not only support the home policy of the imperialists but as well do everything to bolster up the crumbling empire.

The establishing of the League Against Imperialism in London does not mark the beginning of the fight, against imperialism and its labor-agents, but signifies the crystallization of the combat; the marshalling of forces and the undertaking of a serious campaign that will do not a little to sap the rotten foundations of British imperialism.

Cheers Greet Krassin Crew

TROMSOE, Norway, Aug. 7.—The Soviet ice-breaker Krassin, while docking here for repairs after its efficient rescue work in the Arctic, was greeted with cheers and great enthusiasm by the crews of the ships in the arbor and the inhabitants of the town who had collected on the docks.

The Norwegian scientist, Dr. Adolf Heol who was on board the Krassin thruout its trip into the Artic, praised the crew of the Krassin highly and enthusiastically and praised the work of the Soviet aviators.

The Krassin, which on its trip back to Norway for repairs rescued 1,500 passengers from a German liner, will remain here long enough to repair its propeller shaft which is expected to take three or four days.

Told You So

FASCIST governments do not seem to have as much luck fighting the elements as they have smashing the organizations of the workers and jailing and killing revolutionists. Of course, it will not be always thus; the workers will some day turn the tables on their enemies. Well, the airplane Pilsudski did not contribute any more prestige to Pilsudski's black shirt regime than the Italia did to Mussolini's. No doubt a fat little loan would be one of the results of a successful transatlantic flights and Pilsudski would be able to rattle his sabres at Lithuania with more effect.

For the benefit of those who write to this conductor in care of the Daily Worker this is to certify that this daily column is sent in from Workers (Communist) Party National Election Campaign Headquarters, 43 East 125 Street, New York City where the writer is engaged doing publicity work for the National Communist Campaign. Those who fail to receive a reply in due time may now be able to bear up under the suspense of waiting for an over-due reply. It also gives us an opportunity to put in a lick for our specialty which no publicity man worthy of the name ever misses an opportunity to do.

At the rate things are going it will be pretty hard before long to find a democrat in an important position in the Al Smith campaign committee. A republican lady is going to plunder the republican chicken coops for women who don't like the looks of Herbert but who think that Al has got political "it." We hear that Tammany stalwarts are warned to skulk in the alleyways when perfumed aristocrats come around to democratic headquarters to find out if Al has claws and a velvety skin. Judge Olvany and Hooey (or is it McCooey) can be seen in second-class hotels by the old, seasoned fellows, but they must make themselves scarce when the new converts come to gaze on the domesticated tiger.

A newspaper had a nifty headline on the deliberations of the A.F. of L. executive committee in session at Atlantic City. "A. F. of L. straddling fence on Smith-Hoover question" it read. Which way shall the cat jump? That all depends on the percentage of the $20,000,000 boodle, estimated as the cost of the election campaign, that will be within sight of the fence-straddlers from their vantage point.

The famous or infamous Committee for the Preservation of Trade Unions has fallen on barren days. We never entertained much hope of success for this scabby outfit but one might expect that the coffers of the reactionary bureaucrats of the A. F. of L. would be opened to give aid and comfort to Messers. Sigman, Shiplacoff, et al. in their worthy crusade to save the sacred sepulchres of reaction in the needle trades from defilement by the Communist heathens. But alas and alack! Mr. McGrady, the Lion-Hearted representative of William Green, politely informs his chosen people that they must shift for themselves and run the risk of being sabred defending their holy graft.

Lest the preceding paragraph might bring confusion instead of enlightenment to those who did not read the sad story in last Monday's issue of the Daily Worker, here is the tale in brief: Last year when the Left Wing under the leadership of the Communists had won over the great majority of the workers in the I. L. G. W. U. and the Furriers' Union, the grand moguls of the A. F. of L. decided for the 99th time to clean the "reds" out of those unions. They organized the above-named committee and called a one-day general strike. The labor fakers came out to a man.

Then divers boasts were made in the socialist, capitalist and reactionary labor press that this was the end of Communism in the needle trades. But the worst came not to the Communists but to the enemies of the workers. Radicals can go a long way without funds but the fakers and their henchmen must see the color of the coin, else their zeal vanishes. So when the treasury of the C. P. T. U. presented a shiny bottom the bottom fell out of the crusade. Now Shiplacoff and Company have sent out an S. O. S. for dough, but only an echo came back. And William Green confesses that the radicals were never more active than now and swears that they must be driven out again.

Senator Vare of Pennsylvania learned something from A. B. Fall. Whenever the toils seemed to be closing around the Teapot Dome Kid he developed a new disease and retained his liberty. You can't very well strike a man when he is down in this country where the rules of the prize ring are generally accepted. Vare's record as a purchaser of votes was not doing either Vare or his man Hoover much good, so he got sick and all allusions to his past were immediately forgotten. Should he carry the ruse to extremes and die for his party, those who were cursing him will bend a knee over his bier (correct compositor) and pray for the repose of his ten-dollar-a-vote soul.

25 FALL RIVER PICKETS JAILED IN NEW TERROR

Pregnant Woman Is Assaulted by Police

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 8.—"Breaking the back of the strike" is chief of police Feeney of Fall River's characterization of police brutality in throttling Mrs. Joseph Pacheco, a pregnant striker, while they held her against an iron viaduct and crushed her stomach walls in with their knees. She was rushed to the Truesdale Hospital in critical condition.

The woman's offense was that she tried to remain with her husband, a picket arrested with 25 others, including Bill Seroka, James P. Reid, Pete Hagelnis and Sam Wiseman, leaders of the Fall River Textile Mills Committee, in an attempt to pass thru the cordons which the police today threw around the factories.

Boasts of Terror.

For a quarter of a mile around the mills squadrons of police swept the streets bare of pedestrians while thousands of workers thronged the thoroughfares just out of arm's reach of the police outposts.

Chief of police Feeney is openly boasting in the local press of the feats of brutality performed by his squadrons. Police violence "will break the back of the strike," he is quoted as saying.

Simultaneously with the renewed police terrorism, Commissioner Wood of the department of justice arrived in Fall River today to begin a determined campaign to drive the Textile Mills Committee out of the city.

Terrible Weisbord!

Wood declared that "Weisbord is a sinister menace to all hardworking, respectable, industrious textile workers of this and any other city." In substantiation he pointed out Weisbord's record in the Passaic strike where Wood himself was active in another capacity.

He further warned the good people of this city "not to be blinded by the fireworks of this fiend and the promises that he will lead them into utopias impossible of achievement." He begged the workers to remain in their reactionary unions, for which he expressed the greatest respect. These, he declared, would lead them to an adjustment of their difficulties sooner than will be effected under the banner of radicalism."

Following this announcement, 200 workers of the American Printing Company marched a half mile to the Algonquin Mill on Bay Street where they sang and cheered beneath the windows. The workers looked out and returned the cheers. Intense excitement is reported to reign in the mill.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 8.—Growing picket lines this morning, the defiant reply of the 2,000 Fall River textile strikers to brutal police attacks on Monday and Tuesday, heroically faced a fresh wave of charging police despite 21 new arrests.

This brings the total arrested, since the workers walked out of the factories Monday in an anti-wage cut struggle, up to 68.

Stoically ignoring commands to disperse, the hundreds of men and women on picket lines continued to patrol the American Printing Company plant till police began their daily wholesale arrests of the strikers at the heads of the lines. Further arrests were also made at the gates of the Lincoln Manufacturing Company, also declared on strike by the Textile Mill Committees.

Mid-afternoon of the second day of the strike found twenty strikers facing trial for "parading without a permit" and "peace disturbance." But the picket lines organized for the evening found the same intolerable police tyranny waiting them. Over twenty were thrown into cells yesterday.

Not content with the terror machine the mill barons can mobilize

START DRIVE FOR CHINESE LABOR

Twenty-seven Tag Day stations have already been opened thruout the city and hundreds of workers are volunteering daily to participate in the same collection this Saturday and Sunday for relief of the Chinese Trade Unions, with headquarters at 96 5th Avenue.

The united front of the national bourgeoisie, the militarists, and the imperialists is descending with its entire force upon the young labor movement in China. Thousands and tens of thousands of workers have been shot. There is not a spot in China where rivers of workers' blood does not flow.

NANKING PLANS MASS MURDERS

Threaten Massacre of Worker, Peasant

PEKING, Aug. 8.—While the members of the Executive Committee of the Koumintang are quarreling among themselves and unable to hold their scheduled session at Nanking, the Nanking government has issued a statement warning all opponents of the Nanking regime agaist any criticism or action against the Koumintang dictatorship.

This statement in the face of strikes in Shanghai, the activities of the peasant army in the south and the split within the Nanging ranks is construed here as an attempt to retain the Nanking regime by open dictatorship and terroristic methods.

"In order to bring the republic to maturity," the statement says, "the Koumintang does not tolerate the existence of an opposition." In view of the wholesale execution of working class leaders and Communists the statement can be taken as an avowal of continued methods of terror against workers and peasants of China.

The policy of the Nanking regime is necessitated, many observers point out, if it wishes to consolidate its financial and economic forces and gain recognition from the imperialist powers.

DU PONT TO JOIN AL. SMITH DRIVE

MorganMunitionsKing May "Leave" Job

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 8.—Pierre S. Du Pont, chairman of the board of directors of the General Motors Company, will "resign" from his position with the open-shop Morgan concern and devote himself to furthering the campaign of Al Smith for the presidency, it was unofficially announced yesterday. He is also the country's largest war munitions maker.

Du Pont indicated that the report was accurate when he announced he would have "an important statement to make to the directors of the General Motors at their meeting in New York Thursday afternoon."

John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, was the head of the finance committee of the General Motors until his "resignation" several weeks ago. With the addition of Du Pont, the Al Smith band wagon takes the lead over the Hoover machine in the number of Morgan bankers which are directing the drive.

SCOTT NEARING TO TOUR SOUTH

Scott Nearing, lecturer, teacher and writer on economic subjects and Communist candidate for Governor of New Jersey, will tour the Southern States in the interests of the Communist Election Campaign, beginning Sept. 9 and finishing Oct. 7.

Nearing, recognized as one of the foremost authorities on economics in the United States, became a national figure in the early days of the war, when he was expelled from the University of Pennsylvania for his opposition to the entry of the United States into the bloody mess that set millions of workers at each other's throats in the interest of the imperialist powers.

Big Gain in Unemployed in England

LONDON, Aug. 8.—While the British trade union bureaucrats and reformist political leaders vie with each other in labor betrayal and class-collaboration, the unemployment situation and its resultant suffering grow steadily worse.

A further increase in the number of unemployed persons for the week ending July 30 is reported in official figures which are probably far below the actual figures, since they include only those registered with the government as unemployed. The total registered for the week ending July 30 was 1,305,000 an increase of 22,066 over the preceding week and 185,176 more than in the corresponding week a year ago.

ARREST PRIESTS IN OBREGON PLOT

Important Information Is Revealed

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 8.—The police department here announced today that 37 persons, including two catholic priests had been arrested in connection with the assassination of president-elect Obregon.

Although the police would not give detailed information they intimated that the investigation is expected to reveal information as to the real motive for the assassination.

With the surrender of Carlos Castro, who had been sought as the aide of Toral, further information has been obtained which will lead to new developments, it was announced.

The statement of the church authorities does not deny that those directly implicated in the crime are directly connected with the Mexican clergy.

PASSAIC POLICE BAN WEISBORD

To Hold Test Textile Workers' Meeting

The Passaic Police Commissioner has issued an ultimatum that Albert Weisbord will not be permitted to speak in Passaic. This comes as a climax to the chiefs disruptive tactics at a meeting held by the Workers' International Relief, Local New York, last Thursday at the Ukrainian Hall, President St., Passaic, at which Albert Weisbord was the speaker, to raise relief for the New Bedford textile strikers.

The Workers' International Relief declares this arbitrary action by the police a violation of its rights and has announced that it will hold a meeting next Thursday evening in the Ukrainian Hall, President St., Passaic, N. J. at 7:30 p. m. with Albert Weisbord as speaker, to test out this question with the American Civil Liberties Union. The meeting will be held to raise relief for the New Bedford textile strikers.

The following speakers will address the meeting: Albert Weisbord, Roger Baldwin, Director American Civil Liberties Union; Fred Biedenkapp, National Secretary Workers' International Relief; Robert W. Dunn; Harriet Siverman, Secretary Local New York, Workers' International Relief, who will act as chairman.

The last meeting was broken up and close to 700 workers ordered from the hall. The representatives of law and order informed Mr. Weisbord and the secretary of Local New York, Workers' International Relief, that they were under orders to disperse the meeting and that Weisbord would not be permitted to speak in New Jersey.

Electrical Workers to Fight Broach

Considerable excitement has been aroused among electrical workers, members of Local 3, over the issues now confronting the union which are to be voted on tonight at a regular meeting of the organization to be held at Central Opera House, 67th St. and Third Ave.

The membership is extremely wrought up, it has been learned, over the attempt by the Broach machine to railroad through a number of amendments to the by-laws intended to deprive the rank and file of their control over union affairs. Among the proposed amendments are one to eliminate half of the elections, one to raise dues, one to do away with the making of a financial report and one to eliminate the yearly elections.

Mass Attendance.

Over four thousand members of the union are expected at tonight's meeting at which one of the stormiest sessions in the history of the union are predicted.

It was learned yesterday that plans are being made for a demonstration before the hall of all members now being excluded from the

NEEDLE TRADES WORKERS URGED TO BACK PARTY

"Communists Fight for Working Class"

Depicting the treacherous role played by the socialists and their allies the Tammany Hall city and state officialdom in breaking the once powerful organizations of the needle trades workers here, the Needle Trades Section of the Trade Union Educational League, yesterday issued a statement calling upon the workers to support the candidates of the Workers (Communist) Party in the November elections. The statement declares:

To all Workers in the Needle Industry! Brothers and Sisters!

We stand today in the midst of the presidential election campaign, which is of the greatest significance to the American workers. Soon the republican party of Teapot Dome fame and the democratic party with its Tammany Hall corruption, as well as the socialist party, betrayers of labor openly following along at the tail end of the capitalist parties, will come to you for your support. There is also the Workers (Communist) Party—the party of the class struggle.

Workers Must Take Stand

We needle trades workers have learned many bitter political lessons in our struggles. We have been taught by injunctions, arrests, clubbings, imprisonment, that every economic struggle against one group of capitalists brings into the struggle the whole power of the capitalist state, representing the interests of the capitalist class as a whole. Now, while we are faced with the biggest task in our history—the building of a new union of needle trades workers that will fight to reestablish union conditions in the industry, and organize the thousands of unorganized needle trades workers, we cannot, we will not, stand aside from the present political campaign. We must take a definite position. We must state clearly and boldly which political party represents our interests as workers, and which program and candidates we will support.

The last few years have been for us a period of intense and continual struggle. Union organization has been destroyed in large sections of the industry. Sweat-shop cnoditions have been introduced. A vicious speed-up system has been established by the manufacturers through which thousands of workers are thrown out of employment. Today hundreds, thousands of workers, are faced with want and actual starvation.

Socialists are Betrayers.

Who has been responsible for this demoralization and destruction? There can be only one answer—responsibility rests upon the alliance between the manufacturers, the reactionary socialist union officials and A. F. of L. bureaucracy, and capitalist state powers, who have joined their forces in the attacks upon us.

The fur workers were the first to clean out their union of the dis-

SOUTHWEST MINERS TO HOLD CONFERENCE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 8.—Miners' representatives of districts 13, 21 and 25 and all miners of the southwest have been called to a Tri-District Conference to be held here Labor Day, September 3, at Musicians Hall, 1017 Washington St.

Declaring that the Lewis machine completed its long list of betrayals in the recent abandonment of the Jacksonville scale, the call to the conference states: "We have one road left to follow, to rid our organization of the bosses agents, the Lewis machine, and to build the new union." The call, signed by Charles Mills, secretary of the Tri-District Committee, Route 1, Lexington, Mo., follows in part:

SINO-JAPANESE CLASH LOOMING

Nanking Regime Gets Threatening Note

TOKIO, Aug. 8 (UP).—Japan may be obliged to "take measures which it deems suitable" to protect its interests if China insists on abrogating the present commercial treaty, a government note said today.

British Recognition Seen.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Official circles here admit that negotiations between the Nanking regime and the British government over the Nanking incident of March 1927, have been going on for some time and that a satisfactory settlement may soon be reached.

The settlement of the Nanking incident, for which the English government demands raparations, would be followed by a revision of the commercial treaties. That negotiations are being carried on with the Nanking government is indicative of the fact that it is recognized as the responsible government for China.

ARREST 7 PICKETS IN BARBER STRIKE

4,500 Quit Shops to Answer Union Call

Seven striking barbers were arrested yesterday afternoon on East 33rd St. by Detective Lieutenant John Broderick when they attempted to picket shops on the street in efforts to induce fellow-workmen to join them in their strike, the purpose of which is to unionize the trade in New York City. The seven, whose names have not yet been ascertained, were taken to the East 35th St. Station and charged with disorderly conduct.

According to Abraham Greenwald, manager of Local 752 of the International Union of Journeymen Barbers, 4,500 workers left their shops in the morning, exceeding the estimate that the union had made previous to the actual strike by 500. Two-thousand shops in the borough of Manhattan were reported closed.

No wage disputes are involved in the present strike. The union members realize the importance of building up a strong union so as to be better able to deal with the bosses, and their energies in this strike are all exerted toward the city-wide recognition of the union.

JAIL 7 PICKETS ON HUGE LINES

Batty Pleads for Speed Up in New Bedford

(Special to the Daily Worker.)

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 8.—With the largest picket lines in weeks surrounding the textile mills, the fake conference of the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation opened here today.

Seven strikers were arrested during the day, including Elizabeth Donnelley, who was seized at the children's playground during the afternoon, while William E. G. Batty, secretary of the New Bedford Textile Council, and his colleague, Binns, of the United Textile Workers, pleaded with the representatives of the bosses to rescind the ten per cent wage cut in order that an unrestrained speed-up may be introduced in the mills.

Basing his plea on the prosperity which will result to the textile bosses, Batty appealed to them and their agents to increase efficiency in the plant and decrease cost while speeding-up production.

John Sullivan, president of the New Bedford Cotton Manufacturers' Association, appeared for the bosses, while Edward Fisher, chairman of the state board, presided.

APPLAUD END OF SIGMAN-BOSSES' COMPANY UNION

National Convention to Be Held Soon

Fifteen thousand cloak and dressmakers, assembled last night at a giant mass meeting in Bronx Stadium, thundered a mighty "YES" for the passage of the resolution which heralded the launching of a new union in the ladies' garment manufacturing industry.

Jamming tight all aisles, the field and the bleachers of the huge Bronx football park, the vast audience declared their intention of replacing the ruins of the old International Ladies Garment Workers Union with a new workers' organization that will unionize the trade nationally and restore bearable working conditions to the factories, when they were destroyed, together with the old union, by the "socialist"-boss-police coalition.

Make Labor History.

With tremendous outbursts of enthusiastic applause, the crowd of workers endorsed the declarations of the leaders of the National Organization Committee that a new historic era was dawning for the workers in the industry with the successful holding of this meeting.

When Ben Gold, leader of the Furriers Joint Board, gave expression to these sentiments by saying, "This is not a protest demonstration, this meeting is here to build," the stadium rocked with deafening applause.

Reject Rotted Structure.

The speakers, leaders of the N. O. C., which will lead the drive to erect a powerful cloak and dressmakers' union, all echoed the determination of the masses to completely discard every vestige of the rotted structure led by the Sigman-Schlesinger clique through their agents and allies, bosses, police and gangsters.

For twenty-two months the cloakmakers have been suffering under more and more degrading sweatshop conditions, due to the fact that the right wing has destroyed the once powerful cloakmakers union, speakers declared. During all that time we have called upon the right wing to end the war against the workers and make peace, they said, but now, we call a halt to appeals for peace, knowing that it is impossible to make peace with agents of the employers.

Tells of Struggles.

Charles S. Zimmerman, chairman of the meeting, delivered the keynote of the sentiment of the gathering when he recounted the struggles of the left wing against the corruption and gangsterism of the Sigman clique and the workers' fight for a clean and honest union of the membership.

Hyman Gets Ovation.

Louis Hyman, chairman of the N. O. C., was received with a great ovation when he took his seat on the speakers' platform with Ben Gold, leader of the left wing Furriers Joint Board.

Joseph Berachevick, Rose Wortis and Julius Portnoy, three outstanding leaders of the N. O. C. then spoke. Other speakers were, Harry Berlin, of Local 10, H. Korets of the Organization Department, Saul Shelly, of the one time impartial committee of 50; A. Gutesman of the former Tolerance Group.

The resolution unanimously carried by the thousands assembled calls for the following immediate measures:

We call on all registered workers to immediately change their books at the Joint Board. We call on all workers in our trade to rally around the National Organization Committee; to pay their dues and the voluntary tax of $10 so as to raise the necessary funds with which to carry thru a successful organization campaign.

We call on our legally elected officers and the National Organization Committee, under whose leadership we are launching our new union, to make immediate preparations for a general election in our union under the supervision of the Council of Shop Delegates, on a basis where all elements will be able to participate in the leadership and the work of building our Cloak and Dressmakers' Union.

We call on the National Organization Committee to begin immediate preparation for a convention of true representatives of the ladies garment workers of the entire country, so as to lauch our new Ladies' Garment Workers' Union on a national scale.

American Labor Negro Congress Scores Randolph for Calling Off Strike of Porters

LAUD MILITANCY OF WORKERS IN URGING STRIKE

Charge Present Policy Will Wreck Union

The American Negro Labor Congress has sent the following open letter to A. Phillip Randolph, Special Organizer of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters:

Dear Mr. Randolph:

You have time and again declared that the fight of the Pullman Porters is not only their struggle, but the concern of the entire Negro race, since it is a basic struggle for the economic well-being of the Negro Race. In this you are entirely correct, and it is because we realize the importance of this struggle for the oppressed Negro masses and for the exploited workers that we are addressing to you this open letter.

It is our duty to declare to you that the policy which you have followed, and in which you still persist, is a policy which can only bring disaster and ruin to the cause of the Porters and Maids. This policy of trailing behind the labor aristocrats, who betray the interests of the workers, who follow a policy of cooperation with the employers, of refusal to strike, and of narrow craft segregation, has been proved to be a policy which weakens and divides the workers, which surrenders their interests to the bosses who exploit them.

Misled By Green.

That you have completely fallen for this ruinous policy was proved by your "postponement" of the strike at the instance of William Green of the American Federation of Labor, and by your further statement that the strike orders now in the hands of the Regional Supervisors will only be opened after consultation of the Pullman Porters leaders with Mr. Green.

Now we submit, Mr. Randolph, that Mr. Green did not organize the Pullman Porters, and that his very failure to do so is evidence of his lack of interest in these workers. We submit that the Porters Union was organized because the porters themselves rebelled against the miserable wage and the inhuman treatment to which they are subjected by the Pullman Company. And we say that to turn the organization of the porters, built up by their sacrifices and struggle, into the hands of this misleader of labor, is to doom this organization to defeat.

Warn Against Misleaders.

It is now over seven weeks since the strike was "postponed." Immediately we issued a statement warning against the dangers which threatened to these workers from this backdown. We clearly warned against the misleadership of the prejudiced labor aristocrats of the A. F. of L. and the narrow craft monopolists of the Railroad Brotherhoods. We called for a united front with the progressive rank and file of these unions to overcome the isolation of the porters and to strengthen their position. We called for a new policy of militant struggle against the oppressive Pullman Company and against the agents of these oppressors in the labor movement. We demanded action to save the Porters Union, to strengthen the position of the porters and maids, whose livelihood and status are at stake.

The bulletin which you issued, showing why the strike was postponed, shows your subservience to Mr. Green. You say: "Gossip about Mr. Green being insincere is the veriest nonsense and silliest tommyrot which could only emanate from crack-brained fanatics or low-grade morons." This abuse does not answer the criticisms of your mistaken policy, nor does it whitewash the known record of Mr. Green, as a labor misleader who consistently refuses to lead the workers in active struggle for the improvement of their conditions, but who, on the contrary, aids the employers in schemes, plans and moves for binding the workers more securely to their lot of oppression and exploitation.

Randolph Betrays Failure.

In this bulletin you further betray your complete failure to understand what strike strategy really is, what is really necessary to bring the oppressors of labor to book. You say: "We have done almost as much damage to the company by threatening a strike as we would have done by striking." Perhaps that is what you wished to do, but, seriously, Mr. Randolph, do you think that the Pullman Company has been in the least disturbed by an empty threat of strike which failed to materialize? No, indeed! One does not need to be a labor expert to know that the Pullman Company has merely used that threat to perfect a strike machinery, which it can now use to damaging effect against the porters. And the very fact that you did not have the courage to go through with the strike means only one thing for the company, that you lack the power and the spirit to actually strike.

But the porters had the courage and the spirit. According to your own statements, 85 per cent of the men would have walked off the cars and they would not only have walked off, but would have prevented any others from walking on. And you revealed that you were not at all prepared for this when you stated: "I myself was amazed at the spirit of the men for the strike."

Why should you be amazed, Mr. Randolph? When you yourself issued a call to action in which you declared to the porters: "The war is on! We must fearlessly face the fight to the finish for freedom. Our task now is to stand firm, steadfast and immovable, and prepare to go on through with the fight to the finish, regardless of cost. Now, men, this is the time for action, more action and still more action."

Workers Responded.

The men responded like men to this appeal. They were "weighed in the balance and not found wanting." But you were not prepared for action. You were not ready to lead the men forward into the struggle, into the action, which was absolutely necessary to protect their interests.

You have further declared, Mr. Randolph: "We are certain that we could win the strike alone, without the cooperation of any other labor organization." Now this is rather doubtful, but it is remotely possible. The question which this raises, which you will have to answer if you can, is: "Why did you then postpone the strike? Why did you then submit to Mr. Green's 'advice?' Why do you still trail meekly and supinely behind the American Federation of Labor? Obviously there is no need for this if you are assured that you are sufficiently powerful to win your struggle without their aid.

A. F. L. Betrays Workers.

Furthermore, Mr. Randolph, are you blind to what is happening under your very eyes in the labor movement? Do you not see that Wm. Green, John L. Lewis, etc., have aided the employers in wrecking the United Mine Workers of America, in defeating the strike of the miners of Pennsylvania and Ohio, thousands of whom are Negro workers? Do you not see that this same reactionary officialdom is playing the same role of betrayer in the strike of the textile workers?

And are you not aware of the complete disaster brought to the workers of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company by these very labor misleaders? The A. F. of L. officialdom took control of the traction workers' strike. They assumed the leadership of the old union, of the Consolidated Traction Workers' Union. What did they do? They ditched the former leaders who had built up a union, and they dallied around with Mayor Walker and the Tammany Hall politicians, and completely betrayed the struggle of these workers. Their union was smashed, their strike defeated and their interests completely betrayed into the hands of the Interborough. Today the company union of the Interborough flourishes, and the condition of the workers of this company is miserable indeed. Should not this be a warning to the betrayers? Should not this keep them from giving over the leadership and control of the union which they have sacrificed to build up, into the hands of these same labor betrayers and union wreckers?

Porters' Fight is Important.

This struggle of the porters is too important to be passed over lightly. It is too significant for the struggle of all the oppressed Negro workers against their exploiters to permit its weakening by mistaken policies or its betrayal by treacherous labor misleaders.

And so we must insist, Mr. Randolph, that this matter be openly threshed out in order that a correct policy, and an efficient and courageous leadership, shall be assured these struggling workers, who are groaning under the burden of capitalist exploitation. We must ask you to debate this question with us. We feel that this is a duty which we cannot escape. We will meet you at any time and at any place that you will mention to discuss this question, which is so vital to the economic well-being of the Negro masses. We will maintain that the present policy of the leadership of the Porters' Union, of non-strike, of cooperation with the employers, and of trailing behind the prejudiced and treacherous labor aristocrats, is a policy which threatens the destruction and defeat of this great movement for the advancement of the Negro workers.

We trust that you will accept this invitation to debate in the same spirit in which it is made—a spirit of sincere devotion to the cause of the Negro workers, and we await your reply.

Yours for a militant struggle in the interests of the workers.

(Signed) RICHARD B. MOORE.
National Organizer, American Negro Labor Congress.

2 Killed in Airplane Accident While Training for Imperialist War

Air militarism, being feverishly pushed by the imperialists in the United States, had another disaster to its credit when the debris of a Waco airplane, above, buried the bodies of Staro M. Steiger, former German imperialist ace, and C. J. Harris, student aviator, whose loss of control is alleged to have caused the tragedy.

REVOLUTIONISTS IN INDIA JAILED FOR ACTIVITIES

Seven Are Meted Out Sentences

LONDON, (By Mail).—In the so-called "treason trial" of Deoghar (Bihar) in India, seven defendants were sentenced to from three to seven years in prison and nine were freed, according to a report in the Times. The charges took up 200 sheets. When the prisoners on their way to serve sentence and the freed defendants left the court house they received a tremendous ovation from the Indian people collected there, and joined the crowd in the singing of national songs.

All of the defendants were Hindus and members of the national revolutionary movement against British imperialism. They were charged with the illegal possession of weapons and munitions, the organization of a secret society, possession of state papers and the use of false names.

SOLDIERS AID LEAGUE IN DISTRIBUTING PAPER

(By a Worker Correspondent)

GARDEN, Mass., (By Mail).—The theoretical as well as practical training of our revolutionary youth is highly necessary, therefore the Young Workers (Communist) League has with the aid of sympathetic organizations been able to hold summer courses in various parts of this country where the teachings of Marx and Lenin may be expounded to the youth.

The New England Training School, of which I am a student, has been in existence for the past three years. This year we are studying various interesting and important features of the revolutionary struggles.

The instructors, Kruth, Glotzer and Bloomfield are giving us a good and systematic training. They not only act as instructors, but as comrades and enter into our activities and sports as well as instructors in physical development.

Recently at our regular unit meetings we decided to distribute the "Young Worker" to the soldiers of Camp Devens, 26 miles away from our school. This issue dealt with the "Porter Case" and the struggle of the Y. W. C. L. against the Citizens Military Training School and militarism.

Work in Armed Forces.

It was early in the morning when we started and the soldiers at the camp were having inspection, so we separated in groups of two as we only had six comrades for this work and we started distribution. At first we approached the soldiers very timidly but as they seemed to be interested we started talking to them. For the most part they did not know about Porter, some had heard something about him, but quite differently than explained in the "Young Worker." We asked a few why they had joined the army. The answers were almost all alike. "I joined the army because I had no job and nothing else to do." One Negro soldier became very confidential and told us that he had been disabled during the World War and was in the army so that after serving a while he will be pentioned, that he had been promised $150 a month and only receive $35 and with that he had to support a family. This same soldier who is a veteran very angrily denounced the army in their exploitation of their men and that the keep the Negro soldiers seggragated from the rest of the soldiers. When we heard that, we immediately asked him in what part of the camp they were and he very readily took us to them, but they were all in their barracks so we decided to go up to their quarters. As we entered they flocked about us and simply grabbed the papers from us. Immediately a discussion started and we were sorry we could not stay to continue it, but we had to leave for a meeting. We left after getting their promises to write to the "Young Worker" about their conditions.

We returned to our specified meeting place and there were two who did not have as much luck as we had. They said: "We had almost distributed our papers when an automobile came up with two officers in it, they made us get in and took us to their headquarters where our papers were taken away from us and were told that if we were caught coming there again they would arrest us. Then the third pair came back with the same story. We were sorry it happened, but glad we gave out as much as we did. It taught us that we must continue our activities more than ever now in getting not only to the soldiers, but to the working class with our propaganda and expose the fake officials and puppets of capitalism.

We must show there soldiers the true role they are playing, that they fight against their own class, fight their own brothers and sisters when they go out to break up a strike and in their various activities, that they should instead of shooting down their comrades, turn their guns against their real enemies, the capitalists.

meetings by the Broach machine. It is estimated that there are three hundred of these workers who are being shut out and many of whom have been slugged because of their criticism of the destructive Broach policies. Broach has said that only a few are being kept out, and the plan, it is understood, is to show by actual numbers that hundreds are discriminated against.

It was learned yesterday that following the publication Tuesday in the columns of the Daily Worker of a complete exposure of the Broach methods, a series of frantic conferences were called by Broach in which his business agents and other members of his machine participated.

Some of those present, among whom are Jake Solomon, who are alleged to have reason to be concerned over past occurrences, are said to have urged "moderation."

May Call Off Meeting.

It is understood, however, that Broach is determined to go through with his "reign of terror" and that he is planning to call off tonight's meeting if the members insist on their rights.

Five thousand copies of the Daily Worker containing the expose were placed in the hands of the members of the union. Broach is said to be "at his wits end" over what to do in order to stem the rising opposition of the membership against his terroristic tactics.

The Treacherous Role of the Socialists and Their Ally, Tammany Hall

rupters and betrayers. They carried on a glorious fight against their sponsors, the bosses. From the very beginning they had to contend with the hidden sabotage of the right wing union officials which ended in open betrayal of the demands of the workers. Furriers were jailed, framed-up and clubbed not only by the Tammany Industrial Squad and police, but by gangsters hired and protected by the socialist union disrupters. Thanks to the reactionary united front, the Furriers' Union has been brought to the verge of ruin, and union conditions destroyed.

Sigman and Al Smith.

In the battle of the cloakmakers, the same forces were evident. Sigman and his gang of supporters, seeing that their days of betrayal in the International were numbered, turned to the Tammany leader, Al Smith, for assistance in driving the cloakmakers to sweat shop conditions. The tragic results of Smith's governor's commission are well-known among the broad masses of cloak and dressmakers. So, also, the alliance of the yellow socialist leaders and their treacherous organ, the Jewish Daily "Forward" with the bosses and Tammany Hall, to break the heroic struggle of the 35,000 cloakmakers in this city. Finally came the expulsion of the militant locals from the union, which broke the organization, resulting in the establishment of sweat shop conditions in needle trades centers thruoghout the country.

The same scoialist party program of class-collaboration and betrayal was carried through by the Beckerman-Hillman machine in the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union, reducing it from a once fighting organization to a mere company union.

Milliners Also Being Betrayed.

In the Cap and Millinery Workers' Union as well, the same policy of destroying the union in the interests of the bosses is being followed by the socialist, President Zaritzky. With the help of Tammany police, he is trying to break Local 43 in New York. With the help of the courts in the republican state of Massachusetts, which murdered Sacco and Vanzetti, he hopes to destroy Local 7 in Boston, through his application for an injunction.

Such has been the work of the reactionary united front in the struggles of the needle trades workers. Such has been the activity of the socialist, democrats and republicans, who, after all these betrayals and crimes, will now come to you with various false promises, seeking your support for their candidates.

There can be only one answer to the capitalist parties and to the petty-bourgeois socialist party.

Must Fight Tammany Hall.

When Tammany will come, clothed in a cloak of liberalism, asking for support of Al Smith, so-called people's candidate, we must remind them of Smith's great governor's commission, which tried to force the cloak and dressmakers into submission to the bosses, of the injunctions against the cloakmakers handed out by Tammany judges, of their Industrial Squad and anti-labor activity not only in the struggles of the needle trades workers, but in the subway and elevated strikes, in the strike of the paper box makers, et cetera. We must tell them also that this policy is in line with the appointment of Major Berry, who broke the pressmen's strike in New York several years ago, to head the Labor Bureau of the democratic national campaign committee.

G. O. P. Is Anti-Labor

When the republicans will come, we will remind them not only of the republican judges who have thrown innocent strikers in New York into prison for the crime of fighting for better conditions for themselves and their families. We will also tell them that we know that the republican machine has done in Pennsylvania, in the bitter strike of the bituminous coal miners, where the most vicious injunctions were issued, where hundreds of workers were brutally beaten up and arrested, where political officials openly cooperated with the coal operators to break the strike and destroy the union. We will add also that we are not ignorant of what is happening in New Bedford, where 30,000 textile workers, engaged in a strike for many weeks, are being daily arrested, thrown into prison, and the republican political forces, with the aid of the National Guard and their bayonets, are using every means to help the textile barons crush the strike. Nor have we forfotten, that the republican Governor Fuller ordered the execution of two brave and noble fighters in the workers' cause—Sacco and Vanzetti.

The needle trades workers in New York and other cities, militant fighters, cannot support either the republican or democratic parties—the parties of Wall Street, ruled by the House of Morgan, trying not only to crush the workers of America, but to enslave the peoples of Nicaragua, China, et cetera.

Must Repudiate Socialists.

As for the socialist party—for them, our answer must be, when they come to us pretending to be a party of the working class, a clear and emphatic repudiation. The socialist party has betrayed the needle trades workers, is in fact the party of the needle trades manufacturers, as it is betraying the entire working class. The socialist party has become a party of the petty-bourgeois. It no longer believes in the class struggle, but has become, like the capitalist parties, advocates of "peace and harmony" in industry between the workers and the bosses. The socialist party today fights the progressive movement everywhere —not only in the needle trades, but among the miners and textile workers as well.

Who know, better than we, needle trades workers, how completely the socialist party has degenerated? We have seen it working hand in hand with the bosses, with Tammany Hall. We have seen it using gangsters against our best fighters. We have seen it encourage scabbery in the industry, break our organization. The needle trades workers throughout the country—the cloakmakers, dressmakers, furriers, tailors, cap and millinery workers, cannot support the party of the betrayers of labor. We can only expose them, and enlighten the workers in other industries as to the real character of these betrayers.

Workers Party for Workers.

There is another party in the field, however. A party which is true to the program of class struggle—the Workers (Communist) Party.

The Workers (Communist) Party is today the only anti-capitalist party in America, the only party calling upon the workers to intensify their resistance against the union-smashing, wage-slashing, open-shop drives of the bosses, and to fight against capitalism, with its imperialist wars, unemployment, low standards of living for the workers, and increasing terrorism. Not only has the party itself, through its program and support, inspired us to struggle for better conditions, but we have found the members of the party in the front ranks of the struggle of the cloakmakers and furriers against the bosses, the socialist union betrayers, and the reactionary A. F. of L.

In our past struggles, we saw clearly how necessary it is to have a strong, powerful, industrial union, and a powerful political party of the American workers. We have therefore in the past carried on an agitation for the organization of a labor party which should include all industrial and political organizations of labor. But the attempts to organize such a party failed because the treacherous A. F. of L., together with the yellow socialists, want to continue the division in the ranks of the Amercian working class.

Urge Militancy.

We needle trades workers, with our revolutionary traditions, our heritage of militancy and opposition to capitalism, cannot support the parties of the capitalists, and must not support the party of the petty-bourgeoisie, the socialist party, which has been instrumental in destroying our union and working conditions. We must remain true to our traditions and to our immediate interests.

The National Committee of the Needle Trades, Section of the Trade Union Educational League, after analyzing the conditions of the needle trades workers, and the political situation and parties as we find them today, finds that in the present election campaign there is only one party which deserves the active support of the American workers generally and the needle trades workers especially — the party of class struggle, the Workers (Communist) Party.

We have noted the presidential candidates of the parties — Al Smith, democratic nominee; Herbert Hoover, republican candidate, both business representatives tools of Wall Street; and Norman Thomas, a preacher, who has not raised his voice once against the union-wrecking activity of the socialist trade union bureaucracy, candidate of the socialist party. Opposed to them we find as the candidates of of the Workers (Communist) Party, William Z. Foster, a member of the Car Men's Union, candidate for president, and Benjamin Gitlow, a member of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union, candidate for vice president, both of them leaders of many years' standing in the struggles of the American working class.

Vote Communist!

We therefore whole-heartedly endorse the platform and candidates of the Workers (Communist) Party. We call upon all needle trades workers throughout the country to support the Workers Party ticket, nationally and locally. We call upon them to organize shop and trade committees for the Communist election campaign. We call upon all the women workers in the industry, who have so loyally and heroically participated in the struggles, and upon the wives of the needle trades workers, who are equally victims of the treacherous united front of the bosses, the A. F. of L. bureaucracy, the socialist union workers, and the capitalist state, suffering hunger and privation and seeing their children in need, to take an active part in the campaign, and give every possible assistance.

Forward in the struggle to re-establish union conditions in the industry!

Forward to a militant, united union of all needle trades workers!

Forward in the fight against government by injunction, against the industrial squad, police terrorism and brutality!

Forward to the struggle against the capitalist parties, tools of Wall Street, and against the socialist party, betrayers of labor!

Forward in the campaign for the Workers (Communist) Party, the Party of the class struggle, the Party of the working class!

Vote Communist! A vote for Foster and Gitlow is a protest against the whole capitalist system under which needle trades workers and all other workers suffer!

TWO MILLINERY WORKERS FINED

The capitalist courts again won the victory yesterday in their campaign of intimidation of militant workers. Ida Shorr and Diana Lenken, two millinery workers, were yesterday morning fined $5 each for distributing leaflets. They were charged with violating a city ordinance.

The two workers were arrested last Thursday while distributing Trade Union Educational League leaflets on Sixth Ave., between 36th and 37th Sts. Magistrate Abraham Rosenblut of Jefferson Market Court postponed the case until this morning. When they appeared this morning before Magistrate Jesse Silverman of the same court, he fined them $5 each, tho they had caused no disturbanc eand interfered with no one in their distribution of leaflets.

The workers were defended by Jacques Buitenkant, representing the New York section of the International Labor Defense, which also paid the fines.

Honduras Gets Implied Threat From U. S. on Guatemala Controversy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (UP).—Honduras was asked by the United States today to reconsider its decision rejecting the proposal to submit its boundary dispute with Guatemala to the Central American Arbitration Tribunal for adjustments.

In a note delivered to the Honduran foreign minister, American Minister Summerlin said: "I am instructed to say that my government feels that the suggestion which the secretary of state made on June 5 is still open to acceptance by the government of Honduras and hopes that government will give careful reconsideration to the matter.

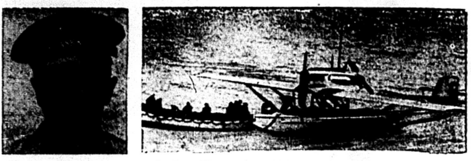
Seaman Whose Quick Sight Saved Imperialists Fliers



Charles Harlow, a seaman on the S. S. Minnewaska, which rescued Captain Courtney and his crew of imperialists was on watch and spied the wrecked "Whale" adrift in mid-ocean. He turned in the alarm which resulted in the rescue of the fliers. At the right is shown the rescue.

JOHN PORTER TELLS OF PRISON PERSECUTION

By JOHN PORTER.

(This article was written in the military prison at Fort Adams, where Porter is held while waiting transfer to Governor's Island prison. He was court-martialed and sentenced to two and a half years hard labor.)

Many methods have been used by the military authorities to break my spirit—to separate me from the ranks of the working class.

During the first three weeks of my imprisonment, I was given the dirtiest work and was subjected to the most miserable conditions. I was refused clean clothes, toilet articles, etc., and was forced to wash myself with lye soap. It wasn't until clean clothes and toilet articles were sent to me that the military czars saw that this method was a flop.

Thrown in Solitary Cell.

The next attempt was to throw me in a solitary cell. The bed was of steel. The cell was damp at all times. After working at hard labor ten hours daily shoveling coal. I was put in this cell. That attempt also was unsuccessful.

The third attempt was to impose the maximum sentence of two and a half years. However, were it not for the mass protest meetings and the fight of the International Labor Defense, their efforts to make additional charges against me might have been successful, for that was their intention at the beginning.

Not Fooled by Bosses.

Recently, they gave me two magazines on religion. They try to use even religion in trying to crush my spirit. They are also treating me, I dare say better than other prisoners in order to win me over to their side. But it will last only until they find out that this attempt also is usucessful. I know the consequence of fighting for the working class, and I know that the authorities will return to their dirty tricks and will use every attempt possible in order to discourage me and to break my spirit. I can only say to these military czars: Your attempts will only make more workers, young and old, realize that you are nothing but highly paid suckers of the capitalists. Your attempts will only double our forces in order to build a workingman's government. You only make our fighting spirit stronger.

Tell the New Bedford strikers to defy the militia. Tell them not to think of themselves alone in the struggle, but of the consequences to the younger generation. If they lose now, what will be the consequences in the future? New Bedford strikers! Stand firm and you will win! Victory is near! I congratulate the plucky fighting spirit of the strikers!

(Daily Worker Talks No. 6).

What Price Glory!

Over twenty thousand papers carried the above picture prominently displayed in their pages. Over fifty millions of workers saw it and read breathlessly the details of the thrilling rescue. When the heroes of the great adventure arrived in New York, they were met with the customary city-wide welcome. Mayor Jimmie Walker led the festivities.

For this is the picture of the British imperialist crew of the flyer "Whale," as they were being rescued in mid-ocean.

• • • • • •

A Hindu worker saw the picture and recalled that his brother was then rotting in a Calcutta dungeon. He had led a strike of railroad workers against their British Imperial masters for whose glory and prestige the flying expedition had been undertaken. . . .

A Chinese worker gritted his teeth and remembered the gruesome picture of his beheaded comrade in Shanghai, murdered at the behest of the English military officers. . . .

A Negro worker swore out loud when he remembered what British Imperialism was doing to his brothers in South Africa and elsewhere. . . .

But fifty millions of other workers look at the picture and were thrilled.

Is there a need of The DAILY WORKER to expose the true meaning of these Fascist adventures?

Is it not of the greatest value to the fellow worker whom you meet to place in his hand a copy of the only daily paper in English which really fights against this poisonous propaganda.

YOUNG WORKERS HIT BROOKWOOD

Refute A. F. of L. Red Charge

The Young Workers (Communist) League yesterday issued a statement in refutation of the charge by the American Federation Executive Council that the Brookwood Labor College is Communistic in its tendencies.

"Brookwood College is no more Communist in spirit than the General Executive Board of the A. F. of L. itself," the statement declares Cloak of Reaction.

"In our experience with Brookwood and its officialdom, which has extended over a considerable period, and which included two Labor Youth Conferences called under the auspices of Brookwood, we have always found that this institution has consistently functioned as a cloak for the destructive policy of the reactionary labor fakers.

"Although the labor conferences were ostensibly called to advance the cause of the organization of the youth, it seemed to be the prime objective of the Brookwood officials, such as Muste and Saposs, to defeat the will of the delegates, to prevent the taking of any concrete organizational steps, and to limit the entire proceedings to empty talk and pious 'wishes.'

"It was only because of the overwhelming demand of the majority of the delegates at the second Labor Youth Conference and in the face of the bitter opposition of the Brookwoodites that the concrete organizational resolutions of the Young Workers (Communist) League were adopted.

"Brookwood has always managed to play the game of the corrupt and reactionary labor bureaucracy as far as its attitude towards the organization of the youth is concerned.

"As regards its teachings everybody who has eyes can see that its whole content is the preaching of class collaboration in a 'refined' form. Nothing can be further from Communism than the teachings of Brookwood.

Only One Road.

"The Young Workers (Communist) League will continue its struggle against Brookwood and its ideology and will make every effort to destroy whatever influence it may have among the working youth. Communism and the revolutionary struggle is the only road for the young workers, as for the working class as a whole, towards emancipation."

Communism in China Makes Big Headway, White Guardist Admits

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 7.—The Institute of Politics which is holding its sessions here, listened today to a former member of the Kerensky government, Gen. Yakhontoff, who was greatly distressed at the possibility of a workers' and peasants' revolution in China.

He urged full support of the reactionary government of Nanking, which, he thought, could alone prevent "Communism from rising its head," and which should be supported by all the powers in order to prevent a revolution.

Professor Blakeslee, of Clark University, who conducted the discussion, stated that Communism "does not have a chance" as long as the Nanking government remains in control.

USSR PEASANTS WILL RECEIVE MORE SEED FREE

Increase Distribution in Villages

MOSCOW, Aug. 8.—The Commissariat of Agriculture today announced an extension of its distribution plan, under the provisions of which the peasants has been receiving seed for sowing free of charge.

From now on larger quantities of seed are to be distributed over larger areas thru the village cooperative societies. The cooperatives act both as buying and selling organizations for the government trusts and the free distribution of seed of the best quality will insure a crop of the best grains.

The peasant, in turn, will agree to sell a certain portion of his crop to the cooperative for which he will be paid on the new price scale, which has been considerably raised lately. The distribution of scientifically prepared seed will also aid in the development of special cultures and special grain areas.

"LIBERAL" PAPER ENDORSES SMITH

LaFolletites Decide Last Surrender

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The last stream of murky progressivism to empty itself into the sewer of Tammany corruption is the so-called People's Legislative Service, an organization brought into existence by the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette, who in 1924 had the support of the small shopkeepers and the socialists for the presidency.

The organization Wednesday advised the progressives of the country to vote for Governor Smith in preference to Herbert Hoover through its weekly publication called the "People's Business."

This is bad progressive weather, the publication indicates, and by comparing the republican with the democratic platforms comes to the conclusion that the followers of La Follette will this year vote for Smith whom it calls "the Sidewalk Prince."

The endorsement of the Wall St. candidate, the avowed candidate of the country's biggest open-shop interests and the leader of the most corrupt political organization in the world is taken here as an indication of the distance the so-called progressives have gone from their lofty claims of 1924. The socialist party today seeks to inherit the estate of the bankrupt progressives with a future seen to be the exact duplicate of the progressives.

Discuss Kellogg Pact.

The commission for the investigation of the international political situation sat under the chairmanship of Vandervelde. A long debate took place on the proposals of the British delegation concerning the Kellogg pact, the evacuation of the Rhineland and the possible reestablishment of relations with the Soviet Union.

In the plenary session today the congress demonstrated against "countries without democracy," among others, the Soviet Union. Abramovitch, the Russian menshevik, Russanov, a social revolutionary, and Turati of Italy, were the demonstrative chairmen. Abramovitch furiously attacked Bolshevism. Turati appealed to the social-democratic and democratic governments to take up an attitude against fascism.

Slanders Chinese Communists.

At the first discussion the speakers were the menshevik Dan, Buxton, of Great Britain, and Yangkantao, a Parisian Chinese student. The latter declared that Chinese unity had already been achieved, but complained of the Kuomintang terror against the "socialists."

The chinese Bolsheviks, he said, had encouraged brutal elements to attack the Kuomintang and thus interfered with the march on Peking and caused the loss of workers' lives. The task of "socialism" was to make good the damage done by the utopian tactics of the Bolsheviks and the criminal oppression of the Kuomintang, he declared. The socialist international," he said, must assist in winning independence for China.

CROATIAN REVOLT LOOMS AS SERB SOLDIERS NEAR

Condition of Raditch Growing Worse

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Aug. 8.—As the Croatian autonomist parliament holds its sessions in Zagreb, and the condition of Stefan Raditch gradually grows worse, with almost all hope given up for his recovery, Serbian troops are reported on the march to Zagreb.

The Serb-Croatian division sharpened by the killing of Ristovitch, editor of a Serbian paper, has assumed such proportions that the death of Raditch may be the signal for armed uprising and action toward complete secession from the Yugoslav monarchy on the part of the Croatians.

It is thought unlikely that the statement of the leaders of the Croatian Peasant Party, requesting the population to refrain from "extreme" forms of demonstration, will be heeded by the Croatians, whose feelings against the Serb dictatorship have been strongly aroused.

Fifty school children listened to an address of Park Commisisoner Walter Herrick and then went through Central Park picking up paper and banana peels. These are excellent tactics for Tamany Hall. Persuade the kids they're having a lot of fun and then add a score of names to the padded payroll for park cleaning and pocket the difference.

Everybody knows that a capitalist newspaper editor will relinquish his honor for a four column ad James S. Sheridan, of St. Louis, power trust propagandist, told the Federal Trade Commission about newspaper editors who handed over their honor and never got the ads. He was speaking of the editors of country newspapers and referred to them as "God's Fools." They used power trust propaganda and kept out protests against boosted power rates on the promise of getting ads which never arrived It's getting so a capitalist editor will have to have a customer slip the money under the door before he opens it.

It has even been suggested the statue be stored temporarily for possible use at some future date.

Gems of Learning

Thomas Craddock Hughes, attorney—"Many supreme court justices undoubtedly have stock in the Interborough Transit Company and yet this company has a contract with the city. You can carry the situation to any absurd lengths you like." Another reason why the court is not opposed to a seven cent fare is that he usually rides in a packard.

Henry H. Klein, attorney—"Perhaps the Grand Jury may investigate the deaths of Mr. Phillips.

"I have no doubt the investigation will develop that he made $6,000,000 out of Queens sewer contracts. I have reason to believe that Phillips put up $800,000 in gambling ventures at Saratoga and elsewhere. He had twelve safe deposit boxes ten months before he died, in which his assets and securities were deposited. When some of the boxes were opened in the search for Phillip's assets, I have been informed, notes were found in his handwriting reading: 'You can go to hell.'" This is the usual attitude of grafters in a capitalist country.

Wm. Green, President of the American Federation of Labor—"We shall deal with each situation as it seems best, and we shall do everything possible to protect American wage earners against the designs of Moscow, which are entirely revolutionary, and which we thoroughly understand." Outside of class collaboration what Bill Green thoroughly understands could be placed on the figure "1" of a lady's wrist watch.

PERILOUS MINE IS UNINSPECTED AS DEATH LOOMS

Reveal "Collaboration" as Murder

(By a Worker Correspondent)

POWHATTAN, O. (By Mail).—The Powhattan Mining Company some time ago imported 375 Negro strikebreakers from all parts of the country for the purpose of operating the mine open shop. These men were brought in by Paul Arcal, who received $20 for the use of his truck and $1 a head.

The scabs have not been very civil to the native population, especially when they discovered that the city authorities would protect them in every way. This is the time when strikers have no rights. There have been nightly brawls in which the police were supposed to step in, but they did not do so. On the contrary, a strikebreaker attacked two young girls, but the case was dismissed.

The scabs were told by the wife of one of the militant miners that they would receive protection for the time being, but later they would see what would happen.

Now it is happening. The same Paul Arcal is now trying to circulate a petition among the foreign-born miners in which they are to demand that the scabs are to be sent out of the city. This the foreign-born miners refuse to do. They say that Arcal brought them in, and now he can get them out again. The Powhattan mine has taken back its men, but on the following basis: Each man is required to buy a share of stock costing $100. They have been checked off five dollars each pay until lately. Now the men do not know whether they are being checked off, or what they are earning altogether. They have to accept the pay that is given them, and they do not know whether they are being paid 4, 3 or 2 dollars a day. They only know that they get so and so much pay, and that is all there is to it. Whether it is on the co-operative basis of 60-40 or the 1917 scale, they have not the slightest idea.

One thing, however, they do know. The Powhattan mine is a very dangerous mine. Not long ago, a man was killed and his body was placed in a box-car until leaving time. Then the body was taken out, while the miners climbed in to go home, and was taken away.

The men working in this mine on the so-called co-operative basis, being "stockholders," have no protection of the workmen's compensation law. The mine is not inspected, and if there are any men injured, that is their bad luck.

So it goes in the mining camps, now that John Lewis has destroyed the union. WAYNE.

Ill. Working Women Denounce Imperialist War at Federation Meet

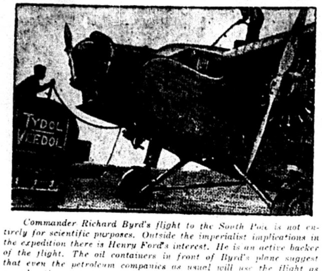
CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 7.—The Chicago Federation of Working Women's Organizations held a successful anti-war meeting Saturday in North West Hall. This was the first of a series of meetings that are being arranged for the coming season where working class problems will be discussed.

Edith Rudquist the organizer of the federation was the principal speaker. She outlined the causes of imperialist war, told of the propaganda machinery that is being prepared to lure and misinform the workers of the true nature of the struggles, and the impossibility of peace under capitalism. She said that the programmes of the Women's Peace Society, and kindred pacifist organizations were mere nonsense because they appeal on a humanitarian basis and forget that the causes for war lies in the class basis of capitalist society.

Urge Aid For Miners.

Ida Rothstein told of her experiences in the Southern Illinois coal fields, and urged intensive work for the relief of the miners. Anna David spoke on the coming elections and the roll of the Workers (Communist) Party, urging all to participate and to vote for the working class candidates on the Workers (Comunist) Party ticket.

Oil Companies Profit, Too, in Byrd Flight



Commander Richard Byrd's flight to the South Pole is not entirely for scientific purposes. Outside the imperialist implications in the expedition there is Henry Ford's interest. He is an active backer of the flight. The oil containers in front of Byrd's plane suggest that even the petroleum companies as usual will use the flight as an advertisement for the qualities of their product.

LAUNDRY WORK IS HARD GRIND

Twenty Thousand Now Unorganized

(By a Worker Correspondent)

Over twenty thousand workers are today working in the laundry industry under the most inhuman conditions imaginable. While the owners are making millions of dollars annual profit from their wage slaves, the workers are virtually starving.

The workers put in 13 to 14 hours of strenuous toil per day, sometimes sixteen, with an irregular period of twenty minutes for lunch. It is estimated that each worker handles about five tons of clothes per day

Poor Quarters.

Most all of the plants are located in old dilapidated buildings which need renovating; there are few windows, usually small; many of the pants are located in cellars and when one enters he needs to be careful for fear of bumping his head against the ceiling. Almost in all, without exception, the floors of the laundries are flooded with water, six inches deep, and the workers must wear rubber boots and rubber aprons. They also have to be very careful that they do not poison their hands and bodies from the chemicals and blues that they put in the washing of the clothes.

The average wages of the laundry workers ranges from $9 to $20 per week. Many workers are not given a full week's work, but are only put on when the place is overburdened with work, usually during the beginning of the week.

Women Exploited.

The girls and women who work in the mangle room have to stay in rooms poorly ventilated, with very few windows and where the humidity reads 97, with a temperature as high as 105 degrees Farenheit.

Almost every worker is suffering from one or more of the industrial diseases due to the long hours, high humidity and temperature, dampness, diseased clothing and lint dust, which affects the lungs and nostrils.

From many medical examinations of the laundry workers it has been found that almost every worker suffers from high blood pressure, due to the strenuous work, long hours and unsanitary conditions.

Widows, Minors.

The greater percentage of these workers are Negroes and married women who have to work and help their husbands support their families. Many of these women are widows and have to support their children on the starvation wages.

Besides the intense exploitation of these wage slaves, the laundry bosses hire professional thugs and sluggers to terrorize the workers. Many a case has been reported of workers taken up in a room and slugged into insensibility.

72 Hours for $15.53 Per Week in South

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8.—Cottonseed oil mill workers, most of whom are Negroes, have been receiving miserable pay for long hours work, it is gathered from the report of a survey of a number of mills made by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor for 1927.

The workers have been working 12 hours a day on the average, which makes a total of 72 working hours per week since they work six days per week. Extremely lower and out of proportion with the amount of working hours the workers received only $15.53 per week wages.

No additional pay to the regular rate was given for overtime work in all mills with but three exceptions.

The workers comprised three groups. They were Negroes, who numbered 3,813; Mexicans, 133 in number and 152 whites.

Boiler Company Conditions Are Vile; Pay Low

(By a Worker Correspondent.)

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (By Mail).—The conditions at this Prospect Boiler Company is of the worst type to be found in this section. Besides working ten long hours per day, some times more, the workers here make all types of tanks, gasoline, water and oil burners, stacks, breechings and chutes; all kinds of welding and repairing, some out-of-town jobs, for which the workers who are assigned to do this kind of work very seldom gets paid for it, unless he fights for it. He doesn't even get extra time. Several workers got cheated this way already.

The workers here, especially the boilermaker helpers, get only 40 to 45 cents per hour and the boilermakers (only a few) get 75 cents per hour. The machine welders get from 50 to 60 cents an hour.

The company does not have sufficient supplies of tools to work with.

Here sanitary conditions are also very bad. The lavatory is very filthy; the wash basin is unfit to wash in; no towels are furnished or soap for washing. Besides there are no lockers to put their clothes in for over night or for period of a day.

This company is so greedy for their profits that the workers are compelled to chip in among themselves to have ice for drinking.

Recently this company laid off more than half of their force and practically all the night shift. When in full swing there are usually about 40 workers employed here. The reason for laying off, the officials claim, is that the company lost 80 per cent. of orders from steady customers and too much production of tanks laying around the yard now.

SILK BOSSES PAY 25 CENTS AN HOUR

Girls Get 1 Cent Less; 49 1-2 Hour Week

HOPEWELL, Va. (FP).—Tubize Artificial Silk Company, with its huge mill at Hopewell, Va., capitalized at $10,000,000, is paying its men spinners and twisters 25 cents an hour. They work in alternating shifts each week, from 7 a. m., to 3 p. m., and then from 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. At one time spinners were paid for overtime, but now they get their straight 25 cents for all Sunday and overtime labor.

$11.88 a Week.

Girls working in the finishing room, beating out artificial silk, classifying it and putting it into models get one cent less than the men spinners. At 25 cents an hour, their 49½-hour week brings in $11.88.

The girls get their jobs through answering ads in the farm journals. Down from the hills and back country they come, utterly ignorant of industrial life, unaware of unionism and unable to bargain with the boss even on an individual basis. They get rooms in the company dormitory for $2 a week. There they are supervised and spied upon by a company matron. Morals is the excuse for this spying, but a girl who talks unionism and gets caught at it loses her job without delay. Lights go out at 10 p. m. in the company and a girl has as much control over her private life as a child of three.

Company Stores.

Rent and meal tickets are deducted from the weekly checks. The new girl worker gets no money at all for two weeks, the company holding back one week. All payment is by check, never by cash. The checks are good at the company store, where the girls are required either to buy some goods or pay a fee for the privilege of getting hard cash for their piece of paper.

MEETING PROVES SUCCESS ALTHO ARRESTS FOLLOW

Young Prisoners Sing Labor Songs in Jail

(By a Worker Correspondent)

ROCKFORD, Ill. (By Mail).—Ten Young Workers (Communist) League members, eight boys and two girls, attending the Workers' Training School in Rockford, Illinois, were arrested while holding an open-air meeting on the night of August 1.

The chief of police had refused to give the League a permit and as soon as the meeting was started two big-bellied cops came up and arrested the speaker. Indignant, one League member after another got up on the soap-box, the crowd of 300 all the while cheering the speakers and booing, jeering the officers who were placing the boys and girls under arrest. After six speakers had been jerked off the box and placed under arrest one of the officers made the remark, "Where in the h— are they all coming from?" Finally the riot squad was sent for and the meeting was dispersed. The ten League members were raced over to the police station, a crowd of League members and sympathizers following the patrol wagon to the city jail.

Upon the request of the prosecuting attorney the sly-faced judge continued the case until 2:30 in the afternoon. The ten boys and girls were released on a collective bond of two hundred dollars. In the afternoon, after walking nearly two miles to the police court under a torrid sun and waiting in the stuffy court room for an hour, the judge did not show up and the case was again continued until the next day at nine o'clock a. m. The prosecuting attorney still needed time to build up his weak case. The group he represented evidently were afraid the ten speakers would slip through their hands and be acquitted. So they asked for time.

The newspapers were very "indignant" about the Young Workers (Communist) League daring to hold an open-air meeting in defiance of the law." They used three-inch scare-lines on front pages, reading "Police Stop Communist Meeting." "Ten Pinks Land in Jail for 'Soap-Boxing.'"

At this meeting nearly one hundred copies of the Daily Worker were sold.

On the morning of August 3, the case finally came up for trial. The League members demanded a jury-trial. However, each of the jurors summoned were members of the American Legion, chamber of commerce, ex-soldiers, etc., and were prejudiced from the start. They promptly brought in the capitalist verdict of "guilty" and each of the boys and girls were fined the maximum.

They are appealing the verdict. In the meantime the Young Workers (Communist) League is going to hold open-air meetings every Wednesday and Friday nights until August 26, the date the Training School ends.

UNION NEEDED BY NABISCO LABOR

Action Must Be Taken Against Speed-up

By a Worker Correspondent

Nabisco workers are begining to discuss the problem of organizing. The distribution every Wednesday of Daily Workers before the entrances to the factory and the speeches every week have aroused the interest of the workers.

Your correspondent heard some of the workers recently arguing that it is impossible to organize the National Biscuit Company workers because "our work is not a trade, and if we walk out, the company will easily be able to replace us".

Year to Learn Speed-up.

However, in every such discussion, others are ready to point out that the biscuit company worker is not so easily replaced. We all know that a woman must take six months to learn packing, and learning the speed-up rate the company requires will take a year.

The dough mixers also need no less experience than the oven men. Then there are many other jobs around the shop which are unorganized, even though they belong to what are usually called the skilled trades; we have carpenters, machinists, drivers, painters, electricians, etc. working in our midst.

Strike Won in Ten Minutes.

In every such discussion, too, some workers will remind the others of the unorganized but successful strike of the girls in the Sixteenth Street factory in September, 1922. This strike won the half day Saturday, within ten minutes. The bosses were afraid to let the strike spread, and granted the demands before the strikers reached the door on the way out. It shows the bosses' fear of a general strike. We would not have the 44-hour week if it were not for this strike six years ago. And we know that long work days mean more product piling up, and more layoffs.

"Daily" Worries Bosses.

Already we see the bosses in the National Biscuit Company becoming very much worried over the distribution of the Daily Worker and the lectures, which the Workers Party is holding every week. During the last week's lecture, just outside the factory, all the bosses were walking nervously around near the windows, listening and looking pale. The manager of the factory paced from window to window like a wolf in a cage. That shows they know what a union means for the workers, and they are watching every motion toward forwarding an organization that would prevent the bosses from having their way all the time.

URGES SUPPORT OF YOUTH MEET IN SEPTEMBER

Young Workers Must Back Conference

(By a WORKER Correspondent)

In Coney Island, the local chamber of commerce is conducting a membership drive taking place between August 1st and August 15th.

The campaign for more members is in full swing. Show cards have been placed in many establishments all over the Island, urging the business men to join the organization. So far, the response has been very "pleasing," because the business men realize that there is more strength in an economic organization than in individual action.

Local newspapers are supporting the movement. In this way business interests are more advanced than our "official" labor movement. Instead of admitting them, they are throwing out members who have been trade unionists for years. No attempt is made to organize workers into trade unions. Some of these workers would join eagerly at any time.

Most of all, the youth is neglected. Such "liberal" institutions as the Brookwood Labor (?) College pretend to organize the young workers. When actual proposals are given, Brookwood is deaf, dumb and blind to them. This was clearly shown at their conference which was held in May, 1928.

However, some labor organizations are earnest in organizing the young workers and a Working Youth Conference will be held in the latter part of September for this purpose in this city.

All progressive labor organizations should support this conference. The bosses are strongly organized, why can't we workers be organized also? This Working Youth Conference will be a big move towards that direction and trade unions and unorganized young workers should look to it as such, support it and build strong the labor movement by organizing youth who work in the factories.

Man, Wife Get 2 Years for InterRace Marriage

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 8.—Mott Hamilton Wood and his wife, Mary, are serving two years in the Virginia State Penitentiary fo violation of the "Virginia Racial Integrity Law." At the time or their marriage Wood himself did not know that he had a trace of "Negro blood" and that according to the Virginia authorities it was a terrible crime for him to marry one 100 per cent white.

Wood appears white, has straight hair and bluish gray eyes. He lost both legs while working on the Norfolk and Western Railway.

Prisoner No. 3,380, in other words Mary Wood, victim of legalized southern prejudice, has been ill much of the time since her imprisonment ten months ago.

Governor Byrd, who recently visited the prison, listened to the story of this outrage, but made no comment, except to ask if Wood had received credit for the time spent in jail while awaiting trial.

Thousands to Take Part in Mass Scene at Labor Defense Outing This Saturday

WILL SYMBOLIZE FIGHT TO FREE CLASS VICTIMS

Affair Will Attract Thousands

A mass scene symbolizing the struggle of the workers to free their comrades behind the bars of the capitalist jails will be one of the chief numbers at the big outing of the New York Section of the International Labor Defense in Pleasant Bay Park Saturday.

The unique feature of this mass scene is that all of the several thousand workers who are expected at the outing will be actors in it. The great crowd of workers will march to the prison, carrying banners with slogans such as "Down With Capitalist 'Justice!'" "Only the Might of the Workers Can Free Labor's Prisoners" and "Rally to the Defense of Mooney and Billings."

Fight Police.

Behind the bars of the jail class war prisoners will be seen and barring the way of the mass of workers, the defenders of capitalist justice, the police. A struggle will ensue between the police and the workers, resulting in the victory of the latter and the release of their comrades.

This scene, one of the largest mass spectacles ever staged in this country, will mark the high point of a program of unusual lavishness. Another feature of the program will be the taking of moving pictures of the outing, showing scenes of the various activities. This picture will later be shown throughout the country.

Other Numbers.

Among the other numbers will be a torchlight parade of all those present, athletics and games, open-air dancing to the music of a first-class jazz band and refreshments. Starting at noon, the affair will last far into the night.

Tickets for the I. L. D. outing, which is an annual left-wing celebration, are selling fast and a large crowd is expected. They can be bought at 35 cents each at the office of the I. L. D., 799 Broadway, Room 422, and at the Workers Center, 26-28 Union Square.

A. F. L. TREASURER IS REPORTED OUT

Tobin, Tammany Tool, Makes Gesture

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 8. (UP).—Reports were current here today that Daniel J. Tobin, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, had resigned because the executive council of the federation failed to indorse Governor Alfred E. Smith's candidacy.

Tobin refused to confirm or deny the reports.

The federation council, meeting in a secret session here, adopted a position of neutrality in the presidential campaign.

Tobin's resignation as treasurer was said to have been tabled in the hope that he would reconsider before the next quarterly meeting.

It was known that Tobin, president of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs International Union, was a strong supporter of Governor Smith and the council's decision not to openly support the Democratic nominee was regarded as a victory for Herbert Hoover.

A Tammany Tool.

The report of the resignation of Daniel J. Tobin, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, was received here with very little surprise. Informed labor circles have known that Tobin was committed to support Smith several monts ago following a reported conference of labor officials and Tammany Hall politicians. Tobin, who is president of the Brotherhood of Teamsters, is one of the pillars of the Tammany machine. Tobin has consistently refused to organize the taxi drivers throughout the country and especially in New York City. The Yellow Taxivab Corporation which is controlled by interests close to Tammany Hall, is believed to have been guaranteed "immunity" by the Tobin machine.

It is not believed that Tobin will "stay" resigned.

Deportation Threat Arouses Workers

against the strikers from the municipal government, a new and more sinister form of oppression is now in preparation in an effort to halt the coming walkout of the tens of thousands in this huge mill center. Plans are being laid, police officials announce, to call in the department of justice to start deportation proceedings against the members of the Textile Mill Committees who are not citizens.

Despite the mobilization of all these forces of the bosses and their strikebreaking government, scores of workers in the cotton division of the American Printing Company plant joined the strike yesterday noon. This is admitted even by the boss-owned press here.

The announcement that the department of justice will interfere has already succeeded in stirring up a storm of indignation, not only among the strikers, but even among the membership of the reactionary-captained American Federation of Textile Operatives.

Their indignant condemnation of this move reveals not only hatred for this scheme to hurt the popular Textile Mill Committees, but also reveals the fact that they will remember the role played by these frame-up artists in the Sacco-Vanzetti murder.

Meanwhile the officialdom of the A. F. T. C. Textile Council, who, led by their black president, Police Commissioner Tansey, are trying their utmost to halt the growing sentiment for a general walkout. Campos, council secretary, yesterday issued a statement asking for a conference with Nathan Durfee, American Printing Company boss, in which he declared that he will promise not to take up the wage cut question. He asks the parley, however, to convince Durfee to grant recognition to his union.

The council also issued an order to their members, many of whom had joined the strike, to remain at their places by the looms. This strikebreaking move is vehemently denounced by their own membership.

LYNN SHOE WORKERS BRAVE CITY'S POLICE

(Special to the Daily Worker)

LYNN, Mass., Aug. 8.—More than two thousand shoe workers of this city, crowding the approaches to the hall where they were intending to listen to speakers of the Progressive Shoe Workers, yesterday confronted a battalion of police called by the authorities and the bosses to prevent the meeting.

A mass meeting of shoe workers had been scheduled for seven-thirty in the evening, but the first bodies of police began to surround the hall by four in the afternoon. More followed presently until all entrances to the building were under police guard.

Warned that the authorities had acted to prevent the gathering, the workers formed in crowds in front of the hall, but the organizers attempted to proceed with the meeting and were warned by the captain of police to leave the city immediately under threat of arrest.

Protests from the crowd only brought a more menacing attitude on the part of the police. In order to prevent any disturbance which could react against the shoe workers, whose resentment was growing as the crowd increased, the chairmen then announced that the meeting would be postponed until next week.

In the meantime efforts will be made to obtain official permission for holding a similar meeting although the leaders of the Progressive Shoe Workers expect to encounter strong opposition from the shoe bosses operating through groups of politicians in the city hall and at police headquarters.

Girl Shell Shocked at Military Camp

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 7 (UP).—Miss Emma M. Westerman of this city is suffering from shell shock as a result of standing near a large field gun while visiting Camp Henderson, at Mount Gretna, recently.

Miss Westerman unknowingly walked near the piece while a smoke screen was being laid. As she stood near, it was fired by the crew from a distance.

The girl was stunned by the shock. She was given treatment at the field hospital of the 107th Hospital Company. When she did not revive, she was taken to the office of Dr. R. C. Snyder at Mount Joy. The girl is believed to be suffering from a form of shell shock from which it will take a long time to recover.

W. I. R. Maintaining 2 Relief Kitchens

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 8.—To raise funds for the relief of the 30,000 striking textile strikers of New Bedford, the Workers International Relief, 49 William St., will hold a grand picnic, Sunday, August 19 at 10 a. m. at Sylvan's Grove, Acushnet Ave.

The program will include a talk by Bishop William Montgomery Brown, national chairman of the W. I. R. and other prominent men. Also the first showing in this city of the motion picture of the Passaic strike, one of the most astounding films ever produced.

In addition to conducting the two relief kitchens at 31 Hathaway St. and 80 Potomska St., the W. I. R. has been sending food to the imprisoned workers in the police station and the house of correction.

After that the W. I. R. continued to send relief to the workers in jail, cigarettes and chocolate being brought to the jailed workers daily, with the exception of those times when the prison officials refused to allow the food in.

The two relief kitchens of the W. I. R. in the north and south of the city are conducted by committees of strikers who work in cooperation with William Schwartzfeller, local manager of the W. I. R. At the present time the rations given at the relief stations is very limited due to the lack of funds on hand, and consists of soup, bread and coffee.

To enable the W. I. R. to vary the food distributed and to take care of the growing number of strikers and their families who request assistance weekly, funds are needed at once.

All friends of the brave strikers and their families should rush funds at once to the Workers International Relief, 49 William St., New Bedford, Mass.

☒	WORKERS (COMMUNIST) PARTY

For the Party of the Class Struggle!
For the Workers! Against the Capitalists!

Dan Tobin and Pete Du Pont

So Dan Tobin is sore! This so-called president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters tries to resign as treasurer of the American Federation of Labor because the Executive Council refused to endorse Al Smith.

The same day the multimillionaire Pierre S. du Pont, head of the Powder Trust and a chief of General Motors, indicates that he also has a "resignation" in his pocket because he wants to give his time to the campaign of Al Smith.

On the one side, Capital, in the real sense. On the other side, "Labor," in the Pickwickian sense.

But wait a minute! This is a three-sided picture: On the self-same day the "Peoples' Legislative Service," the organization of common-people-savers built upon the grave of the dead La Follette, also endorses the "sidewalk prince."

The position of Pierre du Pont is simple: Being supremely interested in the greatest possible exploitation of labor, in excluding trade-unionism from all of the big trustified industries in which he is concerned, and in a thorough-going aggressive imperialist policy throughout the world by the United States government, he thinks that of the two Wall Street candidates Al Smith will give the best results as strikebreaker and imperialist war-maker. He is consistent and what might be called "honest," after the fashion of his class.

The position of Dan Tobin is not so simple, but can be understood after a little reflection: He is called a "labor" official, but in fact he represents a certain social type which has almost the same relationship to the working class that the big open-shop monarch, du Pont, has. If du Pont is a parasite on labor, so is Tobin. Du Pont exploits tens of thousands of workers in his shops directly for the wealth he can extract from their toil. Tobin makes a lucrative business of "exploiting" the credulity of workers, not in the shops but in the trade unions. It is plain business with both of them, for the same object, money getting. Tobin knows as well as du Pont does that Al Smith is an agent of the same Wall Street that made him governor of New York, and that Al as president would serve the capitalist class with strikebreaking and with an imperialist war policy. And Tobin, like du Pont, will prosper thereby—as long as it lasts. His profession of selling out the working class depends upon a suppressed and docile working class, and certainly it depends upon a government that will act ruthlessly in attacking any real manifestation of fighitng spirit in the unions and in destroying the left wing which, when it triumphs, will put Tobin out of business. And last but not least, Tobin's best connections for collecting swag for his services are with the democratic politicians rather than the republican.

The La Follettites? These bankrupt fakers simply express their class—the petty capitalist stratum of society which complains bitterly of the ruthlessness of the big trusts, but which lives only by its ambition to become themselves big capitalists and in any test is likely to swing over, whining but supporting the politics of finance—capital.

United States finance capital has its heyday in this election: It owns both big capitalist parties, owns the labor officialdom, through which it prevents the independent mass political activity of the working class, owns the faker-politicians who pass as "farm leaders," and succeeds in corrupting the leaders of the petty capitalist victims of monopoly.

Dan Tobin's fellow fakers at the head of the trade unions are of course as venal as he. But some of them have better bargains to make. For instance, John L. Lewis. His business is the same as Tobin's: selling out the working class. But his cutomers are in the other party of finance-capital. Is there any man who does not know that Lewis sighs for the position of secretary of labor in a republican cabinet, now that he sees himself on the edge of nowhere in the Labor movement?

So they straddle between the political parties of capitalism, but are violently opposed to the party of the working class.

The Workers (Communist) Party is the party of the working class.

Vote Communist.

"Peace-Time" Soldiers.

Communists do not need to be reminded that "peace" is not one of the blessings of capitalist society. War, which the liberals and the pacifists seem to consider as a temporary and "unnatural" occurrence, the Communist understands is not only inevitable under capitalism, but is actually incessant. Should he be tempted to forget this fundamental lesson so frequently impressed upon him with the emphasis of the policeman's billy, the jail sentence, the gangster squad, a gentle reminder from any one or all of these will soon refresh his memory.

The Communist is a "peace-time" soldier on duty in battle fields in every section of the land. Yet it must be admitted, strange as it may seem, that in the case of a number of sruggles nearest to us less energy and attention has been expended than in the more spectacular battles at a distance.

One of these is The DAILY WORKER.

We should immediately explain that the criticism is not made in reference to the response to appeals for financial support of our paper. Such responses have frequently exceeded the expectations of everyone. The point is made in connection with the agitation to spread the influence and increase the readers of The DAILY WORKER.

Considerable more can be accomplished here than is now even being attempted. The DAILY WORKER in appearance and in the range of news it attempts to cover has become a metropolitan paper. No one more than the members of its editorial staff are conscious of its weaknesses and its shortcomings. As rapidly as the financial and other limitations permit, these wll be fought against and overcome.

But the larger problem of extending the influence of our paper remains still to be solved. At the present we are beginning to work on the problem. No hope of its successful solution, however, is possible without the co-operation of the members and sympathizers of our Party. An earnest appeal is made here for the development of a sort of DAILY WORKER consciousness, and a response to the demands which will be made upon the Comrades in the course of the drive.

This is one of the very important tasks of the "peace-time" soldiers.

Rich Man's Perjury, Monsieur

"The French foreign minister is now studying the papers, giving special attention to the perjury charges in order to determine whether Mr. Blackmer is extraditable under the terms of the treaty with our government," says the counselor of the United States embassy at Paris.

"Mr." H. M. Blackmer is the famous "missing witness" (as it is respectfully put) in the Teapot Dome case. It appears, according to charges, that the gentleman committed perjury in swearing out his income tax report after the big steal. Of course Mr. Blackmer is not a common perjurer—Oh, mercy no!

The American embassy is justified in considering the extenuating circumstance that Mr. Blackmer could not report his full income without revealing the theft of some millions of dollars. His withholding of information from the income-tax office was due to the unfortunate predicament he found himself in, in having some hundreds of thousands of dollars of stolen money the source of which he could not reveal, and not to any intentional dishonesty. This is the sort of reasoning applicable to millionaires.

And so the French and American authorities have to consider the grave question of shades of difference in the legal meaning of the French word "parjure" and the American word "perjury."

That will take several weeks' time.

"When they reach a decision this embassy will advise the state department in Washington if a Denver United States marshal should come to Paris to arrest Mr. Blackmer," says the American embassy. And then doubtless Mr. Blackmer (note that the newspapers and authorities all call the accused millionaire-perjurer "Mr.") will doubtless take a parlor car to Berlin, where the German authorities can consider the fine shades of legal difference between the meaning of the German word "meineid" and the meaning of the American word "perjury."

We can cut it short by informing the flunkeys of these capitalist governments that it is all a damned farce,—that there is no such word as "perjury" in the American language—for rich men.

The Present Imperialist Dilemma in China

By EARL BROWDER.

The "Running Dogs of Imperialism"; The Disintegration of Military Machine

The Chinese revolution has produced a phrase to describe those degenerate and corrupted Chinese who enter the service of the foreign oppressors, and help to enslave their own people; they are called "running dogs of imperialism." It is a just description, and applies in full force today to Kuomintang, which but a year ago was still the center of organization to overthrow imperialism in China. The Nanking government today is but a kennel of such "running dogs."

Mr. Sokolsky is afraid that the public association between the Nanking government and the Peking manderins will discredit the Kuomintang. Quite sound! But what about the public surrender of the Kuomintang to imperialism? This surrender is so complete, so slavish, so extravagant, that even the imperialists are embarrassed by it. They find it necessary to rebuke their "running dogs," and whisper sharply to them, "Don't cringe so much; you're ruining your reputation." The clearest expression of this fact is found in the unsigned editorial in the "North China Daily News" of March 5, commenting upon the article by Mr. Sokolsky, which gives the "dogs" an approving pat while urging a slightly more erect attitude for appearances' sake. It says:

> "It is hardly surprising if the Kuomintang, genuinely anxious to rehabilitate prestige abroad, swing over too far in the other direction. They have already given proof of their wish to stand well with the powers . . . they temporarily lose their grip on some of the things which are essential to the party."

Thus low has fallen the party which was founded by the fearless revolutionist, Sun Yat-sen, that the British imperialists publicly rebuke it as a too-servile flunkey!

What Has Frightened the Imperialists?

To find what has frightened the imperialists so deeply is not far to seek. Their stomachs were not turned by the horrible atrocities of the White Terror; on the contrary, they initiated this, encouraged it and deliberately drove it to its utmost excesses. The indescribable sufferings of the millions of workers and peasants who are starving and rotting under the medieval militarism of both north and south has not aroused a single twitch of remorse in the dead souls of the imperialist butchers. One must look elsewhere for the cause of the devil of imperialism now hinting at entering a monastery.

What has frightened the imperialists is the obvious disintegration, demoralization, corruption, and physical breakdown of the whole lot of militarist governments, old and new, throughout China. Every military headquarters in China is a stinking mess of graft and vice: every official from top to bottom has succumbed, in one form or another, to the universal corruption.

In the midst of starvation and death of the masses, the "leaders of Chinese Nationalism" squander untold millions in ostentatious luxury, and accumulate wealth in the foreign banks in the Concessions. Chiang Kai-shek set the pace with his "million dollar wedding"; Nanking, seat of government, has simultaneously become the center of Chinese night life; taxes, multiplying in nationalist territory even faster than in the north, disappear from the treasury also quicker, or never get there.

A humble example that came to my notice is the case of a returned student from France whom I met a year ago as a rabid "left-winger," joined the Nanking gang in August, for an appointment in the customs service, and now has a hundred thousand dollars in a Shanghai bank and boasts of it. The whirl of graft-corruption-vice has become a storm, sweeping all before it.

Outside of the accepted, and therefore "respectable," corruption, an orgy of violent crime is sweeping the country, committed not only by the desperate masses of the people but by the military officers and civil bureaucrats. Almost everywhere the "anti-Communist" campaign has produced a regular system, accompanying the actual slaughter of workers, of abductions of wealthy people on vague charges of "Communism," from which they can extricate themselves only by two means—first, to call upon personal friends holding positions equally powerful with those of the kidnapers, or purchase their freedom by sums running into tens of thousands of dollars.

In addition to this blackmail of the wealthy or well-to-do, large numbers of the most respectable, conservative middle-class people have been executed as "Communists" to satisfy a personal enmity of some militarist.

Superimpose upon this weltering chaos the factional struggles of the rival militarist cliques at the top of the Kuomintang and a picture is drawn which might well cause uneasiness even among the hard-boiled handful of western imperialists who sit on top of this volcano and forbid any more eruptions.

What Are the Practical Conclusions of Imperialism?

Perhaps the reader of these lines in faraway Europe or America may get the impression from the quotations above that the imperialists are preparing to moderate the White Terror against the workers. Nothing could be farther from their minds! True, they are becoming pessimistic about the ability of the Kuomintang to harness the revolution. True, they have been inspired with a new idea of what to do in the situation. But it is nothing so crude as an outsider might imagine. No, the new idea is little short of inspiration, product of the mind of a genius.

And what is this new idea? Nothing but the original words of the "North China Daily News" will serve to convey it in all its brilliance. Here it is:

> "Many of our Chinese readers will remember Macaulay's essay) (one of the finest things he ever wrote) on 'Ranke's History of the Popes' and how skilfully the Church of Rome made use of the enthusiasts, who under persecution would have turned into dangerous fanatics, assigning them special spheres of work, in which they became founders of orders, now the greatest glory and the most zealous agents of the church. Possibly, since the Russians are gone, it might not be too late to try the same way with the Communists, who, after all, are of the Sons of Han."

It having been shown by experience that the Communists are the only ones capablo of establishing order, let us, now that we have driven out the Russians who inspired them, make use of the Chinese Communists by "assigning them special spheres of work," "to try the same way with the Communists" which has been so successful with Chiang-Kai-shek and his cohorts; maybe the Communists will thus save the situation for us—such is the latest project for the salvation of imperialism in China.

That such an idea could be written, not in the columns of "Puck" or "Judge," but in the solemn editorial department of the leading British organ in China, shows how desperately they conceive the situation. The crowning touch of the true imperialist is in the last words: They say, the Communists after all are Sons of Han, of an inferior race; now the Russians are gone, we surely can corrupt them as we have the militarists. They cannot even think about the Chinese people without insulting them.

Thus a desperate imperialism frankly grasps at straws, while the Chinese revolution sweeps on, inexorably grinding away and smashing all the obstacles in its path.

CAMPAIGN CORNER

"The solid south is not so solid after all," writes Joel Judson from Louisville, , Kentucky. "From the point of view of placing the party ticket on the ballot," he says, "the prospects are decidedly favorable. I have secured all the necessary electors. All that remains to be done now is to secure a thousand petitioners. This I believe can be done within the next ten days. The social composition of the electors is as follows: Nine workers, two shoemakers, one tailor and one sign-painter, the latter four being self-employed. Of those only one was a Communist, but since they joined up as electors three of them joined the party. Three more have promised to join next week." It looks as if the south is thawing out a bit.

Slogan: For the organization of the unorganized! This shall be the answer of the Workers (Communist) Party to the latest empty threat of the executive council of the A. F. of L. to drive them out of the trade union movement. That there are any Communists left in the trade unions is not the fault of the bureaucrats. The Communists simply cannot be driven out. They may expel one here and there, but there are always others to carry on the work, and in the expelling process the Communists succeed in getting across their propaganda.

But the Communists are not content with fighting inside the existing trade unions, important though that is. They are insisting that the millions of unorganized workers must be organized into industrial unions under a militant progressive leadership. So one of the main slogans of the Workers (Communist) Party in this campaign is: For the organization of the unorganized.

By the way, it was rather funny to read that William Green and Company decided to organize the airplane workers before the industry got so big that it would be untouchable. Never mind, there is enough money even now in aircraft to purchase the whole executive council. What about the automobile workers, the steel workers and the millions of workers in other industries that are left out in the cold? Strange that Green did not think of organizing the radio announcers or the boxing referees. What a collection of false alarms!

J. W. Leigh, who runs the Leigh News Service in New Orleans, writes to thank us for a copy of the National Platform. Says he passes our publicity on to the press and gets some of it published. Good stuff, J. W.

The latest estimate of the cost of the election campaign is $20,000,000. To this we add $100,000. The capitalists will spend the $20,000,000 to corrupt the voters and buy votes in carload lots. The Communists will use the $100,000 to carry on propaganda among the workers and poor farmers and mobilize them for the struggle against the exploiters and corruptors. Don't worry whether the capitalists raise their $20,000,000. It's as good as in their pockets now. Concentrate on the job of raising the $100,000 Communist Campaign Fund. Send your contribution at once to the National Election Campaign Committee, 43 East 125th Street, New York. Alexander Trachtenberg, treasurer.

Told You So

OVER fifteen hundred Communists were arrested in France last Sunday for staging an anti-war demonstration in a Paris suburb under a permit given by the mayor, who is a Communist. Chiappe, the Paris chief of police, organized an army of policemen and broke up the demonstration after a struggle. This is the same Chiappe who permitted the royalist Daudet, to escape to Belgium where he is now enjoying himself writing articles in favor of the restoration of the monarchist regime in France. Daudet engaged in open battle with the Paris police, calling out his private Fascist army to defend his fortified newspaper office. Evidently the French bourgeoisie do not care who threatens to overthrow the government as long as the threateners favor the perpetuation of the capitalist system.

THE new reign of terror against the Communist Party in France is a recognition of the growing power of the organization as well as a sign of the approach of another war. The socialists have ceased to protest against war. In fact it was a socialist who introduced the bill which was passed by the French legislature calling for the conscription of every man and woman in the republic for service in the next war, either on the battlefront or behind the lines, in the factories and on the farms.

HUMANITE, the great Communist daily has a circulation of 250,000 the largest circulation of any Communist daily in the world outside of the Soviet Union. Humanite was once the organ of the socialist party of France but the Communists got control of it. Tho the French socialists pull a heavier vote in election campaigns than the Communists they have no daily paper. The French socialists are imperialists and are not organized for the purpose of overthrowing capitalism but to secure office. Almost every political party in France from the extreme right to the so-called left claims to be socialist of some hue, but there is only one party organized with the aim of establishing a Workers Republic and that is the Communist Party.

WHEN will the Daily Worker have a circulation one half that of the great French daily? Or even one fourth. Comrade Ravitch the new business manager showed me figures that go to prove that the circulation of the Daily Worker is on the upgrade. The part it played in the miner's strike and the part it is now playing in the New Bedford strike has contributed to this upward trend. But much greater progress could be made if every Communist and sympathiser took the task of spreading the paper seriously.

ONE of the weak spots in Communist activity in the United States is the slackness in the distribution of literature. The written word is powerful and travels faster than the spoken word. One copy of the Daily Worker may be read by ten persons. If it falls into the hands of a worker who never read it before, he is sure to be interested and to talk about it to his fellow workers. He may curse over its contents but at least it will affect him. The writer usually leaves his copy in a subway train and notices that no sooner is the paper tossed on to the seat than somebody makes a dash for it.

SUBWAY trainmen are in the habit of picking up papers found in the cars. Perhaps they are supposed to do this as a matter of duty. Perhaps saving a few pennies that might be otherwise spent on a newspaper is the motive. But however they can be depended on to grab a Daily Worker and take it to the barn where it will be read by others. Those who have a few extra pennies to spare mornings could not use them to better advantage than by purchasing a few copies of the Daily Worker and leaving them where a proletarian eye is most likely to fall on them.

IT IS possible that inside of a few years our debutantes will not have to go to Europe to snare counts, barons and dukes, thanks to the Russian emigres who still keep the lamp of hope trimmed in their hearts, hope that the Romanoffs will yet return to the throne of their ancestors. The Grand Duke Cyril, who is living in Paris, made a baron out of Charles P. Van Wrangel, of 420 West 130th Street, New York. You can imagine a well-to-do bootlegger living in that section of the metropolis but hardly a baron.

SOMEWHERE in scripture it is said that hope deferred maketh the heart sick. But as long as Russian emigre gets a wealthy American widow to marry him hope springs eternal in his breast. What of it if the jolly old Romanoffs never get back on the throne as long as the countless pretenders have their roast Long Island duck and a bottle of champagne? And while on the subject of the sparkling giggle water, we learn that the most prominent supporter of Grand Duke Cyril is a fellow with the title and name of Duke Dimitri, who is an agent for a leading brand of champagne. Most anybody in such a position would be liable to have royal notions.

U. S. WORKERS TO GET COMMUNIST ELECTION APPEAL

Mail 250,000 Letters Thruout Country

One quarter million letters are being mailed out to the readers of the Communist press throughout the country by the National Election Campaign Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party in a drive to mobilize the entire left wing in the United States behind the Party ticket in the election campaign, according to a statement issued by the committee last night. The appeal will reach at least 1,000,000 workers.

The letter calls on the readers of the Communist press to give financial support to the Communist Election Campaign and help swell the fighting fund of the working class.

The letter reads:

"In the presidential election this year only one political party battles for the interests of the workers and working farmers of this country. The republican and democratic parties, the twin parties of capitalism and imperialist plunder, openly and brazenly flaunt before the American masses platforms and candidates of absolute subservience to the bosses. The socialist party has become a party of liberal reform and has disavowed the class struggle.

"The Workers (Communist) Party is the only political party in the field with a program which champions the every-day needs and struggles of the broad masses and points a way out toward their complete emancipation. It has put forth as presidential candidates William Z. Foster and Benjamin Gitlow, valiant fighters in the class struggle, who have proven their loyalty to the cause of labor. The Workers (Communist) Party is the only anti-capitalist party, and it alone has the right to claim the support of the progressive workers and farmers, the militants, the left wing, the rebels, the class-conscious.

Appeal to Rank and File.

"The republican and democratic parties will get their funds from Wall Street and the bosses; the socialist party, from the liberals, the trade union bureaucracy and other elements who have turned their backs on the working class; while the Workers (Communist) Party appeals to the rank and file, to the workers and poor farmers, to all that are opposed to capitalism, imperialism and exploitation."

Enclosed with the letter is a contribution blank, a Communist campaign leaflet and a return envelope.

The National Election Campaign Committee appeals to the workers to support the party of the working class—the Workers (Communist) Party, to contribute to the best of their ability to the Campaign Fund so that speakers may be sent into every nook and corner of the country and literature carrying the message of the class struggle may be distributed in millions among the working class.

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Aug. 9.—Workers in Kesige in Czecho-Slovakia joined in a general strike today as a protest against the new repressive measures resorted to by the city authorities in crushing labor manifestations in Czecho-Slovakia.

The striking masses are united irrespective of parties and despite efforts of the reformists to prevent the general walkout.

Police forces attacked a strike meeting and arrested five workers.

NEW CLOAK UNION ORGANIZES TRADE

Italian Cloak Branch Meets Tonight

The epoch making decision of Wednesday's night's huge mass meeting of workers in the ladies garment industry to launch a new cloak and dress makers' union, has crashed with bombshell effect into the camp of the "socialist" union-wreckers and at the same time given a tremendous impetus to the organization drive now in full swing under the auspices of the left wing Joint Board.

A whole week's highly successful work of organizing the open shops that swamp the industry has been climaxed by the large number of open shops tied up by the Volunteer Organization Committee of 500. Before the end of the week is reached, Joint Board officials declare, new marks in the number of settlements will have been reached.

Every day finds tens of employers, whose plants have been shut down, agreeing to improve working standards and signing up with the new workers' organization.

This will be shown, union officers announce, when names of the firms settled are published, which will be in a short while.

Plans are rapidly being completed, E. Oswaldo, Italian organizer of the National Organization Committee, declares for intensifying the organization drive among the large numbers of Italian workers in the industry. Oswaldo, addressed Wednesday's mass meeting where, speaking in his own language, he laid before the Italian workers there, the plans for the erection of new national cloak and dressmakers' union.

The Italian branch of the Joint Board of the National Organization Committee, he further announced, will hold a membership meeting tonight, at Joint Board headquarters 16 W. 21st St., immediately after work. All Italian workers in the

LOCAL 3 MEMBERS DEFEAT BROACH

Boo, Hiss Tactics at Big Demonstration

Four thousand electrical workers members of local No. 3 last night voted down amid hisses, booing and demonstrations two propositions presented by the Broach machine to raise dues of the membership to $24 and $23 per quarter.

Maneuvering with the aid of a picked handful of his paid henchmen Broach finally pushed over on the unsuspecting membership the proposition to pay $21 dues, an increase of $4.50 and pounded the gavel to indicate the passage of his motion before the members could again begin a demonstration.

One of the stormiest sessions in the history of the union marked the defeat of the Broach machine and the forced postponement of a number of other amendments which they had planned to put through.

SANDINO TROOPS WIN; DRIVE BACK MARINES

PUERTA CABEZAS, Nicaragua, Aug. 9.—The first American marine offensive against the Nicaraguan army of independence since the rainy season has turned back with the loss of one marine killed and three others wounded.

Supported by bombing planes, the marine detachment was proceeding by boat up the Coco river which drains the territory controlled by the troops of General Sandino, when a contingent of Nicaraguans intercepted their advance.

The marines were forced to fall back with the loss of one dead. During an engagement reported to have lasted several hours, the Nicaraguan losses are said to be comparatively small, though no exact estimate is available.

News of the engagement and definitely contradicting reports spread by the American authorities that the armies of General Sardino have been melting away ran through the country here like wildfire. The marine authorities are exercising unusual precautions in commanding peons who gather to talk to disperse immediately.

REFORMISTS HIT BY INDIA LEADER

Chaman Lal Repudiates Socialists

Special Cable to The Daily Worker

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Aug. 8—The Pravda today published an interview by a representative of Tass with Chaman Lal, the representative of the Indian Trade Unions Congress in which Chaman Lal stated that "the Second International is obviously dominated by the British Labor Party as regards all Indian questions. Its attitude is, neither socialist not international.

"The Second International," Chaman Lal, continued, "showed its real visage in its proposals before the Colonial Commission, which represent a narrow-minded European reformist stand point. The Second International sets up different standards for white and colored, workers, and even for various groups of colonial workers.

"The draft of the Second International which opposes the independence of India is accompanied by a memorandum of the Labor Party which contains many errors, deliberate falsifications, and suppressions of the truth. For instance, the memorandum quotes a resolution of the Indian National Congress for India's independence, and adds falsely that most of the delegates did not mean independence but the status of dominion. This is absolutely false.

"The memorandum purposely contains no word of cooperation between the Labor Party with the Simon Commission. Despite the clear command made at the Blackpool Conference that the Commission must be acceptable to the Indian people, the Labor Party cooperated with the Simon Commission, although the latter was absolutely inacceptable to the Indian people.

"The British Labor Party is working for the prevention or the postponement of the emancipation of the colonial peoples. If the resolution of the Second International concerning India is adopted despite our protests, then India will refuse all offers of cooperation from the Second International."

WORKERS' SOLIDARITY

Labor, the World Over, Gives to Miners

(Special to the Daily Worker)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 9. — The story of the bituminous coal strike, one of the most bitterly contested battles between organized labor and capital, carries with it a classic tale of solidarity from the workers of many countries.

Four hundred Finnish marks were received today from Finland. Pohyan Voima, who sold them, reports that Solidarity certificates are the treasured possessions of many workers of Oulu. The proceeds from another book of solidarity certificates sold in Moscow, U. S. S. R. also came in this morning's mail. From Mexican workers, come periodic donations.

JINGOES BREAK ASTORIA MEET

Beat Up Militant and Arrest Grecht

In an organized assault, made through the cooperation of the police, members of the John J. Dwyer Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars last night rushed a platform from which speakers of the Workers (Communist) Party were addressing a group of workers at Jamaica and Steinway Avenues and brutally beat up Abe Harfield, candidate for assembly in the first district, Queens, and caused the arrest of Rebecca Grecht, Workers (Communist) Party candidate for assembly in the fifth district, Bronx. She was charged with disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace, and was held on $500 bail at the 59th Precinct, 4th St., Astoria.

The assault took place at 9 p. m. George Padgug had just begun to address the crowd of workers when the gangsters in the John J. Dwyer Post, rushed toward him and threw him bodily from the platform. Immediately, both Grecht and Harfield jumped on the platform to take his place. The Veterans, enraged by this, brutally attacked and beat up Harfield, and afterward pressed charges against Rebecca Grecht.

The assault was organized with the police in advance, members of the Workers (Communist) Party said late last night. The fact that the police were out of sight during the meeting, which is usually well-covered by them, was taken as proof.

The members attached to the John J. Dwyer Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, had for a long time resented the weekly attacks of the speakers representing the Workers (Communist) Party who attacked the Tammany Hall machine and showed that it was responsible for the recent sewer scandal.

TO TAKE MOVIES OF I. L. D. OUTING

Several thousand workers will become movie actors tomorrow for a single day. This unusual transformation will occur at the big outing in Pleasant Bay Park, arranged by the New York section of the International Labor Defense, where moving pictures of the various activities will be taken.

To Symbolize Workers Fight.

This mass scene will symbolize the great struggle of the militant workers of this country to free their comrades that are lying behind the bars of the capitalist jails. Particularly will it symbolize the campaign to free Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, a drive to be officially launched by the I. L. D. in New York City at this outing.

PREPARE RADIO MANAGED SHIPS

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—The maneuvers of the German navy and its experiments with radio-steered ships and targets was watched by President von Hindenburg today at Kiel.

An old battleship will be used as a target, which will be directed by radio, making it unecessary to have any men on board. The navies of the powers have carried out many experiments in this direction in an attempt to produce a battle fleet without crews.

ALBANY, Aug. 8.—Of the 98,984 accidents while at work in the past year about 100 per cent were suffered by boys and girls under the age of 21. The most serious accidents occurred in laundries.

CHARGE TROOPER DROVE STRIKERS' CHILD TO DROWN

BULLETIN

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 9.—Charges that the six-year-old Johnny Madeiros, son of one of the strikers, who was drowned here last night, died because he had rushed in terror thru a gap in a waterfront fence in order to escape a charging mounted trooper, were substantiated by testimony in the court hearing held here today.

Eye-witnesses declared that a mounted policeman had chased the child down the street till he disappeared into the water.

Fanning the flames of bitter mass resentment manifested by the population here, was the cynical police testimony that the officer thought the six-year-old child "was swimming."

Fellow strikers are planning the holding of a mass funeral.

(Special to the Daily Worker.)

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 9.—The Algonquin Mills, picketed yesterday by strikers from the American Printing Company despite police terrorism, were completely tied-up today when the plant's Mill Committee announced to their fellow workers the refusal of the management to rescind the 10 per cent wage cut and grant the other demands put forward by the workers.

Following the demonstration of strikers, held at the Algonquin gates yesterday, the operatives at this factory came to the Textile Mill Committees' headquarters, passed a unanimous strike vote, and elected a committee to present their demands to the employer.

Charles Silvia, Frank Govenor, Manken Consour, Manuel Sousa and Manuel Perry, the committee elected, visited Superintendent Hindle and demanded restoration of the wage cut, a 20 per cent increase over that and the other demands of the Textile Mill Committees. The bosses' answer that the committee must wait for a reply till Monday was immediately recognized as a ruse, and the employer was told the strike would be on after one o'clock in the afternoon.

Enthusiastically the workers streamed out of the plant to immediaely fling a picket-line completely around the mill.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 9.—John Campos, secretary of the reactionary Textile Council of the American Federation of Textile Operatives, was howled down by his own members at a crowded meeting of 3,000 on Brandea Lot last night while he was urging his listeners to participate in no strike movement against the wage cut they suffered last January.

The jeering began when Campos began a vicious attack on the Textile Mill Committees. When his attacks on the strike movement became sharper, a storm of protest that rapidly grew in volume finally forced him to leave the speakers' stand for home under a police escort.

Tear Up Books.

Members of the A. F. T. O. here began to surround the platform and demonstratively tear up their membership books.

A marching line of over one thousand today broke through the massed police squadrons and succeeded in picketing the mills despite repeated charges of police. Many workers were injured by the swinging clubs of the police.

Peter Hegelias, young leader of the Textile Mill Committees in Fall River, was brutally beaten up by the uniformed thugs. He was later lodged in jail, charged with leading the picket line, and held for $1,000 bail bonds.

SALEM, Mass., Aug. 9. (UP).—A new move in the battle to save George E. H. Taylor, known as the "Dancing Barber," from the electric chair, was made here today. Francis E. CHINESE-JAPAN CRISIS GROWS

Kellogg Refuses to Comment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (UP).—Secretary of State Kellogg reiterated today that the Japanese quarrel with China over Manchuria is too "delicate" in nature for him to discuss publicly.

His remarks were occasioned by press reports from Tokio saying Japan had warned the Nanking government against permitting the Manchurian government to join the regime at Nanking. "The warning also said, according to these reports, which have not yet been confirmed by official dispatches, that Japan would take "suitable measures" unless they modified their attitude toward Japan's "special rights" in China.

Wall Street doubted that Du Pon't resignation would be accepted because of his enormous holdings in the company. The Du Pont interests are practically in control of the corporation. Du Pont's personal interest amounting to 23 per cent, or more than 4,000,000 shares.

KELLER EXPOSES FAKE PEACE MOVE

Mill Workers Demands Spurned by Bosses

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug 9.—Branding the "investigating conference" held here yesterday under the auspices of the state board of conciliation and arbitration as a fake, and a strikebreaking scheme of the mill owners, Eli Keller, organizer of the Textile Workers Union of the Textile Mills Committees, told the reactionary union officials and bosses taking part in it that the 28,000 strikers will not heed any decisions they may arrive at.

Keller appeared before the state board's "investigation" with documentary proof in the form of strikers' former pay envelopes to show that no mere investigation of the textile workers' slavery is needed. Envelopes of the heads of large families, marked $8, $9 and $10 were shown to the so-called mediators, and reactionary labor officials participating in a talkfest, which the mill barons, who were present, hold to demoralize the strikers' ranks. Keller's demand that the investigation be held before a large mass meeting were categorically rejected, preference being for continued secret meetings behind barred doors.

BOMBAY POLICE OCCUPY MILLS

Workers Refuse to Return to Work

BOMBAY, Aug. 9.—Armed detachments of police occupied the textile factories here after the refusal of the striking textile workers here to return to the mills which the employers attempted to reopen.

SELL OUT R. R. WORKERS

British Union Chiefs Endorse Pay Cut

LONDON, Aug. 9.—A complete sell-out of the British railwaymen was achieved yesterday by J. H. Thomas, British union official, and his associates, in the conference of National Railway Union have endorsed a two and one half per cent reduction in the wages of all British railway employees.

The reduction had been agreed to by Thomas and other officials on July 27 in a conference with the railway managers, owners and their representatives.

Attempting to justify their sell-out on the grounds that the wage reduction will reduce the shortages under which British railroads are reported to be running, the union officials came to terms with the owners.

The understanding is that the reduction will apply to all sections of the railway workers and will go into effect at once.

WORKER PEASANT FORCES SWEEP ON IN ADVANCE

Gain Most of Province in Sudden Drive

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Aug. 9.—Suddenly widening the front which they have been gradually extending for months, the victorious armies of worker-peasant troops yesterday swept forward in an offensive that has already made them virtual masters of most of Honan province, according to reports received here.

Determined fighting has characterized the campaign of the worker-peasant armies against great odds and Kuomintang troops better equipped and trained, during the consolidation campaign of the last six months.

Take Villages.

Extending their lines gradually, almost from outpost to outpost as village after village was gained for the Communist peasants, the armies of workers and peasants have progressed slowly, strengthening their positions as they advanced.

One hundred and ninety-two militants are reported to have been executed by the war lords in an effort to stem the rapid spread of the revolt.

Gain in South.

The advance of the worker-peasant army was preceded by revolts of artisans and peasants in villages who aided the Red troops in sweeping out the landlords.

The new victories of the worker-peasant troops come on the heels of gains which the Red Guards have made in the vicinity of Changsha and Swatow in the south. Thruout the souther provinces of Kwangtung and Fukien and thruout the Yangtse valley there has been going on a steady advance of worker-peasant armies. In spite of the wholesale execution of militants, workers and peasants have risen against the Kuomintang war lords and the armies business men's organizations and landlords, swept them out and set up their own Soviet governments.

REFUSE RADITCH FUNERAL OFFER

Troops Still Patrol the Streets

ZAGREB, Jugoslavia, Aug. 9 (UP).—Fear that serious disturbances might occur here as a result of the death Wednesday of Stephen Raditch, Peasant Party leader, was increased tonight when the government's offer of a state funeral for the dead leader was refused.

Followers of Raditch, who died as a result of a shooting in the chamber of deputies, blamed the government party for his death. Intense feeling was aroused among members of the Croatian Peasant Party by the shooting.

Police and military guards were still on duty in streets and all principal buildings tonight.

5 MINERS DEAD IN EXPLOSION

Many Others Narrowly Escape Death

JOHNSTON, Pa., Aug. 9 (UP).—The bodies of five miners killed in an explosion at the Lochrey Coal Company's mine, near here, were recovered tonight.

A number of other miners working near the scene of the blast had a narrow escape from death. Federal mine rescue workers were notified that all of the bodies had been recovered and that the company employes had the situation well in hand.

Police Lead Lewis Gang in Attack on Mine Meeting; Beat Up and Jail Leaders

COAL DIGGERS HOLD SESSION DESPITE CREW

Meyerscough Pictures Lewis Betrayal

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. (By Mail).—A mass meeting of progressive miners was broken up by Lewis thugs with the aid of the New Kensington police force last night. Steve Kurepa, a striking miner who is taking part in organizing the miners for the new union which will be formed at the National Convention in Pittsburgh, September 9, was viciously beaten in the presence of police by Lewis gangsters and arrested.

Immediately after Hugh Haggerty opened the meeting and introduced Thomas Myerscough as the first speaker, practically every paid "picket" in the district, which comprises the total strength of the corrupt officialdom in the valley, marched into the Lithuanian Hall. Each Lewis man was identified by a blue tag. Some miners said the tags were used as "check-off" when they were paid by Jack Hassan, Lewis district organizer.

Police Break In.

As soon as Myerscough began to discuss the strike situation and announced that questions would be answered at the end of the meeting, contrary to the habits of machine speakers, a local policeman walked down the aisle, demanding a permit. Myerscough informed him that the local committee had been granted a permit by Burgess Daniel Burns.

A few minutes later a police lieutenant stamped up to the platform, again demanding the permit. When the explanation was repeated, the lieutenant demanded to see the permit. He was told by Haggerty that Burgess had given it verbally. By this time the chief of police and almost his entire staff had arrived, all clamoring for the permit. They took Myerscough to the police station.

There Burns denied giving the permit.

Pictures Lewis' Betrayals.

Myerscough's audience was still waiting for him. For twenty minutes he spoke, telling how Lewis and the policy committee had betrayed the miners by scrapping the Jacksonville scale of wages and lost the strike by ruinous policies.

But as soon as the machine gangsters began to heckle, the police, as though taking their cue, declared the hell had to be cleared. The thugs went out first, organizing themselves in groups. When Steve Kurepa left the hall, three gangsters fell upon him, slugging viciously. John McFall was attacked from behind by another gang who immediately took to their heels.

Arrest Kurepa.

The streets were awhirl with the sirens of police cars and motorcycles. Kurepa, covered with blood, was approached by the police lieutenant who had broken into the meeting, inquiring "what had happened" to him. As Kurepa answered, Jack Hassan, machine organizer and boss of the little Lewis army of paid pickets, darted out of a doorway and attacked Kurepa. Taken unaware, Kurepa fell backward. The lieutenant arrested Kurepa as a result of this, charging him with disorderly conduct and fighting on the streets. Jack Hassan was also arrested, but this is considered as a mere gesture, and he is expected to be released at the hearing.

Small groups of three or five "pickets" are employed by the machine in each camp, and maintained on a salary basis while militant workers are cut off the relief list, so that the Lewis officialdom which is completely dicredited in the strike fields can boast of the existence of a "Lewis local."

The attention and the energies of the miners is being directed to the coming convention for a new mine union called for Pittsburgh, September 9-16.

FINISHERS WALK OUT ON BOSSES

30 workers of Local 8 of the United Hatters' of America walked out on Wednesday against their employers, Schnell and Fink and Company, known also as the Merit Hat Company and the Perfect Hat Company, 303 Mercer St., N. Y. C.

The walk-out was made by the hat finishers, because the bosses disregarded their requests made two weeks ago, that "raw" bodies should be had for them to work on instead of the cheap bodies which they supplied and which they wanted pounced to a better finish than could be done to the better quality goods.

The Advertising Club of New York City has given a dinner as a send-off to Commander Byrd who will carry the banner of American imperialism into the Antarctic.

CHINESE TRADE UNIONS SEEK WOLRD LABOR AID

Dear Brothers and Fellow Workers:

Again and again, from the deep underground into which we have been driven by the united counter-revolution of the Chinese capitalist landlords and militarists, and the iperialist robbers, we address to you our ardent appeal for aid.

We realize that all measures will be taken by our government and your to prevent our groans and cries of anguish from reaching you. They understand that you would not be likely to look on calmly at the pain and suffering of your Chinese brothers. We know that this appeal will also reach you with considerable delay and with great difficulty.

Ask Aid.

Nevertheless we address ourselves to you because you are our only reliable ally and friend, and we are convinced that having heard our voice you will pronounce your firm fiat to your government: "Hands off the Chinese Revolution!" We appeal to you because we are strangled, not only by our own counter-revolution, but also by your governments.

We address ourselves to you because we wish to tell you about our conditions. You know that the Chinese workers, in common with all the toiling masses in China, have always suffered from imperialist powers which send warships and airforces and arms of every kind to fight against the Chinese people.

Shanghai Massacre.

On May 30, 1925, the workers of Shanghai arose against this yoke; the Hongkong-Canton strike which lasted 16 months was directed against the same yoke, and it was in the fight to throw off this double yoke that we undertook the Northern Expedition upon a united front. It was for this struggle that we have borne great sacrifices. We expected our emancipation: we built up our trade union organization, and we helped the peasants form their peasants' unions.

We have been cruelly deceived by our bourgeoisie; having disposed of the Northern militarists with our aid, having captured the Yangste region, having occupied Shanghai and Hankow, they decided to put an end to us. They betrayed the common struggle of the Chinese people and offered their services to your governments, and together with them they have been destroying and drowning in rivers of blood the workers' and peasants' movement during these last months.

It is already 15 months that the abundant waters of the Chinese rivers are dyed more and more thickly with the red color of the blood of workers and peasants.

Mass Murders.

Do you know that in April of last year Chiang Kai-shek in Shanghai and Li Ti-sing in Canton murdered over 4,000 workers because they wished to "reorganize" the unions, i.e., to dissolve them. Do you know that since the April coup d'etat in Kwangtung there have been over 2,000 workers killed.

Do you know that in Hunan and Hupeh 20,000 peasants have been shot for the sole offence that they did not wish any longer to die from starvation upon their little plots of land and to give up the last cupful of rice to the militarists?

Do you know how cruelly the Canton rebellion of the workers, directed against the yoke of the imperialist murderers, has been suppressed? Do you know that over 5,000 workers' corpses were thrown upon the streets of Canton? Do you know that working women were tied together in batches of five and burned alive?

Do you know that about 600 rickshamen—those human horses whose existence is possible only in an oppressed semi-colonial country like China—have been shot down upon the public square in Canton for the sole offence that they preserved the red badges in memory of the revolt?

Behead Thousands.

Do you know that in Changsha and Hankow where no revolts have taken place, nevertheless Pei Sunchin and other generals have shot down over 4,000 people solely because they had work-soiled hands?

Do you know that Feng Yuehsiang has beheaded 300 workers of the textile mills for the sole offence of striking to secure higher wages, and had their heads exhibited on poles outside of the factory?

Dear brothers, we have our heads chopped off, our trade unions have been dissolved over a year now, and we are forbidden on pain of death, to take part in any strikes, even of a strickly economic character.

Murder Unionists.

The British, Japanese, and American authorities are hunting for the workers, handing them over to the Chinese hangmen. The English courts trade in the heads of our brother workers. Nearly all the leaders of the trade union movement were arrested upon territories of the foreign settlements and concessions and handed over to the Chinese bourgeoisie. All of them were beheaded, while the British and Japanese spies received thousands for the heads of our leaders.

All this does not satisfy the murderers of the Chinese people. Not all the sweat and blood of the Chinese people has been pumped out and turned into dollars for the imperialists, and the latter, having bribed the Chinese bourgeoisie, are pulling China to pieces. The Japanese government is engaged in open intervention in the North, having occupied Tsinang and Manchuria, while the British are carrying on a masked intervention in Kwantung. Yet Chiang Kai-shek and the other generals, having sold themselves to the imperialists, keep silent about those things. All of them are turning their hungry eyes towards the Yangtse Valley and are prepared to fight over the sharing out of China.

Not only is the blood of the Chinese people shed, but preparations are in progress for an even more terrible and bloody deed. Your governments, for the sake of sharing the spoils, are preparing for a new war in China.

Fight Imperialism.

Dear brothers and fellow workers, you should not allow such mockery over China, you should demand the discontinuance of the traffic in the heads of Chinese toilers, you should demand a prohibition on extraditing prisoners into the hands of the Chinese authorities, you should demand the withdrawal of all warships and armed forces from China, you should come to our aid, because just now your governments are preparing for a new war in China. You should demand that your governments give up all interference in the internal affairs of China.

We are firmly convinced that you will come to our aid and that you will help us in our struggle for right, life, and liberty, against the entire counter-revolutionary bourgeoisie.

Fight War Menace.

We rely upon your fraternal solidarity and your fraternal aid. The cup of patience of the Chinese people is becoming filled. The Chinese peasantry is rising again, while the soldiers refuse to take up arms against the people and go over to the side of the toilers.

Help us in our struggle and thereby you will also fight against the menace of a new world war.

With fraternal greetings,

The All China Federation of Labor Unions, Sou Chao Jeng, Chairman.

WALKER FIGHTS TRACTION PLAN

The Tammany city administration is planning to reject the so-called Untermeyer transit readjustment plan, it was learned yesterday from reliable sources.

Action or at least discussion on the plan is due to be taken up at a Board of Estimate and Apportionment meeting in the near future. Recently the mayor announced from his Hollywood vacation haunts between sips of champagne and flirtations with moving picture actresses, that he was opposed to the public corporation feature of the Untermeyer plan. He politely let the world know at the time that only a simon pure private grab would be to his liking. Untermeyer promptly rejoined that there was little difference in their intentions but intimated that his own way of putting the proposition was greatly to be preferred.

Under the Untermeyer plan designed for the needy Morgan interests, the control over traction would practically be eliminated from the hands of the local Tammany patriots. There appears to be about as much chance of the Walker gang giving up these happy hunting grounds as there is for Al Smith to renounce his General Motors lineage.

NEW FEATURES FOR LEFT WING LABORFESTIVAL

Choruses and Literary Evening Planned

Two new features were announced last night by the local Trade Union Education League for its Workers Open Air Festival, which will be held in Ulmer Park, on Saturday, Aug. 25. They are the combined "Aida" and "Lyra" Lithuanian Choruses, and a specially arranged literary evening. Both new features are expected to supplement the other items on the program of entertainment, and add to the uniqueness of the evening.

The choruses, composed of more than 200 voices, will render several selections from well-known operas, topping them with many spirited revolutionary songs. They are at present busily engaged in rehearsing their program for the day of the affair. They will appear on the evening of the performance in native costume.

The program of the literary evening is in the capable hands of Michael Gold, revolutionary poet and writer, and editor of the New Masses; and A. B. Magil, member of the editorial staff of the Daily Worker and a contributor to the Sacco Vanzetti anthology.

Another feature of the Festival, and a very important one, will be the refreshment and food schedule. Competent cooks for many favorite international dishes will be on hand for the occasion.

All of the branches of the Trade Union Educational League in New York City are responding splendidly to the call for cooperation in the arrangements for the affair, and thousands of workers from all parts of New York and vicinity are expected to attend.

BOARD APPROVES BIG GAS MERGER

Predict Higher Rates as Result

Despite the protests of the Public Committee on Power, and from organizations of consumers all over New York City, the Public Service Commission yesterday afternoon approved the application of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York for permission to purchase the Brooklyn Edison Company.

Several days ago, Governor Smith, in a pre-election gesture made for the purpose of attracting the liberal vote to the cause of Tammany Hall, requested the commission to reopen the hearings on the merger, and allow people not owning stocks in either of the two companies to present their case. But Big Business was stronger than Smith, its lackey, and the protests of the people were ignored in spite of Smith's big stunt.

The approval was given at a meeting yesterday which lasted more than two and a half hours, and which was attended by William A. Prendergast, chairman, and Commissioners Pooley, VanNamee and Lunn. The meeting was held in Prendergast's office, at 120 Broadway, and proceeded behind closed doors.

Now that the merger has been definitely approved, the inevitable result will be the rise in gas and electric rates in the near future, the Public Committee said.

Plight Troth in Big Vaudeville Stunt

Alfred E. Smith, democratic presidential candidate, and John Roach Straton, fundamentalist and fumer, have promised to lead one another to the altar of the Calvary Baptist Church for the purpose of debating the question of moral turpitude with which the baptist accuses the catholic. Straton says that Smith is leading the vanguard of hell on the prohibition issue. The churchman is on the right.

BIG GAS MERGER WILL PASS TODAY

Public Protest to Be Ignored

Failing a last minute change of position on the part of the politicians in control of the Public Service Commission, the proposed billion dollar merger of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York and the Brooklyn Edison Company will be officially approved by the Commission today, despite protests in New York and vicinity.

If the official sanction of the merger goes through, pre-election "protest" gesture of Governor Smith, asking that the public committee be heard, made for the purpose of attracting the liberal vote to Tammany Hall, will have been disregarded by the Commission, which is made up of two democrats and two republicans.

The protest of the Public Committee on power, made through their lawyer, Morris L. Ernst, objected to the merger on the ground that it would take all power of control over the light company out of the hands of New York State officials. They also insisted that the merger will place the Koppits Gas and Coke Company of Philadelphia, a Mellon concern which owns most of the stock in both the Consolidated and Edison, in complete control of the power throughout the New England States.

STREET FIGHTS RAGE IN GUIANA

Death of Politician Causes Outbreak

CAYENNE, French Guiana, Aug. 9. (UP).—Four persons, including Councillor-General Bourgarel, were killed here today during the street and court-room fighting following the opening of the investigation into the mysterious death of former Deputy Jean Galmot.

The investigation was held on orders of the Ministry of Interior at Paris.

Some persons said that Galmot, who was a political power in French Guiana, was the victim of poisoning by his enemies. He was a spectacular figure and was involved in a gigantic rum-scandal of 1923.

POOR FELLOW!

LONDON, Aug. 9 (UP).—Albert Loewenstein, Belgian financier who disappeared from his airplane over the English Channel and whose body was found recently, lost about $60,000,000 within the three weeks before his death, but left $40,000,000, the Evening News reported today.

ASSAIL MARINES FOR HAITI RULE

Asks Demonstration at "Peace" Pact Signing

PARIS, France, Aug. 9.—Demanding that the signing of the Kellog multilateral peace treaties in this city be made occasion for an appeal to the United States to "free enslaved Haiti," Deputy Candace, of Guadaloupe, yesterday bitterly assailed the militarist occupation of the island by American marines.

The American tyranny in the island is bitterly resented by the Negro population, the writer asserts, adding that Haiti must ask the League of Nations to plead her case in regaining her liberty.

"Haiti's martyrdom" is Candace's characterization of the experience of the island under marine occupation while in biting words he describes the "anguish" of the people under American army rule.

The American protectorate in the island of Haiti must be abolished and the population freed from the yoke of American troops, is the final demand of the deputy.

NEW CLOAK UNION ORGANIZES TRADE

trade are called upon to attend this meeting. All other workers in the shops are also appealed to inform their Italian fellow workers to come to the meeting.

In the yellow sheet of the reactionary Jewish labor leaders, the "socialist" Forward, hysterical creaks of consternation filled almost the entire front page. Not able to deny that Bronx Stadium was jammed, its columns, shriek that no cloakmakers were there, only Communists and passers-by attended the meeting, mostly Communists, however, they point out. Several sentences later they inform their readers that the enthusiastic meeting lacked "spirit." Workers, who hear of this, puncture the obvious lies by asking, "If it was a meeting packed full of Communists why should applause be lacking?"

Even the trade papers of the employers, always staunch supporters of the Sigman right wing gang, admit an enthusiastic meeting.

TAMMANY AL AND ROACH STRATON PLAY AT COWBOY

Governor Hankering to Prove He's Pure

GREENWOOD LAKE, Aug. 9. The forthcoming debate between Tammany Al Smith, Wall Street protege, and John Roach Straton, whose congregation has often been seen to embrace collectively, trees, chairs, and whatnot, under the influence of his frenzied "Come to Jesus," was made a little more remote today when Straton insisted that he wanted the debate to be repeated twice, once at a Catholic Church, and the other at a Baptist Church.

"I am making the suggestion that we debate both in my church, Calvary Baptist, and again in St. Patrick's Cathedral," said the pastor, "because I do not want anyone to suppose for a minute that I believe a Baptist Church more holy ground than a Catholic Church."

SMITH TO HONOR DEAD POLITICIAN

Picks an Appropriate Party

ALBANY, Aug. 9.—Governor Alfred E. Smith, acknowledged leader of the corrupt Tammany Hall machine will make a flying trip to attend the funeral of George F. Brennan, democratic boss of Illinois and head of another intrenched grafting organization, who died Wednesday.

Smith will travel in an automobile provided by Wm. F. Kenny, multi-millionaire crony of the governor, owner of traction stock, Consolidated Gas and Edison Co. securities. In the party will be included Mayor Frank Hague, mayor of Jersey City, recently exposed in huge graft deals in that city, [illegible] A. Riordan former part owner of the U. S. Trucking Corporation with which Smith was connected and several military officers.

CAP WORKERS TO HOLD BIG MEET

Protest Breaking of Their Union

With an appeal to all workers in New York cap and millinery markets to come and protest against the union wrecking activities of their International president Max Zaritsky and his reactionary general executive board, the Cap and Millinery Section of the Trade Union Educational League yesterday announced the holding of mass meeting in Webster Hall, 11th St. and Third Ave., Monday evening immediately after work.

A circular, distributed by thousands in the working area, details to the workers the recent union smashing activities of the right wing clique.

Jugoslav Police and Troops Arrest Militants as Croatian Peasant Revolt Looms

SITUATION ACUTE AS RADITCH DIES; TROOPS DRAFTED

Communists are Jailed in Terror

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, Aug. 9.—As Serbian troops are reported on their way to prevent the threatened secession of Croatia from the Yugoslav kingdom, the police here raided the homes of several workers, who were suspected of belonging to a Communist nucleus. Seven were arrested.

Situation Critical.

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Aug. 9.—In spite of the plea of the Croatian party leaders that a pacifist policy be adopted in the attainment of autonomy, Serb officials here fear that the Croatian peasants may rise in armed revolt. Troops have been drafted.

The death of Stefan Raditch on the night of August 7 is expected to lead to critical developments in Zagreb.

The session of the skeletonized Belgrade parliament today was marked by the dissension of the German minority representative and the Serb agrarian deputies. The latter criticized the proposed passage of the Nettuno treaty, which aroused such sharp criticism on the part of some of the anti fascist Croat leaders.

Kraft, the German representative, declared that nowhere else in the whole world except in Italy are minorities so ill-treated as in Yugoslavia.

Typical soldiers of the army of independence are shown.

IN ESCAPE FROM GOMEZ TERROR

Revolutionaries Flee in Open Boat

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Aug. 9.—It was learned here today that many of those who had participated in the revolt in Venezuela last week, had put out in an open boat and reached the Dutch island of Aruba, off the Venezuelan coast.

The Venezuelans living on the island, and numbering about 2000, for the most part workers in the petroleum industry have declared that they will resist any attempt on the part of the dictator Gomez to extradite the political refugees and that they are prepared to defend them with arms if necessary.

Dutch colonial authorities here have dispatched extra police to the island in order to prevent disturbances which are expected to follow on the arrest of the refugees.

By M. Pass.

He opposes injunctions, but he takes 'em as they come.

How the bosses' grinding machines take in labor votes and turn out injunctions is a mystery only to those who do not examine the operators of the machine.

The American Federation of Labor Executive Council has just given a free hand to the hundreds of labor fakers throughout the country to sell out the workers politically to whatever candidates of either old party offer the highest inducements.

Al Smith has appointed Major Berry, head of the Printing Pressmens' Union, to corral the labor votes for him.

In various sections "Vote-for-Hoover" worker clubs are being formed by other labor traitors.

• • • • •

There will undoubtedly be a larger vote in the coming election than in any one previous. This means that more workers will cast their ballots than ever before.

THIS IS OUR OPPORTUNITY!

We can deliver a double blow to the bosses and to the labor fakers who serve them.

We can say to the workers: When you vote for the bosses you vote yourself an injunction. You write an order to call out the militia against you. You vote yourself a "yellow-dog" contract. You appoint a judge who will declare social legislation "unconstitutional."

DON'T SCAB ON YOURSELF POLITICALLY!

VOTE AS YOU STRIKE! MUSTER YOUR POLITICAL MILITIA AGAINST THE BOSSES!

Would you like to say this to a dozen workers between now and election time?

YOU CAN SAY IT TO A THOUSAND!

Every member and sympathizer can pass out one thousand DAILY WORKERS before November. This is the most profitable stock you can buy.

CONFAB LAUGHS AT KELLOGG PACT

Profs Point to War On Nicaragua

UNIVERSITY, Va., Aug. 8.—They are picking on Kellogg and the State Department here at the University of Virginia Institute of Public Affairs.

Practically all the speakers at the round tables and forums on Latin America attack what they call American imperialism.

As political scientists and professors of international law, these good democrats and republicans object strenuously, on legal and moral grounds, to the Yankee intervention policy. And the speakers from Latin American countries feel even more strongly on the subject.

Any idea that the much advertised anti-war pact which Kellogg is going to sign in Paris this month will protect our Caribbean neighbors from us or restrain our military rule in those "independent" countries is simply laughed out at these forums.

British Monroe Doctrine.

Here, for instance, is the sober Dr. John H. Latane, Johns Hopkins University, leader of these discussions. Says Latane:—

"The anti-war pact proposed by Secretary Kellogg would not in any way affect such a situation as Nicaragua. So far none of the Latin American States has been invited to unite in this pact, and even if they should become parties to it we would under the Monroe Doctrine, object to European Powers having anything to say.

"In view of this situation, England has very cleverly advanced a Monroe Doctrine of her own and has agreed to sign the anti-war pact, with a vague reservation covering apparently Egypt, India, Afghanistan and other regions in which she has special interests.

Marines Protect Wall Street.

"Today Latin America is the main field of American commercial and financial exploitation, and the Monroe Doctrine has been transformed from a benevolent policy of protection into the chief instrument of American imperialism. We are, as a matter of fact, with the exception of England, the most imperialistic nation on earth.

"Plutocratic interests always endeavor to use the armed forces of the country in backing up their foreign enterprises.

Replying to the administration's claim that it intervenes only to protect American lives and property, Latane said:—"The marines were landed in Nicaragua to protect Americans living in Wall St." He charged the administration with "threatening war against Mexico to protect Doheny's and Sinclair's Mexican oil titles, some of which were obtained fraudulently."

Cruelties By Marine Forces.

Miss Annie S. Peck, writer on Latin American affairs, charged cruelty by marines and disruption of representative native government for the benefit of American financial interests in countries of American occupation, such as the Dominican Republic, Hayti and Nicaragua.

FRENCH SOLDIERS FIGHT FOR RIGHTS

PARIS, Aug. 6.—The struggle of the French soldiers for better conditions is becoming more intense. They are bringing forward a list of demands. In a regiment in Messires, soldiers refused their food because it was not fit for human beings. Together with other regiments they lodged a complaint against the bad food and demanded better conditions.

A special barrack newspaper was circulated in the 6th Dragoons division in which a number of demands were published. The commanding officers stopped the circulation of the newspaper among the other soldiers. But when he saw with what enthusiasm the soldiers were discussing the demands published in the newspaper he conceded some of them.

MILITARIST BUSY 'MAKING SURE' OF NICARAGUA POLL

Gen. McCoy Sews Up Moncada's Election

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Aug. 9.—As the elections draw closer General Frank R. McCoy, in charge of United States maneuvers in Nicaragua, with his "election" staff are making trips all over the republic to better "acquaint themselves" with election methods." The liberal candidate, Monacada," is believed to be favored by McCoy.

These excursions, however, do not extend into the province of Nouvelle Segovia, where General Sandino with his army of independence holds full sway.

The United States board of elections, headed by McCoy, have again confirmed their decision of last week that no one else but Moncado and Adolfo Benard, the candidate of the Conservative Party, be allowed to run. Buttons bearing a picture of Moncado, have been issued and banquets in his honor are being held under the direction of his manager who has just returned from the United States.

The Conservative candidate is at present in Europe and is not expected back until the elections. Many here look upon the preparation for a general election as farcical, in view of the fact that the election of Moncado is virtually assured.

WORLD'S LABOR ANSWERS MINERS

Relief Committee Reports Contributions

gamated Furnish Trades" Association of London, England, "our executive committee, at their meeting yesterday, agreed to make a grant of ten pounds (fifty dollars) in aid of the miners' wives and childrens' suffering in your struggle against a relentless capitalist combination, and a British money order for that amount is enclosed."

Canada Responds Liberally.

From trade unions and working class organizations in Canada, approximately $5,000.00 was donated. With each donation, comes a letter of encouragement, a pledge of workers' solidarity for fighting fellow-workers.

From each of the forty-eight states in the union, contributions, some large, some small, from unions, organizations, churches and individual sympathizers, have reached the headquarters of the National Miners Relief Committee, 611 Penn Avenue. These dollars were immediately converted into food and divided among the hungry in the strike camps.

To defend the hundreds of leading miners who are still under indictment in the courts, and feed their families, a National Miners Relief and Defense campaign was launched July 22. More than 200,000 collection lists are still in circulation. In every camp, hundreds of miners who were the militant leaders in the struggle, are black-listed. Thousands of others are still holding out, demanding that the operators recognize their organization. The United Mine Workers of America has cut camp after camp off their relief list, and unless the National Miners Relief Committee continues to help them, they will be faced with famine.

Many Starving.

It is no unusual thing in a mining camp to find that nobody has eaten for two or three days before the new relief shipment arrives. Because so many locals have been completely cut off, the National Miners Relief Committee is forced to give less relief to those still receiving the pittance of $1 every two weeks, and concentrate upon those locals where not a penny or a pound of flour is given by the UMWA.

Cloaks Morgan Control Over Smith

[illegible] Du Pont would be ex- [illegible] resignation was accepted with the understanding that he probably would resume his General Motors connections after the November elections.

The expected resignation of Pierre S. Du Pont, multi-millionaire munitions maker, from the chairmanship of the board of directors of the General Motors Corporation, a Morgan controlled and affiliated concern, Du Pont is to help manage the Al Smith campaign.

No importance is attached here either to the nominal resignation of Du Pont or to the fact that the board of directors of the organization refused to accept it.

Observers point out that Du Pont and Raskob between them own the controlling power in the General Motors Corporation. Their gestures of leaving the firm in order to take part in the Smith campaign are in effect handing in their resignations to themselves and when they resume their work after election, it will be the equivalent of taking themselves back. The move is understood to be an attempt to camouflage the obvious fact that the Tammany candidate is now practically under the thumb of the Morgan financial interests.

Low Pay and Hard Conditions for California Woodchoppers, Correspondent Writes

HANdOuTS

It has just been disclosed in the hearing before Commissioner of Accounts Higgins that the street cleaning department of Al Smith's Tammany Hall maintains a snow removal office during the summer. All possibility of a traffic tie-up due to a sudden flurry during July and August is thus eliminated.

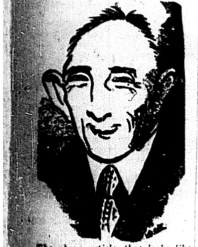
When Stanley Baldwin, slow-witted British premier, was recently told by the International Transference Board that 200,000 jobless miners must be driven from their homes to seek work elsewhere or be doomed to starvation, he offered as his immediate solution of the problem the following optimistic buncombe: "I don't believe this country is played out or is going to be played out." Baldwin and the other capitalists will continue to eke out an existence by clipping coupons, which is the hardest work they do, as long as labor accepts starvation without a fight. If, however, anything should happen to the scissor snipping business, the capitalists will make use of their one panacea for all ills, "War."

Uncaged



The above article, that looks like something you throw peanuts to, is Johnny Raskob. He is trying to make the gullible believe he quit as head of General Motors to be chairman of the democratic committee to elect Al Smith president. What did he ever do around General Motors. He never put bolts on Chevrolet cars. The workers made the automobiles and still do. All Johnny did was to keep the plants open-shop and not let the men organize. He feels he can still do that, for a few months, by telephone. He claims he's quit for good. After the elections he's just as liable to keep away from General Motors as a thirsty cow from a water hole.

Unconventional means were resorted to in Blairstown, N. J., to obtain a new schoolhouse. The old school was without proper washrooms and ventilation facilities. The town council refused to appropriate money for a new one. The other day the old schoolhouse was burned down. Whoever did the deed left a 40-quart milk can which was once filled with gasoline. Asked who did the job, William Penn Vail, president of the board of education, said: "We suspect everybody big enough to carry the can."

STRAW TO LIE IN, RAGS FOR BEDS IN CAMP

Vermin Crawl Over Filthy Floors

(By a Worker Correspondent)

POTTER VALLEY, Cal. (By Mail).—This little line of prosperity is written from the sun-kissed California where Arthur Brisbane gives the regular bunk of the great opportunities to be just gone after and gotten, not alone in its fertile plains, but also in mountains, woods and desert. Let me try and tell Arthur something, not thru his master's voice but thru the voice of a worker.

I came here some three years ago from Detroit, worked in Los Angeles while the working was good. When I say good, $18 was considered very good in that city, good, and all, as it was. As per usual, the job didn't last.

Police Get Jobless.

I shifted to "Frisco" and found conditions, if anything, worse. That city scared me a bit. Every day the cossacks were working overtime, rounding up the unemployed in the tenderloin district, Madison, Harrison and 3rd Sts., and booking them on charges of vagrancy. The dead line was Market St. That's where the slave instinct tells him to get off the grass.

Things didn't look healthy in "Frisco," so I thought that I had better pack up my few belongings and try the great, wide, open spaces, where men are men and workers carry their blankets after trudging most of the way from "Frisco." I struck oil in Willits: a one-eyed gentleman hired me in partnership to chop wood.

Boss Rules.

By the way, what a slave is up against in the wood-chopping line of exploitation is pretty bad. To begin with, the boss emphatically lays down the size, length and finish to the standard requirement and should you contradict any of his orders, he is sure to remind you of the depression prevailing throughout the land and that many men have contracted themselves to do the same work for lower pay.

Anyway I tackled the job, in partnership with the boss' foreman. That was my first experience at woodchopping. Now, I hadn't been long in partnership with this bird when I found out he was a snooper and conscious lackey of his boss. From the expression of his earlier sentiments, I could easily see that he was a staunch advocate of Ku Klux Klanism. He was very hostile to all labor organizations, especially toward the Communists and I. W. W's.

I thought I'd try to convince him that there was light and a way to better our miserable conditions in today's life. First, I pointed out the cabin in which we were living. It had better have been called a coffin. I showed him the beds we tried to rest in, a litter of straw, with gunny sacks as matresses, rags and odds and ends as blankets. I pointed out the cheap food on which we had to live. Always beans and coffee for our meals.

There were the vermin of the woods running on the cabin floor which I showed him. They were also in the so-called beds and on the table. The table was two planks laid on boxes.

Long Hours.

I pointed out the long hours we had to work, from sunrise to sunset, and work in all kinds of weather. You can safely say you're working if you make three dollars in twelve to fourteen hours.

My talk was true, but to the 100 per cent. flunkey it was all in vain. All he could answer in "arguing" back was, "Why don't you go back where you came from if you don't like the good old United States?" So ended our partnership.

From Willits I went to Ukiah, only to find conditions exactly the same. Here I worked at the ranch of a government official to chop wood. I had the same rate of pay and the same miserable living conditions, although he exploited his slaves more than the Willits 100 per center. Besides chopping wood, you had to clear his ranch of underbrush without thanks or compensation.

The gentleman's salary as officer to the Mendicino Company exceeds $600 per month and he has been holding that fat post for 24 years. Yet he didn't pay me for what timber and underbrush I had put by in some four months. Other fellows have the same complaint against our governmental boss.

I'm rather long about this letter, I know, but that's what really happened, its true and I can vouch for its authenticity.

If any readers of The DAILY WORKER want to live a little longer under republican prosperity, just give California a wide berth. The sunshine is pretty nice, but never nice enough to make a meal for a hungry stomach.

I, for one, would like to get out of California, but in the three years I've been here I've not been able to save enough to leave and get into the "promised" land, America.

QUALEY.

Charged With Killing Longshoreman

Because Leo Boice, a longshoreman, had two pints of whiskey on his person, James MacGuckin, a coast guard, is alleged to have shot and killed the worker. MacGuckin, at right above, was released in $10,000 bail after he failed to appear in court.

No. Carolina Girls Work for $5 Weekly

GREENSBORO, N. C., Aug. 9.—At a mass meeting here, called to discuss the low wages, especially in the textile industry, workers took the stand and declared that the only solution is organization and a fight against the textile barons, in spite of the danger that they would lose their jobs as a result.

The movement of the workers to fight against the terrible conditions here is becoming general throughout the central and western part of North Carolina.

The 60-hour week is still the rule in most of the mills, and often children of eleven or twelve work ten hours daily for a miserable wage. A fresh labor supply is recruited from the rural sections where the farmers have been unable to obtain the necessities of life from the farms.

Local chambers of commerce, in appeals for northern mill owners to come to the south, have pointed out that "labor here is American and loyal," meaning that there is no organization of the workers and that exploitation is practically unlimited.

Although the American Federation of Labor will take no steps to lead the workers, a spontaneous movement of the employes in the mills is developing in North Carolina.

NEWS IN CONTROL OF POWER TRUST

National Censorship of Papers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—An undercover censorship of newspaper editorials and news matter, carried on through an interchange of reports and influence among state propaganda directors of the electric power interests, was disclosed in Federal Trade Commission records today.

The evidence consists of a number of letters sent by propaganda directors of the power trusts to the editors of different papers. One letter, from J. B. Sheridan, Missouri propagandist director, to a company manager in Missouri, reads:

"Many thanks for your favor of April 14 with that wonderful editorial from the Sedalia Democrat attached.

"I am glad that you were stimulated enough to put out such a marvelous editorial, and when that reaches 60 Wall Street (the H. L. Doherty Company offices) there ought to be something doing. Something like a 100 per cent in the salary of the manager of the City Light and Traction manager, together with a nice block of stock.

"I wish we could stimulate other editors in Missouri to write editorials like that."

PLUMBER BOSSES FAIL TO SCARE YOUNG HELPERS

Must Resume Fight to Strengthen Union

(By a Worker Correspondent)

The officials of the United Association of Plumbers, Steamfitters and Gasfitters have been dodging all questions concerning the recognition of the American Association of Plumbers' Helpers.

The officials of the Plumbers' Local 463, of Manhattan and the Bronx, came out more openly, lately, against the plumbers' helpers helpers by saying, "We will do Their last statement is to scare the away with the helpers completely from the trade." Of course, we all know that such words are pure nonsense. It is only thrown at us in order to prevent us from organizing the plumbers' helpers into a union. Local 463 is supposed to be the mouthpiece of the 300 plumbers' locals all over the country.

Such a statement before the national convention of the United Association clearly indicates that the officials of Local 463 will fight against any attempt to admit the helpers into the United Association. This attitude towards the helpers clearly shows that they are not working in the interests of the plumbers but in the interests of the master plumbers' association, the members of which are the sole gainers of such a policy. The rank and file plumbers, themselves, know our reasons for fighting for recognition from the United Assocaition. However, it has never been brought to light.

We must again resume all efforts to combat pessimism in our ranks. Only through the American Association of Plumbers' Helpers can our aim be achieved.

4 Drowned, 27 Killed by Gas in F-14 Tragedy

POLA, Italy, Aug. 9. In the pocket of the uniform of Captain Wiel, commander of the submarine F-14, there was found today a brief note, written as he was in the last agonies of slow asphyxiation. It said:

"Poor mother, be strong, as mothers of—" and ended there, as if Wiel had not the strength to continue.

Four of the F-14's crew were drowned when it sank after colliding with a destroyer in the Adriatic, it was found today. Gas generated from the batteries killed the other 27 aboard. The tragedy occurred while the fascist submarine was engaged in militaristic maneuvers.

Rnssian Films Cast Magic Spell in Europe and America

I.

THOSE who have followed the development of the film industry in Soviet Russia the past five years and have noted the remarkable progress made, not only in the type of films, but in the direction, will find the following article by Ivan Narodny taken from the current issue of Musical America, both interesting and informative.

"Like the Russian music and the Russian drama of a decade or two age," says Narodny, "the Russian film is now casting an irresistable racial spell of attraction over the outside world. The Soviet motion picture is a tantalizing novelty to audiences in the Far East and America.

"This is a strange phenomenon at a time when the motion picture production of other countries is going through a crisis in which it seems in danger of losing its original attraction and when all kinds of additional devices, such as movietones, vitaphones, etc., are introduced in order to fill the theatre. Arthur James, veteran American film critic and editor of Motion Pictures Today, explains the situation as due to 'the raw Russian bear meat served in the barbaric splendors.'

"American and European audiences—apart from those of the Soviet republics have seen but a 'rem fraction of the vast variety of the latest Russian kinetic art, and thus jump at the hasty conclusion that it 'is all a propaganda stuff.' What they have seen of the Soviet films are 'Potemkin,' 'Ivan the Terrible,' 'The End of St. Petersburg' and 'The Station Master'—pictures that truly belong to the class of historic revolutionary plays. Such cinemas do not by means deserve to be called 'propaganda' films any more than Wagner's operas are propaganda for German nationalism or 'Aida' for Egyptian.

A Cultural Message.

"According to Soviet terminology, the above named pictures are called kulturfilms, which means, films with a cultural message. It is perhaps correct to call the preachy proletheistic pictures—according to the view that Communism is a religious cult. The ideas of propaganda is even taboo among the most devout Communists,' as the period of propaganda making is considered long passed.

"However, the so-called kulturfilm of the Soviet output is only a part of the total productions of the country, and the term is rather vague. First of all, the Soviet films are not produced by the central state concern in Moscow, but by several, all over the country. And besides, nearly all the different nationalistic states forming the federal union have their local motion picture studios, either maintained by the government or by a private company, supported by the state.

"Thus to my knowledge there are at least six or seven different local state film companies—goskinos—which all work in their own independent way, as for instance, the Georgian Goskino, the Ukranian Goskino, the Central Asian Goskino, the Chuvashkino, the Tartar Kino, etc. All those state film companies work very much like some municipal theatres, each in its own way and style.

Individual Liberty.

"The outstanding feature of the Soviet policy is to give each of the nationalistic state administrations liberty to manage its affairs in the spirit of its folk lore and racial traditions. Thus an Armenian goskino produces pictures in the spirit of Armenian traditions, and a Siberian goskino does it in the spirit of Siberian folk lore, etc. The Tartar goskino is at present at work in Mongolia on the production of a film called Genghis Khan, with one of the distant descendants of this historic Tartar ruler playing the heroic role, and natives cast for the Golden Horde.

"Some time ago a magnificent Central Asian motion picture was produced by the Central Asian State Film Company, Uzehekgoskino. This was called 'Kryty Furgon' (Covered Wagon), and showed the unknown life of different Central Asian natives. It was also a powerful drama conceived in a true racial spirit. To my judgment a far more powerful picture was 'Sar Pige' by Churashkino—dealing with one of the Tartar races inhabiting the plains between the Volga and the Ural rivers.

Depict Life of People.

"Pictures all depict the lives of the different nationalities which form part of the Soviet Federation: they are performed by local actors and managed by native stage and art directors.

POLICE BREAK UP PASSAIC MEETING IN NEW CAMPAIGN

Arrest Chairman and Disperse 400

Police last night broke up an open air meeting of the Workers (Communist) Party, in Passaic, N. J. held for the purpose of furthing the election campaign of the party, and arrested N. Katz, chairman, after having brutally pushed him off the stand. Four hundred workers, gathered at the meeting place to hear the speakers, were dispersed when a squad of police arrived on the scene.

Katz was taken to the police station, charged with disorderly conduct, and released after a few minutes. He was ordered to appeal in Court this morning.

This was the first time that the police had broken up a meeting in Passaic for a long time. Up till four weeks ago, meetings had not been held in a Passaic, police censorship having been exerted on the workers ever since the great strike in 126. The last three meetings were not disturbed, but the police finally decided to "break them up once and for all," workers said.

Solidarity of 4,500 Barbers Strikers Forces 760 Shops to Recognize Their Union

WORKERS STILL PICKET THOUGH SEVEN ARRESTED

Complete Unionization Is Goal

The strike of the International Union of Journeymen Barbers, called three days ago by locals 752 and 900 of the organization, had by yesterday succeeded in enforcing 760 shops in the borough of Manhattan that were non-union before the strike, to agree to recognize the union.

The capitulation of the 760 barber shops and their agreement to recognize the International Union of Journeymen Barbers was made possible by the whole-hearted support of the strike by the workers in Manhattan, who two days ago walked out 4,500 strong to force complete recognition of the union by all the non-union shops in New York.

The strike is to continue, according to statement given out at the union headquarters late yesterday, until all the shops in Manhattan are unionized.

Detectives Attack Pickets.

The strike, which has been on now for several days, got off to a sudden start when seven strikers, picketing before the non-union shops on East 83rd St. in an effort to induce fellow-workmen to join them in their strike, were arrested by detectives under the command of Detective Lieutenant John Broderick. They were charged with disorderly conduct, and with street-fighting. The arrested pickets, however, maintain that the fighting started when the detectives assaulted them as they waited to cross the street.

Strike on West Side.

A strike on the west side of Manhattan was forecast by Abraham Greenwald, manager of local 752 of the union, as soon as the east side of the city is unionized.

The strike is being carried on solely for the purpose of forcing all shops in the borough to recognize the union. Other demands will be taken up as soon as the present strike attains its successful completion, a statement at the union headquarters said.

YANKS AND ATHLETICS BOTH WIN TO KEEP PACE

By UNITED PRESS.

The New York Yankees and Philadelphia athletics kept pace with each other in the American League pennant race Thursday, but the St. Louis Cardinals slipped a notch in the National League chase by losing to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 1927 champions.

Although idle, the New York Giants gained a half game on the Cardinals, leaving the St. Louis club only 4 games ahead.

Fred Heimach, rookie southpaw from St. Paul, made his debut with the New York Yankees in an impressive manner, holding the Boston Red Sox to four hits and fanning eight men as the World Champions won, 7 to 1. The Yanks knocked Ed Morris out of the box in the sixth inning, scoring all seven runs in that frame.

Al Simmons' home run with the bases filled in the sixth inning broke up a pitching duel between Braxton and Ehmke, the Athletics beating the Senators, 8 to 3. Ehmke held the Senators hitless until the sixth when Rice got an infield hit.

LABOR 'LEADER' LANDS IN JAIL

'Tootsie' Earns Nearly $4,000 a Week

Labor leader as a side line, leader of gangster crew for a bosses' association as his main vocation, Arthur Herbert, better known as "Tootsie," was hailed into court yesterday charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust law. He denied the charge.

For being a labor faker, a truck drivers' union which he had organized and of which he was the head, paid him $125 a week. For terrorizing retail poultry dealers and forcing them to submit to the dictates of the large wholesalers, "Tootsie" received, it is estimated $3,800 per week.

"Tootsie" was employed by the Poultry Chamber of Commerce, an organization composed of practically all the wholesale poultry dealers in the New York area.

It was "Tootsie's" business to make sure that none of the retail dealers strayed from their assigned parentage. Working with him, "Tootsie" had a young army of gangsters, it is charged.

Other arrests are expected to follow.

But—you don't expect anyone making $4,000 a week and useful to the bosses to go to jail, do you?

Ghost of Jugend Club Wakes to Donate $100

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 9.—The ghost of the famous Jugend Club came to life today, when the treasury of the disbanded organization was donated in its entirety to the National Miners Relief Committee.

One hundred dollars has remained in the treasury since then. The executive committee and the board of trustees communicated from distant parts of the country, and decided to turn over the fund to the relief committee, to help feed the hungry miners' families.

WORKERS PARTY IN CALIFORNIA TO HOLD MEET

Will Nominate State Candidates

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—The State Nominating Convention of the Workers (Communist) Party will be held at 1212 Market St., San Francisco, on Sunday. Delegates from all over the state of California will participate in this important convention, at which a state political platform will be adopted, state candidates nominated and a determined effort launched to place Foster and Gitlow, the Communist candidates for president and vice-president, on the California ballot.

Owing to the peculiar election laws of the state of California, drawn up for the purpose of preventing independent working class expression, it is extremely difficult for the Communist Party to get on the ballot. Yet if the Party mobilizes all its strength and works energetically it will be possible to have Foster and Gitlow on the ballot in California.

The State Nominating Convention of the Workers Party will be the opening gun in the political campaign. From that time until the election, November 6, the entire Party strength will be thrown into the struggle here to point out to the workers why they should support the Communist candidates and no longer the ruinous policy of the trade union bureaucracy of voting for the candidates of the capitalist parties.

Al Smith's "Roosevelt" Alibi.

"And just as Theodore Roosevelt had to sue an obscure editor in Michigan for libel in order to destroy the slander that he was a drunkard, so Alfred E. Smith has had to challenge Dr. Straton in order to deal with the charge that he is the champion of all the vices."

—N. Y. World.

Excellent!

Al Smith's challenge to the Reverend John Roach Straton is precisely an imitation of Theodore Roosevelt's famous "6-cent libel suit" against the editor of a Michigan small-town paper—and it is precisely the same kind of monumental fraud.

One of the jokes of future historians will be the famous incident when Theodore Roosevelt "proved" in the Michigan court that he was "not a drinking man," that, in fact, he "never took a drink" except—if we remember right, under the sternest orders of a doctor.

Why is this sort of buncombe worth mentioning? Only because such incidents show in a lightly dramatic way how utterly and completely, even ridiculously, the organs of law and the press are used to put over any sort of idiotic lie that may necessary at any particular moment be for the collective benefit of the ruling class. The ideological superstructure of the capitalist society is built upon and conforms to the economic structure; the capitalist class owns the machinery of production, the machinery of law, the machinery of the press and the machinery of the pulpit, and the schools—and the prevailing "public opinion" is shaped according to the needs of the ruling class.

When Roosevelt put over the farce of getting a verdict from court to the effect that he was not a drunkard, every newspaper editor and every other informed person knew that the whole affair was a screaming theatrical comedy upheld by the blandest and nerviest sort of "gentlemen's perjury."

And now it is evident that Al Smith's advisors are pulling, as the World indicates, the same sort of stunt. There is no one in his senses that does not know that Al Smith is a product of the crookedest political organization ever known in American history. Tammany Hall is an institution the life's blood of which is drawn from its successful organization of the trade of prostitution, the organization of "rake-off" on the wages of miserable streetwalkers, the systematization of police-graft in sums of millions of dollars from gambling houses, the police-licensing of crime in general, including the gentle art of professional gunmen, the high development of election frauds, the million-dollar swindles of city contracts given to Tammany contractors, and last but not by any means least, by the selling of public privileges to the giant corporations of New York.

No one is fool enough to think that Al Smith, who has spent his entire life "working up" in Tammany Hall, and who is now its graduate leader, is ignorant or innocent of this filthy institution of crime.

But now Al Smith's managers have found the way to manufacture a "public opinion" to the contrary. It is an ingenious method. Al, like most of the Tammany politicians, is a Roman Catholic. Vaguely in the minds of millions of Babbits, there is an association between these two facts: Tammany and Rome.

It is not accidental that the clownish, preacher, fundamentalist Baptist preacher, John Roach Straton, becomes the spokesman for the view that Smith is "the deadliest foe in America today of the forces of moral progress and true wisdom." Straton's words are an accurate expression of the reaction of hundreds of thousands of small-town petty bourgeois to the fact that Smith is a product of the political sewers of New York.

Therefore it is a stroke of genius that led Al's advisors to shove him into a protestant church, to speak from the pulpit, to deny the Baptist preacher's accusation.

Madison Square Garden would not do.

No, sir. Only a church. A protestant church. And from the pulpit. And it must be a Baptist church—a fundamentalist Baptist church.

The psychological effect of it upon the soft minds of the millions of Babbits will be to bridge the mystic gulf that exists in their minds between the strange and terrible thing of Rome and the nice and "Beautiful" thing, the intellectual decay that is called American protestantism.

The capitalist newspapers will do the rest.

They will lie like hell. In fact both the republican and democratic papers alike would consider it "bad form" not to uphold the idiotic farce.

The working class should be made to understand these theatricals. They are shams—plays put on the stage for the purpose of deluding the masses. Straton, the miserable peddler of Middle-Age superstitution, and Smith, the sly adventurer who uses equally his connection with Tammany gutter of crime and the Roman church (also a political institution)—these two are equally enemies of the working class.

Join your own class movement, build your own revolutionary culture, and fight the vermin of capitalism, of whatever sort.

Vote Communist.

CAMPAIGN CORNER

The petitions to put the Workers (Communist) Party on the ballot in Kentucky are now in circulation. Six more new members have been signed up for the Party by our organizer, Comrade Judson. Not one of the six is a colonel. It used to be difficult to pick your way thru the tall grasses of Kentucky without stepping on a military title, and colonel was the big favorite. Perhaps the Kentuckians are running out of tall hats and mustaches. Without these scenic effects no respectable colonel can flourish.

Comrade Judson intends to hop into Tennessee after getting the work of circulating petitions going in Kentucky. Tennessee! Seems we have heard the name before. It does not take a graduate of a memory-training school to remember the famous monkey trial at Dayton a few years ago. Tennessee is famous for something else. It is the home and business address of "Major" George L. Berry, chief strikebreaker of the printing pressmen's union and now head of Al Smith's campaign labor bureau. With the Communist candidates on the ballot in Tennessee the workers and poor farmers who neither believe in capitalism nor the rib-theory of creation will have an opportunity to say so with a cross.

Orders for National Platforms are coming in thick and fast. The Nutmeg State (Connecticut) is doing well. Here are two letters, one from Norwalk and another from New Haven. James V. Doyle sends for one copy, and Anton Kratofil sends for ten. Keep the programs moving, comrades. The printers are ready for another edition.

Our $100,000 Communist Campaign Fund is not being neglected. Dollars keep coming from all over the country. A poor farmer from Rose Lake, Idaho, sends his mite. Two dollars can send twenty National Platforms out on the road doing a lot of mischief for capitalism.

Pat Devine reports progress in the securing of signatures to place the presidential and state candidates of the Workers (Communist) Party on the ballot. Two thousand signatures are required for presidential electors, senatorial and gubernatorial candidates. Congressional candidates need 500 each. October 6th is the deadline for filing petitions. "We will have our quota long before then," writes Pat. It would be just like Pat to collect a few extra names and save them for an emergency. He is of Scotch descent, you know.

Hugo Oehler has Stanley Clark's speaking tour mapped out, and the only thing Clark has to do is to draw a long breath, step into his flivver and step on the gas. Speaking comes as easy to Clark as collecting money to a deacon. Let's hope Stanley does a little collecting, too. There is nothing that brings an audience closer to a speaker and his cause than a generous contribution. Clark will cover the states of Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Wisconsin and Utah. He will speak in the mining fields in the industrial sections, and in the agricultural regions.

Comrade B. H. Lauderdale reports that the Hod Carriers' Union in Cisco, Texas, contributed $18 to the Communist Campaign Fund. "The socialist party put H. M. McConlies of Cisco on the ballot without his consent," he writes. "McConlies is out of sympathy with the socialist policy, and bought a copy of the National Platform and subscribed to the United Farmer which supports the Communist policy. The democratic executive committee sent out instructions to all election boards to bar Negro voters in the July 28 primary election. The courts upheld this ruling. Negro voters presenting themselves at the polls have been universally barred. I visited an influential Negro in Cisco (who with several others was turned away from the voting booths) and presented our program and he was impressed. I made some good contacts with presidents and members of the Cisco Marketing Association and am invited to their Saturday meeting." That's the stuff!

As a parting shot, comrades, don't forget that the raising of the $100,000 Communist Campaign Fund is the first point on our agenda. Solicit contributions. Checks and money orders should be made payable to Alexander Trachtenberg, treasurer, National Election Campaign Committee, 43 East 125th St., New York City.

fronted by the strongest imperialist state power in the world? Are we not fighting the strongest finance capital state trust on earth?

The theory is correct. But Marxism teaches us that historic events are no purely mechanical processes:

"Historic events do not take place outside human will; on the contrary, they occur through the will of human beings, through the class struggle, if we deal with a class society. The will of a class is always determined by concrete circumstances; in this respect it is by no means 'free'. The will itself, however, is a factor determining historic processes. If we do away with human deeds, with the struggle of classes, etc., we do away with the historic process as a whole." (N. Bucharin, "World Economy and Imperialism." p. 127).*

The number of cases is legion.

Every day workers' gatherings are being illegally broken up by the police, workers illegally arrested, sentences imposed on trumped up charges like "disorderly conduct" or "inciting to riot." Every day someone of our comrades is arrested somewhere. These attacks have become our daily bread.

It seems to me that we do not protest vigorously enough against police and court crimes. It seems to me we are not even sufficiently aroused by all these brutal assaults.

We are too theoretical, too abstract. We almost consider it natural that the hand of imperialist Wall Street should interfere with everyone of our steps. We see so clearly the power of Wall Street behind those "law and order" indignities, that we, perhaps unconsciously, assume that it could not be otherwise. For are we not con-

Wall Street is the consolidated power of the most centralized and concentrated capital. Wall Street is a class organization that must fight its historic foe, the working class. This "must," however, is different from the one manifested in nature. When classes "must," it is a matter of will, and wills can be influenced by human actions.

Wall Street, of course, must attack the left wing of the labor movement, but Wall Street is not an inanimate apparatus. If we were more alive, more animated with protest sentiments, more aggressive, more agile in face of the enemy, there would be barriers to the will of Wall Street.

Wall Street is stronger than we are. We are not yet a large party. Strength in public life, however, is not measured by numbers alone. We are strong in our position as the vanguard of the working class. We are strong in our unity, discipline, cohesion. We have a definite program, and definite revolutionary tactics, which are in themselves a power. We must throw all the power that we can muster on the scales of the struggle, telling Wall Street outright: "We shall fight against the continuation of these crimes."

To put it bluntly, we must become permeated with the live feeling that it is criminal to attack us. We must not think that it is "natural" when imperialist agents trample under foot our most elementary civic rights. We must also feel personally outraged, everyone of us, whenever such an assault occurs. We must imbue the masses that are under our influence with the same burning indignation. We must remember that it is altogether unnatural that imperialism rules our land. We must not be abstract. All these very concrete and very specific encroachments upon us must meet with an instant readiness to return blow for blow.

And we must move more quickly. It is not only a question of our own party. It is a question that touches the broadest masses of the working class. We deal here with elementary problems that can be understood by everyone. We can mobilize not only the Communists, but we can unite large numbers of workers who hate police "law," and loath judicial "order." We can arouse thousands upon thousands.

To take an example I see no reason why we should not come in throngs to the City Hall, demanding that police terror be stopped. I see no reason why we should not march through the streets with placards reading, "Down with Police Brutalities!", "Down with the Arrests of Strikers and Pickets!" I see no reason why we should not picket the residence of "our" smiling Smith and other dignataries to demand punishment for police and judges committing crimes against the workers, of course, we must not repeat socialist imbecilities: we must not beg; we must refer less to "the glorious American tradition" and more to our proletarian class interests. One thing, however, we must remember under all circumstances: this is our own land; everything in it must be ours; we have full right to the most unlimited freedom, whereas our exploiters have no right to anything because they are exploiters.

Let us become permeated by this conviction; let it become part of our mental makeup—and the enemy will feel it, and this alone will be an important social factor.

We are entering an election campaign. It is to be a militant campaign. It is to be a means of enlightening and organizing the masses. We will not spread parliamentary illusions. What we will do is to spread among the masses fundamental knowledge as the nature of the state as an instrument of class domination. What we will do is to organize the workers for struggle. It would be a lesson to the masses and the proper accentuation of our Communist campaign, if we were to start a broadside against police attacks and court knavery.

We must conquer the streets of the cities for our class struggle!

We must become genuinely convinced that the streets are ours.

We must make this a political mass fight.

Anniversary of Sacco-Vanzetti Murder

By ROSE BARON
(Secretary, N. Y. Section, International Labor Defense.)

"Twelve Months Since Wave of Proletarian Anger Electrified the Masses."

August 22!

This memorable day in 1928 marks the first anniversary of the murder of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. Yes, it is twelve months since a wave of proletarian anger and horror electrified the masses throughout the world. It is one year since New York policemen mounted on armoured motorcycles tore through the singing and weeping masses on Union Square outside the Freiheit Building as the bulletins announced the deaths of our comrades. It is a year since the state of Massachusetts acting for the capitalist class in America flung the lifeless bodies of Sacco and Vanzetti into the waiting arms of the working class, as a warning that henceforth fighters for the workers must expect a like fate.

Mass Murders.

The year passed quickly. In that year the workers of America have realized the bitter truth of a grim anti-labor, wage-cutting, black reactionary campaign instituted by the open shoppers who clamored for the lives of the rebel shoemaker and fish peddler. The death of Sacco and Vanzetti was but a prelude to a hellish symphony of mass murder and oppression in Colorado, Pennsylvania, Ohio and now in New Bedford.

During the fight to save Sacco and Vanzetti from the claws of the Massachusetts mill-barons, the International Labor Defense was charged with carrying on too intense and vigorous a fight to save the two workers in Charlestown prison. Liberals and socialists insisted that mass demonstrations would "anger" those in whose hands the fate of Sacco and Vanzetti rested. Only soft words would save them, they said. We who were old in the class struggle knew the full significance of the master class strategy in Boston. It was nothing new to us. It tallied with the tactics during the murder of the Haymarket victims,—it was the same method used prior to every judicial class murder. The same cloak of "impartiality"—the same effort at "anglo-saxon fair play"—the same series of complicated legal moves all calculated to lull the workers into a false sense of security and drowsiness.

But history has vindicated us. Sacco and Vanzetti were martyred on the altar of the capitalist gods. The black reaction did set in. The open-shoppers did go on a rampage of lockouts and wage cuts. Anglo-saxon fair play and "decency" rewarded our right-wing friends and liberals with the charred bodies of Sacco and Vanzetti.

One year has passed. A year of bitter class struggle in which it was easy to forget the past in the heat of the battle. In a few days August 22, that memorable date, will be upon us.

On this day the New York Section of the International Labor Defense has made arrangements for a monster mass memorial meeting which will be held in Union Square, (Red Square) at 5 p. m. Invitations have been sent to many unions asking that they participate in this expression of sorrow for the death of our comrades Sacco and Vanzetti and anger and hatred against the infamous frame-up system which it made possible for these two valiant workers to be murdered.

It is the duty of every militant worker to be on Union Square at 5 p. m. on August 22nd. It is Wednesday, a work day, on your way home from your offices and shops and factories make your presence swell the ranks of New York's militant labor. Make a resolution now that you will be there and that your comrades and fellow workers will come along also.

It is not in a spirit of sickly sentimentality that we will gather to honor the memory of Sacco and Vanzetti on August 22, but rather to open the fight to release the prisoners of the class struggle who are still in America's prisons. Mooney and Billings are still in jail. Hundreds of miners are in jail as a result of their heroic fight against the coal barons in Pennsylvania and Ohio. Only the other day 225 textile workers were sent to jail in New Bedford. Now that Fall River has come to the aid of New Bedford in this tremendous struggle, we may expect new victims.

Workers, let us make the demonstration on August 22 an historic event. Let this demonstration equal the colossal, surging meetings which New York saw last August.

Remember Sacco and Vanzetti and smash the frame-up system!

Told You So

THE anniversary of the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti is approaching and hundreds of memorial demonstrations and mass meetings will be held all over the United States under the auspices of International Labor Defense. The murder of those two labor leaders was as ghastly a crime as the American ruling class ever dared commit. Had the American trade movement not been headed by a gang of corrupt capitalistically-minded bureaucrats, the Massachusetts governor would have never signalled the executioner to turn on the switch. As it was, only the radicals made any serious effort to save them from death.

BUT for the radicals Tom Mooney would have been burned up in the electric chair twelve years ago. Yet you hear so much balderdash about "bonafide" labor leaders. Their bonafides consist of doing the bidding of the capitalists, except on the rare occasions when the capitalists are so bull-headed that they don't know what's good for them.

George N. Peek, chairman of the Cornbelt Committee intends to have something else besides corn under his belt after the election campaign is over. He made the amazing discovery that Al Smith is strong for the farmers. Yes, for the farmers' vote. Al agreed "in principle" with the equalization fee feature of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill while talking things over with Mr. Peek. But no sooner had Peek bought his ticket for home, than Al repudiated the equalization fee. Which should not disturb Peek, who evidently talked cold turkey for the Peek family while conversing with the democratic nominee. This is good capitalist politics.

The House Campaign Investigating Committee is reported to be spurring itself into activity and keeping a watchful eye on campaign expenditures. We would like to give those innocent fellows a friendly warning and dangle before their eyes the fate of senator James A. Reed of Missouri who built his campaign for the democratic nomination on his slush fund quiz. The culprits he exposed were never more prosperous and they won hands down at the polls but poor Jim was laughed out of Houston and was not even nominated for the job of White House janitor. There is no crime greater than poverty.

When New York policemen are not successfully shooting innocent bystanders they are hanging up new records in marksmanship by drilling holes in their own anatomies. This is certainly a shot in the right direction. If there is any wild shooting to be done there is no reason why the shots should not find lodgement in the cushioned softness of a policeman's person. Patrolman Patrick Abberton, was chasing eight men in an automobile who were guiltless of wrong doing, and as if providence wished to put the cop wise, Patrick leaded his leg, to the great relief of the pursued.

A CHICAGO judge is held for murder and nineteen other trifling breaches of the peace from kidnaping to stuffing ballot boxes. He is a member of mayor Thompson's "America First" organization. The judge and his father controlled a ward which they held by divine right supported by an army of gunmen. But finally the opposition raised more money than the Crowe-Thompson machine and now it appears that what is true in presidential election is going to be proven true in municipal politics. The biggest money bag will win.

THE political game in Chicago is going thru the process of rationalization. Tammany Hall showed the way. In the days of Boss Tweed and down to recently Tammany was a hissing and a byeword in the mouths of the respectable plutocrats. Mayflower multimillionaires and liberal reformers scowled or shuddered at a mention of the name. But an Al came to judgment and by the time he got thru with his fumigating Tammany was pure enough to become a candidate for the White House and the Tammany today waves in the breezes of Wall and Broad Streets. Grafting in Chicago politics continued to remain on a deplorable low level. Big Business apparently has awakened to a sense of civic responsibility. Economy in government and more efficiency in the exploitation of the workers! This is the new watchword in Chicago.

500 OHIO STEEL MILL WORKERS ON STRIKE IN CANTON

Mill Committee Leads Men in the Struggle Against Corporation

Fight Against Wage Cut; Bosses' Treacherous Proposals Turned Down

CANTON, Ohio., Aug. 10.—Demanding recognition of their Mill Committee, six dollars for an eight-hour day, and the removal of Superintendent Seldon, their autocratic boss, 400 chippers and 100 grinders of the Central Alloy Steel Corporation have walked out on strike here.

The original strike action was taken Monday night with the walk-out of the first groups of workers from the steel mills. Announcement that wages were to be slashed from six dollars a day to $4.40 spread like wildfire thru the mills and the walk-out was followed immediately by the formation of a Mill Committee in the Central Alloy plant and the statement of demands by the strikers.

Demands Made.

Six dollars for an eight-hour day and the firing of the superintendent, Seldon, were the first demands issued by the newly organized committee.

Alarmed officials of the Alloy Corporation succeeded in procuring the arrests of four workers distributing hand-bills calling out the Canton Central Steel and the Massillon Steel mill workers. Cases of all four men were continued until next Wednesday.

Officials of the Central Alloy Steel Corporation, which is one unit of a merger comprising the Canton Central Steel Company and Massillon Steel, have offered to split the difference between the wages of the alloy workers and those of the steel workers of the two other companies.

Detecting in the offer an attempt to reduce the wages of workers in all the mills, the strikers of the Central Alloy Steel, under the leadership of their Mill Commmittee have turned down the steel company's proposal.

Plans for spreading the strike are being rapidly developed by the Alloy Steel Mill Committee whose leaders declare that the spirit of the men is firm. They predict that the workers in the other plants will follow the alloy strikers in their walk-out.

TO HOLD LABOR SPORTS MEETING

A call to all affiliated, as well as non-affiliated organizations, for the second national convention of the Labor Sports Union of America was issued last night by the National Arrangements Committee of the organization, thru its secretary, Paul Cline.

The convention will be held Aug. 27-28 at Progressive Hall, 15 W. 126th St., following the Second Annual Olympics o fthe Labor Sports Union, to be held Aug. 25-26 at Wingate Field.

The call follows in part:

"A year and a half has now passed since the organization of the Labor Sports Union. In this comparatively short time the Labor Sports Union has mad egreat progress, having secured the affiliation of 67 workers' athletic clubs, comprising over 5,000 members. In New York, Chicago and Detroit, district organizations have been established. The basis for other district organizations has been laid in

800 COAL DIGGERS STRIKE DESPITE LEWIS OFFICIALS

Company Fails to Live Up to Agreement

NOKOMIS, Ill., Aug. 10 (UP).—Six hundred miners, working at Mine No. 10, were on strike today although local union officials opposed the walk out. The men contended trip riders were not receiving the extra 75 cents a day paid to motormen for overtime work.

NOKOMIS, Ill., Aug. 10.—Nearly eight hundred miners fo Mine No. 10 went out on strike here against the pressure of the officials of the Lewis - Fishwick machine who sought frantically to keep them at work.

Wage slashes and failure of the company to live up to its agreements caused the walk out.

MARINE PLANES FOR NICARAGUA

Fliers in Preparation Flight for War

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (UP).—Four marine flyers took off here today in a tri-motored transport plane for a test flight to St. Louis, Mo., preparatory to leaving on a one-stop flight to Nicaragua.

Lieut. Frank Schilt, in command of the plane, was forced to return to the naval air station after his first takeoff because of engine trouble, but left again soon after repairs were made.

It was announced sometime ago that Schilt would fly the trimotored transport plane to Managua, Nicaragua, with a stop at Miami. It will be the sixth marine transport plane to be sent there.

The tests preliminary to the take-off for Managua are believed to have been ordered as a result of the crash of the last marine plane sent to Nicaragua, which took the lives of three men.

'SOCIALISTS' ARE FOR IMPERIALISM

Colonials Demonstrate Against Congress

(Special to the Daily Worker.)

BRUSSELS, Aug. 10.—The plenary session of the congress of the Socialist 2nd International opened yesterday and Marie Juchacoz reported on the fifth point on the agenda, "Report and Resolution on the Women's Conference."

The resolution read contains no word against the punishment of voluntary abortions afflicted on working women in many countries because the British, American, Dutch and Scandinavian delegations were opposed to it.

The speaker regretted that the resolution against war mobilization was not unanimously adopted. A French woman delegate had declared herself in favor of Paul Boncour's military law in france.

Fredereich Adler then spoke on the sixth agenda point, "Alterations in the Statutes." The alterations referred to the times for holding conferences and the prevention of relations with revolutionary organizations. The alterations were adopted.

Roosbroeck, financial secretary, then made a financial report. Roosbroeck said practically nothing about finances, mentioning no figures, but he used his time attack-

Murdered by Kuomintang War Lords

One of the labor leaders in Honan tortured and then shot by the blood-thirsty Kuomintang war lords. Honan worker and peasant troops have succeeded in driving out the war lords from many sections of the province. Workers of the United States must help the workers and peasant of China in their struggle against the Kuomintang and its imperialist masters.

FOSTER TO START ON NATIONAL TOUR SOON

William Z. Foster, presidential candidate of the Workers (Communist) Party, will soon start out on a speaking tour that will bring the message of the class struggle and the program of Communism into every corner of the United States.

Foster starts out on his Red Campaign on the second day of September with a meeting in New Haven, Conn. He will finish his tour with a mass meeting in New York City on November 4.

To Expose Capitalist Parties.

The Communist presidential nominee, as one of the leading exponents of Communism in the United States, will demonstrate to the workers and exploited farmers the folly of supporting the democratic and republican parties, the big parties of Wall Stret, or the socialist party, the party of pink liberalism and the peanutstand businessman.

Foster will base his expose of the role of the capitalist parties on the National Platform which brands those parties and their candidates as instruments of American imperialism and the natural enemies of the workers, poor farmers and agricultural proletariat.

Foster, who led the great steel strike that brought 400,000 slaves out of the mills of the United States Steel and other corporations, will speak in the heart of the coal region where a great strike raged for over twelve months, a strike that was eventually lost because of the treachery of John L. Lewis. Foster will also speak to the striking textile workers of New England, who

STRIKERS ROUSED AT BOY'S DEATH

Pioneers Condemn Fall River Police

FALL RIVER, Mass. Aug. 10.—Further substatiation of charges against police in the drowning of Johnny Madieros, six year old strikers child, were made by witnesses in the hearing yesterday.

Testimony brought out the information that the mounted policeman who ran the terrified boy into the water, did so because he thought the young six year old had thrown a stone at his mount when he was breaking up the picket demonstration last Tuesday.

Thousands thruout the country are sending messages of condolence to the parents of the boy expressing horrified condemnation of Fall River police brutality.

The father, a Textile Mill Committee picket captain, made a public declaration announcing that his loss will not deter him from continuing the fight against the mill bosses. Thousands of workers here are out on a strike against a ten per cent wage cut.

Strikers' childrens' organizations are planning mass memorial meetings. There will also be a children's division of marchers in the mass funeral being planned.

The Young Pioneers of America, a Communist childrens' organization issued the following statement on the death of the boy.

"Six year-old Johnny Madeiros has been murdered! Brave little Johnny, fighting side by side with his father on the picket line, so that the textile workers' may build their Union, so that they all may have a little more to eat and may live a little better! NEW CLOAK UNION RALLIES MASSES

Twenty-two months of terrific exploitation in the cloak and dress manufacturing shops of the city, is responsible for the deep-rooted enthusiasm being manifested by the masses of workers in the trade, toward the drive of the left wing to build up a new cloak and dressmakers union here. This spirit, gathering headway each moment, is exhibited by the increasing successes registered by the drive to organize the open shops now being carried on by the Joint Board of the Inter-

NEW ANTI-PICKET UKASE IN HUGE BEDFORD STRIKE

Only 3 Pickets to Mill, Police Order

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 10.—Seven pickets were arrested this evening when police attempted to break up the picket lines at the north and south ends. Those arrested included Dawson and Marianna Botelho, picket captains.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 10.—Executing another change of tactics, the police of this city announced today that no more than three striking textile workers will be permitted to picket the gates of a mill. The reply of the Textile Mill Committees to this latest dictatorial measure of the bosses was the same defiant one as when the police declared "more than 25 pickets are illegal." Mass picket lines will be continued, strikers say.

Leaders Jailed Again.

Repressive measures of the mill-owned city government are increasing daily as not a single striker shows any inclination to walk into the yawning gates of the empty mills. This morning, Jack Rubenstein, T. M. C. organizer; Eulalie Mendez, secretary of the T. M. C. Textile Workers Union, and Casmire Lamieras were arrested while leading the lines of pickets. They were later fined $20 by the strike-breaking Judge Milliken in the district court.

Walter Langshaw, president of the Dartmouth Mills, which did not enforce a wage cut and was not struck, issued a statement yesterday admitting that the members of the employers' association were not justified in cutting wages. Although the statement of a compet-

CHINA TAG DAY TO BEGIN TODAY

Thousands of Workers to Participate

That the Chinese Relief Tag Days to-day and tomorrow will be the biggest ever held in this city, was indicated last night when the number of collection boxes distributed by the Committee to Aid the Chinese Trade Unions reached the 3,000 mark.

Trade unionists of this city are responding wholeheartedly to the urgent call of their Chinese brothers and sisters for immediate help in their fight against the united front of the Kuomintang reactionaries and the imperialist powers. Thousands of young workers, women, and children are among the volunteers who will start out this morning from 27 stations in all sections of the city with collection boxes and arm bands reading: "Help the Starving Chinese Workers; Demand the Right of Existence for the Chinese Trade Unions."

Chinese Workers In Struggle

"The workers of China are fighting with renewed vigor now," stated Y. Y. Shu, secretary of the New York Worker-Peasant Alliance at the office of the Tag Day Committee yesterday. "The quick response to their call for aid by the workers thruout the world has given them new courage and determination. The workers of Germany, France, England, and Soviet Russia have already sent hundreds of thousands of dollars. They are confident that the American workers will take this

BUKHARIN ASKS WORLD CONGRESS TO ADOPT DRAFT PROGRAM OF COMMUNIST INTERNATIONAL; POINTS TO WAR PERIL

N. BUKHARIN

Great Marxist Document Will Be Rallying Point for Workers and Peasants of World

Growth of Soviet Union and Chinese Revolution Vital Features of Present Situation

(Wireless to the Daily Worker)

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Aug. 10.—"The draft program of the Communist International represents for the first time a real international strategic document of the proletariat."

With these words Nikolai Bukharin, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Communist International characterized the program which he declares will be the rallying banner for thousands of workers and peasants throughout the world. His speech was delivered before the twenty-fourth session of the World Congress of the Communist International which opened here yesterday under the chairmanship of Thaelmann, of Germany.

Guide to Struggle.

Bukharin declared that the program of the International is the program of proletarian dictatorship, and serves as a sign post to immediate revolutionary struggles.

The first documents of revolutionary Marxism, such as the Communist Manifesto are still valid today, the speaker declared, but our program contains differences born of the present. Then Communism was propagandistic, today Communism is an active world army with an aim in immediate view. The dictartorship of the proletariat exists in what was formerly the Tsarist empire.

First Strategic Document.

The present draft program is long and this is necessary in order to deal with all sides of the situation. Our program represents for the first time a real international strategic document of the proletariat. The program commission was forced to make changes in the Fifth Congress draft because the world situation had altered in the meantime. These alterations are chiefly: the new imperialist groupings; the Chinese Revolution and the progress and new experience of the Soviet Union.

At the time of the Fifth Congress, fascism was only beginning. Since then the social democratic parties have gone through a new stage of development and the functions of the trade unions have altered. Tactical questions, as for example the united front, are today different. different.

Marxism Is Basis

The program is an open approval of dialectical materialism. We stand on a basis of orthodox revolutionary Marxism and our method is dialectical materialism. We propagate the Marxian lessons concerning the collapse of capitalism and the world revolution. The urgency of the present situation has compelled us to analyze it concretely.

We speak of the existing world economic system, the contradictions of imperialism and the crisis of capitalism not abstractly but concretely. We interpret our theory.

3 Types of Countries

The program states concretely of final aims, transformation periods, the strategy and tactics of the Communist parties. The program differentiates between three types of countries: highly developed capitalist countries, moderately developed capitalist countries and finally colonial and semi-colonial countries.

The special characteristic of the program is the section dealing with the Soviet Union and colonial questions. The program deals also with the question of the relations of the world proletariat with the world peasantry. The program differentiates between countries where capitalism is strongly developed and those where it is not. In the former, the question of the hegemony of the proletariat is ripe.

The Chinese Revolution is developing from a bourgeois to a proletarian revolution. On the colonial question, we must stress more sharply Lenin's thesis concerning the avoidance of the capitalist stage of society. Despite its parasitic tendencies, capitalism is still capable of powerful technical progress, but will collapse through the great contradictions which lie in its own de-

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 10.—Emphasizing the importance of the coming convention for a new mine union, the National Arrangements Committee has issued an appeal to workers to make possible the holding of the meeting by contributing for the carfare of delegates, expenses for a hall and other necessary costs.

"From all parts of the country miners and workers of other industries are responding to the call of the committee," the statement declares. "However, the money is not arriving fast enough to meet the urgent needs of the preconvention campaign."

LOCAL 3 WILL STICK TO FIGHT

Electrical Workers to Start Again

(By a Worker Correspondent)

Broach won a hollow "victory" at Thursday night's meeting of the Electrical Workers' Union when he pushed over his list of amendments to the by-laws of Local 3. Broach may claim that the men passed his amendments, but over four thousand workers, one of the largest meetings of the local ever held, have learned something about the ways of our little labor faker which was worth more than all the talk and propaganda possible.

A Necessary Lesson.

Almost the whole union membership was present. Before the meeting, in spite of the considerable propaganda which has been carried on against the Broach machine methods, most of the membership was still uncertain of the true character of the machine. This meeting was a perfect object lesson. Broach thought he was doing something very clever, no doubt, but from now on it will be clear to five thousand workers that it is Broach against the rank and file.

A motion to raise the dues to $21 per quarter was pushed over through a trick of first offering

Nanking War Lords Hold 17 USSR Citizens

PEKING, Aug. 10.—In spite of the appeal of the Soviet government that the seventeen Soviet citizens and diplomatic officials who were arrested when the Manchurian war lord Chang Tso-lin raided the Soviet Union Embassy in March, 1927, the Nanking regime has refused to release them.

They have been in prison ever since the provocating raid had taken place a year ago. According to the Chinese civil code no prisoner can be held without charge for more than three months.

CUBA RECOGNIZES NANKING REGIME

Action is Taken ;U. S. Controlled Fort

NANKING, China, Aug. 10.—An official announcement was made here today that the Cuban government had formally recognized the Nanking regime.

Since it is generally believed that the Cuban government would not have given de jure recognition without the approval of the United States government, the move is taken as indicative of United States formal recognition soon.

British Agreement.

NANKING, Aug. 10.—An agreement was signed here today between representatives of the British and Nanking governments settling the Nanking incident of March, 1927 and other agreement was signed by both governments providing for negotiations on treaty revision.

No details have been released, but it is understood that the same terms were procured by the British representatives as by the American.

TROOPS TO BACK JAPANESE NOTE

Will Add Forces In Manchuria

TOKIO, Aug. 10.—As Baron Hayashi, special envoy of the Japanese goverment is waiting for a conference with the Manchurian war lord Chang Hseuh-liang, son of Chang Tso-lin to induce him to follow Japan's advise in the proposed alliance with the Nanking regime, the Japanese government, it is generally understood here, is preparing to send more troops into Manchuria.

Premier Tanaka is unequivical in his decision that Japanese interests" in Manchuria must be "protected."

After the envoy to Manchuria succeeds in getting as interview with Chang Hseuh-liang, who refuses to grant it on the ground that he is sick, he will leave for Nanking where he is expected to confer with the Kuomintang war lords.

EXPECT THOUSANDS AT BIG I.L.D. OUTING TODAY

Drive to Free Mooney, Billings to Be Launched at Pleasant Bay Park Affair

Thousands of workers will throng to Pleasant Bay Park today to attend one of the banner proletarian social events of the year, the big outing of the New York Section of the International Labor Defense.

The outing will start at 12 noon with a steady stream of activities lasting far into the night. Games and sports of all sorts will be played, there will be a torchlight parade in which many working class organizations will take part, a lively jazz band will play the latest dance hits so that all those who want to can take part in open-air dancing, and many other numbers will be included in an elaborate program.

Mass Scene.

The two chief features of the day will be the mass scene and the taking of movies of the outing. In the mass scene every one of the several thousand workers present will take part, thus forming one of the largest mass spectacles ever staged in this country. The scene wil symbolize in a vivid manner the fight of the militant workers of this country to free their comrades who have been thrown into jail for their devotion to the working class.

The taking of movies will be a unique feature of the outing. All the activities of the affair, showing workers at play, will be screened and later shown in various parts of the country.

To Launch Mooney Drive.

The I. L. D. outing today, which is an annual celebration of the left-wing movement, will furnish funds that will be used to aid class war victims and their families. The affair will have an additional significance in that it will officially launch an intensive, city-wide campaign that the I. L. D. will conduct to free Mooney and Billings.

Tickets for the outing are 35 cents and are on sale at the office of the I. L. D., 799 Broadway, Room 422, and at the Workers' Center, 26-28 Union Square. Pleasant Bay Park can be reached by taking the Bronx Park subway or "L" to 177th St. and from there the Union Port car. Free busses will run to the park.

Workers Party Exposes Tammany Hand Behind Brutal Attack on Astoria Meeting

CHARGES POLICE COMPLICITY IN LEGION RIOTING

Cops Arrest Speaker; Hoodlums Free

"Tammany Hall, through its control of the city administration, is directly responsible for the brutal assault on the speakers of the Workers (Communist) Party last Thursday at Steinway and Jamaica Aves., Astoria, and the break-up of the meeting by rowdy elements in open connivance with the local police," it is charged in a statement issued by the Workers (Communist) Party.

"In spite of the fact that ample notice of the meeting had been previously given to the police," the statement continues, "and in spite of the fact that disturbances at previous meetings from the same sources forecasted trouble at the meeting on Thursday evening, not a policeman was in sight. It was evident from the outset that the entire attack was carefully planned, down to the last detail, including precautions against police interference. Instead of preserving order at the meeting, instead of arresting the disturbers, the police officer arrested the speaker who had a legal right to speak, thus giving clear evidence of his collusion with the rowdies of Tammany Hall.

"The workers of New York will not be fooled by the lable, 'Veterans of Foreign Wars' which these elements have assumed. The thousands of unemployed and wounded veterans, those who are in the shops and mills receiving as the fruit of the last war to 'make the world safe for democracy,' wage cuts, speed-up and increased exploitation, know that this organization does not speak in their name. On the contrary, we have grounds to believe that the entire attack was planned and premeditated by the democratic organization of Astoria.

"In this particular instance, the American Legion has assumed the role of the Fascist blackahirts of Italy, seeking by the use of terrorism to prevent the exposure of the graft and corruption of Tammany Hall in Queens. The workers will be intimidated as little by such methods in New York as they were by the terrorism of legionaires in Centralia. Our meetings will continue with the full support of the workers of Astoria.

"The entire incident is no surprise. It is in complete accord with the policy of Tammany Hall in the last strikes of the teamsters, traction workers and furriers. Police brutality, interference with workers' meetings, these are no strangers to the sidewalks of New York and the workers will understand from the entire occurrence that Tammany Hall holds in prospect for the workers the same rule of terror which the republican rule in Pennsylvania and New Bedford holds out to the miners and textile workers."

PARTY SCORES BOSS OFFICER

Fails in Attempt to Break Meeting

Police failed in their attempt to break up an open-air meeting of the Workers (Communist) Party on Thursday evening. The meeting was held in the stronghold of Tammany, at 59th St. and Columbus Circle.

A policeman insisted on a permit and was "angered" when told that a permit was not necessary since the Party members who were conducting the meeting had informed the police precinct of the fact that a meeting would be held. Although the name of the officer who was informed of the meeting, McFarlane, was told the officer in question at his request, he yet demanded, to the surprise of the audience as well as to that of the Party members, to bring McFarlane there. In the meantime 50 copies of the Daily Worker were distributed.

The Party speakers decided to go to another corner to have their meeting, after the young duped hoodlums of Tammany gave the speakers some trouble.

$1,500,000 GRAFT IN TAMMANY PROBE

The long drawn-out graft inquiry in the Tammany Street Cleaning Department finally disclosed yesterday from the records of Commissioner James A Higgins, that over $1,500,000 has been lost through graft and waste during the last year in this department alone.

This was only a conservative estimate of the huge amounts that have been squandered through official Tammany corruption. In gasoline alone, over $500,000 were found to have "disappeared," Higgins admitted.

BIG CAP, MILLINER MEETING MONDAY

Distributes Circular; Loses Job

Desperate efforts are being made by the reactionary officialdom of the Cloth Hat Cap and Millinery Workers Union to prevent the masses of workers in the industry from attending the big mass anti-injunction protest meeting being called for Monday evening in Webster Hall, 11 St. and Third Ave. by the Cap and Millinery section of the Trade Union Educational League.

Sam Beerum, wilely known left winger, was taken off the job yesterday and told by the right wing organizer Herschwitz to appear before the executive board to face charges of assisting in an "illegal" meeting.

In spite of Beerum's protests that as a member he is guaranteed the constitutional rights of being notified by letter of charges and not stopped from work in the middle of the day, was unavailing. Herschkowitz and the employer sent him out of the factory despite his further statement that he is ready to appear before the board at any time after legal notification. He is to appear Monday.

The meeting is called to protest against the policy of the socialist officialdom in applying to capitalist courts for injunctions against the legally elected officers of Boston Local 7. President Zaritsky is doing this in order to smash the militant Capmakers union there.

The circular distributed by Beerum, for which he lost his job, declares in part:

"COME TO PROTEST against the application for an injunction to the Massachusetts courts—the murderers of Sacco and Vanzetti—against the militant workers who refuse to recognize Zaritsky's company-union in Boston.

"COME TO PROTEST against the union-smashing policy of the General Executive Board, by which Sigman, Shiplakoff and McGrady smashed the unions of cloakmakers, dressmakers and furriers.

"Down with the injunctions! Down with the union-smashing activities of the injunction-president Zaritsky! Down with Zaritsky's betrayal of the Chicago strike against piece-work!"

40 WORKERS HURT IN TRAIN CRASH

Thrown From Seats in Head-On Collision

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 10 (UP).—Two interurban cars, loaded with home-going workers, met in a head-on collision here late today. Nearly 40 persons were bruised and cut in the crash, but none was seriously injured, officials of the company said.

The crash occurred on a sharp curve on a trestle south of the city. The front ends of both cars were telescoped and passengers were thrown from their seats.

Motormen of both cars said the signals gave them the right of way.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 10 (UP).—Ten persons were killed and many slightly injured in three villages along the coast of Flores Island in the Dutch East Indies which were damaged in the volcanic eruption on Paloeweh Island, a dispatch from Batavia said today.

Despatches yesterday reported that 1,000 persons were killed and 600 injured when the volcano destroyed six villages on Paloeweh Island.

10 Killed in Storm in East Indies; Many Hurt

BATAVIA, Dutch East Indies, Aug. 10 (UP).—Ten persons were killed and many injured when three villages along the coast of the Island of Flores were struck by storms which followed the volcanic eruption which took a toll of 1,000 persons on the Island of Paloeweh last Saturday, according to further reports of the disaster received here today.

Roktinda Mountain, the center of the disastrous eruption, is still pouring out great quantities of smoke and five commercial vessels are piled on the coast of the island, where they were swept by the tidal wave which followed the eruption, it is said.

ing, amidst the applause of the delegates, mass organizations, such as the Workers International Relief, the League Against Imperialism, etc.

Wibaut of Holland then reported on behalf of the economic commission concerning the post-war economic situation and working-class policy. The only speaker in discussion was Brailsford of Great Britain who demanded control of banks and currency by workers through the League of Nations. Wibaut agreed and the resolution was adopted.

In the afternoon session Paul Faure demanded in the name of the French delegation the evacuation of the Rhine section. Discussion took place on point 4 of the agenda. Kuypers of Holland demanded a fight for the eight-hour day. Mortens of Belgium proposed cooperation of the Second and Amsterdam Internationals with the same end in view.

Lord Oliver then presented a resolution on point three of the agenda. The resolution is little different from the infamous draft of the Colonial Commission of June 2 and 3. substitutes "self-determination" for "self-government" and speaks of "Indian peoples" instead of "the Indian people". Self-determination is also demanded for the Philippines, Corea and Anam.

The debate took place under the chairmanship of Seitz, the Austrian. [illegible] of Madagascar thanked the International for work on behalf of the colonial people.

Cramer of Holland said the Communists were right in the idea that capitalism could be dealt its fatal blow i nthe colonies. The Second International, he said, must therefore appoint a permanent colonial commission and call a colonial conference in order to compete with the League Against Imperialism.

The resolution was adopted in the absence of the entire British delegation.

At the close of the session, Chinese, Indians and Indonesians in the public gallery demonstrated energetically against imperialism and against the decisions of the congress on the colonial question.

A joint protest declaration was sent to the International executive. A special memorandum against the colonial resolution is bein worked out. The Chinese Workers Union in France and the Chinese Student Union in Europe addressed a joint protest to the executive and an appeal against the terror of the Kuomintang.

In today's session Crispien gave the credentials report which showed that 446 delegates present included 40 women. A discussion on the political situation then followed without producing anything important.

motions for $21 and $23. Broach's henchmen were scattered throughout the hall and had carefully prepared speeches which they tried vainly to put across in an attempt to raise the dues to $24.

For the first time since Broach has been in New York he met with decided defeat.

The Little Caesar was furious. He jumped from his seat like a wildcat and threatened the membership. He warned us that he still knows how to get all the money he needs. He would send his business agents to all the jobs, he threatened, and force each man to part with a day's pay. A man is free not to pay, he added sarcastically. This means, as everyone well understood, that anyone who refuses to pay will lose his job.

Usual Camouflage.

Broach continued his attacks on the Communists in order to camouflage the real issues. Jacob Solomon, one of the machine henchmen, also tried to attack the Communists, but was met with hissing and booing. Disorder was evident throughout the whole meeting. Solomon appealed to the older members and gave a pathetic acocunt of the sufferings, strikes and hardships in the past. He said nothing about the suffering, unemployment and need at present. Everybody grinned when he referred to his own great honesty.

Sixty per cent of the members left the meeting in disgust after the dues deal was put over. This was a mistake; they should have stayed and fought against the machine. Empty meetings is just what the labor fakers want.

One of Broach's henchmen sent him a note to reconsider the dues question, but Broach did not dare try again for the $24 amount because he knew that the membership had his "number."

Steam Roller.

Election of business manager for three years, meetings to be held twice a month, elimination of the financial report, fines for the membership, all were railroaded through to the disgust of the workers.

But Broach received a taste of workers' mass power. It is true that we did not handle ourselves properly in the meeting. We should have got up openly and fought against the machine. Four thousand rank and file members are stronger than a few paid henchmen. Maybe it is because we have not yet learned how to deal with such fakers as Broach. But certainly the members learned a lot from last Thursday's meeting.

One last word, brothers, STICK TO THE FIGHT! Don't be a quitter. Maybe some of you will feel like saying, "Oh, what's the use, the machine has the gang and the control of the jobs." But our situation is no different than that of a thousand others in which the workers have won out against the bosses and their agents in the union, the labor misleaders.

MINERS' WIVES BEAR BABIES IN FLIMSY HOVELS

In Extreme Need of Medical Aid

AVELLA, Pa., Aug. 10. An epidemic of babies is expected in the barracks and tent colony in the outskirts of Avella. Mrs. Mary Groves is expecting her eighth baby, Mrs. Andy Barro her sixth, Mrs. Fred Siders her third, all within the next few weeks.

In tents supplied by the National Miners' Relief Committee serving as the "maternity ward," many infants have already arrived. The greatest problem facing the women of Avella, is how to secure doctors' aid. Throughout the strike fields, destitute miners' families are refused medical help unless money is paid in advance. Another problem is getting clothes for the new infants—as well as the other children who run about barefoot, in remnants of old dresses. How to stretch the food sent by the National Miners Relief Committee to feed all the hungry mouths for a whole week is a constant problem.

Berry Patch Guarded.

When the children tried to supplement the meager fare by picking berries from the patches on the outskirts of the tent colony, armed guards were on hand to chase them away. "This is company property," their parents were warned, "and you know what we can do to anybody who trespasses."

But the immediate problem, the problem which is alarmingly urgent to the Avella women, is the raising of enough money to furnish doctors' care. Every penny received by the National Miners Relief Committee is used to buy food—flour, potatoes and milk for the children.

Mothers Appeal.

Special donation must be sent to the relief headquarters within the next few days to insure this extremely necessary care for the strikers' wives. They have endured the hardship of living in tents or barracks, sometime not eating anything for days, during many long months. But now, these mothers send an urgent call to women in other cities to come to their aid by sending what they can spare to the relief headquarters, 611 Penn Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. Do not fail us now, is their plea.

ARMY SUPPORTS PRES. CALLES

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 10.—Many messages are reported to have been received by President Calles from his army generals, asserting their loyalty to the president. Observers here comment on the general state of peace and the apparent unity of the Obregonista party.

Vatican Renews Attacks.

ROME, Aug. 10.—The Observatore Romano, the semi-official organ of the Roman Catholic Church, has again launched into attacks against President Calles of Mexico, and has attempted to shift the responsibility of the assassination of Obregon upon Calles.

Its article is directed especially against the labor elements in the Calles cabinet, holding them responsible for the suppression of the clergy, and the investigation of Toral, which led to the revelation that the clergy were directly involved in the Obregon case.

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill., Aug. 10.—Bert Wilson, miner at the Black Briar Mine, was seriously hurt while at work when a piece of iron struck him in the face and crushed his cheek.

"MORE FOOD" IS CALL OF TEXTILE WORKERS

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 10. A committee representing the Workers International Relief of Brockton, Mass., headed by Henry R. Gage, secretary, visited the W. I. R. office here yesterday and pledged to send a truck-load of 750 pounds of bread every week. They also promised to obtain leather to be used in repairing the shoes of the strikers and members of their families.

The bread will be baked every Monday night and be sent to New Bedford every Tuesday morning, Gage announced. The leather will be secured with the assistance of the shoe workers of Brockton, it being one of the leading shoe manufacturing centers in the country.

Manuel Pincheiro and Joao Salgnerio, workers of Hartford, Conn., yesterday sent in a money order of $20.25 to be used to feed the strikers and their wives and children. The two workers write that the money was collected among the men who are working with them in digging ditches in the streets of Hartford.

One of the most active of those supporting the strikers is John M. Pacheo, who donates 20 pounds of bread daily and occasionally gives a larger amount. Yesterday he sent the relief kitchens 200 pounds of bread and promises to keep up the good work.

All contributions should be sent to the Workers International Relief, 49 William St., New Bedford, Mass.

GREAT COSTUME CARNIVAL AUG. 19

National Dress at Big "Daily" Affair

The first proletarian outdoor costume carnival ever held in this country will take place Sunday, Aug. 19, when the great International Costume Carnival of the Daily Worker will be held at Pleasant Bay Park.

This unusual event will bring together thousands of workers of many nationalities who will wear the national dress of their countries, producing a spectacle unrivalled for colorfulness.

Russian costumes are expected to dominate, both those worn during czarist times and more modern costumes that have come in since the revolution. A Russian hour will also be one of the features of the carnival, during which tea will be served in samovars and a Russian accordion orchestra will play many well-known folk-songs.

Tickets for the International Costume Carnival are already on sale at 35 cents each and can be bought at the office of the Daily Worker, 26-28 Union Square.

REFORMIST INT'L URGES WAR PACT

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Aug. 10.—The congress of the second (reformist) international today endorsed a manifesto approving of the Kellogg "peace treaties" as a measure for the "absolute renunciation of war."

The manifesto calls for the support of Kellogg and the Kellogg treaties.

To Strengthen European Bloc.

PARIS, August 10.—The placing of the Kellogg anti-war treaty before the League of Nations which will guarantee its discussion in the September meeting, has led to the general belief here that no basic changes will be made in the League treaties by the introduction of the Kellogg pact.

The capitalist newspapers in general look cynically upon the pact as far as its power to outlaw war goes. They are very doubtful as to its practical value, they think that "morally" it is "a good thing."

national Organization Committee.

The rank and file organization Committee of 500, set up in New York several weks ago on entering an open shop for organization purposes, are heartily greeted by the employees in the factory, who declare that they have been waiting for the call to organization. Over fifty shops organized in two weeks, a large number of these having been organized since the big Bronx Stadium meeting, is the record hung up by the Committee of 500.

Underworld organization committees of the right wing scab union, costing Sigman literally thousands of dollars, are being driven from the shops they visit by the irate workers.

The Joint Board, which is the New York body of the National Organizational Committee, flood the working areas with literature calling for mass participation in the fight to build a new and clean union controlled by the workers. This new form of struggle against the bosses and their socialist agents meets with a response ever reaching predictions of the most optimistic among the left wing leaders.

The Italian branch of the Joint Board carried thru a highly successful meeting that crowded the lower hall in union headquarters, 16 W. 21st St., last night. E. Oswaldo, organizer for the N. O. C. and Charles S. Zimmerman, organization head told of plans being carried out to organize the thousands of Italian workers in the trade.

Speaking of the elections planned for the new organization a leaflet distributed yesterday announces:

"Elections for offiicers of your union will be carried thru in the near future under the supervision of the Council of Shop Delegates. A convention of elected representatives of the workers will be held soon-after, where a definite plan of organization and a constitution will be worked out for a national union of ladies garment workers, which will everywhere take up the struggle against the open shop, against the sweat-shop system and against the intolerable conditions under which the workers of our industry are compelled to labor."

British Mass Troops, Airplanes and Tanks at Irak Frontier for War on Arabia

SEIZURE OF OIL PIPELINE ROUTE SEEN AS MOTIVE

End Conference With Ibn Sand

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 10.—War between the British government and the Arabian kingdom of the Hedjaz loomed yesterday with the British revealing an unexpected armament strength on the Mesopotamian frontier.

Three battalions of British troops from the army in India, four airplane squadrons, one fighter squadron and seven armored car sections are reported concentrated on the Irak line under command of the British vice-marshal, Sir Edward Ellington.

This armament is ostensibly to subdue Ibn Saud, king of the Hedjaz, whose conversations with the British envoy, Sir Gilbert Clayton, have broken down in the Red Sea port of Jeddah.

Relief is entertained here, however, that the purpose of the sudden mobilization is not so much to protect the British Mesopotamia protectorate, whose king, Feisal Ibn Saud, has threatened to overthrow, as to secure a direct pipeline route for oil from the Mosul fields clear to the Persian Gulf.

Many Workers Fired at De Laval Plant fact that the Daily Worker prints the news which we send about conditions in the factory.

Fire Young Worker.

Recently a young worker, about 18 years of age, was fired because he dared to ask a legitimate question of the faker O'Brien, who now is definitely known to have been hired by the De Laval Company. A fact which was not known to me when I wrote my last letter, namely that the signs announcing the O'Brien meeting were hung up in the factory, leads us to be absolutely sure of the underhand role that the company is employing to intimidate and fire the class-conscious workers. The spies at the meeting produced the "goods" on several of our most active workers, and the result was that many of them were fired.

As the matter stands at present, more workers expect to be fired any day. I myself am surprised at the fact that I have not yet been discharged. But as long as I stay at the plant, I will continue to send you news of the constant developments.

police, in their desperate attempt to break the strike!

"Workers and their children were picketing the American Printing Co. plant. The police, loyal to their masters, ordered the line to disperse. But Johnny clung to his father and picketed on. A mounted policeman charged into him, chasing him to the waterfront. Infuriated like a wild beast, the "brave" defender of American law and justice drove Johnny into a swamp. Our little fighter was drowned in mud!

"We, the Young Pioneers, raise our voice in protest against this brutal murder, this unspeakable crime. You textile masters, you can murder children but you can never break the fighting spirit of the workers' children. We will never forget and never forgive. Our comrades in Fall River and New Bedford will close their ranks and will strengthen the lines and will fight on even more bravely.

"We, the Young Pioneers of America, salute you, brave little fighter! We will carry on the fight thruout the country. We will organize the workers' children, teach them the truth about the struggle of the textile workers in which you were so brutally murdered. We will organize the workers' children thruout the country to raise relief for all the children in New Bedford and Fall River who are in need of bread and milk. We will stand by the textile workers and their children until victory.

We will fight on until the workers' children together with the whole working class shall have gotten rid of all bosses and of this whole rotten system of society.

"Before your dead, little body, we take our solemn pledge: "IN THE CAUSE OF THE WORKING CLASS, WE STAND ALWAYS READY!"

ASK WORLD CONGRESS TO ADOPT PROGRAM

velopment and not through a process in which capitalism grows ever weaker and the proletariat ever stronger.

The conception of finance capital was adopted in the program despite criticisms because it represents the facts. We do not accept mechanical dominance of finance over industrial capital, but the allied growth of both.

The problem of over-production is also dealt with, for the disproportion between the productive forces and consumptive power is nothing but the problem of over-production.

Differences existed in the Program Commission concerning the Nep and war Communism. The draft avoids the use of the expression Nep as specifically Russian, but the problem had to be raised. The Nep exists as the reflection of the productive relations where small producers exist. Where the latter do not exist, the necessity for the Nep may be obviated.

However, the relations of the world proletariat to the world peasantry are practically the same as the relations of the workers to the peasants in the Soviet Union. The necessity of markets for the small producers is therefore international.

It is not absolutely essential for war Communism to be the first stage following the revolution. We must leave our hands free in order to take the best steps dictated by the given situation.

The process of social-democratic development is also analyzed in the program, particularly the role of the left-wing social-democrats.

It is now high time to give our program final form. The present draft is not ideal, but it is advisable to adopt it. I am convinced that the program will be the rallying banner in the struggle of millions of workers and peasants in Europe and the colonies.

The international situation is intensifying the war danger. This is no phrase, but the brutal reality. Under the Communist flag this program will do good service in the fight for the victory of the world proletariat and world Communism.

Bukharin's speech was greeted by protracted applause. Thaelmann then read telegrams of greetings. Among them were telegrams from the Soviet cruiser "Comintern" and from the Berlin Young Communist League.

The Leningrad factory delegations then greeted the congress. Florin, of Germany, answered in the name of the congress to the speeches and greetings.

Langshaw, it is believed, voices the sentiments of association members who are greatly dissatisfied with the stubbornness of their organization's ring leaders, the Butler interests.

Ben Gitlow, candidate for vice-president on the ticket of the Workers (Communist) Party addressed two large open-air mass meetings here yesterday.

Enthusiastic demonstrations of the assembled strikers greeted him. The large crowds listened to his speech with great interest despite an insistent rain.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass, Aug 10. -- Twenty-eight thousand textile operatives in 56 New Bedford fine goods mills are still solidly out on strike as the big anti-wage cut struggle ends its 17th week.

The fake investigation of the state board of arbitartion and conciliation, branded so by the Textile Mill Committees' representative Eli Keller when he appeared before the inquiry, is soon to be completed, board chairman Fisher announced. The board, after a few more secret conferences, will make public their findings as to where the guilt for the strike belongs.

In spite of its being a maneuver to weaken the morale of the strikers, the leaders of the A. F. of L. United Textile Workers Union are participating in it. At its hearings they also propose to the employers union cooperation for more profitable production.

Eli Keller in a statement says: "The kind of labor leader Mr. Batty is can be seen when he purposes that the workers should be speeded up in exchange for the abolishment of the ten per cent wage cut. By suggesting before the investigation committee of fhe state board of arbitration that the workers increase their productivity he openly shows himself as an agent of the mill owners in the ranks of the workers."

"Mr. Batty is only interested in collecting dues, as his testimony shows. Only those who pay dues, he said, are considered members of his union. When the workers are worn out, under Mr. Batty's speed up plan, they lose their job, and as a result cannot pay their dues. That means they are also thrown out of the union."

JUGOSLAV ARMY BREAK WORKERS DEMONTRATIONS

No Serb Officials at Raditch Funeral

ZEGRED, Jugoslavia, Aug. 10.—Police and military units patrolling the streets throughout Croatia are attempting to suppress all attempts on the part of the workers and peasants to hold deonstrations calling for autonomy. As the body of Stefan Raditch lies in state many demonstrations in the principal cities and towns have been broken up.

Following the refusal of the leaders of the Croatian and Democratic Peasant Parties to accept state burial from the Belgrade government, the request of Serb officials to attend the funeral has also been rejected.

The will of Raditch leaves the co-presidency of the Croatian Party to M. Matchek and M. Pribitchevitch, with the request that they consult the executive committee on all important matters.

Attempt to Appease Peasants.

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Aug. 10.—Taking advantage of the message of the Croat leaders requesting the peasants to refrain from demonstrations as the body of Stefan Raditch awaits burial, the Belgrade government is attempting to conjole Croatia back into the Jugoslav fold, through conciliatory articles in its newspapers.

The Parliamentary Immunity Committee has also decided to turn the two deputies charged with the shooting of Raditch over to the criminal courts in an effort to appease the Croatian leaders, who have been demanding their trial as a pre-requisite for their re-entry into the Belgrade parliament.

VOLCANO DEATHS ARE INCREASING

Mt. Vesuvius Emitting Molten Lava

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 10 (UP).—Ten persons were killed and many were injured in three villages along the coast of Flores Island, in the Dutch East Indies, which were damaged in the volcanic eruption on Paloeweh Island, a dispatch from Batavia said today.

Five commercial vessels were thrown against the coast of Flores Island by the tidal wave, a dispatch said today. The crews were saved.

The mountain is still pouring out smoke.

Dispatches yesterday reported that 1,000 persons were killed and 600 injured when the volcano destroyed six villages on Faloeweh Island. A tidal wave swept Flores Island, these dispatches said, and it was believed the wave may have caused the deaths reported in the above dispatch.

are being deserted and betrayed by the reactionary leaders of the trade unions.

In a number of agricultural centers Foster will speak to the poor farmers and point out to them that they must fight the common enemy of the producing classes side by side with the industrial workers in the cities.

In the south the Communist candidate for president will have an opportunity to speak to the Negroes, the victims of race persecution and industrial exploitation. The Negroes in the south are disfranchised by the democratic party in violation of the constitution of the United States. Foster will call on the Negro masses to support the Workers (Communist) Party candidates by organizing around its program and following a militant fighting policy that will force the ruling classes of the south to respect their rights.

Va., $40; John Adamski, Fernie, B. C., Canada, $10; M. Kavacenich, Los Angeles, Calif., $15."

"It must be borne in mind," the appeal continues, "that there are but a few weeks left until the historic convention will take place. During this short period a great deal of organization work has to be accomplished. The Lewis machine is doing its utmost to intimidate the miners and prevent them from electing their delegates to the convention. Our organizers must, therefore, be constantly on the job to fight back the reactionaries.

"We have no big payroll and expense accounts, unlike the Lewis machine. Our men are glad when they can get a few cents for an occasional meal and the necessary fare from one town to another. This they must have. The National Convention will be successful to the extent that we will be able to prevent the Lewis gang from intimidating the rank and file.

"The U. M. W. A. is wrecked, the New Union is now an absolute necessity. All miners and other workers must help to put this progressive program into effect. Sell the coupons and send the funds, and your own contribution, as quickly as possible to the National Miners Convention Arrangements Committee, Room 411, 119 Federal St., N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa."

VENIZELOS USES BANDITS AGAINST GREEK WORKERS

Opponents Held for Ransom

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 10.—The tactics of the dictator, Venizelos, was exposed when charges were made that Venizelos of being in alliance with large groups of bandits who do away with or capture the opponents of the dictator

Two cases were cited, that of the deputies Melinas and Melas, who were captured by Venizelos' bandits and kept for an extraordinarily high ransom. M. Melinas was released on the proise that 5,000,000 drachmas would be paid for him by the government. The cabinet refused to pay and shifted the burden upon the family.

Others here point out that the same bandits and thugs have been used to break the tobacco strike and are now employed by the dictator to insure "peace" in industry.

Daily Worker Agent Continues Ohio Tour With 3 Special Meets

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Louis Siselman, who has been on a tour of various towns in Ohio as a Daily Worker representative, and whose work for the paper has been characterized as "great" by many of the workers with whom he has come in contact, is at present continuing his work of bringing the only revolutionary English daily in the world before the workers of the middle west.

He has arranged three special meetings for the benefit of the Daily Worker in the following cities and on the following dates:

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 10; Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 16; Canton, Ohio, Aug. 18.

In all of these towns as well as in many others which he expects to visit in the near future, the campaign to bring the Daily Worker before the workers will be greatly intensified.

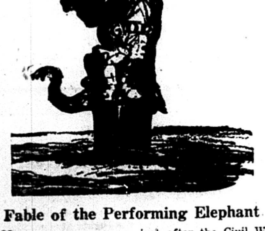
Greatest Show on Earth!



Fable of the Performing Elephant

Many, many years ago, just after the Civil War to be exact, a few of the far-seeing bosses caught a little baby elephant, taught him carefully to perform for them and brought him up to respond to every command of his masters.

Since then the elephant has grown big, fat and strong. The bosses who first owned him have given way to bigger bosses; the tricks he is required to perform have become a bit more difficult, but never from the first moment have his masters had reason to complain of his lack of obedience.

More workers have paid admission to the national three-ring circus at which the elephant performs every four years than to any other show. These workers laugh heartily at the antics of the trained pachyderm. They shout joyously when he rises up on his huge, hind legs. They go into actual hysterics when he stands on his head! For the moment they forget their troubles: "Ho, Look at the way he responds when we shout at him!"

BUT FEW OF THEM EVER INQUIRE: WHO DIRECTS THE TRAINED ELEPHANT?

Do you know a worker who is planning to purchase an admission ticket to the three-ring circus put on by the bosses?

Ask him: For whom does the trained elephant perform?

Pass him your copy of The DAILY WORKER. Tip off a thousand of these workers between now and the elections

HANdOuTS

U. S. Senators, anxious to have the voters understand how good they are, will mail out 60 tons of material a day under government frank during the coming campaign. This will be quite a boon to overworked postmen who are already kicking. They say transporting the stuff really falls under the jurisdiction of the street cleaning department.

Ill-tempered Rich

Handing a woman a few million dollars doesn't necessarily improve her temper. Mrs. Lydia Johnson, (right) bride of the heir to the Palmolive millions lost her bracelet. She put an ad in the paper. An honest taxi driver, trying to help her find her jewelry, answered the ad. Mrs. Johnson had the impudence to suggest the taxi driver had the bracelet and threatened him with a revolver. He had her arrested. The idea of a taxi driver wearing a lady's bracelet is absurd as is also that of even a class-conscious worker attempting the expropriation of the wealthy classes individually.

Johnny Raskob, imunitive and frail, who came to the big city of New York from the backwoods of the south, has met more than his share of the trials of a heartless city. He has lost so many jobs that he can no longer keep track of them himself.

Most of these he gave up voluntarily. One of them was the Chairmanship of the General Motors Corporation.

When confronted today with reports that he had given up positions on three railroads, Raskob said he had resigned some such positions, but he didn't know what railroads they were.

He was informed that financial reports said he had resigned from the Missouri Pacific Executive Committee, and as director of the Gulf Coast lines and Texas and Pacific Railways.

"Yes, I believe those are the ones," he admitted.

Gems of Learning

Sir William Joynson-Hicks, British Home Secretary:—

"Unless the nations of the world follow the example of Great Britain and show a real desire to curtail their armaments, the compact will be nothing but a hollow sham.

"We desire to appeal to the great United States when our signature in the course of a few weeks is placed alongside of those of other nations of Europe and say to them:

"'We are signing this compact at your request, a compact to end war, and yet we understand you are increasing your navy.'"

True. Both are increasing armaments as fast as they can. The difference is America has more facilities.

SHARKS FLEECE HOTEL WORKERS

Job Agencies Work Old Game With Bosses

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (FP).—Here where fashionables from New York and Philadelphia gather to enjoy leisure class sports and privileges, hotel and restaurant workers serving them are being gouged by job sharks to the tune of hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly.

Many must pay 10 per cent of their monthly wage to the job agent for the privilege of working. Others pay a flat fee of $5 for a job paying not more than $15 a week. The worker must pay before receiving the job but if discharged within the first week has a chance at two more jobs from the agency. His chances for another job however are about nil, for there are plenty of other unemployed workers willing to put down cold cash for the same vacancies.

The agency that charges a flat fee doesn't even promise a job in case the worker is fired soon after being hired. That is just the worker's tough luck. Actually hotel and restaurant managers often keep on hiring and firing workers rapidly so as to divide the employment fees charged by the job sharks.

CHEATED OUT OF LUNCH TIME AND PITIFUL WAGES

Election Campaign Is Way to Reach Men

(By a Worker Correspondent)

KANSAS CITY, (By Mail).—The republican party politicians and newspapers have already started to disseminate their election propaganda. They want to convince the workers that under the republican administration they enjoy prosperity. The Kansas City Star in its July 16 edition showed a cartoon which suggests the idea that under the G. O. P. administration, the workers get the full dinner pail and "a car for darn near everybody."

Well let some politician wander off into a camp of some kind of a construction company and it would not be long before he will quit peddling that prosperity bunk. The conditions of the thousands of the laborers working on the various construction jobs are so miserable that they will spit in the face of any one that will talk to them about "prosperity."

Cheat Workers' of Time.

I had a chance to closely observe the life and work of the workers of the List Construction Co., which has contracted a job for the Missouri Pacific Railroad. All workers get 35 cents an hour. The workers are supposed to work ten hours, but they work more. Here is how they do it. About ten minutes to six the bell rings and all workers get up. Six o'clock another bell rings and all workers go to have breakfast. The breakfast lasts ten to twelve minutes. Then the workers go back to the car and before they have a chance to rest ten minutes the gang foreman comes over howling, "Come on boys!" and the boys start to work at 6:30 instead of 7 o'clock.

The workers are supposed to get an hour for lunch. But this is a miserable deception, they don't even get a half an hour. Instead of stopping at 12 o'clock we stop five minutes later. Then it takes the gang five minutes to walk from the minutes to wash your face and sometimes even more than five minutes because you have to stay in line. Then you go to eat. When you go out from the dining car it is 12:30. At 15 minutes to one the foremen comes over with his usual "Come on boys!" and the boys walk along. Instead of leaving the job at six, they leave ten or fifteen minutes after.

Take Workers Money Away.

If a worker works all day he makes $3.50, but he never gets that sum of money. The company takes off $1.20 daily for the three meals, so if the workers does not buy any cigarettes or some other things he makes only $2.30 a day.

The work is real hard. The workers are forced to work at a terrific speed. Three or four years ago a worker would rest at frequent intervals and usually work only two-thirds of the time. But now it is quite different. Not only is the worker forbidden to rest but he is speeded up. Take for instance the shovel gang.

The foreman does not care whether you have to shovel sand or dig wet Missouri mud. He speeds the worker just the same. And when it happens to be a hot day then the work is simply killing. Many workers can't stand the strain of the work and they quit at three or four p. m. All workers strain their last ounce of energy to finish the day's work and when they finish the work they walk to the cars hardly moving their feet.

The workers are so exhausted that at noon or after work they can't eat. They have no appetite, but they realize that working so hard they have to eat, so they simply shove the food down their throats. After the workers had their supper they do nothing but lie prostrated on their cots. The wheel-barrel gang and the spikers work even harder. Of course none of these workers have any faith in the propaganda of the republican party.

Almost all of these workers are native born, many come from Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma, Arkansas and other states. Many of them were well to do. Many are farmers. But they prefer to work for $2.30 a day than stay on the farm. If Coolidge ever talks to these fellows about prosperity they will do more than spit at him. This is not an isolated instance of the degree to which the unskilled laborers are exploited in the South West.

There are thousands of men working as laborers on the railroads, construction roads, dams, harvest fields, etc. In many places exploitation is still worse. There is one contracting company called the Lewis Construction Co. It employs hundreds of workers paying twenty-five cents an hour. The employers are not satisfied yet and they want to reduce the wage of the workers still further. For this purpose they hire colored and Mexican workers. In Del Rio, Texas, over 600 workers are employed constructing a dam on the Rio Grande River. There the workers have been getting from 45 to 70 cents an hour. Now the company is bringing Mexicans and pays them 30 cents.

Workers Party Only Aid.

In order to prevent organization between the American and Mexican workers. The Mexicans are segregated and forbidden to talk to Americans. In this manner the company hopes to breed racial and national antagonisms. The workers are bitter against these conditions and despite the fact that they are unskilled the sentiment is strong for organization. As usual the A. F. of L. does nothing for the workers. The Communist Party must make every effort to reach this great mass of exploited unskilled workers. The presidential election campaign offers a good opportunity to the Party to reach them.

"Say Thank You"—For Being Exploited

One of the capitalist schemes for keeping the workers contented is a variety of welfare plans. The same powers which cause overcrowded working class quarters to exist also make a specialty of bringing small batches of poor children to the country for a few days and demanding that they be grateful. The Salvation Army and similar organizations take the lead in this work. Above, children from New York's east side forced to salute General and Mrs. Ballington Booth, of the Volunteers of America, during one of these excursions before the children are returned to swelter in the slums.

CHICAGO YOUTH TO BUILD NUCLEI

Plans Made at Recent Conference

CHICAGO, (By Mail). — The Young Workers Communist League Dist. No. 8 recently held a conference here to stimulate the building of shop nuclei. Twenty-two delegates representing the units in Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Weakegan, and the mining districts met on Sunday, July 22nd, at the District Headquarters in Chicago for five hours.

Comrade Platt, the new district organizer, opened the meeting with a talk in which he gave some of the reasons why we have no shop nuclui. He pointed out that the league must get into large factories and that the shop nuclui was the only basis for mass organization.

Discussions and reports by the representative and factory workers followed the report of comrade Feesom. These reports were very interesting. Factory workers from such plants such as, Western Electric Co., Sears & Robeck, W. F. Hall printing, doing league work under the bosses nose. The organizer of St. Louis, and Milwaukee, the league was prepared to start factory campaigns in these section. The Waukegan unit was typical of a small unit in an industrial center. The league there was handicaped by lack of contact with the factories, and with a black-list of its most active members. In spite of these handicaps the league has turned its attention to the young workers in the industry. By the holding of street meetings and general recruiting work in the industrial field. On the bases of the reports from the units in regards to possibilites for factory work and the forces of the league in these sections a program for intense shop work and recruiting work amongst young workers will be laid out. The organization of one shop nuclui was reported at the conference. The insuing work of the league in the factories promises to result in more shop for district eight.

League School Will Celebrate Close by Holding Big Picnic

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 10.—The Young Workers (Communist) League Training School will end its five weeks' of preparation for active participation in the class struggle by a commencement picnic to be held at Camp Hilcrest, Rockford(on Sunday, August 26.

The training school extends an invitation to the workers of Rockford and nearby cities to participate in the closing program. As a result of the activities of the school during the course of the last three weeks, a big turn out is expected. Thru factory sales of the Daily Worker by the students, thru open-air meetings, and thru personal contacts, many workers have been drawn closer to the revolutionary movement. Therefore, the commencement picnic will be the first get-together for the progressive workers of Rockford in a long time.

TO HOLD LABOR SPORTS MEETING

Call Convention in N. Y. Aug. 27-28

Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

"In the sphere of athletic activity, two national indoor meets have been held in Detroit, the second attracting over 150 athletes. Our national outdoor meet, which was held in Waukegan in July of 1927, was undoubtedly the biggest and most complete workers' athletic meet ever held in this country. Activity has been carried out in boxing, wrestling, baseball, basket-ball, gymnastics, track and field sports and soccer.

"In relation to soccer, the Labor Sports Union can point with pride to the organization of the Metropolitan Workers' Soccer League, which consists of 32 teams numbering 600 players. Through the organization of kindred leagues in Brooklyn, Eastern New Jersey, Detroit and Chicago, the basis has been laid for the setting up in the near future of a labor soccer association, national in scope, and challenging the authority of the boss-controlled and corrupt United States Football Association.

"In the field of publicity the Labor Sports Union has been issuing regularly a press service which has been sent out to scores of labor papers. However, the need of a regular printed publication has been greatly felt.

"It must be admitted that educational activity which would give the members of the LSU the proper understanding of the economic and political struggles of labor has not been properly casried on. This must be remedied in the future. Hand in hand with this educational activity there will have to be rarried on a more vigorous struggle against the influense of the Amateur Athletic Union, the YMCA, the industrial sports leagues, etc., which are the instruments of the bosses in the field of sports.

"In order to make this convention as broad and constructive as possible, the Labor Sports Union executive board, as per the decision of the first convention, has issued a call to all non-affiliated labor sports organizations to send representatives and delegates.

"The executive board urges the clubs to call special membership meetings at once, for the purpose of discussing the tasks of the coming convention, of electing delegates and of working out ways and means of raising money for the sending of these delegates.

URGES RANK AND FILE MINERS TO AID NEW UNION

Progressives Must Rally Workers

(By a Worker Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Pa., (By Mail). —I would like to have these few lines published in the Daily Worker.

As I look around in the Washington Company mines, Arden, Richmond Hill, Manfield, Lindley, Cannonsburg, Midland No. 1 and Tylerdale mines I hear reactionaries saying that the Save-the-Union men are going back to work but see none of the Save-the-Union men there. On the other hand there were the reactionaries scabbing.

Now, I say to you, brothers, roll up your sleeves and fight this whole rotten gang and we will have a big victory in the near future for the rank and file.

At present there is a call for a new mines convention and for a new miners' union. It is up to us progressive miners to make sure the good results of the national convention to be held in Pittsburgh, September 9th to 16th.

Now is the time for all progressives to rally all the miners together, go forward through the convention to a victory over the bosses and their helpers, the rotten officials.

Russian Films Cast Magic Spell in Europe and America

"Besides the official state film companies I have named, a number of private motion picture studios are engaged in producing films with purely commercial principles in view. Therefore in speaking of Soviet films we must look at the situation with an unbiased mind attuned to facts, and must remember that we are more prejudiced against Soviet 'propaganda' than the Russians are against our business 'propaganda.' We cannot judge actual Soviet films from the few examples—mostly productions of the Moscow Goskino—dsiplayed here or in Europe.

"When I saw the first Soviet film in Moscow I had even not seen Potemkin in America—I was deeply impressed by its peculiar inherent truthfulness to life, by its simply directness, natural tempo and normal continuity, factors which are absolutely lacking in American and German-French films. The picture in question was 'The Czar and the Poet' of the time of Nicholas I and Poushkin. It was a distinctly poetic film of the most classic order, played in the actual palaces of the vanished czars, in Peterhoff. In fact even the historic costumes of the actual characters were used by the film actors, under the direction of Comrade Gardin. It was a magnificent production, realistically dramatic and spontaneous.

"Like all Americans, I was at first prejudiced against communistic art and thought everything was displayed in distinctly 'propaganda' spirit; but my view soon changed after I had attended six or eight new Soviet motion pictures, each of which was as different from the others as Italian opera is from the German. A splendid picture was 'The Golden Bottom' (Zolotoe Dno) by the Siberian Goskino, depicting the village life of the Siberian farmers. Not less interesting was 'The Black Post' (Cherny Stolb), by Chavashkino—the Chuvash Film Company, in which Tani Iun, a talented Chuvash actress, played the leading role.

"As a historic revolutionary picture, the Moscow Goskino production, 'October,' showing the downfall of the old regime and the triumph of the people and the Soviets in Petrograd, is the most powerful film I have ever seen. It is gripping, not only in its true realism, but more so thru in its stirring mass scenes and historic pathos. However, this film, like 'The Last Days of St. Petersburg,' may seem a propaganda picture from our point of view, and we leave it to the judgment of the individual onlookers.

"What actually thrilled me most—perhaps because of its more or less distinctly American style of staging—was the adventurous 'SVD' (Soiuze Velikavo Dela—Union of a Great Venture), depicting the dramatic lives of the first Dekabrist Rebellion in 1825. Here the scenario writer, the directors and the acting characters produced a film that was reminiscent of Dummas, Dostoievsky and O. Henry,—a peculiar psychological adventure drama in which man, destiny and traditions play their roles in turn.

EMIL JANNINGS IN NEW ROLE AT CAMEO

Right after the inflation period in Germany, when the mark was a billion to a dollar, a familiar, but much detested, figure in Berlin was the "chieber" or profiteer.

Taking his cue from this war puppet, Emil Jannings conceived the idea of a film which he developed into a scenario with the aid of the now-famous screen writer, Hans Kraly. They hawked the story up and down Friederichstrasse.

Determined to see it through, Jannings decided to turn producer himself and engaged Rudolph Schaenzler (who later was DuPont's assistant on "Variety") as co-director, and the result was "Alles fur Geld" (All for money) which the Film Arts Guild will present for its American premiere at the Cameo Theatre today, under the title of "Fortune's Fool."

While not possessing any great production values, because the Jannings' purse was lean in those after-war days, "Fortune's Fool" is marked by a naturalistic tendency which reflects the story and atmosphere in an unforgetable manner.

The Comeo program will also include Charlie Chaplin in a re-issue of one of his ever popular comedies, "The Fireman."

SPEED-UP KILLS, FELLOW WORKER HELD FOR DEATH

Dragged Down Shaft to Cellar

(By a Worker Correspondent)

Day in, day out, the lives of building trades workers are being more and more endangered. The cause of it is the speed-up system. The speed-up system is being now more than ever practised throughout the various trades in construction work.

Recently, at the Lefcourt Building, located on Seventh Ave., from 25th to 26th Sts., a laborer was killed by falling from the fifth floor to the cellar. His job was to take the wheel-barrows coming up on the hoist to the bricklayer. The hoist stopped suddenly and he ran to take the wheel-barrow. Meanwhile, by mistake, a Negro worker gave the signal for the hoist to go down. No sooner was the signal given, than the hoist dragged the laborer through the shaft, landing him in the cellar. He died instantly.

The Negro worker is being held on a charge of manslaughter. The boss keeps cool, meanwhile his operations go on just the same.

The speed-up system and longer hours of work is shortening our lives in the dyas that we toil. We must for better conditions on the job for everybody.

Hundreds of Negro Workers Are Responding to Communist Party Election Drive

28 JOIN PARTY AFTER BROOKLYN OPEN-AIR MEET

Realize That Workers Party Is for Them

That Negro workers are thoroughly disillusioned with the republican party, oft-professed "friend of the Negroes and realize the racial prejudice of the democrats, who pose as the friends of the laboring man, is evident by the enthusiasm shown by Negro workers at Workers (Communist) Party open air meetings and when approached for their signatures to put the Workers Party candidates on the ballot.

Negroes Resent Discrimination.

Negro workers have reacted quickly to the action of the democratics in debarring Negroes from the Texas primaries. The frank statement of Senator Glass of Virginia that "white supremacy is too precious a thing to permit Negroes to vote", and the ousting of the Negro delegate, Mrs. Booze, from a meeting of the republican women at the convention held at Kansas, as well as the segregation of Negroes at that convention have all contributed to bringing home to Negro workers that the capitalist parties of the white master class have nothing in common with Negro workers, and that the Workers (Communist) Party is the only one which fights for all workers, white and colored alike.

21 Negroes Join Party.

Since the opening of the Workers Party election campaign, many Negroe workers have made application to join the party. Especially has the corner of Myrtle and Prince Streets, in Williamsburg, been productive of results. At the four last meetings held at the corner, 28 Negro workers, after listening to the speakers an the platform of the Workers Party, made application for membership. In the Negro section of Harlem, where many open-air meetings have been held under the auspices of Negro comrades, 12 Negro workers applied for membership in the party. In Brownsville, where of late many Negro workers have made their home, a good many Negro workers frequently visit the Workers Party headquarters at 154 Watkins Street.

Support Workers Party.

The work of Harold Williams in gathering signatures in the Negro section of Harlem has revealed the extent to which the Workers (Communist) Party is known and supported by masses of Negro workers. Communist literature on the election campaign, including copies of the Daily Worker, are eagerly received by Negro workers, who ask questions regarding the platform of the Communist Party, its attitude on lynching and race equality. One Negro worker, thinking Williams had come representing one of the capitalist parties, was about to slam the door in his face, but when he was told it was for the Workers (Communist) Party, he signed eagerly, and asked for a membership application card.

Williams, who already has over 100 signatures to his credit, confidently expects to pass the two hundred mark by the end of next week.

At an open air meeting held at Myrtle Ave. and Prince Street, in Brownsville, the speaker, was heckled for attacking the republican party on its stand against Negro workers. Wright, answering the objections of the heckler, exposed the Emancipation Proclamation, showed that the Negro worker is as much a slave now as before Lincoln's edict, and mentioned the Houston lynching and the segregation of Negroes at Kansas City. The man who had interrupted, a white worker, apologized, and at the end of the meeting asked for a membership application card.

FLOODS SWEEP FLORIDA TOWNS, CROPS IN DANGER

Heavy Rains Cause Creek Overflow

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 10 (UP).—The hurricane-swept cities and villages of Central Florida's fruit belt were threatened with new dangers of flood today.

All through the area swept Wednesday and yesterday by a tropical hurricane, rivers and lakes were reported out of their banks.

Reports from Okeechobee City, 18 miles north of Lake Okeechobee, said the streets were filled with water.

Taylor's Creek, in the same region, was reported to have swollen from its normal 15 feet to a width in some places of one mile.

The flood danger was expected to be shortlived. The bulk of the high water was being drained steadily today into the Everglades to the south. Seminoles on the eastern fringe of the great swamp reported new high levels in water courses there.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS RETAIN 4-GAME LEAD

(By United Press)

The St. Louis Cardinals clung to their four-game lead over the New York Giants Friday, but they were forced to go 12 innings for the 2 to 1 victory at Pittsburgh which enabled them to maintain their advantage.

Fussell of the Pirates held the league leaders to 8 hits—two less than his mates got from the offerings of Mitchell; but a single in the twelfth inning by Wilson, with Hafey on third cost him the decision. St. Louis scored first in the first inning and Pittsburgh tied the score in the second. Then followed nine innings of scoreless ball before a decision was reached.

New York's two big innings, the first and the seventh, were enough to allow them to dispose of Philadelphia, 8 to 4. The Giants scored three in the first and 5 in the seventh. Freddy Lindstrom pounded in five of the Giants' tallies and Terry and Hurst hit home runs.

Boston proved easy for Brooklyn in the only other National League game of the day. The Robins turned 7 hits into 5 runs and a 5 to 1 victory. Dazzy Vance held the Braves to 5 hits. Bissonette hit a home run.

ATHLETICS CLOSE BEHIND YANKEES IN LEAGUE RACE

Decrepit old Jack Quinn held Washington to four scattered hits, two of them scratches, and the Philadelphia Athletics won their second straight from Washington, 8 to 0.

The Athletics opened the game with a run in the first and routed Gaston, Bucky Harris' choice for the day, in the fourth, making five hits mean four runs. Zachary, who followed, was only a little more effective, yielding three more runs in the final frames.

The New York Yankees beat the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 2. Lou Gehrig scored what proved to be the winning runs with his 20th home run in the third inning. Gazella and Ruth were on the base at the time. The Yanks made only six hits off Ruffing and Harris, but they were more effective blows than the 11 the Sox gathered from Pipgras.

WORKERS BACK MOVE FOR NEW TEXTILE UNION

700 Hear Weisbord at Passaic

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 10.—Seven hundred workers here heard Albert Weisbord, Workers (Communist) Party candidate for United States Senator from New Jersey, speak on the present condition of the New Bedford textile last night.

Weisbord described the conditions of the workers, now in their fifth month of struggle, and explained many of the points involved in the present dispute.

Over $100 was collected at the conclusion of his speech from the 700 workers present. This will go for the relief of the New Bedford strikers, in their valiant struggle not only against the bosses of the textile mills, but also against the betrayers within their own union.

SCORE SCAB POLITICIAN.

☭ ☒ WORKERS (COMMUNIST) PARTY

For the Party of the Class Struggle!
For the Workers! Against the Capitalists!

Liberal "Friends" of the Workers.

> "Perhaps the police were too lenient at the beginning of the strike in the face of the reckless defiance of left-wing leaders, but that cannot justify——" etc., etc.

This is just a little passage from an editorial in the current number of the "Nation," the standard weekly organ of a section of liberalism which includes the softer type of middle-class "Jeffersonian" reformers, LaFolletites, a section of semi-labor journalists, ex-preachers and a portion of the leaders of the socialist party, most notably the Reverend Norman Thomas.

The quoted words are from what appears on its surface to be a defense of the New Bedford strikers in what the Nation calls "the jolliest riot that ever came to our attention . . . when 240 pickets were arrested on July 30."

"Some 28,000 strikers have fought for sixteen weeks against a 10 per cent wage cut, and still there are almost no strike-breakers in the mills," sounds almost like praise of the fighting qualities of the workers.

And, "Judge Frank Miliken of the third district court does not reflect credit on Massachusetts justice by his handling of the New Bedford strike cases." (Here we see that the Nation is slipping into the thought methods of liberalism; its concern is already shifting away from the welfare of the strikers and over to the matter of "credit upon Massachusetts justice.") Then the editorial begins to clarify its point: the real complaint is that "the statute is very vague," and what the "Nation" wants is that every striker shall be able to know "whether he is committing a crime or not when he walks on the picket line." For.

> "In some cases Judge Milliken has ruled that picketing in large numbers is 'parading without a permit,' in other cases he has called such picketing common-law rioting. His rulings are the more remarkable because the strikers were not molested in forming large picket lines in the first three months of the strike. PERHAPS THE POLICE WERE TOO LENIENT AT THE BEGINNING OF THE STRIKE IN THE FACE OF THE RECKLESS DEFIANCE OF LEFT-WING LEADERS, but that cannot justify Judge Milliken in depriving the workers of recognized legal rights." (Our emphasis.)

This is the political essence of this dirty strike-breaking editorial:

The editors of the Nation realize that the fight of the textile workers owes its success largely to the tactics of "forming large picket lines in the first three months of the strike," and they regret the success of these tactics and think "perhaps the police were too lenient at the beginning of the strike." But the "Nation" does not fail to see the source of the successful tactics in "the reckless defiance of the left-wing leaders."

Here we have it all. The "Nation" must create an impression that it takes sides with the strikers, though not precisely saying so. But "the police were too lenient" in not doing something more effectively to remove the "left-wing leaders," and the strike-breaker judge made a mistake in that "the strikers were not molested in forming large picket lines in the first three months of the strike." The "Nation" is really complaining that now the beans are spilt, the left-wing leadership has proven that it can lead a strike, that it can organize an effective union and can provide the only tactics that win. And now there must be, on the part of the capitalist judge and police, some of that inconsistency which is the bugbear of liberal fools, in order to break the strike, destroy the union, jail the mass leaders of the workers and restore the control in the situation to the mill owners, the police and their agents, the right-wing leaders, Batty, Binns and company, the political cousins of the Reverend Norman Thomas and the strike-breaking socialist party.

So this is liberalism!

The workers of New Bedford and Fall River should thoughtfully take warning from this strike-breaking editorial which expresses a certain mood of the petty business class that forms the basis of "liberalism" and the socialist party. This class cannot consistently be relied upon by the working class in any real test. During the New Bedford strike, it is commonly said, the small store-keepers and petty business class generally has been friendly to the strikers, due to the fact that the cruelly low wages of the textile workers were already too small to enable the workers to supply their families with even the necessities of life, and that the proposed new 10 per cent cut would play still more havoc with the trade of the small merchants of the community. A friendly attitude of this sort on the part of the small merchant class, while it lasts, is an advantage to the striking workers. But it has it dangers, too. The petty capitalist class has none of the steadfast qualities of the genuine wage-working class, does not see with working class eyes, and by the nature of its class character wavers between a momentary sympathy with the workers (in a situation like this) and the "real business men" of the community, the mill owners.

It is quite consistent that the words above quoted from the "Nation" appear in the same editorial column which begins with an endorsement of the socialist party "major issues" of "Peace, Freedom and Plenty," and wishing Mr. Thomas "every success in his effort to persuade people . . ." etc.

Can anybody find a line of distinction between the socialist party and this camp of liberalism, with its disguised and filthy strike-breaking propaganda in its standard organ of which the Reverend Thomas, socialist party candidate for president, is a contributing editor?

The Fall River police and mill owners are now following precisely the advice of the "Nation." The Fall River police are not "too lenient at the beginning of the strike" there. The same degree of brutality that began in New Bedford in the thirteenth week, is beginning in Fall River in the first week. The Fall River strike has only just begun and the troops and police have already drowned the six-year-old boy of one striker and crushed the body of the pregnant wife of another; the "Nation" editors need not fear any inconsistency here.

Why do the uniformed thugs of the state and the mill barons act in this ruthless way in Fall River? Because they see in the Fall River strike the extension of the struggle that began and continues in New Bedford. Because they see that not only is the Fall River strike growing with the coming out of the Algonquin Mill, but the movement for organization is spreading to Rhode Island and even to North Carolina. There is the genuine movement that can, with the fearless and intelligent left-wing leadership, be brought to its crystalization in a great national textile workers' union.

Textile workers, depend on yourselves. Keep up your mass picket line.

Build your new union!

Johnny Madeiros Goes 'Swimming'

A Massachusetts "cossack" is an important fellow. He can prance around the street on a fine horse, paid for by the State, and anyone who gets in his way does so at his own peril. It's fun—to a cossack—to see all these miserable strikers duck and run to keep out from under the iron hoofs.

Big and little. Men, women and children—they all have to run. No chance against a horse. Makes a man feel powerful, to sit up high on a saddle in a fine uniform, a gun on his hip, and make 'em scuttle to cover.

The little ones are funny. Wednesday at Fall River a striker's kid—six years old—got in the road. An officer had a little fun—rode at the kid. . . . Had to laugh the way that kid took fright and ducked through a hole in the fence! He splashed into the water on the other side of the fence. Ha, ha! Didn't know the river was right there.

The officer pranced his horse on down the street.

Johnny Madeiros was drowned.

Well, what of it. The judge is O. K. This is a mill town, this is Fall River. A Bosses' town. No Bolshevism here. Law and order. No strikes here, if the troopers can help it.

Johnny Madeiros was not a boss's son. Just a mill worker's brat. Any story will do.

"Just thought he was swimming," says the officer.

All O. K.

But the picket line grows stronger, and every working man and woman from the mills is more determined to beat the beastly bosses and their troopers, and their judges. Hold the picket line!

"GENTLEMEN, YOU SEE HE'S TIED DOWN."

Women Workers in China

Organizations of Working Women; Militancy in Strikes; Fight Old Prejudices

The growing exploitation of the workers by foreign and national capital, coupled with the growth of political consciousness among the Chinese working class, have resuled in confronting the working women in China with the task of assisting in the struggle of the working class for political and economic emancipation.

The Chinese woman has long since realized that the strength of the working class consists in its solidarity and organization.

The first organizations of women in China were the Women's Unions, modeled after the women's organizations in Europe and America.

138,000 Women Organized.

There are women's organizations in the Hunan province with about 200,000 members, while in the rest of China there are 238,000 members in the women's organizations. Who are the members of the Women's Unions? Hitherto they constituted mixed organizations with a prevalence of the intellectual and petty bourgeois elements of the towns and only in Hunan the members consist mostly of agricultural and industrial working women and housewives.

The objective of the Women's Unions is to gain formal political liberties for women, and it is only the cultural and political backwardness of the working women which keeps her in the organizations. Since 1922 a wave of strikes swept through China, and having originated upon economic grounds, the strikes naturally assumed a political character. In the course of three strikes there were special demands raised by the revolutionary trade unions on behalf of the working women. Some of these demands have been partly granted by the employers.

Strikes Educate Women.

These strikes had a tremendous educational influence upon the working women. Their class-consciousness aroused, they took an active part in the strikes and quit the feminist organizations, forming their own special trade unions, or getting into line with the general trade unions of the workers.

Altogether there are now 325,000 women organized in the Chinese trade unions.

In the Kwantung province, out of 60,000 women employed in the textile industry, only ten thousand are members of the union, of whom 5,000 are employed in the cotton industry. In view of the fact that the unions have not conducted a single strike until 1927 to bring any advantages to the working women, the latter are inclined to take a skeptical view of the trade unions.

Quit the Company Unions.

The women of the same provinces had formed in the clothing industry a joint union with the employers in 1926, but they soon realized the differences in their interests from those of their employers, and, quitting the unions, they formed their own trade unions of working women. This union has conducted several strikes which have resulted in some wage increases and in general amelioration of working conditions.

Woman Workers in China.

In 1927 a number of other trade unions were formed by the women, whilst a large number of working women joined the general trade unions (Hongkong, Shantung, etc.).

In Shanghai, the most proletarian center in China, the women are particularly well organized.

Women Organize Strikes.

Since 1920 there have been scores of strikes in Shanghai, in rapid succession. The women took advantage of these strikes to raise their own economic demands whilst at the same time supporting the common struggle of the Chinese workers against national and foreign capitalists. They acted as strike pickets, took part in demonstrations and addressed public meetings. The police authorities imposed the same penalties upon working women as they did upon the men. They are bludgeoned and jailed, tortured and executed by all the refined methods of cruelty which are practiced in China.

Demands in 1926.

The Shanghai working women in 1926-27 raised the following demands: Higher wages, shorter working hours, prohibition of night work, prohibition of child labor, Sunday rest, pregnancy vacations, sick benefits, school for children of working men and women and finally the freedom of the trade unions.

Women First to Strike.

After the suppression of the trade unions by Chaing Kai-Shek, when hundreds of revolutionary working men and women were murdered and the work of the revolutionary trade unions was driven underground, the first strike which raised the banner of the struggle against the Kuomintang traitors was the strike of 600 women in the silk industry in South China. They asked for a wage increase of 20 per cent. They were joined in a solidarity strike by 3,000 in the national and 3,000 women in the foreign cotton mills.

In June, 1927, a fresh strike broke out of 9,000 women in the national silk spinning mills in Shanghai. The strike went on for 16 days. The cause of the strike was the discharge of 800 women in one of the mills. While protesting against wholesale discharges the women asked for a 20 per cent increase in wages, shorter hours and the payment of wages twice a month. Various police measures undertaken by the employers and efforts to get settlement by arbitration brought no results. The women strikers firmly held their ground. The manufacturers had to yield and the workers gained: (1) a slight increase in wages, (2) a shortening of the working day by 45 minutes, (3) part payment of sick benefits, 20 cents extra for Sunday work and 20 cents a week for the time of the strike, (4) the right to have a representative organization of the union in each factory.

Other Strikes Called.

Besides these big strikes, there was a number of strikes in minor enterprises which ended either in compromise or in partial victory for the working women. In 1927, on March 28, that is before the suppression of the revolutionary trade unions by Chang Kai-Shek, the Shanghai Trade Union Council included among the general demands a special point dealing with women and child labor: Equal pay for equal work, the prohibition of night work for women and children, a vacation of six weeks for prospective mothers, etc. The struggle for these demands is still being carried on by the Shanghai working women, and their example is followed by the working women throughout industrial China.

Fight Against Old Prejudices.

Besides striking for economic and political demands, the Chinese working women are struggling against old prejudices. It was by their insistence that a decree was issued by the national government prohibiting the crippling of women's feet. The Chinese working women take an active part not only in the trade union movement, but also in the political struggle against foreign capital and the indigenous bourgeoisie, as well as against the brutal and reactionary Kuomintang government

Fight With the Men.

In the course of the counter-revolutionary coup d'etat in South China, when thousands of working men and working women were slain in defending the interests of their class (about 238,000 working men and working women perished under the white terror), the working women fought shoulder to shoulder with the men on the barricades. They handed shells and munitions to the men, organized their feeding and shielded the revolutionaries from the brutal assassins of the national government, paying for this with their own lives. Women were engaged also in laison service between the different workers' fighting squads, and they agitated at workers' meetings for a rebellion against the national government. The Chinese working women are steadily becoming more militant and are consolidating their ranks for the final knockout blow to the Chinese bourgeoisie.

The Blood of Shanghai

By H. T. TSIANG

(Appeal of the Chinese toilers to the American labor movement.)

Pacific Ocean!
You must be ashamed of your thundering flood,
When the wails of the Chinese toilers rise
To drown your frantic noise.
Pacific Ocean!
You can no longer be proud of your deep blue dress!
It is now crimsoned by the blood of myriad Chinese workers.

Rocky Mountains!
You must cease to take pride in your height!
For your lofty peaks
Fail as a white curtain
To hide from the American workers
The heaped heads of the Chinese toilers
That are high against the sky.

O! Statue of Liberty!
When we see you from the top of the heaped heads
On Shanghai land,
We wonder
Why should you still look toward the Red Flag
That is flying on the top of Lenin's tomb.
Worry about the Red Flag?
O! the Red Flag will never stop
Fluttering in the revolutionary fire
That spreads into the four corners of the earth.

O! Statue of Liberty!
Don't you care about the land under your feet?
"My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, Of thee I sing."
Liberty! Liberty! Liberty!
Where is Liberty?
Who has liberty?
Sacco-Vanzetti?
Negroes?
Workers?
Do you carry your liberty
To the people of Nanking and Nicaragua?
O! we know
They meet you only in the dream of their dreams.

O! Statue of Liberty!
Why don't you turn your face
And look at the eastern Asiatic land,
Where four hundred million toilers live?
They are thirsty for you!
They are hungry for you!
They are fighting for you!
They are dying for you!
The aeroplane speeds
Swift as the lightning.
How soon, O, Liberty,
Will you come to us?
How soon will you come to us?

The wind is blowing around the Statue of Liberty!
The rain is falling on the Pacific Ocean!
The clouds are drifting over the Rocky Mountains!
O wind! are you mourning for our miseries?
O rain! are you weeping for our sufferings?
O clouds! are you trying to bury our griefs?

O, dear wind! dear rain! dear clouds!
Do you know why
Our native bosses, foreign bosses, militarists and imperialists should Cut off our heads?
One head must be more than twelve pounds;
Thanks for their kindness!
This is the only way to remove a part of our heavy burdens!
For our weary, hungry bodies
Can no longer carry our unnecessary heads.

Heads! heads! heads!
Where are our heads?
Hanging high and upon the telephone poles!
That is the only place they are safe
From the insects and beasts
That would devour them.
Now there is nothing to worry about
And our headless bodies can then rest
Till dawn.

Talk about "dawn!"
She must wait for the cock's crowing!
O! the number of our Chinese organized workers
Is so small,
The voice of our crying
Are not loud.
But look at the darkness that surrounds us!
Dark! dark! dark . . . terribly dark!

Fellow workers in America!
If you fail to raise your voice to help us
There can never be a dawning
That comes to us and to you.
Dear brothers!
Raise your voice in protest!
Break the darkness with your cries!
Also help us with your pennies!
When the day breaks,
We all shall be repaid
A thousand-fold.

Hark! hark!
The cocks are crowing!
Look! look!
The dawn is approaching!

Told You So

HERE is a tip to the unemployed and even the employed who are usually ahead of their weekly wages. Drop in on John J. Raskob, J. P. Morgan or Otto [illegible] Kahn, and purchase a few thousand dollars worth of stock in General Motors or some other prosperous concern. You do not need any money. All you have to do is to get either one of the above-named gentlemen to endorse your note and then forget about it. If you need ready cash you may sell your stock but perhaps you would rather do as Andrew Carnegie did—let it pay for itself.

SINCE the announcement of Gene Tunney's approaching marriage to $50,000,000 and the grand niece of Andrew Carnegie, interest in the canny Scot is reviving. The New York Times tells us that Andy made his first $400 without spending a cent. Neither did he spend a drop of sweat. This is what he did. He purchased $400 worth of stock in an insurance company but did not have the money to pay for it. The president of the company endorsed his note and Andrew did not let the matter worry him until 11 years later, when he drew a dividend of $20 on his stock. Being an honest man he turned this over to the company in part payments of his debt. Not until 18 years after he purchased the stock had he paid for it—out of the dividends. This is a tribute to honest toil and promptness in paying debts.

GOVERNOR Smith insists that his answer to the Reverend John (Cock) Roach Straton must be made from the same pulpit that is occupied by the evangelist every Sunday. This may be good political strategy but we fear for Al's immortal soul. How can a believer in the infallibility of the pope desecrate himself by stepping into a protestant pulpit? Should a more humble Catholic layman than Al Smith dare to sit in the pew of protestant church not to speak of occupying a pulpit his soul would be damned for all eternity.

IT IS worthy of note that bankers, manufacturers and politicians take care that the populace are aware of the fact that they celebrate their birthdays by working as usual. They figure that this is the best time to call public attention to the alleged fact that they work. On mayor Walker's arrival from his 20th vacation since he became executive head of the city, he presented acting mayor McKee with an alligator pear, on the occasion of that official's birthday. If the mayor had as keen a sense of humor as he is credited with he would have brought a carload of plums from California instead of a crate of pears. But perhaps he believes his official family take their plums without asking permission.

A BRIGHT young man who applied himself to his work and never looked at the clock during working hours, rose to the position of assistant secretary of the Bancitaly, said to be the second largest financial institution in the United States. No doubt he was pointed to with pride as an example of what every other little American boy could do thru hard work and loyalty to his boss. But when the young man went to Montreal on his vacation the bank examiner pounced on his accounts and learned that he had embezzled $500,000 of the bank's money. He gambled on the stock market. He was unlucky; that's all. Had he hit it right nobody would ever know the truth of how he acquired his wealth and he would be another Gene Tunney in the Success magazines.

FEW will be sorry that the executive council of the A. F. of L. hurled a well-directed shot of garbage at the Brookwood Labor College, Katonah, New York. That the A. F. of L. charges are unfounded does not affect the chuckle which goes up from this department. Matthew Woll, the chief heressy hunter of the executive council, learned that Brookwood was a nest of atheism and Soviet propaganda. The fact is that it is neither fish, flesh nor good frog jelly. The writer never knew or heard of any graduate of Katonah that was fit for anything better than lecturing before the left wing of the National Womans' Party. Its directorate catered to the bureaucrats of the A. F. of L. for the sake of dough and respect[illegible]ty. Its fate at the hands of the executive council is one more demonstration that those who stand neither with the right nor with the left get the bricks from both extremes.

THOSE who are in need of healing might do worse than get their radios set for the services of the Most Reverend Arthur Edward Leighton, Metropolitan Archbishop and Primate of the Independent Catholic Church of America. He will preach over Station NMCA next Sunday evening and assures us that no matter how great the affliction a cure is certain, provided the afflicted keeps a glass of cool water in the vicinity. Probably the Reverend gentleman has devised a way for transmitting a drop of something exhilirating thru the ether and that the cool water is intended for a chaser.

4 LEADERS OF FALL RIVER STRIKE GET 6 MONTHS EACH

15 Jailed by New York Police in Relief Collections for Chinese Trade Unionists

ARRESTS AIDED BY FOLLOWERS OF KUOMINTANG

Soliciting Without Permit, Charged

Fiften workers, who participated in the Chinese Tag Day under the auspices of the Committee to Aid the Chinese Trade Unions, were arrested yesterday in Chinatown. They were charged with "soliciting without a permit" and were released on $500 bail each, furnished by the local International Labor Defense. The collectors are to appear at the First District Court, White and Center Sts., at 9 a. m. today (Monday), where they will be defended by Jacques Buitenkant, retained by the New York Section of the International Labor Defense.

Those arrested were Y. Y. Shu, secretary of the New York Worker-Peasant Alliance; David Wee, 27; H. T. Tsiang, 28; David Kanner; Max Postolsky, 21; W. Martin, 18; Du Peld, 22; Yekelchik; M. Levin, 12; I. Kleinman, 19; R. Kleidmann, 20; B. Winnick, 17; B. Rosenberg, 22, and L. Chansik.

Pointed Out by Reaction.

The workers had carried on their collection unmolested for a time, and with very good results, demonstrating the desire of the Chinese workers in America to help their fellow-workers in China. Later, however, a number of policemen demanded to see the permits, which were accordingly shown. In the latter part of the afternoon more policemen and detectives appeared on the scene and began rounding up all collectors in the district, on the designation of certain civilian Chinese.

KELLOGG PACT ANTI-USSR MOVE

Provides for War On Soviet Union

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Moscow correspondents for the Berlin press report an editorial in the Izvestia, the official organ of the Soviet government, which cites the Kellogg anti-war pact as a further example of the enmity of the capitalist world to the Soviet Union and declares that the powers would not have a Soviet representative at the Paris conference for fear that the frankness of such a representative would complicate the situation.

The Izvestia also cites features in the pact which it considers to be dangerous for the continuance of peace. The most important of these is the provision that the treaty will not apply to non-signatories, which means that the powers will be able to carry on war against the Soviet Union and still not break the pact. This shows, the Izvestia says, that the powers are unwilling "to assume an obligation, even a formal one, to abstain from war in relation to the Soviet Union."

REVOLT AGAINST GOMEZ GROWING

CUCUTA, Columbian-Venezuelan Frontier, Aug. 10.—Reports received here from Venezuela indicate that the revolt, which yesterday was reported by the dictator Gomez, to have been suppressed, is taking on impetus. Forces are reported to be organizing themselves in the mountains.

Colonel Roberta Fossi, who first organized a revolt of students is reported to have fled to Dutch Guiana where he was placed under arrest. His forces, however, are reported to be renewing the fight, while unrest among the workers and peasants grows.

COPS BACK DOWN AT RELIEF MEET

Weisbord on Tour for New Textile Union

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 12.—The second mass meeting to raise relief for the New Bedford textile strikers, distributed there by the Workers International Relief, went thru successfully Saturday night, despite police threats to break up the meeting as they did the previous one a week ago.

Albert Weisbord, leader of the Textile Mill Committees was the principal speaker at the enthusiastic gathering, and was loudly cheered by the textile workers present every time he mentioned the formation of a new union of textile workers now in formation. Weisbord spoke in express violation of a police order that he stay out of the city.

Police Back Down.

The meeting was held under the joint auspices of the textile workers' union, and the American Civil Liberties Union. About $100 in cash and very much more than that in pledges was raised at the meeting in an appeal for funds for the New Bedford strikers.

The police backed down from their previous stand of "no meetings" by announcing that they will have a stenographer taking down

ONE UNION, GOAL OF CONFERENCE OF FUR LOCALS

Cooper Union Meet to Open Drive Wednesday

Delegates representing nearly every furriers' local in the United States and Canada met in conference here last night and decided to form an international united-front committee for the purpose of building one union in the fur manufacturing and fur dressing industry.

In addition to official representatives from bona fide out-of-town locals, affiliated with the International Fur Workers' Union of the A. F. of L., the conference included the leaders of the left wing New York Joint Board and of the Progressive Bloc of the right wing Joint Council of this city. This conference decided to build a genuine national organization upon the ruins of the A. F. of L. organization wrecked by its socialist-A. F. of L. leadership.

After constituting themselves as an official body, the united conference, as a first step, voted to call a mass meeting this Wednesday night, August 15, at Cooper Union, for the immediate mobilization of the workers in the industry to begin the erection of the union.

A. F. of L. Admits Defeat.

The International Fur Workers Union was destroyed when the A. F. of L. chiefs, socialists and bosses joined in wrecking the union because of its left wing policy and leadership. The recent publication of secret letters between Edward F. McGrady, A. F. of L. agent in the fur industry and Abraham I. Shiplacoff, leader of the right wing forces in the New York Jewish labor movement, have revealed that the right wing fur union is about to go out of existence.

Officially pledging to enter the fight in a united and determined effort to lead the masses in a struggle to build a real furriers' union, representatives at the conference unanimously adopted the following declaration:

"The reorganization of the New York Joint Board and its component locals has resulted in the break down of the organizational power of the Joint Board and of every other local of the International Fur Workers' Union of the U. S. and Canada. The employers have taken the fullest advantage of this situation to undermine the union control and to deprive the workers of their hard won concessions. The furriers and fur dressers have thus been robbed of their union standards and union wages, and plunged into despair and empoverishment.

Sweat Shops Increase.

"As a result of this state of affairs, the number of open shops and sweat shops in the fur manufacturing industry and particularly in the fur dressing industry have increased to an alarming degree and further threaten the existence of even the present miserable standards. The locals all over the U. S. and Canada are thus in imminent danger of being completely wiped out of existence.

"The attempt to reorganize the New York Joint Board and its component locals, the backbone of the International Union, has not only rendered the International and incompetent and worthless instrument, but despite the alarming condition of every local union, the International officials also chose to continue the destructive internal warfare, and therefore assume the role of a direct union breaking agency.

To Build One Union.

"In view of the foregoing, the undersigned have gathered in conference in New York City and pledged to unite and to direct all their efforts to the end of unifying and solidifying the ranks of the workers, organizationally strengthening all of the fur manufacturing and fur dressing locals and organizing all locals into one powerful international union of fur workers.

"We repudiate the policy of expulsion of members because of their political convictions and affiliations, and we declare for a union of all workers, recognizing the right of every worker to his race, color and religious and political beliefs.

"We are fully cognizant of the probable persecution of every worker signed to this declaration, but we also recognize that the urgent task of building one united international union of all fur workers, a union democratically controlled and managed by the workers only, and the task of restoring and bettering of the union conditions and union wages stand above every consideration of self-interest, and safety. We deem it our sacred duty to undertake this important task, and we are prepared to offer our most devoted service toward realizing the ardent aims and the demands of the thousands of fur workers, fur dressers and dyers. We are determined and prepared to use the united power of the thousands of fur workers to build the union and to combat all of the treacherous and destructive reactionary elements that will stand in the way of realizing the aims of the thousands of workers. All of those who are honestly and sincerely desirous of helping the workers to build their union are welcome to join our ranks.

HOOVER DELIVERS NOMINATION TALK

Evasive on All Issues Facing Country

PALO ALTO, Cal., Aug. 12.—In a speech marked by all the evasions and vote-catching devices known to the trained politician, Herbert Hoover, presidential candidate on the republican ticket yesterday "accepted" officially the nomination tendered him by Senator Moses, permanent chairman of the party.

On the most important issue before the world today, the question of war, Hoover went all the way of imperialist hypocricy when he declared, speaking for the United States, that "we have no hates; we wish no further possessions; we harbor no military threats."

Plain Camouflage.

At the moment when every one of the large nations is frantically seeking to prepare for war, Hoover declared that "there is no nation in the world today that does not earnestly wish for peace—that is not striving for peace."

On the question of agricultural relief, he emphasized the party pledge which declares for a farmers' board of representatives to help solve the problem.

Insult to Labor.

For the twenty millions of workers in the country, he declared that there has been some abuse in the excessive use of injunctions in labor disputes.

On the issue of prohibition he declared that modification is nullification and that he would stand by the constitution.

The speech was delivered at the Stanford University stadium and was broadcasted on the radio.

RELIEF BODY APPEALS FOR TEXTILE WORKERS

(Special To Daily Worker.)

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., August 12.—An urgent appeal for funds was issued today by the Workers' International Relief, 49 William St., which points out the serious situation that will develop if more money is not raised at once to aid the 30,000 textile strikers and their families.

Up to the present time, the W. I. R. has been barely able to take care of the workers that have requested relief, but as thousands of more workers apply at the office daily, the resources of the organization are taxed to capacity. Now the relief office finds itself in immediate need of several thousand dollars to meet current expenses.

A special children's kitchen will be open here shortly. Due to the lack of funds the W. I. R. is not able to go ahead with the opening as well as being hampered with the general relief work.

All contributions should be sent to the Workers' International Relief, 49 William St., New Bedford, Mass.

Plan Big Picnic.

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 12.—The program of the Workers' International Relief picnic to be held Sunday, August 19, at Sylvan Grove, Acushnet Ave., was announced today.

Starting at 10 a. m. the program will include motion pictures in the open air, games, sports, talks, a strikers' orchestra and refreshments. A special feature will be presented by a group of strikers' children. Many delegations of workers from nearby cities have announced that they will be present.

MANY DONATIONS TO "RED" DRIVE

The response to the appeal for a Communist Election Campaign Fund of $100,000 to help mobilize the masses of industrial workers, agricultural laborers, and poor farmers for the struggle against capitalism is meeting with a hearty response from all sections of the country, according to a statement issued yesterday by the National Election Campaign Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party, 43 E. 125th St., New York City.

In sums ranging from one dollars to one hundred dollars, Communists and sympathizers with the revolutionary workingclass movement have responded to the call for the financial sinews of war with which to carry the message of the class struggle into every corner of the United States.

The first fifty receipts published below show that the Communist election campaign has a nation-wide appeal. These contributions come from industrial workers, agricultural laborers, exploited farmers and persecuted Negroes. Coal miners, railroad workers, automobile workers, steel workers, building trades workers, as well as the exploited tillers of the soil are contributing their share to swell the fighting fund of the workingclass.

MOVING PICTURE OF MINE STRIKE

Photoplay Records 16-Month Struggle

(Special to The DAILY WORKER)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12.—The great bituminous coal strike, with its highlights of picket lines, attacks from coal and iron police and state troopers, arrests, evictions, life in barracks and tents, catastrophes in non-union mines which swept away hundreds of lives, was recorded in a six reel motion picture under the auspices of the National Miners' Relief Committee.

Alfred Wagenknecht, who produced the "Passaic Textile Strike," is supervising the production of this epic of the heroic sixteen-month struggle in the soft coal fields. Sam Burke is directing the photography. Barbara Rand and Caroline Drew are editing and assembling the picture preparatory to the first complete showings early in September. Short excerpts have already been exhibited in New York City. This will be the second picture ever made by a working class organization in America.

The whole story of coal is told in this highly colorful picture. Coal diggers in pit clothes are seen entering the mine shafts through the man-trip, only their cap lamps lighting the way. Sam Burke went deep into the earth to photograph this spectacular trip.

"Rev." Straton Eases Self Out of Show

It was all a joke anyway, Straton declared yesterday. He said that he would hold the show anywhere but in his church.

LABOR BANK UNDER FIRE

Charge Crooked Deals in Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 12.—With charges of mismanagement, misappropriation of funds and stock juggling against the Atlantic Union Securities Co., the promoters of the Labor Bank in Atlantic City, a group of stockholders, are seeking to place the bank in the hands of a receiver.

Vice-Chancellor Ingersoll has issued an order for a hearing in behalf of the Steamfitters' Protective Association and the Typographical Union, Local 377, claiming to be stockholders. The hearing will take place on Tuesday. The majority of the funds in this bank are owned by workers and represents their life savings. John Burke, president of the bank, is business agent of the Iron Workers' Local and president of the Atlantic City Building Trades Council. Among the allegations are that $70,000 was only paid in on $180,000 stock subscriptions issued, the present management has disalpated $40,000.

ORDER FOR MORE BIRTHS

Mussolini Vexed at Lack of Soldiers

ROME, Aug. 12.—The decline of the Italian birth rate has greatly worried Mussolini who, with eyes rested on the future, has demanded a population of 75,000,000 by 1950, when he hopes that imperial Rome to rule the world.

Although Mussolini can order reduction in wages and get it, it seems that he does not have the same success in the matter of increasing human material for fascist exploitation. Much worried over the decreasing source of army recruits, he writes in his Milan paper, Il Popolo d'Italia:

"Without quantity there is no quality; without numbers there is no power." And he points out that thruout the course of history all the great powers have fallen because of a declining birth rate, which affected their fighting forces. "We must increase the population for the aims of peace, as well as those of war," writes the fascist dictator.

MASS FUNERAL OF STRIKER'S CHILD ATTACKED BY STATE THUGS AND MOUNTED POLICE

Priest Bars Mourning Thousands From Church Despite Protest of Victim's Father

Gitlow, Communist Nominee, Is Speaker at Enthusiastic Mass Meeting

(Special To DAILY WORKER.)

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug 12.—Openly declaring his intention to smash the growing strike of textile workers here, and to drive out union organizers, Judge Hannify in the Second Bristol Court yesterday sentenced James Ried, head of the Fall River Textile Mill Committees, S. Weismann, Jack Rubinstein and Bill Sireka, organizers to six months prison sentences each. The particular charge upon which they were tried for was, "disturbing the peace" while addressing a large gathering of textile workers from a tenement rented by the union. The workers at this meeting had defied an order of Police Chief Feeney forbidding congregations of strikers near the mills.

Judge in Cold Sweat.

The labor hating judge also imposed an unparalleled demand for bail of $1,000 from each of his victims as a guarantee that they "keep the peace." This bond is to be forfeited in the event of another arrest being registered against the sentenced while they are free on the appeal bond.

Scarcely able to hide his fury, the tool of the mill barons said, "I have sat on many cases in the past few days. Fall River has always been a peaceful community and it should be hastily restored to that condition. Therefore to that end I will impose jail sentences that tend to restore that peaceful situation."

Peter Hegelias, T. M. C. organizer was fined $20 for requesting information regarding his arrested comrades.

Sentences equally savage are expected to be imposed upon Hegelias and about 80 other strikers who are to come up for trial from Monday to Wednesday. Defense forces of the strikers, led by the International Labor Defense, are being rapidly mobilized to fight against the barbarous court terror of the Massachusetts ruling class.

Attack Funeral.

Admission was made here today by the police that they planned holding under arrest the strike leader while the funeral of six-year-old Johnny Madieros was under way. The child was drowned after being chased into the water by a mounted policeman last week, it is charged. Parents and friends of the boy had planned a mass funeral.

Over one hundred charging police and troopers broke up the mass funeral as the people were congregating near the steps of Santo Cristo Church. Thruout the entire attack, the police received the fullest cooperation of the priest, Manuel Silvia. Police barricaded the approaches to the church with slow moving motor vans and other cars in order to prevent the mourners from getting near the church, this maneuver proved unavailing, however.

Mounted troopers kept riding thru the massed workers trying to follow the hearse that started from the church to the home of Madieros. At the church the priest came out and closed the church doors, permitting only the body and the dead boy's family to enter thru a small basement door. The father, a striker, requested that his fell strikers be permitted to accomp the funeral, but was ignored by priest and police. The religious vices were then rushed thru in minutes. Red flowers, sent in the Textile Mill Committees m bers, covered the white cask Workers then took up a collectic to help the striking father defray the funeral expenses.

MILL PICKETING BAN IS DEFIED

Workers to Challenge Police Order Today

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 12.—Preparations are under way, the New Bedford Textile Workers Union of the Textile Mills Committee has announced, to mobilize the strikers for new huge picket demonstrations as an answer to the latest police ukase entirely prohibiting picketing. The huge strike here now enters its 18th week.

Police Commissioner McLeod has has in the last few days been arresting every workers in the vicinity of the mills on the new unique charge of "loitering." About a score of strikers were arrested since Friday on this new charge.

Exposes Fake Maneuvers.

Eli Keller general organizer for the New Bedford Mill Committees yesterday issued a statement denouncing this police maneuver of the bosses while they were participating in fake peace conference with the reactionary union officials. He says:

"A short time ago the police said that picket lines of 25 could be formed; now they are breaking up all lines irrespective of their size. This is definite proof that the statement that 25 would be allowed to picket was a fake, a move on the part of the bosses to fool the workers. They hoped to cut the lines to 25 pickets believing that it would then be easier to end all picket lines.

"The New Bedford Textile Workers Union most sharply condemns the action of the police in breaking up the picket lines and for the brutal treatment they mete out to the workers when doing so. While the fake investigation was being held in

MERGER COSTS CITY MILLIONS

City Officials Plead Innocence

Behind the refusal of the up-state public service commission to permit a rehearing on the merger of the Consolidated Gas Company with the Edison Company stands the loss to the city gas and electricity users of millions of dollars yearly in possible reduction of rates to which, it was announced yesterday, the public is entitled.

Officials of the city, who are undoubtedly equally guilty with the members of the commission in the brazen betrayal of the public interest, sought to make it appear yesterday that they had been completely taken in by the commission's decision to permit the merger to go through.

Communists to Defy Tammany, Militarists, Who Broke Up Election Meet in Astoria

NOR, GRECHT TO PEAK DESPITE ASCIST THREAT

To Expose Corruption in Queens

Despite the action of the fascists in breaking up the open-air meeting of the Workers (Communist) Party at Steinway and Jamaica Avenues, Astoria, last Thursday, and beating A. Harfield, Communist candidate for Assembly from the 1st Assembly District of Queens and Paul Miller, one of the speakers, the Workers (Communist) Party platforms will be set up at the same corner next Thursday and the meeting will be held, with Robert Minor, editor of the Daily Worker and Communist Candidate for U. S. Senator, A. Harfield, Max Schachtman, Rebecca Grecht, who was arrested on a framed-up charge of "inciting to riot" at the last meeting, P. Shapiro and Donald Burke, among the speakers.

The meeting, which was broken up by Tammanyites under the banner of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was the culmination of several meetings during which the fascists tried unsuccessfully to disrupt the Workers Party meeting by heckling and holding a so-called "Americanization" meeting directly across the street.

A. Harfield and Paul Miller bore the brunt of the fascists' ferocity. Harfields lip was badly cut, and three stitches were taken. His head was battered by fists and something harder, as evidenced by the large lump raised. Miller was set upon by a dozen patriotic democrats and pummeled severely. Padgug was hurled from the platform.

That the democratic machine of Queens will resort to the same tactics next Thursday in another attempt to break the (Workers (Communist) Party meeting up is evident by the announcement of the Dwyer Post, nominally responsible for the attack, that it will formulate plans for the increase of the number paricipating in their "Americanization" meeting.

The Democratic Assistant District Attorney of Queens County, Walter McClancy, will himself speak from the platform of the "Veterans of Foreign Wars," thus proving conclusively that fact that the Democratic machine of Queens is itself behind the attempt to stop the campaign of the Workers (Communist) Party. The open-air meetings held by the Communists at that corner were swinging the workers of Queens away from the democratic machine, and the Queens Tammanyites, unable to disinfect the political atmosphere from the Queens sewer stench, are resorting to violence in order to provide themselves with a clear field for further graft.

Assistant District Attorney McClancy, high in the democratic councils of Queens, is the right-hand man of District Attorney Newcombe, who is one of those chiefly responsible for the change in the sewer contract specifications which resulted in the embezzlement by the Phillips-Connoly-Tammany gang of tens of millions of dollars of public funds.

The role of the police, who had been duly notified of last week's meeting, is aptly characterized by the remark of a policeman to A. Harfield, whom he was supposed to be protecting: "Id like to wrap this stick around your neck!"

Among the literature which will be sold at next week's meeting, will be, appropriately, "Our Heritage from 1776," by Bert Wolfe.

Low Wages for Young Transport Workers

An investigation of wage and labor conditions of young transport workers in Scotland has brought to light a terrible state of affairs. The average wage is for drivers 50 to 60 shillings per week, conductors 18 to 30 shillings for a 7-day week, (8½ to 9¼ hour day). Exploitation is still worse in small companies which run two or three buses. They pay an average wage of 40 shillings per week for drivers and 15 to 20 shillings per week for men and women conductors.

Working hours are 12 to 25 in a 7-day week. Fines are frequent. The time table given to drivers is so outrageous that they are frequently obliged to exceed the legal speed limit. For this reason, many companies deduct beforehand one shilling per week from drivers and sixpence from conductors so as to cover from this fund fines for exceeding the speed limit exacted by the police. Young women workers who want to become conductors must go thru an apprenticeship of six weeks without pay. After the six weeks, they must undergo a test. Worse still is the position of cleaners, mostly young lads. Their average pay is 21 shillings and fourpence for a 56-hour week. The same rates for night shifts.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UP).—Government employes have been forbidden by the Civil Service Commission from taking active part in the political campaign.

They may not make any addresses on politics; or take any part in a political meeting; talk politics on duty; canvass for any candidate or work for him at the polls.

NICARAGUA LOAN FALLS THROUGH

Bankers Decline to Participate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (UP).—For the first time in about 20 years American bankers have declined to participate in a loan to Central America. It was definitely learned at the State Department today that negotiations for a $12,000,000 loan to Nicaragua, which the State Department had tentatively approved, have collapsed.

Officials here and in Nicaragua have been informed by New York banking houses, which were asked to consider the loan, that they do not care to take part in the proposed plan to lend Nicaragua this sum, despite reports by the recently resigned American collector of customs for Nicaragua, that the Republic's finances are in better condition than in many years.

New York bankers did not disclose their reason for declining to handle the proposed loan. In many quarters, however, the view has been expressed that their action was based on congressional and other criticism of alleged "Wall Street interference" in the internal affairs of Central America.

Catskill Resort Donates $29.00 to Aid Daily Worker

CATSKILL, N. Y., Aug. 12.—"The Eager Mountain House," a summer resort at Catskill, N. Y., sticks to its 17-year-old tradition of helping radical and labor organizations.

A few weeks ago when an appeal was made for The DAILY WORKER Sustaining Fund by May Rosenblatt, a sum of $29 was raised and transmitted and now, upon the suggestion of the Eager brothers a collection was made for the striking miners, the result of which is a check for $25, with the promise that the New Bedford strikers will not be forgotten.

5 MINE DEATHS WERE AVOIDABLE

Reports Show Guilt of Company

(Special to the Daily Worker).

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 12.—The lives of five coal diggers, cutters and loaders who succumbed to deadly gases following an explosion in the non-union Lochrie mine near here, and ten others who were overcome by the fumes were the victims of a condition known to be dangerous to life, it was learned here today.

Rescue teams of miners hurried from nearby mines to help dig the entrapped miners out of the workings. Six of the rescuers were overcome by the gases and rushed to hospitals. The blast occurred 2,800 feet from the drift opening. Four of the nine men working in this section of the mine were miraculously rescued.

One of the survivors said that the mine was known to be gaseous and extremely dangerous. "But," he said with a bitter laugh, "the children must eat, and we've got to take these chances until we have a union to make them pay attention to our lives."

Can Be Avoided.

"In union mines," another miner added, "the fire boss has to 'danger' off the entry to the gas section. Nobody goes in until they get rid of the gas." A better air current, he said, could have avoided the explosion.

Those killed were Steve Parker, Wasil Gendruski, Frank Survinsky, Peter Klenkovich and Ignace Budny.

Within the last six months, approximately one thousand miners were martyred in coal dust and gas explosions in non-union mines. This is constantly in the minds of strikers when the operators make overtures to them to return to pits on an open-shop basis. In many camps, the operators were forced to recognize pit committees. In others, the strikers were holding out until the operators give in to this demand. Although the women and children are eating few meals a week, they are behind their men. They cite instance after instance where miners were killed or seriously injured the first day they returned to open-shop mines.

"Only yesterday Frank Johnson died," a white-haired miner said. "The boy was only 23 years old, too. His skull was fractured over at the Gould mine in a slate fall."

The National Miners' Relief Committee is doing its utmost to force the operators to accede to the miners' demands, by sending enough food to furnish at least one meal a day to the miners' families. Relief committees affiliated with the Pittsburgh headquarters at 611 Penn Ave., are urged to do their utmost to send the maximum within the next few weeks. Sympathizers are urged to make collections in their shops and neighborhoods, to send donations from their union and fraternal society's treasuries. The need was never so acute as it is now, Anthony Minerich, relief secretary says.

CHILDREN SLAVE IN SHANGHAI

Form 13 Percent of Chinese Workers

In Shanghai 13 per cent of the employees in the Chinese factories are children under 12 years of age; in the English factories, 17 per cent, and in the Italian and French factories 46 per cent. These children receive from 5 to 10 cents a day and in some of the smaller factories they work for their food alone, according to statistics given out by the Committee to Aid the Chinese Trade Unions, 96 Fifth Ave., New York City.

In the Chinese factories, whether owned by natives or foreign capital, not only are a large percentage of the workers children, but the mothers are forced to bring their children with them to the factories because they have no place to leave them. The children remain in the factories during the 12 to 16 hour working day. The infants are suspended in hammocks above the machines. Thus in the dirt and noise the children of workers in China are brought up, until at the age of 5 or 6 they begin work beside their parents.

Chinese Unions Suppressed.

The attempts of the Chinese workers to organize against these conditions has been met with persecution and slaughter on every side since Chiang Kai-shek ordered the suppression of labor unions 18 months ago and carried out these orders with the help of the foreign armies in China.

Even women and student organizations are illegal. General Hun Sun-du, the governor of Hupeh, signalized a massacre with an order: "All who attempt to organize the labor unions anew will be regarded as Communist agitators and will be duly executed." In Peking among 21 adults who were executed for being members of the trade unions was a child of ten.

Funds Needed Soon.

The Committee to Aid the Chinese Trade Unions has begun a campaign to raise funds in reply to the appeal sent out by the All China Federation of Labor Unions to the great masses of American people. The members of the committee, which includes Roger Baldwin of the American Civil Liberties Union; Ellen Hayes, professor of English at Wellsley College; Benjamin Thomas of the Central Labor Union of Philadelphia; Scott Nearing, author of "Whither China"; Robert Morss Lovett of the Chicago University, and T. Y. Li, national director of the Chinese Worker-Peasant Alliance and others who are working with the committee plan to get the true facts of what is happening in China before the American people and to raise funds to help the Chinese workers to combat their native and foreign oppressors. Contributions should be sent to the Committee to Aid the Chinese Trade Unions care of the secretary, Robert W. Dunn, Room 314, 96 Fifth Ave., New York City.

TAMMANY WILL 'STUDY' TRANSIT

Prepare to Put Over Complete Steal

From sources close to the city administration it was learned yesterday that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment would appoint a committee to "study" the Untermeyer transit plan when it meets next Thursday as a preliminary move to killing the measure.

As already indicated by the Daily Worker, the mayor will oppose any plan which is not an out and out whose stock he is now believed to be heavily interested. The Tammany politicians further object to the feature of the Untermeyer plan which would remove from their hands a measure of control over the lines. The Untermeyer plan recommends control by a quasi-public corporation on which the mayor would only be one representative.

It is not yet clear whether the whole Untermeyer maneuver was a camouflage in order to prepare for the more complete sell-out or whether a modification of it is intended by the new Tammany tactics.

STARVATION FOR WORKERS IN CONE WHITE OAK MILL

$7 to $11 a Week All They Get

By ESTHER LOWELL

GREENSBORO, N. C., Aug. 12 (FP).—"They don't pay you nothing here," declared an old man who has worked 20 year at the Cone's White Oak mill. "I've heard it's the cheapest payin' place around here."

White Oak is one of the Cone's great denim mills. The Cones claim to produce a third of the country's denims for overalls and other work clothes. They have three large mills in Greensboro and dominate the town. Their welfare work has been well advertised.

"My whole family's a-workin' and with this short time we just can't get along," the man complained as he sat on the porch of his company house. "I'm goin' back to farmin' next year. I raised tobacco before I came to this mill."

Farming for this mill worker means going back as a cropper. "Pay my rent with a third or a half of the crop," he says. And more for tools, seed and fertilizer. He has one lean horse to help him. "Ain't been feedin' her much and workin' her hard on a piece of land out yonder where I got some corn, potaters, tomators, onions and beans. Bean weevils gettin' most of the beans, though."

For 92 cents a week the old mill worker gets his plain board four-room house with electric light and water at a pump he shares with the next neighbor. With him lives his sister, the housekeeper, two sons and two daughters. Another son lives on a nearby mill village street with his wife and child.

The two girls make $7 and $8 a week on fulltime and $4 and $5 now as spoolers. The unmarried working son made $11 in the spinning room. The youngest boy is under 14 and cannot work. The sister is too old for more than occasional work and the old man is only a "spare hand" who gets a day in the mill when someone else stays out. His wife died 10 years ago, worn out from childbearing and mill work.

"Only four days a week work since February and the mill stood for 10 days at 4th of July," says the old man. "They say it'll stand 10 days in August and maybe 10 days every month till Christmas. I don't see how we'll manage. Got an old Ford and we'll try to get to my nephew in Virginia, 150 miles away, I reckon—if the old car holds out." The nephew has a farm and can feed the family while the mill is idle in August.

"My father was a miller," the old man relates. "I was raised on a farm and at his mill, about six miles from here, where the company has its grain mill now. My father wandered all around for 10 years when he was young—to all them furrin countries before he married and settled down. But I ain't ever been far. Came to the mill 20 years ago when the White Oak mill wasn't even finished. Tobacco got so low it was hardly worth taking to market; so I brought my wife and baby here. Been here ever since. But I'm a-goin' back to farmin' next year."

Electrician Killed During Big Storm

Another death as a result of Friday's electrical storm occurred when Michael O'Brien, an electrician, of West New Brighton, S. I., was shocked to death while repairing apparatus put out of commission by the lightning. The storm brought a live wire in contact with his body.

British Workers at Moscow Spartakiad

The national committee of the British Workers' Sport Federation decided at a recent session to participate in the Moscow Spartakiad (August 12th to 22nd) and also to send a football team in the end of August to compete with German working class sportsmen. A number of trial games and contests are being held in various parts of Britain. It was also decided to send the British team to the Soviet Union earlier, so that it could make a tour thru the union prior to the Spartakiad and play a series of matches with Russian working class sportsmen. Apart from footballers the following sportsmen will participate: runners, walkers, cyclists, swimmers and boxers.

CHILD LABOR IN N. Y. STATE RISES

100,000 Under 17 Now in Industry

By LELAND OLDS.

(Federated Press.)

The effectiveness of efforts in New York State to control child labor through legislation is analysed in the June issue of the state Industrial Bulletin. The figures show that since 1920 there has been a downward trend in the employment of children under 16 years of age. But the decline in the amount of child labor is not nearly so great as the decline in the general level of factory employment, so that the proportion of employed children to the total number of wage earners throughout the state may actually have increased.

For 1927 the bulletin shows almost exactly 100,000 children under 17 years of age gainfully employed in New York State. But as certificates for minors between the ages of 16 and 17 years have been required only in the last 2 years, the 75,958 children under 16 years of age employed in that year will serve for comparison with the earlier years. This figure compares with 80,771 in 1923 and 82,761 in 1920.

Between 1923 and 1927 the decrease in the total number of employed children under 16 years of age of whom the state has a record was about 6 per cent. But between 1923 and 1927 the total number of workers employed in factories throughout the state declined more than 12 per cent. Similarly since 1920 the number of child workers has decreased about 8 per cent whereas the number of factory workers in the state has fallen off more than 18 per cent.

Banker Said to Have Stolen Half Million Brought to New York

Cornelius Callahan, who was brought back to New York from Montreal to answer to an indictment for larceny in connection with his alleged theft of half a million dollars from the Bancitaly Corporation, described his speculations as "borrowings" when questioned by Assistant District Attorney Hastings.

He said he took small amounts at first and later larger sums hoping to repay the corporation out of his profits from stock investments.

A score or more of reporters and photographers gathered at the station to meet Callahan when he was brought in today by Detective James McKettrick. The detective spirited him up a freight elevator to the street level and to detective headquarters, thus avoiding the crowd.

BRITISH SEAMEN JAILED WITHOUT A TRIAL IN U. S.

Kept in Prison for Nearly Year

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Two British seamen, Michael Frane and Stanley West told here today how they were imprisoned without charges and kept in the Franklin County Jail, Albans, Vermont for nearly a year.

Induced by the promises of an American business man to give them employment they came ashore without passports and were arrested and thrown into jail without trial. Frane described his experience s as follows:

"We lingered over ten months in almost indescribably dismal conditions. Throughout the whole period I did not leave the single room in which we were kept, together with robbers, bootleggers and the scum of the county. I did not have a single hour's exercise all of the time, nor a single change of underclothing for over five months. Although I had pneumonia and West was even worse off, we were given only bread and a piece of butter the size of a quarter, and a can of green tea holding about a cupful. For that the prison commissioners get $1.50 a day per head."

MERGER COSTS CITY MILLIONS

City Officials Plead Innocence

lic utilities and one of the editors of the National Municipal Review, who has been aiding the city corporation counsel, George P. Nicholson, in what appears to be a camouflaged attempt to prevent the merger, announced yesterday that they had been planning on blocking the proposed merger as a means of forcing the company to reduce its rates. The action of the commission, he intimated, had spoiled all this and had taken from the city its "bargaining power."

Today there will be a conference between Nicholson, his assistant, Judson O. Hyatt, Dr. Bauer and Morris L. Ernst, counsel for the Public Committee on Power, which has been fighting the merger.

In addition to its regular dividends and other profits, the Brooklyn Edison in the first six months of this year stored up reserves and surplus of over $5,000,000, or about $10,000,000 for the year.

Servants of Utilities.

The members of the public service commission are composed of two republicans and three democrats. The head of the commission, Prendergast, was city collector in 1912, when he, Mayor Gaynor, the Board of Estimate and the state legislature were bought up by the traction companies in putting over the dual contracts. Since then he has been instrumental in granting higher fares and rates in practically every city in the state. The democrats, dominated by Al Smith and Lunn, a former socialist, have worked together with the republicans.

Esperanto Group to Fight for Porter

George Saville, secretary of the "Esperaton Laborularo," New York Esperanto workers, and a part of a world-wide organization, states that the society will do everything possible in the fight to free John Porter, strike leader and Communist youth organizer who was sentenced to two and a half years imprisonment by court-martial.

Because of its international connections and press service extending to every country of the world, the support of the Esperanto workers will mean that the case will be brought to the attention of additional millions thruout the world.

A letter was sent to Porter by the "Esperanto Laborularo," informing him of their support.

"LABOR" BANK IS UNDER FIRE

Mismanagement Is Charged

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 12.—With charges of mismanagement, misappropriation of funds and stock juggling against the Atlantic Union Securities Co., the promoters of the Labor Bank in Atlantic City, a group of stockholders are seeking to place the bank in the hands of a receiver.

Vice-Chancellor Ingersoll has issued an order for a hearing in behalf of the Steamfitters' Protective Association and the Typographical Union, Local 377, claiming to be stockholders. The hearing will take place on Tuesday. The majority of the funds in this bank are owned by workers and represents their life savings. John Burke, president of the bank, is business agent of the Iron Workers' Local and president of the Atlantic City Building Trades Council. Among the allegations are that $70,000 was only paid in on $180,000 stock subscriptions issued, and that the present management has dissipated $40,000.

SERB OFFICIALS TO RATIFY PACT WITH FASCISTS

Croatian Peasants Oppose Treaty

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Aug. 12.—With the Croatian opposition absent from the Belgrade parliament and passing its own legislation in Zagreb, the regular Skupschtina sessions have unheld the ministry of Father Korosetz and are prepared to pass the Nettuno pact that gives Mussolini's government special trading rights on the Dalmatian coast.

The Nettuno pact was strongly opposed by the Croatian Peasant Party and as long as their representatives were present it was impossible to pass the treaty. The Croat leaders have charged that the militarists who dominate the Belgrade government are entirely indifferent to the needs of the Croatian peasants, and have agreed on the pact in spite of the disadvantage to the local Croat and Slovens population.

Stefan Raditch, who died last week from wounds received in the Belgrade parliament on June 20, was strongly opposed to the pact and was very severe in his criticism of the fascist government in Italy.

Fascists Gloat Over Death.

ROME, Aug. 12.—Fascist opinion here has rather rejoiced over the death of Stefan Raditch, leader of the Croatian Peasant Party, and many point out that he was the chief enemy in Jugoslavia of the fascist government. His death is being hailed as an opening for an easier understanding between the Belgrade and fascist governments, in the form of the Nettuno pact and the Rome agreement, whose signing is expected soon.

WORLD CONGRESS TELLS OF U. S. MILITARISM

MOSCOW, USSR., (Delayed).—The twentieth session of the World Congress of the Communist International took place on August 3, with Marcel Cachin, of the French Communist Party, as chairman.

Vitkovsky, of the Communist faction in the Red International of Trade Unions, declared that during and after the World War the Amsterdam International worked with the imperialists against the workers and the Soviet Union. Everywhere the Amsterdammers are supporting war preparations and the colonial policy of the bourgeoisie.

Reformists and Fascism.

The speaker further declared that in spite of the anti-fascist phrases a rapproachment is growing between Amsterdam and fascism. The aim of Thomas' Italian journey was to mediate between fascism and Amsterdam. Hence the chief task before us is to expose the hypocritical phrases of the reformists.

The Communists must win the unions. Work in war industries is especially important. The Communists must work to secure different attitude in the unions in the next world war.

During the ensuing discussion, Sikander, of India, declared that the two chief bases of British activities against the Soviet Union are India and Poland. Strong British forces have been concentrated on the Indian frontier. The Indian Communist Party is propagating to defeat the British forces. India is the Achilles heel of British imperialism, hence the Communists must concentrate great attention there.

Krulikovski, of Poland; Carney, of Ireland; Mehring, of the Executive Committee of the Young Communist International; Ferrat, of the Young Communist League of France; Rasa, of India; Bielevski, of Poland, and Cohen, of Great Britain, then spoke.

Carney declared that the Anglo-American workers must pay more attention to work among the Irish workers.

Cohen declared that the theses were not clear enough when referring to work in the mercenary armies. The theses also failed to mention the territorial army which is very important.

Twenty-first Session.

The twenty-first session opened on the fourth of August with Kilboom, of Sweden, as chairman.

Stanisslavski, of Poland; Kolarov, of the Balkans; Pollitt, of Great Britain; Jacquemotte, of Belgium; Limanovski, of Poland; Kilboom, of Sweden; Grube, of Germany; Sultansade, of Persia; Vasilyew, of the Executive Committee of the Communist International; Sirola, of Finland, and Tanaka, of Japan, addressed the Congress.

Kolarov declared that the war danger is great in the Balkans as Great Britain is striving, with some success, to organize a bloc there against the Soviet Union.

The Italo-Jugoslav conflict also threatens war. The Balkan parties must concentrate more on the war danger, the speaker asserted.

Pollitt declared that most of the Communist Parties underestimate the role of the working women in war. As a result of the neglect by the parties many women are war haters, joining bourgeois pacifist anti-war organizations. The Communist Parties must pay more attention to women's work, particularly as many women are engaged in war industries. Anti-war propaganda is the best way of winning the women.

Twenty-second Session.

The twenty-second session opened on the afternoon of the fourth of August under the chairmanship of Kilboom.

The speakers were Ramirez, of South America; Gonzales, of South America; Paris of Germany; Dunne, of the United States; Franchon, of France; Hakon, of Czecho-Slovakia; Strachov, of China; Bittlemann, of the United States; Miskievitch-Kapsukas, of Lithuania; Nicolau, of Greece; Haidar, of Palestine; Lijuang, of China; Wolfe, of the United States; Dombal, of the Communist fraction of the Peasant International; Hermansen, of Norway, and Ilinin, of Indoesia.

Ramirez declared that the United States is forcing Great Britain out of Latin-America. Many of the countries are dependent politically and economically on the United States. The Panama Canal plays a great role in the war danger.

Gonzales stated that the Anglo-American struggle for dominance in Latin-America is intensifying. The national bourgeoisies are working with the imperialists. The Pan-American Federation of Labor is supporting the imperialists.

Dunne's Speech.

Dunne declared that the resistance of the working masses against war must receive broader support than in the last war. The chief task of the Communist Parties must be to mobilize the masses against war. With the correct policy, the American Party will succeed in bringing the masses into action. "The policy of the Central Committee of the American Party in the Nicaraguan war has been false," the speaker said, "as is shown by the Central Committee's appeal. The theoretical analysis of the war danger is insufficient. The Party must convince the workers by practical work that American imperialism is striving to lead them into a new war."

Bittelmann declared that Lovestone made an opportunist error in his analysis because, while seeing the advance of American imperialism, he failed to appreciate the strength of the growing working class movement, the colonial revolution and the Soviet Union. The American Party must conduct the fight against American imperialism, together with the Latin-American Parties.

Wolfe Speaks.

Wolfe, of the United States, regretted that the opposition in the Workers Party took advantage of the war danger discussion in order to attack the Central Committee of the American Party. The anti-military work of the American Party, which had proved tiself a leader in the struggle against war, is the best answer to such attacks. The struggle against war is now the most important task before all the Communist Parties.

The anti-war work among the masses must be increased, the transformation to illegality prepared for the fight against the reformists and reactionary trade union bureaucracy intensified. The Workers Party has conducted important actions on behalf of China, the Soviet Union, and against the Nicaraguan war. The anti-Trotzky campaign was also aimed at destroying slanders against the Soviet Union.

The Party's electoral campaign is being conducted in a spirit of a struggle against war and for the defense of the Soviet Union. The American Party aims at defeating the bourgeoisie decisively in case of war.

BRAZIL SEAMEN TO BE UNITED IN ASSOCIATION

Communists Take Lead

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, August 12.—There are about 16,000 workers employed in the Brazilian mercantile marine and about 17,000 more are working as stevedores and port laborers. Of these 33,000 only about 12,000 are loosely organized in a number of separate and unaffiliated unions, divided by locality and craft divisions.

Thus in Rio de Janeiro alone are the trade unions of the Naval Carpenters, Stokers' Union, Maritime Motormen, Seamen's and Helpers' Unions, Stevedores' Union, etc. Similar unions are also in the interior Amazon ports and in other Atlantic ports, in Pernambuco, Recife, etc., without being federated among themselves.

One of the largest of these single unions, which counts among its members a large number of Communists, I. W. W.s and anarcho-syndicalists, is the "Asociacion de Marineros y Remeros de Brazil" (Association of Sailors and Boatmen of Brazil), changed its statutes so as to make the organization and industrial union, able to absorb all maritime workers. The organization started an energetic propaganda, and received a considerable number of adhesions from independent unions.

There is no nation-wide trade union organization in Brazil at present and this federation may give the basis for further unification of the Brazilian proletariat.

their rows of company owned houses, the church, company-controlled, and the company stores, all centered around the mines, coal and iron police, licensed by the state but paid and hired by the company, paroling the streets, are the background.

seethes with a tremendous wave of indignation against the police and their allies, the church. Condemnation by a Portuguese speaker of the close cooperation between the church, police and the mill bosses at a strikers' meeting later was received with enthusiastic approval.

Gitlow Speaks.

Ben Gitlow, candidate for vice-president on the ticket of the Workers (Communist) Party was the main speaker at this meeting which was held on Liberty Lot in the evening.

After reviewing the bitter persecution of the workers that day, Gitlow spoke of the larger implications of the struggle of the working class. He pointed out the workers' weakness in the fight with the bosses if they do not act as an organized mass.

Gitlow flayed the mill bosses for their hypocritical statements that the outside radicals were fomenting trouble in the peaceful community. He showed that the strikes now in progress were caused not by "outsiders" by by the unbearable conditions forced upon the textile workers.

FEARS STRIKES IN MANCHURIA

Communism Threatens Japanese Interests

TOKIO, Aug. 12.—Government officials here have declared that their interests in Manchuria are threatened by the growth of radicalism and Communism, which, they say, will spread to Korea and to Japan itself if allowed to grow. The officials also cite many instances in which the government has found it difficult to suppress Communist activities in Japan.

Premier Tanaka is reported to be preparing a statement on the Manchuria situation in which he is expected to point out that Japanese interests are threatened by internal disorders and possibility for strikes on the railways and in the mines. Troops are reported to be held in readiness to reinforce the troops already in Manchuria.

Militarization Expected.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 12.—Manchurian situation, watched so anxiously here, is expected to be complicated shortly by the seizure of the Peking-Mukden railroad by Japanese troops, and surprise was expressed that it had not already been done.

It is also thought here to be quite evident that should the Manchurian war lord, Chang Hseuh-liang, refuse to follow the dictates of the Japanese government the latter is ready to take military action.

STREET FIGHTS RAGE DESPITE POLICE ATTACKS

Six Killed Following Galmot's Burial

PARIS, Aug. 12.—A squadron of French marines and gendarmes are on their way to Cayenne, French Guiena, to help the local police and military forces suppress the uprising which followed the recent elections and death of former Deputy Jean Galmot, it was announced here today.

Since Galmot's death on August 6, six people have been killed in street fighting and a battle is reported to be raging in the Guiana city. Galmot, it is charged, was poisoned by political opponents. He was the representative of the French government in Guiana to the chamber of deputies in Paris until he lost his seat, due to his complicity, it is alleged, in a rum plot.

The unrest began on the day of Galmot's funeral, and strong measures have been used by the French authorities to suppress the uprising.

Ask yourself again: HOW CAN THE POLITICIANS GET AWAY WITH SUCH BRAZEN BUNKUM? WHAT CAN BE DONE ABOUT IT?

• • • • •

Above is a map of Central America showing one of the reasons for the U. S. occupation of Nicaragua and the suggested route for a canal across the country.

Thousands of Nicaraguans have been murdered in the fight, not to speak of the hundreds of invading U. S. marines killed and wounded by the Nicaraguans in defense of their homes in spite of the invaders' superior equipment. Yet the politicians speak of "peace."

Say to the workers whom you meet: The United States imperialists are making criminal war on Nicaragua to enslave the workers and farmers of that country and to build another canal for further war puposes.

Hoover said that every nation in the world wants peace. But we know that they are all fractically preparing for war.

The DAILY WORKER tears the mask from these liars.

The DAILY WORKER is the only paper which really fights against the war danger.

The DAILY WORKER is the only paper which shows how to end the two chief marks of capitalist civilization, poverty and war.

When you pass out a DAILY WORKER you are firing a gun in the great battle of the working class. You are helping to train a soldier for the great militia of the proletaria.

HANDOUTS

Two hundred and fifty thousand hand picked snobs, sons and daughters of the rich, will enter what are referred to as higher institutions of learning this fall, according to the computation of the U. S. Bureau of Education. A great many more sons and daughters of the poor will be entering factories at the same time. But with the kind of dope being handed out in the colleges these days the less college a man has the more educated he is.

Partners blame each other for the condition of their feet and end up not speaking, but they have to stick together for business reasons. SLASH WAGES BY THREE QUARTER HOUR TIME FRAUD

Officials Know Nothing of It, Absolutely Not

(By a Worker Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA (By Mail).—Philadelphia Storage Battery Company has set up a short-change artist, and is now working a devilish cut racket among its employes. By means of it a state statute forbidding women workers from being exploited for more than eight hours per day is hood-winked and, at the same time the pay envelope of each woman worker is rifled of a half day's wages each week.

The fraud is accomplished by making factory girls put in eight and three-quarter hours, but not counting the fraction in the paymaster's department, so that when a state examiner comes to look over the rolls, all, to outward seeming, is well.

Naturally enough, the company bigwigs flatly deny any knowledge of the graft, were they to be questioned about it. There are the books to show that the women are being paid at an hourly rate for eight hours of work. If they are so bewitched by their work that they can't bear to wrench themselves away from it before getting in an extra hour or so, that is not our look-out. So the bosses say.

But here are the facts: They begin the grind at 7:15 a. m. and are unchained at 4:45 p. m., having three-quarters of an hour for lunch. No rest periods are allowed them by the foreman, for the speed-up here will not brook any let-up in any serf, male or female, during the work day. Well?

Of late the Philco, as it is called, has gone in heavily for radio parts. Little by little the gangs of unskilled men at first used in this work are being forced out to make place for girls and women, who, of course, are given a lower wage for the identical work. When hired they are given to understand that they will be paid an hourly rate, dependent on production, with a sliding group bonus thrown in for good measure—in some cases. Nothing is said, however, about the extra time for which nothing will be paid. Probably the bosses think that the four extra hours they force them to work is a tribute to their philanthropy.

A shop warden was approached recently by a new hand who had found a disagreement between the contents of her first pay-pouch and her record of hours worked. The whip passed it over with this rationalization: "Well, you girls spend at least three-quarters of an hour every day powdering your noses, the company can't foot the bill for your beauty treatments."

As a matter of fact, if a woman took out that amount of time for recesses the law "provides" her with, she would be canned without ado. This was proven conclusively recently when two young women were fired for singing a few bars of a popular song. They had dared to look up from their work bench.

How much the rake-off brought in by the short-change racket amounts to, an outsider cannot say, except to guess it must do the girls out of much and necessary money.

The average weekly pay for radio part workers (females) is $12. But, not satisfied with giving them "coolie pay," the Philadelphia Storage Battery Company unlawfully forces them to work overtime, and then cheats them out of the profits of that overtime. And, meanwhile, there hangs in the employment office a tastefully framed copy of the state statute dealing with such cases, its glass cover reflecting the purple nose of the slave agent.

Hungry Miners' Children at Food Kitchen

Photo shows hungry miners' children receiving a meal in a food kitchen run by the National Mine Relief Committee. Miners' children often faint in school because of under-nourishment. Starvation looms for hundreds of thousands of miners and their families if the workers of the United States do not rush aid at once.

WORKER TELLS STORY OF SLAVERY IN PERU

LIMA, Peru. (By Mail).—The domination of Peru and other Latin and South American countries by United States capitalists has led to most miserable conditions for native workmen that amounts virtually to a state of peonage.

A strict censorship has prevented any news that attempts to describe the actual condition of affairs from leaving the country. Every attempt to form a union, or even express demands is immediately discovered by spies and suppressed. What labor organizations do exist here are company unions, controlled and subjugated by company officials.

To enforce the will and glutonous exploitation of the American capitalists the United States government keeps two or three battleships in every port where either copper or refining companies have their plants.

Workers in Barracks.

At Callao an American copper company, with offices at 26 Broadway, New York City, dominates and exploits the whole population. The workers in its mines are separated from the town and live in crude, wooden barracks that are constructed by the company, where they are forced to remain. The barracks are built on poles over muddy land and offer inadequate protection from rain and wind. Epidemics often break out here taking a toll of hundreds—but these can always be replaced by more native labor which would rather accept this prison hole than starvation.

The copper miners at Callao work for five pesos per day, equivalent to fifty cents in American money. For this pittance they dig copper from eleven to fourteen hours per day, and if ordered, work overtime without pay. Besides their "salary" they are supposed to be fed by the company. "Food" consists of muddy water called soup with some rotten potatoes in it as the main dish. They are even offered a few relishes sometimes in the form of something that the company chooses to call coffee, rice and cake.

Yellow Dogs Watch.

The workers themselves look as though they had just been through a tremendous beating or through the cog-wheels of the machines that separate the copper. Their feet are swollen beyond recognition, their backs stooped, their hands all chopped up.

Around the mines and the barracks the company police imported from the United States keep a strict watch. They are armed and present a formidable appearance to any dissatisfied worker. If there is too much interest in a conversation, too many workers gathered at one time, if a stranger tries to speak to them, the yellow dogs perform their duty. The workers cannot help but be submissive—with the company ready to call upon the battleships not so very far away.

The condition of the workers who load the copper ore are still worse. They receive three pesos per day, and the same "food" as the others. They, too, must live in barracks—if there is room for them. And if there is no room the company will allow them to sleep in old hulks which it has found lying about in the harbor.

Control Workers' Lines.

About the same conditions exist in Malliando, where the same copper company has a mine. In Tocopilla there are both British and American copper and oil refining companies, and both seem to be in competition as to who can be the cruelest master.

At Paita the International Petroleum Company holds complete sway over the lives of the workers and their families. It keeps its employes in shacks completely isolated from the rest of the town. It is a pitiful experience to come into this harbor on board a ship. The first thing that strikes the eye is the smoked-up plant of the company dominating all like a huge incubous and casting a formidable shadow over the shacks of the workers. No one is allowed to land. Women and children come out to meet the ships selling trinkets and begging for a piece of bread or some old clothes. They would do almost anything for a piece of butter or to get a shirt, no matter how old, for their husband. The stevedores on the docks beg for a bite to eat.

If anybody from the ship tries to talk to the women or to the workers for any period of time they are immediately told to move along either by a policeman or a plain-clothes man.

Says U. S. President Can Easily Go Into War

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 12 (UP).—The president of the United States—through expansion of executive powers to recent years—could easily plunge the nation into war by his power to provoke an act of war, Professor Edwin M. Borchard of Yale University told the Institute of Politics Friday at round table discussion.

"Presidential practice in recent years has resulted in expansion of chief executive powers," Borchard said. "By ordering the landing of marines in foreign countries, he could effectually create a situation from which it might be extremely difficult for congress to withdraw, unless it chose to repudiate the president."

Professor Borchard said "the world will justify assumption by the United States of a decree of control necessary to keep order in Nicaragua because of special interests which we have there."

MUST ORGANIZE PHILADELPHIA GARMENT TRADE

Blumberg, Weinstone, Morriconi Must Go

(By a Worker Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA (By Mail).—The officialdom of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers in this city, now under the rule of Mr. Blumberg, opposes a militant policy to organize the clothing workers of Philadelphia.

Dominick Flaiani, a militant fighter among the clothing workers of this city, was recently removed from the organizers' staff for having presented a militant policy to organize the Philadelphia clothing workers. Flaiani, in presenting his policy, which is the policy of the militant workers in the Amalgamated, exposed the Blumbergs, the Licastros and the rest of the organizers sent in by the General Executive Board here at high salary with the intention not to organize Philadelphia but to demoralize the clothing workers of this city.

The present leadership of the Amalgamated has nothing to give to the workers, has no policy to organize the unorganized workers, has no policy to better the conditions of the clothing workers here and elsewhere.

The settlement that the union has made with the Baroff shop in the last two days in no way battered the conditions of the workers of this particular shop. These workers were forced to go back to work on the same conditions that they came out. The only one that made the gain is Blumberg, who will be able to collect dues to reduce the standard of living of these workers.

The reasons why Flaiani was removed from the organizers' staff of the Amalgamated is because he is a militant fighter and wanted to better the conditions of the worgers, because he proposed that the union must fight for a 25 per cent increase for the Philadelphia clothing workers, because he called for abolition of piece-work, for 40 hours a week, etc., because he opposed the kind of agreement that Blumberg and Weinstein made with the Baroff contractor.

The workers, the clothing workers of Philadelphia, have no confidence in the present leadership of the Amalgamated, and these workers must organize under the leadership of the left wing in the union by joining the Trade Union Educational League and fight on until the Amalgamated is rid of the Hillmans, Blumbergs, Morriconis, the Licastros and the rest of the corrupt parisites that we have now as the "leadership" of the Amalgamated.

The officialdom of the Amalgamated has no intention of organizing the Philadelphia clothing market. It is up to the rank and file of the union to take to its hands the organization and rid itself of Weinstein and the rest of the misleaders.

The Philadelphia clothing workers must organize into a committee and lead a campaign organization to organize Philadelphia.

The Philadelphia militant clothing workers must unite to organize Philadelphia. The clothing workers, organized and unorganized, say openly today: "Blumberg must go, Weinstein must go, Morriconi must go, the corrupt London must go, and the rest of the misleaders of the Philadelphia Amalgamated must go."

FLAIANI FLAYS MILITARY CAMPS IN COURT ROOM

Arrested at Open-Air Meeting

(By a Worker Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA (By Mail).—Capitalist justice has again showed its color in the capitalist court here. Domenick Flaiani, young militant trade union leader of this city, was held in $800 bail together with Epstein by Magistrate Roberts at the hearing in the 19th and Oxford Police Station, for the grand jury.

Flaiani was arrested July 28th when he was addressing about 200 workers at 29th and Cumberland Sts., at an open-air meeting arranged by the Young Workers (Communist) League.

The veterans of foreign wars had their lawyer, Jay C. Bossard, to prosecute Flaiani and Epstein demanding their conviction or eviction.

A few fascist reactionary members of the veterans of foreign wars came to the court to testify against Flaiani. Francis Ward, a fascist member of the veterans testified he heard Flaiani call Herbert Hoover a millionaire republican nominee for presidency a "capitalist" and he, Ward, heard also that Flaiani stated that "Hoover represents Wall Street, the capitalists, the bankers of this country and not the workers." This fascist stated that Flaiani spoke "disrespectfully" of the strike-breaker president, Cal Cool Coolidge.

Another fascist took the stand to testify against Flaiani and he said that Flaiani attacked bitterly the Citizens' Military Training Camps saying that "the bosses of this country are militarizing the young workers of this country for the coming war that the capitalists are preparing."

The veterans of foreign wars are very actively working to railroad Flaiani and Epstein into jail. The judge, Roberts, stated that any Communist that will try to speak in his division and come before him will not receive any mercy but will be sent to jail.

The Young Workers (Communist) League as well as the Workers (Communist) Party will continue to have open-air meetings in Judge Roberts' division.

The workers of the section where Flaiani was arrested are aware of the actvities of the fascist legionnaire veterans of foreign wars and they despise them. The workers will vote for the Communist ticket in that section and not for anyone ticket who do not represent the working class, as a protest against the activities of the veterans of the foreign wars and the rest of the capitalists and capitalist agencies.

Russian Films Cast Magic Spell in Europe and America

"Personally I never liked the motion picture, partly because it is a mechanical art dangerous for eyes and normal mental functions; partly because it never had any artistic or dramatic content, nor any cultural meaning. But I changed my attitude after seeing the Soviet film and I began to ask myself: what was the secret of its unexpected appeal? What gives to the Soviet film its intrinsic power of curiosity—arousing novelty?

"In order to answer these questions I undertook a thoro study of the new Russian motion picture from its every angle. I found the Soviet film is more a product of talented amateurs and spontaneous troubadours than of professional technicians and artificial stars. With a small exception, the best cinema are of the Soviets is created by a group of racial directors, technicians, actors and intelligentsia, which gives it all the natural freshness and simplicity found in folk arts. Whereas most of our or West European films are produced in elaborate studios, with elaborate mechanical equipments, stupendous artificial structures of castles, palaces and so on, those of the Soviets' Goskinos and private companies are produced in natural surroundings with all the atmosphere and make-up of actuality. Whether the scene is cast in a palace, in a town or in the country, in the north or in the tropics, it is acted in those surroundings, and in most cases with all the characters described in the scenario enlisted from the true racial stock.

II.

THE Soviet film tries to maintain the principle used by the classic Russian ballet for more than a century, the principle of naturalistic realism of episodes true to life. In this respect the picture keeps a natural tempo and normal dramatic continuity and is not overcrowded with artificial scenes or driven at the mad speed of the usual Hollywood productions, a speed which finally becomes detrimental, not only to the eye, but more so to the brain.

High-Speed Film Condemned.

"Dr. Pavlov and Freud have condemned the high-speed American film because of its abnormal pace and tempo. The claim it causes increasing social morony and incapacity of thinking.

"'The effect of high-speed modern motion pictures is the cause of the ultimate downfall of our occidental mind,' writes Professor Kirchoff in criticizing the film. 'It acts like a narcotic on the minds of constant onlookers and thus leads to a kind of deterioration of normal mental function.'

"This is exactly what the Soviet film has perhaps instinctively avoided.

"The most significant feature of the Soviet film is its sincere dramatic appeal. This appeal is made without recourse to artificial tricks or any effort to please a special kind of public. Money-making is not its aim.

"'Like the drama and the ballet, the motion picture is a medium of cultural evolution and should not be made a plain and brutal business proposition, as it is the cause with some producers of American and West European films,' says Anatoly Lunacharsky, the Soviet Commisar of Fine Arts.

"A rather heated controversy is at present taking place among cinema workers of Russia. One group tries to produce pictures to please the sensuous or other convential branch of the public—like some of our own films in America. Another group advocates keeping of the pure artistic-cultural ideals of the founders of all revolutions. One writer in a Russian cinema magazine says:

"'Shall our motion picture be a purely commercial proposition, like that of America and Western Europe, run on the principle of 'what the public wants?' or shall it be a clear-cut cultural undertaking, conducted with an idealogiical aim in view?

"'Shall we sell our souls and bodies to the biggest bidders and produce pictures to make money, or shall we produce outspoken kulturfilms?'

"A recent conference held by leaders of the Russian revolution decided that, like the Russian stage, music, the ballet and literature, the Russian film should keep to the highest ideals of art and life, irrespective of profit. In fact it was pointed out that no great works of art, for the stage or otherwise, were ever commercial successes and that the usual occidental view of 'giving the public what it wanted' was all bosh.

"Lately the different nationalistic state film companies of Russia have begun to produce typically juvenile pictures, and pictures with an outspoken rural appeal. It is remarkable that in all phases of motion picture production the Russian is not interested in technical intricacies or in novel effects, but rather in vital socialogical and psychological truths which are clearly reflected in Slavonic pictures, no matter what they portray. Nearly all the recent Soviet pictures carry a certain message, even if their execution drags on occasion or the staging is defective.

Four more so-called "chicken pirates" are to be arranged before United States Commissioner O'Neill today. They are charged nominally with conspiracy under the Sherman anti-trust law but actually known to have been connected with the poultry chamber of commerce extortion scheme over the retail trade.

"Tootsie" Herbert, labor leader, and head of a truck drivers' union, who is said to have earned over $4,000 a week as chief gang leader for the bosses; Joseph Wiener and Sidney Rosenstein have already been arraigned.

The new men are Charles Herbert, brother of "Tootsie"; Carl Firestone, David Kaufman, secretary of the teamsters' union; Julius Rosenstein and an Irishman, who, for the present, is unnamed.

The gang, led by the labor fakers and operating under the direction of the big wholesalers, forced the city retail poultry dealers to deal only with specified firms and to pay exorbitant prices set for them. Hundreds of thousands of dollars a year was thus extorted from them.

HAT FINISHERS WIN IN WALKOUT

Protested Conditions in Shops

The 30 finishers of the Perfect Hat Company yesterday won an agreement from their bosses of the Perfect Hat Company, 303 Mercer St. The finishers, members of Local No. 8 of the United Hatters of North America, walked out in protest of conditions imposed on them by the bosses.

The agreement provides that all hats bought in the future should be less hairy so that it should be easier for the workers to finish. It further provides that all the hairy hats which are at present in the shop should be returned to the hat bodies manufacturers to be "pounced" by machine.

The finishers walked out on Wednesday as a protest against the refusal of the boss to grant their demand of buying hats which were hard to "pounce."

MILL PICKETING BAN IS DEFIED

Workers to Challenge Police Order Today

city hall, the bosses police were doing their utmost to break the strike by prohibiting all picket lines.

Will Continue Picketing.

"The New Bedford Textile Workers Union will continue to picket the mills in spite of the police terrorism and we intend to have a showdown with the mill controlled police who take their orders from John Sullivan and his colleagues. Our answer to the police is: Mass picketing on a bigger scale than ever before!"

The arrest of Elizabeth Donnelley, childrens' organizer, in the park and the breaking up of a gathering of strikers children will be met by the union by the continuance of our activities among the strikers children. The public parks are supposed to be for all the children of the city and there is no reason why the children of the strikers should be barred and driven out. Is the park public property or is it the property of the mill owners? The drive against the strikers children is further proof that Mayor Ashely and Chief of Police McLeod are carrying out the orders given them by the mill owners who are using every means possible to browbeat the striking workers.

Jacksonville scale and demanding the resignation of Fishwick and the state scale committee. The Pocohontas local adopted a resolution calling upon the miners to strike against the wage cut and to discontinue paying dues to the Lewis-Fishwick machine. These are typical of the resolutions adopted by numerous locals in Southern and Central Illinois.

Basis for New Union.

These reports leave no doubt that the National Convention will be a real success, laying a firm basis for the new miners' union, provided the National Arrangements Committee will have sufficient funds at its disposal to bring the delegates from the various mining fields to Pittsburgh. The bulk of the miners in what has been known as the union fields are still unemployed and cannot raise the necessary funds. The National Arrangements Committee has appealed to all progressive workers to make contributions and to use the collection and certificate lists to raise funds among their fellow-workers and forward them, without delay, to the National Miners' Convention Arrangements Committee, 119 Federal St., Room 411, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Big Meetings.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12.—Anthony Minerich, of the National Arrangements Committee, addressed a large mass meeting of mine workers at Christopher, Illinois, Thursday, Aug. 2. Sub-district Secretary Lowden was present at the meeting but kept his peace. On August 5 a sub-district conference was held at Harrisburg, followed by a large mass meeting in the ball park, which was addressed by John J. Watt, Anthony Minerich, Dan Slinger, progressive secretary-treasurer of District 12, and J. J. McGuinn, president of the Eldorado Local Union. McGuinn who is well-known throughout Illinois, flayed the Lewis machine unmercifully for its betrayal of the miners. He ridiculed Lewis' statement in the last issue of his journal that the Jacksonville scale was abandoned because "the save-the-union supporters had all gone back to scabbing in Pennsylvania and Ohio." "Do not forget, boys," McGuinn said, "just a short time ago they told the world that it was the Southern Illinois miners who made them change their policy."

Welcomed Everywhere.

On Monday, August 6, Anthony Minerich spoke at Pocohontas and Watt at Orient, No. 1. Tuesday, August 7, a conference was held at Buckner, and Anthony Minerich spoke at the meeting of the Livingston local union, where he was given a great reception by the membership, despite the presence of Board Member Walter Koch. The membership here is determined to fight against a wage cut and will stop paying dues to the Lewis-Fishwick machine. On Wednesday a sub-district conference was held at West Frankford, followed by a large mass meeting, which was addressed by Watt, Minerich and McGuinn.

Two large mass meetings were scheduled for Sunday at Benld and Springfield. Watt and Minerich addressed both meetings.

A report of Mother E. R. Bloor, organizer for Indiana and Western Kentucky, speaks of successful mass meetings held in both of these states and of a number of local unions organized in Kentucky.

A letter received from Henrietta, Oklahoma, reports that the miners of the Henrietta coal fields, where they have ben forced to work under the 1917 scale since quite some time ago, are extremely bitter against the Lewis machine and have received with enthusiasm the news of the new union being organized. In every mining camp in this field the distribution of the call for the National Miners' Convention has instilled new hope in the miners, and organizations are being formed which will serve as a basis for the new local unions.

There can be no doubt that all of these districts, as well as the other mining fields, will have large delegations to the National Miners' Convention to be held in Pittsburgh September 9-16.

tion of President Coolidge that the signing of the Kellogg pact would not affect the armies and navies of any of the powers, and the additional assurance of the British-French naval pact, has lead many of the government officials here to express their approval of the pacts.

Since the naval pact will allow France to develop small submarines in unlimited numbers, and since the land armaments will not be interfered with as guaranteed by the naval pact and Coolidge, the French government has nothing to lose in signing the pact, and indeed has much to gain in the development of its army and navy.

Reports that Stressmann, German's foreign minister, would not come to Paris for the signing of the pact because of the continued occupation of the Rhineland by French troops, have been denied. The Belgian, German, English and American governments have already accepted the invitation.

wind of the collection they notified the police and offered their assistance, by pointing out to the detectives those they wanted arrested.

From the accounts of the workers, it is evident that the Kuomintang had much to do with the arrests. The detectives who jailed the first group did not seem to know what it was all about, except that they were arresting "Communists" and "Bolsheviks." At the police station they were entirely at a loss to know on what charges they had arrested the workers and only declared the charge after the police lieutenant had coaxed them.

Questioned About Bolshevism.

At the station the police questioned the workers and wanted to know if they were "Bolsheviks." They also wanted to know if the collectors were being paid for their work, it being entirely incomprehensible to them apparently that anyone should want to collect money for Chinese workers for nothing. When asked if they were being paid, one of the arrested workers said, "Yes, by being arrested."

That preparation had been made in advance to break up the collection for the Chinese trade unionists is also evidenced by the fact that the police had refused to grant a permit to the committee to hold an open-air meeting the same afternoon.

The International Army of Sandino

Gustavo Machado, of the Hands Off Nicaragua Committee, upon his return from Sandino's army made a statement in "El Machete" organ of the Mexican Communist Party, to the effect that Sandino's army was made up of fighters from all Latin American countries. The American bourgeois press has pointed to this statement as a justification for the maintenance of American marines in Nicaragua. Machado's statement proves that the cause defended by the army under Sandino is not only liberty for Nicaragua but the liberty of all Latin America.

The New York Herald-Tribune writes an editorial to prove that if Sandino's army is not made up of Nicaraguans only then its composition is of "bandits"—such elements from all parts of Latin America who could not find means of sustenance in their own countries—have gone to Nicaragua, enlisted in Sandino's army and are preventing the United States from establishing peace there. The Tribune adds that this fact more and more justifies the presence of American marines—because they not only guarantee peace to Nicaragua but prevent that "poor country" from becoming a center of looting.

Such arguments may "convince" some smug bourgeois readers of the Herald-Tribune. On the other hand, however, the "invincible" marines after more than a year of fighting have been unable to subdue Sandino and his troops. If his group were really made up of a few bandits it would have been easy to wipe them out in less than two months. There are over 6,000 American marines in Nicaragua now and Sandino's forces grow stronger day by day—because they make excellent use of the modern war machines captured from the marines.

If it is true that the Nicaraguan people have repudiated Sandino, how is it then that he has been able to sustain his troops for over a year?

The imperialist press of the United States is unwilling to write the truth, to admit the defeat of the enormous power of the United States at the hands of a group of "bandits," facing 6,000 marines. This state of affairs would be impossible unless Sandino's army had the aid of the Nicaraguan people. It is significant to note that whatever losses Sandino sustains are at once filled by applicants from all parts of Latin America. Sandino's soldiers know that they are not alone, that back of them are the conscious workers and peasants of all of Latin America.

The heroic Nicaraguan army may be defeated, but only by the indifference of the proletariat of the United States, fooled by their yellow leaders. However, the struggle will be repeated many times, and American imperialism, in spite of its agents like William Green and Co., in spite of its lackeys as presidents of the Latin American Republics, will be defeated.

The fact that soldiers from all parts of Latin America are fighting in Sandino's army, proving the solidarity of workers and peasants all through Latin America against United States imperialist aggression, should inspire us with confidence in an ultimate victory—and it should convince us that our place is by the side of these fighters. Their struggle is not merely against Moncada and the other Nicaraguan traitors, but against the Wall Street capitalists who have sent the marines. We cannot be conscientious fighters if we remain with our arms crossed in the present struggle. Their struggle is a phase of the same struggle in which we are participating in all lands. Our miners, our textile workers, etc., will win nothing if they do not relate their struggle with the struggle of their brothers in Latin America. We must begin to understand the close relationship between the struggle for independence in the colonial and semi-colonial countries and our own emancipation. The liberation of these countries is part of our own emancipation.

If the army under Sandino is of international, then let us rejoice at this splendid omen of an awakening of the Latin-American masses. But it is not enough! The international solidarity must extend to the United States. The workers of this land of Wall Street also must participate. Two U. S. marines already have shown us a splendid example in going over to join Sandino's army. The army under Sandino needs men, needs money for arms—we can't expect them to take all their weapons away from the marines—and they need medical and other supplies.

We must lead the workers and exploited farmers of the United States to fight against the sending of more invaders to Nicaragua.

The fight of the heroic Sandinista army is our fight, too.

For Mussolini—and Al Smith.

> "Many of the leaders of the Fascists in this country were primarily, Italian military men who came over to this country in order to spread the gospel of Fascismo in its more refined aspects. Italians born in this country and (who) are of a military age, can and do join this Fascism. They are for the most part Italians who still retain the inborn instincts and love for their mother country but who are glad to live (under) and entirely willing to salute the American flag."—Fascist Herald (N. Y.)

The Fascist Herald, which boasts of being the only fascist newspaper published in the English language, carried the above in its second issue. And in the same issue it carries in big type across the full width of its editorial page:

> "Vote for Alfred E. Smith for President. Endorsed by the American Fascist Association."

It would be a mistake to draw from this, after the fashion of an empty-headed Heflin or John Roach Straton, any conclusions affirming "the anti-Americanism of Al Smith"—nor do we mean to prove any "anti-Americanism" on the part of Mussolini's boot-licks in this country.

On the contrary. There is nothing more "American" in the accepted Wall Street sense, than Al Smith, not anything more "American" than Fascism. Nor is Al's religion "un-American to Wall Street. In the imperialist sense, it is not so much that Smith is affiliated to Rome as that the Roman church is affiliated to the prospective Wall Street president. To be president of the Wall Street empire would be to be bigger than the pope, and it is a simple principle of mechanics that the tail cannot wag the dog. The pope can help Wall Street in the conquest of Latin America through the "moral effect" of its connection with Al. And we certainly make no criticism of Italian workers who refuse to wallow in the "Americanism" that is offered them by Wall Street government.

The point made by the above two quotations from the Fascist organ in the United States of Mussolini's blood regime is the perfect consistency of Fascist support of Al Smith.

Smith is called a "liberal." Well, we tell you that Raskob and Woodin and Pierre du Pont know that Smith is as good a servant as they could find for doing in America the equivalent of the work that Mussolini does in Italy. That means destroying the labor movement (to the extent of his ability), putting over the working class a regime of blood and iron, military threats and conquest of weaker peoples for imperialism, and the building of a huge military machine for general imperialist war.

So the miserable Fascist organization is doing well in annointing Smith with the Fascist holy oil from the native castor bean. But the Italian workers in América can surely learn something from this! Is there an intelligent Italian worker who cannot see the blood of his murdered brothers in Italy not only on the hands of Mussolini but equally upon the hands of the capitalist politicians endorsed by Fascismo in the United States?

Italian workers, join the Workers (Communist) Party and fight Fascismo!
Vote Communist.

The Democratic Bubble Bursts

With Millionaire Raskob as Smith Manager, Workers Get Wiser

By REBECCA GRECHT.

The illusion that the democratic party represents the "plain people," as opposed to the money power and trusts, who find their political expression in the republican party—an illusion which still has sway over the minds of millions of workers—has received a heavy blow since the national conventions of the capitalistic parties.

Alfred E. Smith, democratic candidate for the presidency, so-called "friend of the people," enemy of the trusts, and guardian of the "public interests," selects as his campaign manager and chairman of the democratic national committee John J. Raskob, vice president and director of General Motors, and at the time of his appointment chairman of the finance committee of General Motors, thus directly associated with J. P. Morgan, ruler of American finance capital. Raskob is also a heavy stockholder in the United States Steel Corporation, of which Morgan is the head.

In 1924, Raskob supported the republican, Coolidge; in 1928, Raskob becomes the campaign manager for the democrat, Smith. A member of the ultra-republican Union League Club of Philadelphia, Raskob bocemes also, by special election, a member of the National Democratic Club. He is now a good republican and a good democrat. In other words—a good representative of Morgan and Wall Street.

Thus Smith, the "workers' friend," places his campaign in the hands of a capitalist who dominates one of the most powerful open-shop, anti-labor, billion-dollar corporations in the United States—General Motors, subsidiary of the House of Morgan.

Interchangeable Parties.

Raskob is not the only big business republican now turned democrat. William H. Woodin, president of the American Car and Foundry Company and the American Locomotive Company, has come out for Smith. The democratic presidential nominee can now boast of the support of as good a capitalist and financier as any backing Hoover. In addition to being president of the corporations mentioned above, Woodin is a director of the American Exchange Securities Corporation, Montreal Locomotive Works, the Cuba Company, Cuba Railroad Company, Compania Cubana Consolidated Railroads of Cuba, and American Ship and Commerce Corporation. He is a member of the American Iron and Steel Institute, the New York Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association. The action of Woodin was hailed by Smith forces as indicating the feeling of assurance in financial and industrial circles that Smith is also their man, and big business has nothing to fear from his election.

This is further indicated by the split in the DuPont family, one of the pioneer republican big business families in America. Frank and T. Coleman DuPont support Hoover. The more influential and powerful figures, however, Pierre and E. I. DuPont of E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company, leading munitions manufacturers, closely associated with Raskob in General Motors, part and parcel of the House of Morgan, will back Smith.

It is significant to note that one of the first large contributors to the democratic campaign fund, was, John D. Ryan, president of the open-shop Anaconda Copper Company, a corporation known throughout the West as viciously anti-labor. Bernard M. Baruch, leading New York financier, also endorses Smith. These are only a few of the men prominent in the industrial and financial world who have shifted their political support in the elections.

And Interchangeable Platforms.

The prohibition issue has been given in the capitalist press as an oustanding reason for this shift of former republican leaders. This is merely a blind. The fact that Raskob, Woodin, E. I. DuPont and other prominent republican capitalists now support Smith, the democrat, is merely an open recognition of the fact, always proclaimed by the Communists, that the democratic and repubilcan parties are both the servants of Wall Street, pledged to maintain the system of wage-slevary.

That there are no real differences between these two parties of capitalism is frankly admitted by leaders of both. Walter Lippman, chief editorial writer of the New York World, staunch supporter of Smith, in a radio debate with Ogden L. Mills, republican under secretary of the treasury, stated that Smith or Hoover could run as well on one platform as he could on the other.

More outspoken was Senator George H. Moses, who directs the Hoover campaign in the East. Here is what he says, in an interview with the New York Times:

> "Now as far as the present campaign goes, it seems to me that by the middles of September, platforms and parties will be forgotten, and the campaign will resolve itself into a discussion of the merits and characteristcs of two men. . . .
> "When you come rght down to essentials, either man without the sacrifice of principles could run on either platform. . . . Most of the burning issues that have separated the parties for years have disappeared. . . ."

Even the tariff, which in the past has been raised as a fundamental difference, and has frequently been used as a red herring across the trail to divert the workers' attention from real and pressing problems, has ceased to be an issue. The platform adopted at the Houston convention of the democratic party declared for a tariff to protect business. In fact, when Senator Smoot, republican, attacked the democratic party on the ground that it was opposed to a high tariff, Senator Pittman of Nevada, chairman of the resolutions committee at the Houston convention, hastened to issue a statement that the democratic party has abandoned its low tariff policy. In his eagerness to assure big business of the safeness of Smith and the democratic party, Pittman goes on to say:

> "Permeating the whole democratic platform is the sentiment for the protection of business, both large and small. . . . Men like Raskob and Woodin, who have greater business interests at stake than Senator Smoot and all the rest of the republican politicians would not associate themselves with democratic party and be supporting the election of Governor Smith if there were the slightest doubt of the meaning and, sincerity of the democratic party and the purposes of Governor Smith when he bocomes president."

Pittman is not alone in his protestations. Leading democrats seize every opportunity to assure big business that they have nothing to fear from this representative of the "plain people," who would protect them and fight the working class just as well as Hoover could, and is as much a defender of American imperialism as the republican candidate.

Smith Flag in Wall Street.

Thus the liberal mask of the democratic party has been torn off. While in the past the two capitalist parties have expressed the separate interests of different groups or sections within the capitalist class, today this no longer holds. We have witnessed in American within the last 25 or 30 years a tremendous consolidation of economic power, the growth of huge industrial and financial combinations, a gigantic accumulation and concentration of capital. Industrial and bank capital have merged. Finance capital rules America. Finance capital dominates its twin political representatives—through Andrew Mellon, the republican party, and through John J. Raskob, the democratic party.

It is no accident that for the first time a democratic banner floats over Wall Street. Smith is safe for business, and American amperialism. Wall Street has taken him to its bosom as a candidate—even though it may decide that Hoover is a preferable choice for election.

Liberals and other "friends of the people" may weep and wail that "democracy," as represented by the democratic party, now identifies itself with the financial and indusatrial despotism of America. To the class conscious workers, however, this "identification" comes as no surprise. It is at last an open avowal of what has always been a fact.

The workers of America, now facing onslaughts against their wages and working conditions, cruelly oppressed by capitalist rationalization with its brutal speed-up and efficiency systems, millions of them unemployed, their unions, where such exist, threatened with destruction, must turn away from the capitalist parties, and capitalist "Messiahs," enemies of the working class.

Only One Anti-Capitalist Party.

They must turn likewise from the socialist party, which has given up the class struggle, and now identifies itself with the reactionary forces in the American labor movement.

There is only one anti-capitalist party in America—the Workers (Communist) Party, fighting on every front with the workers, against the employers and corrupt union mis-leaders, against the danger of new wars, against the whole capitalist system.

Class-conscious workers in the coming elections will register their votes for the Communist candidates. They will mobilize their support for the party of class-struggle, the Workers (Communist) Party, which will organize and lead them to the final victory

CAMPAIGN CORNER

Utah will have more to think about in this election campaign than the virtues of Mormonism. Comrade James Ayres is on the job there, getting the party on the ballot. Communist literature is being distributed, and mass meetings are held in the streets of the principal cities. The comrades are determined to lay the sores of the capitalist system open to the workers and farmers of that state. And they do not intend to rub salt into the wounds, though there is plenty of it in Utah. Salt smarts, but it has curative qualities.

"Enclosed find $5 for the election campaign," writes a Chicago comrade. "Every time I pass through the Slave Market (we know where it is, comrade—from Halstead to the Canal, eh?—Editor, Campaign Corner) I inwardly curse the lying touts of the republican party who boast about prosperity and the hypocritical fuglemen of the democratic party who claim that unemployment is caused by the ineptitude of the republican administration. I see raw-boned, hungry men standing for hours in front of employment agencies waiting for the 'shark' to give them a chance to work for 25, 30 or 40 cents an hour on railroad tracks. And by the time they get through paying their transportation to the job and the 'shark's' fee, they will not have much left to spend in Chicago's soft drink parlors, when they return to look for another job. A walk around the Slave Market is a great incentive to work harder for Communism."

Another Chicago comrade, who does not wish to have his name published (he is employed on a trade paper in La Salle St.), tells of his visit to a vendor of optical goods. A young man was eating raisins, and a girl employe remarked, "taking your daily dose of iron." "Yes," he replied, "but I am thinking of switching to peanuts. Hoover practically lives on them." Our correspondent saw an opening, though he did not yet have the glasses he ordered. So he piped up and said: "Who are you going to vote for?" "Hoover," was the reply. "Then," came the punchino, "peanuts is not the food for you; your mental condition calls for nuts. I can eat anything from frankfurters to ice cream. I am going to vote for Foster." The raisin man swallowed a fistful of iron and almost choked. The girl retained her equanimity and started to hum Ramona.

AL SMITH has decided to halt gambling and to wage war on vice in Saratoga Springs. Things have been going pretty much as they pleased there for several years, but Al wants to stand in well with the hillbillies of the south, and there is nothing those boys hate more than gambling and booze unless it be revenue officers.

THE executive council of the A. F. of L. has decided that "labor" will remain neutral in the election campaign. Which means that the executive council will not declare in favor of Al Smith or Herbert Hoover. The individual members of the council can now line up their international unions for their favorite candidates. This is what they label a non-partisan policy.

THINGS are not going so well with Mussolini those days Shortly after his gas bag, the Italia became a cropper near the North Pole, one of his submarines got rammed by a destroyer and went to the bottom with several lives. We are waiting a few more decrees forbidding accidents.

MOST of the columnists on the capitalist press devote one day a week to wailing over their trials and tribulations and the mental agony they experience when lucidity plays truant, in inking the white spaces at their disposal. The humorists have the toughest time of all. There is no prospect more appalling than the vision of a lifetime trying to cudgel one's brain for cracks to make the yokelry chuckle. It is stated on fairly good authority that only half a dozen humorists are agreeable companions outside of working hours ~~and it is~~ rumored that they steal their gags from Texas Guinan, a lady who needs no introduction, etc.

THO highly paid the columnist slaves of the capitalist press deserve a share of the public sympathy. Unless they descend to buffoonery, those with a social conscience must echo the boss's political views or else remain discreetly neutral. Even Will Rogers, who writes about one hundred words a day for the New York Times, does a right-about-face whenever he takes a shot at the Coolidge administration for the war on Nicaragua. Usually a day or two after he has something nice to say about Cal. Rather than have a job like that we would take a chance with a couple of eye pads and a tin cup.

AS for the Daily Worker columnists, their cheif worry is getting the stuff printed on its feet. There is never any danger of incurring editorial wrath because of radical content. But the playful lads in the editorial staff sometimes experiment with a column, by running it serially, which may seem sort of mysterious to the readers not in the know. What can an absentee columnist do if his paragraphs get scrambled or if he finds the tail end of one column hanging like one leg of a pair of pajamas on a clothesline, from the top of the space where the head of the effusion reposed a week previously?

A DECORATED hero of the world war killed himself because he could not find a job. The trouble with the hero was that he took the war business too seriously. Having helped to make this world a place for heroes to live in he thought he could rest on his laurels and that some of the millions he saved for the House of Morgan would flow into his lap without further effort. He should have taken a correspondence course in bookkeeping or memory training. Evidently he never read the back page of the magazine section of the New York Times. No man is a hero to his own employer unless he can make a profit out of his labor.

NICARAGUAN HITS U. S. IMPERIALISM

Protection of Property Is Not Motive

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Aug. 3 (UP).—Discussion of United tates intervention in Nicaragua sually has been based on false isues, said T. S. Vaca at the ound table discussion of the Pubc Affairs Institute here today. 'aca acted as representative in Vashington of Vice-President Saasa of Nicaragua in 1926.

"Nicaraguan intervention has een explained officially and unoficially on three grounds," he said. Namely, protection of lives and roperty of Americans; or some orollary to the Monroe Doctrine; r the Nicaraguan Canal issue. hey are all false.

"Those thoroughly acquainted ith the situation know there has ever been any danger to American roperty or lives until recent nonths, when, after 17 years of ntervention, General Sandino, in etaliation, destroyed some Amerian property. This brought out the act that the marines were not proecting American property," he said.

"In order to interest Americans nd to make it an issue of paraount importance, the question of a anal through Nicaragua was raised s an excuse to give the Diaz adninistration $3,000,000 to relieve nancial distress. The canal issue ops up every time there is a disurbance in Nicaragua requiring exlanation."

He charged that Nicaraguan chols, which he said had been flourishing before American intervenion, were now neglected and failg. The same condition was true railroad and communication facilies, he said, and other industries ad suffered because of "17 years f meddling."

GITLOW'S TOUR STARTS SEPT. 3

Communist Nominee to Speak Thruout U. S.

Requests for meetings with William Z. Foster and Benjamin Gitlow as the principal speakers of the Workers (Communist) Party at New York.

Benjamin Gitlow, the Communist vice-presidential candidate, will start his national tour on September 3. He will speak in the principal cities of the country, and will bring the message of Communism and the class struggle to striking textile workers, coal miners, railroad and steel workers, exploited farmers and oppressed Negroes.

Expect Big Audiences.

Several states are complaining that they have not been given enough dates. The membership of the Party is enthusiastic over the Foster-Gitlow tour, and are certain that the workers will turn out en masse to hear them.

Letters from the mid-west and west express the enthusiasm of the class-conscious workers over the tour. A poor farmer from North Dakota writes:

"Comrades: Glad to hear that Benjamin Gitlow is speaking in Bismarck on September 22. I know lots of farmers who will shake up their old flivvers and make them cough their way to hear him. STRIKE VOTE FOR TRAINMEN

Officials Carry On New Maneuver

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Officials of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen announced yesterday that they would take a strike vote as a result of the refusal of the western and south-western roads to meet their demands for a flat minimum wage increase of 7½ per cent.

The announcement was made by A. R. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood as a result of widespread sentiment among the workers for strike action.

The Brotherhood is tied by the infamous Parker Law as a result of which strikes have been practically outlawed on the railroads. When other lines were given an increase about a year ago and the southwestern lines were refused an increase it was openly charged that the "mediators' had been reached by the railroads during the lunch hour while negotiations were going on. The case has been stalled off for a year.

Strike action will result only from the mass pressure of the workers themselves, it is believed.

NANKING LICKS BRITISH HEELS

LONDON, Aug. 13 (UP).—The government today issued the Chinese-British agreement settling the Nanking incident of last year when one American and several British subjects were killed by Southern Chinese troops entering Nanking.

The Nationalists offered apologies for the incident and compensation for personal injuries and losses coincident with the lootings and killings.

ELECTION MEET IN WEST

Workers Party Names Anita Whitney

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Aug. 13.—A state nominating convention of the Workers (Communist) Party which comprised delegates from every section of California met here yesterday, nominated Anita Whitney for United States senator on a slate which included candidates for a congressional district and eight assembly districts.

Fifty-seven regular delegates were present from all parts of California. There were a number of Japanese and Chinese delegates and the Imperial Valley sent Mexican delegates, while Oakland was represented by several Negroes.

Tremendous enthusiasm which marked the convention from the beginning to end culminated in the acceptance speech of Anita Whitney. "I accept the nomination as United States senator on the Workers (Communist) Party ticket," the speaker said. "I allow my name to be put forward because I unreservedly believe in the principles for which the Workers Party stands."

30 INJURED IN ELEVATED CRASH

Wooden Cars are Held Responsible

Over thirty workers were injured, eleven of them seriously, when a Brooklyn-Manhattan elevated train crashed into another on the Fulton Street line in Brooklyn yesterday morning. The passengers were nearly all night workers returning to their homes in Jamaica from Manhattan and lower Brooklyn. Wooden cars, the usual cause of the large number of injuries in collisions, was again here responsible. Attempts are apparently being made to hush up this fact since no mention is being made of it by officials responsible.

A ten-car, eastbound train stalled on a curve over a vacant lot in Euclid Avenue between Liberty Avenue and Glenmore Avenue due, it was said, to a short circuit. The train stopped behind a curve and

POSTPONE CASES OF 13 WORKERS

Tag Day Collectors to Be Tried Friday

The cases of 13 of the 15 workers arrested for participating in the Chinese Tag Day Sunday were postponed until Friday when they appeared yesterday morning before Magistrate Gotlieb in the First District Court. This is the same magistrate who several weeks ago sentenced a number of workers to jail terms for participation in an anti-imperialist demonstration in Wall St.

Edith Segal, one of those arrested Sunday, was held overnight in the Heckscher Foundation. Her case was dismissed when she appeared yesterday in Children's Court.

Another of the arrested workers, Rachel Silburg, who was arrested Saturday night, was ordered to appear in the Municipal Building. Her collection box was taken away from her and when she appeared in court yesterday morning, she was told that District Attorney Banton's office would make an investigation into the Tag Day objectives.

The drive for funds to aid the Chinese workers, which was initiated with the Tag Days, will continue for three weeks. Circulation of an appeal to labor unions, fraternal organizations and individuals will begin this week. More than 50,000 circulars, portraying in pictures the life of the Chinese workers under the White Terror regime of the Nanking reactionaries, will be sent throughout the country.

Tens of thousands of dollars are needed to save the lives of the families of White Terror victims. Active trade unionists are being discharged by the hundreds and their places filled by less class-conscious workers from the country. In Shanghai 80 per cent of the factory workers have been recruited from the peasantry during the past eighteen months. The old guard of militants is starving, but their fighting spirit has not been crushed.

Some of them can be found among the leaders of the peasant unions, while others have gone into the small towns. These are the workers on whose behalf the All-China Federation of Labor Unions is appealing to the workers of this country for help.

FURRIERS MASS MEETING BEGINS BUILDING UNION

Out-of-Town Locals Also in Big Drive

What is signified as the most important step yet taken by the fur workers in their two year old struggle against the socialist-A. F. of L.-employer alliance, will be taken at the big demonstration in Cooper Union tomorrow night, when the workers will be asked to launch the campaign to build one united international union of fur workers in the U. S. and Canada. The meeting will be held immediately after work.

Finally convinced that International Fur Workers Union of the A. F. of L. has been completely destroyed as a workers organization by the disruptive tactics of its right wing and reactionary leadership, representatives of every important local of the International, met in conference here as reported yesterday, and decided to back the left wing Joint Board in a struggle to establish a real union controlled by the workers themselves.

Isolate Right Wing.

Contributing considerably toward this decisive action of the officers of the out of town Canadian locals was the recently published secret correspondence between the leaders of the A. F. of L. and their socialist allies. In these letters they admitted to themselves that the right wing dual organization in New York and the International was completely destroyed.

Not only was the conference attended by the aforementioned locals, nearly all of whom have been

TEXTILE YOUTH HAIL CONVENTION

Bedford Meet Demands Release of Porter

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 13.—Delegates from young textile workers' organizations from many cities in New England held a highly successful conference at the Petemska Hall here yesterday and unanimously endorsed the coming convention of the Textile Mill Committees at which a new union of mill workers is to be launched.

Nearly every large textile manufacturing city was well represented by youth delegates sent directly from the plants in which they worked. A sharp demand for the release of John Porter was voiced in a resolution adopted by the conference. Porter is a textile striker now serving a two and a half year prison sentence imposed on him by the army authorities for his desertion from the army. Although very young he had become vice-president of the New Bedford Textile Workers Union, now leading the big strike here.

Special youth demands were also formulated by the conference for presentation to the coming national convention to be held in New York September 22 and 23. They will ask the new union to insert these youth demands in their program. Their main demands include: A minimum wage of $15 for young textile workers, equal pay for equal work.

LONG ISLAND BUS DRIVERS STRIKE

Work 70-Hour, 7-Day Week

(By a Worker Correspondent)

Bus drivers of the Richmond Hill Lines, Inc., went out on strike Saturday against the 10-hour day and seven-day week and for an increase in wages over the $30 or $25 average they are now earning, it was learned yesterday. They are now working for 50 cents an hour without a day off throughout the year under a system of speed-up, spying and discrimination which finally drove them to strike.

The company, which is owned by, Stephen and William Hanran, has employed strikebreakers. Several accidents have occurred and in one of these a man was badly injured. Still the city authorities permit the inexperienced drivers to operate the scab buses. The company operates one line to Ozone Park and one to Coney Island.

Workers are fighting for the recognition of their union and declare that they will remain out until their demands are granted.

Fall River Textile Mill Committees' Leader

PICKETING IS RIOTING! SAYS FALL RIVER JUDGE

(Special to the Daily Worker.)

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 13.—"Mass picketing constitutes a riot," was the decision handed down by Judge Hanify, who openly acted as the mill baron's prosecutor in the trial of Peter Hegelias a leader of the striking textile workers here. As in the case of other picket leaders yesterday, Hegelias receives a jail sentence of 6 months.

Today's trial, everyone agreed, was an openly planned attempt to outlaw all picketing of the struck mills.

Isadore Levin, attorney for the International Labor Defense, in a brilliant cross examination proved beyond all doubts that the disorders prevalent last week on the picket line were caused by organized police terrorism, clubbings and arrests of pickets.

Photographic Evidence.

Producing a photograph published in the Evening Standard, a local paper, the striker's attorney proved that the police intentionally adopted tactics of extreme brutality even after an arrested striker has been taken into custody. The picture showed Hegelias being choked by three uniformed thugs, his face distorted with pain.

When the prosecutor reported to the judge that Hegelias was a union organizer the judge rasped out his vicious sentences.

Hegelias was also compelled to furnish a $1,000 surety bond that will be forfeited in the event of his being arrested again. Two thousand dollars was demanded as bail before he was released on the ap-

TEXTILE RELIEF NEED GROWING

Issue Appeals To Aid Strikers

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 13.—Addressing themselves to all workers' organizations throughout the country, and mailed to as many of them as they found possible, the Workers International Relief, now active in the New Bedford textile strike area, appealed for contributions to alleviate the suffering from want, daily affecting more and more strikers as the strike enters its eighteenth week of struggle. The letter is signed Fred Biedenkapp, relief director, and says, in part:

"With the ordering of mounted police and the National Guard into the strike zone the mill owners have issued instructions that no more charity relief by the city is to be given the strikers. They are to be starved into accepting the wage reduction.

"We ask you to give heed to our plea for help. We urge you to do everything possible in support of the striking textile workers. Send us your contribution and have your friends do the same."

THE USSR SPARTAKIAD

50,000 Athletes in Big Sports Festival

MOSCOW, Aug. 13 (UP).—One of the most colorful scenes ever created in Moscow came at the formal opening of the first international Spartakiad yesterday when 50,000 athletes gathered in Red Square.

Many of the girls wore red one-piece bathing suits, while the boys were dressed in white shirts and blue tights. The Turcomans, Usebecks, Caucasians and Laplanders in native dress attracted much comment.

MOSCOW, Aug. 13.—Fifty thousand men and women athletes from every part of the Soviet Union and many foreign countries gathered here yesterday at the opening of the Soviet Union Spartacan Games, the most ambitious sports undertaking since the revolution. The games will continue until Aug. 22.

The foreign athletes include representatives from workers' sports organizations in Germany, France, Czecho-Slovakia and other countries. Most of these organizations are members of the Red Sports International, with headquarters in Moscow.

The games have been made an occasion for a wide propaganda for physical culture. "The more sporting events" one of the slogans for the occasion says, "the fewer hospitals." Another reads: "Physical

NANKING REGIME FOR WALL ST. AID IN JAPAN CRISIS

Imperialist Rivalries are Sharpened

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Suay Fo, member of the Nanking regime, conferred with Secretary of State Kellogg today. The nature of the conference was not disclosed.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 13.—Following the reports that Baron Hayashi, sent by the Japanese government to confer with Chang Hseuh-liang, has given the Manchurian war lord an ultimatum that amounted to a threat of military intervention if Manchuria allied itself with the Nanking regime, the Nanking government is reported to be preparing a note to the United States government asking for its support against Japan's aggression.

Hayashi, who had been in Mukden during the last week in an attempt to confer with the Manchurian dictator, is reported to have told him that the Japanese government had decided against the proposed allegiance of the two reactionary governments, because, in its opinion, Japanese interests in Manchuria would be threatened. Hayashi is reported to have made it clear that in the event of Manchuria being included in the Nanking regime the Japanese government would be prepared to use its military.

A statement issued by the Japanese foreign office insisted on its decision not to revise the existing commercial treaties between Nanking and itself, and declared that the Japanese government would not begin negotiations for the settlement of the Nanking and Tsinanfu incidents or any other negotiations until the Manchurian situation was settled according to its wishes.

Japan's Command Obeyed.

TOKIO, Aug. 13.—A dispatch from Mukden to a vernacular newspaper here said that Chang Hseuh-liang, Manchurian dictator, had agreed to follow the demands of the Japanese government and not join the Nanking government.

This announcement came after Baron Hayashi had warned the war lord that Japan was ready to use military force to protect her interests in Manchuria. Chang is also reported to have told the Japanese representative that he did not wish to join the Nanking regime because of dissensions within its ranks that might lead to civil war.

ISSUE CALL FOR BIG SACCO MEET

Expect 50,000 at Huge Memorial

Rose Baron, secretary of the New York section of the International Labor Defense, 799 Broadway, yesterday issued a mass call to some 50,000 members and affiliated members of the organization to take part in the Sacco-Vanzetti memorial demonstration which will take place on Union Square at 5 p. m., Wednesday, August 22nd.

The appeal, which is printed on Western Union telegraph blanks to impress members of the organization with the urgency for making the demonstration a genuine mass protest, reads in part:

"The Sacco-Vanzetti demonstration which takes place on August 22nd in Union Square is not far off. One hundred thousand leaflets have already been printed and are ready for distribution. We urge all branches to elect special committees for distribution of these leaflets. Every shop and factory in New York must be covered. Call at this office for leaflets immediately. There is only one week left. Put everything else aside and devote the next few days to building a huge Sacco-Vanzetti memorial demonstration in Union Square. Act at once. Signed, Rose Baron."

Leaflets have been printed in English, Italian and Yiddish and already more than 25,000 have been distributed at factories, shops and offices.

It is estimated that the memorial demonstration will be the largest outdoor meet ever staged in New York. It will rival the meeting held in New York prior to the murder of Sacco and Vanzetti last August when, on one occasion, more than 50,000 New York workers [illegible] Union Square.

Lewis-Fagan Machine Invites the Coal Operators to a New Strikebreaking Parley

MAKES BID FOR SEMI-COMPANY UNION BETRAYAL

Willing to Grant Wage Reduction

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13.—By way of virtual indication to the operators that he is willing to establish a semi-company union in this district, Pat T. Fagan, corrupt Lewis henchman and president of the machine district 5, today invited 31 coal companies to a joint conference to discuss wage scales for the miners of this district.

Pleads With Open-Shoppers.

Fagan sent an invitation, among others, to the Pittsburgh Coal Company and the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, which have broken their agreements with the miners and have consistently refused to deal with the union. When the Lewis sell-out was announced following the Indianapolis meeting of the so-called policy committee, these operators again announced that they would not deal even with the obedient Lewis machine.

Sign of Defeat.

The invitation sent to these companies is taken in some quarters to mean that the Lewis machine, which is rapidly losing ground, will seek to impress the operators with the advisability of letting the machine control the coal diggers, who are rapidly coming under the influence of the progressives.

The National Arrangements Committee is preparing for a big convention to be held here September 9-16. Representatives of all mine sections are expected to be present for the launching of a new mine union, which is the great hope of the coal diggers.

PROTEST AGAINST FASCIST TREATY

Croatian Peasants Hit Yugoslav Parliament

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Aug. 13 (UP).—The Skupschtina tonight ratified the treaty of Nettuno after a tumultuous session. Ratification of the treaty, which had been violently opposed by the Croatians, started demonstrations at Zagreb and other cities which authorities feared might grow to serious disturbances.

Opposition to the convention of the Nettuno treaty had caused continued friction in the Skupschtina (parliament) and among the Croatians, who contended their rights were endangered. Although Stephen Raditch, who died last week of wounds received in a shooting fray in the parliament chambers, had sought to bring a peaceful settlement which would unite the peasant forces, his death had further strained the situation.

Heavy guards were placed in Zagreb after the death of Raditch to prevent any disturbance and it appeared the crisis might be passed without violence on the part of the peasants who charged the shooting of their leader was a political move.

The Skupschtina's ratification vote tonight, however, aroused violent protests. The full extent of demonstrations reported at Zagreb could not be learned.

Consideration of the Nettuno treaty started early tonight when Deputy Foreign Minister Shumenkovitch recommended ratification in a speech in the Skupschtina. His words were the signal for interruptions by peasant party leaders. Twice he was forced to halt when the oppositionists pounded the tops of their desks and shouted.

WITH THE YOUNG WORKERS

YOUNG WORKEKS FIGHT AGAINST WAR DANGER

Urging an international struggle against the danger of an imperialist war, the Young Communist International has sent the following appeal to the Central Committee of the Young Communist Leagues of all countries:

To the Central Committees of all Leagues:—

On September 2 we will hold our traditional fighting day—the International Youth Day, for the fourteenth time. As usual, we must do our utmost to mobilize the masses of the working youth. On International Youth Day we must not only endeavor to place our slogans and demands before the young workers at street corners, in squares and parks, we must also get hold of them organizationally.

The center of our agitation must be the struggle against the imperialist war danger. The struggle of the imperialists for markets, their war of intervention in China, their attempts at the economic encirclement of the Soviet Union, are all of them danger signals. The rejection of the Russian disarmament proposals exposes the real attitude of the imperialists to this problem. It is incumbent on us to draw continuously the attention of the working youth to these perils, to rouse and mobilize them for struggle against the war mongers and their aiders and abettors and for the protection and defense of the Soviet Union.

Fight Pacifism.

In this connection considerable importance attaches to the pacifist movement which has been able to divert the attention of big masses of young workers and peasants from the real struggle of the imperialist war danger by fostering among them various illusions. Therefore we must utilize the International Youth Day to spread true information about the real character of this movement among the working youth. Our attitude to the Pacifist Youth Congress where we will set against pacifism the principles of the revolutionary anti-war struggle, will give us an opportunity to enlighten the masses.

The bourgeoisie is endeavoring to suppress the revolutionary Communist movement by all possible means, in the interests of economic stabilization and war preparations. This is borne out by increasing reaction in all countries, the excesses of white terror and increased repression against our Young Communist Leagues. We must bring it home to the working masses by our practical work that the increased pressure of the capitalists against the revolutionary movement is also harmful to their interests; in this manner we will be able to mobilize them for the struggle for the legal existence of the Young Communist organizations.

Raise Slogans.

Side by side with our political slogans we must bring forward for the International Youth Day economic demands adapted to the general conditions and the situation in individual countries. It is essential to make propaganda for our fighting program which was adopted at the Sixth Congress of the Red International of Labor Unions.

The Fifth Congress of the Y. C. I. will come to an end just before the International Youth Day. We must therefore popularize the Fifth Congress and the Y. C. I. itself as an international organization among the masses in our recruiting work, making the widest possible use of the Congress's decisions.

On this basis we propose the following slogans for the International Youth Day:

1. Down with imperialist wars—defend the Socialist Soviet Union!
2. Down with the disarmament swindle of the bourgeoisie, the League of Nations and its socialist supporters!
3. Energetic support for the liberation struggle of the Chinese people and the colonies against world imperialism!
4. Destroy the pacifist illusions—long live the common struggle of workers, peasants, soldiers and sailors!
5. Down with fascism, white terror and class justice!
6. We demand a legal existence for the revolutionary young workers' organizations!
7. Struggle against monopolist trust capital—for the economic demands of the working youth.
8. Long live the united revolutionary struggle of the working youth!
9. Join the Young Communist League, the only mass organization of the class-conscious working youth!

We will be able to bring our slogans and demands forcibly before the masses only unless we strengthen our work in factories, on the farms, in trade unions and wherever the working youth congregate. Our demonstrations on International Youth Day cannot be successful unless we plan out properly the preparatory campaign and use interesting methods of work. International Youth Day, its preparation and conduct, must offer to us an opportunity for the application of new forms of work on a large scale. Central Committees must take the necessary measures at joint sessions with the Party and the representatives of mass organizations under our influence.

With fraternal greetings,
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE
YOUNG COMMUNIST INTERNATIONAL.

Editor's Note: International Youth Day in America will be celebrated during the week of September 7 to 16, because of Labor Day and other conflicting dates. All Leagues must immediately arrange meetings and send date, place and time, to Young Workers League, 43 East 125th St., New York City.

ADDRESS YOUNG NEGRO WORKERS

League Is Conducting Enthusiastic Meets

More than 400 Negro workers crowded the corner of 136th and Seventh Ave. for more than two hours Tuesday night, listening to speakers representing the Harlem unit of the Young Workers (Communist) League.

The audience listened attentively while Comrades Slipyan, Lamport, Novzen, and Albert and Ida Eisman portrayed the conditions and struggles of the young and adult workers of this country, and dealt especially with the horrible conditions of the millions of Negro workers. The most interesting part of the meeting, however, was when Comrade Brody mounted the platform to answer questions. Despite the attempts of Garveyites to heckle and keep our message from the workers, the convincing arguments of the speakers soon succeeded in winning the overwhelming sympathy of the crowd. Later, when the speaker read the special Negro demands from the platform of the Workers (Communist) Party, they were received with prolonged and enthusiastic applause.

The speaker answered questions put to him on Africa for the Negro, Tammany and the Negro, etc. He unmasked the republican party by denunciating Hoover's part in selling out Liberia to the Firestone Rubber interests. He also mentioned the segregation of the Negro delegates at the Houston convention, and pointed out that the democratic platform had not a single word on the conditions of the Negroes.

The meeting adjourned in great enthusiasm, especially when the speaker announced that the League would be back on the same corner this Friday. The fact that a policeman is necessary to clear the traffic during our meetings is an indication of the prestige the Y. W. L. is gaining in the greatest segregated area of Negroes in the United States. Eighty platforms of the Party and two hundred copies of the Young Worker were sold at the last three meetings.

SUPERIOR YOUTH DISCUSS NUCLEI

Over 100 Delegates Attend Conference

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 13.—Over one hundred delegates, representing many important industries, attended the first Industrial Conference of the Young Workers (Communist) League of the Superior sub-district. The conference was called to lay the basis for the building of shop and mine nuclei. Young miners from the Iron Range, youth from the lumber mills, paper mills, saw mills, etc., were present, as well as a large delegation of youth from the farms. For the first time the problem of organizing the league on the basis of nuclei was thoroughly discussed.

The two reporters were Comrade Sam Reed, sub-district organizer of the Young Workers League, and T. Foley, representative and reporter for the Workers (Communist) Party. In the discussion that followed it was clearly shown that there are thousands of young workers exploited under the most terrible conditions, and that the league can only approach and lead the youth, by first establishing contacts and then building the league on the basis of shop nuclei in the many important industries in this district.

morally supporting the left wing Joint Board in its fight against the A. F. of L. Joint Council, but a delegation of functionaries of the right wing Council designating itself as the "progressive bloc" also wholeheartedly endorsed the proceedings, thus making complete the isolation of the right wing forces of disruption in the industry.

Gold to Attend.

Unobtainable late last night while the conference was still in progress, a nearly complete list of those attending the parley will be presented today. They are:

Signed

New York Joint Board—Benjamin Gold; Progressive Bloc—I. Winnick, Hyman Sorkin, Dave Goodman, S. Strauss; Greek Branch of Joint Board—S. Soulouinas, J. Pappas, G. Perdicaria; Local 1—Samuel Leibowitz, Jack Schneider; Local 5—Aaron Gross, Benjamin Baraz; Local 10—Louis Cohen, Hershkowitz; Local 15—Joseph Winogradsky; Local 25—Morris Langer, B. Yadkowsky, F. Newman, Samuel Burt; Local 54—Philip Getz, Irving Ader, Morris Stein; Local 58—Louis Bricca, Julius Weil; Local 70—G. Satirople; Local 88—Louis Canter, Simon Lunin, Boris Prokopin.

Each of the attendant locals pledged itself to be represented by one or more speakers at the big mass demonstration tomorrow. The Sorkin-Winnick progressive bloc will also speak to the masses of fur workers for the first time since it began its fight for one union in the right wing camp.

United Front.

The united forces of militant unionism in the fur industry, namely, those who had signed their names to the declaration for the building of a real union brought forth by Sunday's conference have formed themselves into a "International United Front Committee" under whose auspices the mass meeting is to be held.

CAP WORKERS IN PROTEST RALLY

Injunction President Is Condemned at Meet

Enthusiastic applause from the crowded Webster Hall, 11th St. and Third Ave., greeted the speakers' sharp condemnation of the union wrecking campaign of Max Zaritsky, president of the International Cloth Hat, Cap and Millinery Workers' Union, at the protest meeting held last night by the Cap and Millinery section of the Trade Union Educational League.

The hundreds attending despite being threatened with loss of job, expressed, by the unanimous passage of a resolution and by the sentiment displayed thruout, their determination to put a halt to the right wing's transformation of their organization into a company union. The officialdom had caused the discharge of workers for their part in preparing the meeting.

Arousing more indignation than any other particular issue, was the recent act of the socialist officialdom in applying for an injunction to a Massachusetts court against the left wing leaders of the Boston Local 7. Not only did they condemn the step of asking for an injunction, which is the bosses' weapon against the workers, in an intra-union fight, but the deliberate application for such a writ to the murderers of Sacco-Vanzetti, came in for the hottest denunciation.

Speakers at the meeting were, H. Sazer and J. Jukovsky, left wing leaders of the capmakers here, and J. Miller, manager of Boston Local 7.

The meeting demanded an immediate halt to the right wing policy of expulsion of militants and the reinstatement of expelled locals and individuals. They all pledged themselves to increase the intensity of the struggle against Zaritsky and his clique till their ends are gained and in order to safeguard the union conditions in the shops.

Hits Olympic Team Ban on Negro Athletes

(By Federated Press)

America would have made a better showing in the Olympic games at Amsterdam had Negroes been permitted to participate, asserts William Pickens of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. As it was, not one Negro was placed on the Olympic team despite athletic abilities shown by the race.

Pickens protests also against the barring of colored players from the inter-city golf tournament at Philadelphia. Newark and Chicago entrants were forced out of the game through official rulings.

USSR PREPARES TOLSTOY WEEK

100th Anniversary of Author's Birth

MOSCOW, Aug. 13.—Preparations are going on for the anniversary week that will mark the 100th year of the birth of Leo Tolstoi. The government has appropriated 150,000 roubles and meetings, discussions, exhibitions and performances will be held throughout the Soviet Union.

In the village of Yasnaya Polyana, where Tolstoi wrote most of his works the Jubilee Committee and the Commissariat of Education has built a permanent memorial to his genius in the form of the erection of a modern high school and hospital. His youngest daughter, Alexandria, has directed the restoration of his cottage and is also the educational director for the district.

The hospital and the school are two of the most modern buildings in the Soviet Union, the Soviet Government having spent 140,000 roubles on the school and 450,000 roubles on the hospital. In the hospital the peasants receive free care as well as services in the clinic for the prevention of disease.

There will also be celebrations in the schools and clubs thruout the Soviet Union. The new film of the Sovkino "Tolstoy and the Epoch of the Romanoffs" will be shown, and a new edition of his works, including his diary, which has never been published before, has been released by the Government Publishing Company.

MANY FEATURES AT BIG CARNIVAL

Proletarian Editors to Play Ball

The hard-working, serious-minded members of the Daily Worker editorial staff will throw off their cares for part of a day next Sunday to engage in a ball game with the equally hard-working, serious-minded members of the Young Worker staff.

This epoch-making athletic contest will take place at the great International Costume Carnival that the Daily Worker is arranging next Sunday in Pleasant Bay Park.

Thousands of workers from New York and vicinity are planning to attend this unique carnival, at which costumes will be worn for the first time at an outdoor event. The various language groups will appear in their national dress, with Russian costumes expected to predominate.

The Labor Sports Union will be one of the organizations that will take part in this unusual proletarian carnival. An exhibition soccer game will be played by two of the member organizations of the Labor Sport Union. Special games are also being arranged in which all those present will be able to participate. In addition, there will be many other interesting numbers on the big program.

Tickets for the International Costume Carnival are now on sale at 35 cents each at the office of the Daily Worker, 26-28 Union Square.

BRITISH UNEMPLOYMENT BIGGER

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Unemployment in Great Britain is increasing. The total number of workers on the unemployment exchanges on June 25 was 1,192,000. This was 30,079 more than the week before and 187,087 more than a year ago.

BRITISH POLICE HUNT WORKERS IN SINGAPORE RAIDS

14 Communists Jailed; Others Sought

LONDON, Aug. 13.—According to reports in the Times the Singapore police have succeeded in carrying out raids against the Communists in big style recently. In Singapore 14 leading Communists are in jail, says the Times, others have been chased out, and the police have published the names of fourteen other Communists whom they are seeking, and who are reported to be members of the Workers' Organization of Nanjang, of the Malay Communist Party and of the revolutionary committee of the Koumintang.

Whether it is actually a question of the persecution of Communists is hard to determine. It is known, however, that under th ewhite terror every proletraian fighter is called a Communist.

COURT FIGHT ON MERGER PLANNED

Conference To Prepare Plan of Action

The fight being carried on by the Public Committee on Power against the $1,000,000,000 merger of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York and the Brooklyn Edison Company, recently upheld by the Public Service Commission, will be prepared for court action today.

Corporation Counsel Nicholson, John Bauer, New York City's power expert, and Morris L. Ernst, counsel to the Public Committee on Power, which has opposed the merger for over a month, will hold a conference today to determine their plan of action in the fight against the commission's recent ruling.

It was learned yesterday that the formal order approving the merger had been sent out to the two companies involved by the Public Service Commission in Albany. Not a word, however, had been sent to the city or to the Public Committee on Power, whose protest was denied hearing because of the commission's ruling that no one was entitled to a hearing who owned no stock in either of the corporations.

1 Dead, Many Others in Danger as Terrific Storm Hits East Cuba

HAVANA, Aug. 13 (UP).—A terrific rain and wind storm struck eastern Cuba, in the vicinity of the Guantanamo Naval Training Station, late today, according to a special dispatch to the newspaper El Pais.

At Guantanamo a total rainfall of 11 inches was registered and the wind at times reached a velocity of 80 miles an hour.

At Caimanera, a small seaport, several hundred houses were unroofed and many gasoline launches and fishing vessels driven ashore.

Reports reported at Guantanamo indicate that the path cut by the storm was narrow.

Rosario General Strike Forces Reinstatement of Communist and Syndicalist Workers

PORT TIED UP AS STEVEDORES CONTINUE FIGHT

Ousted Men Supported By Workers' Unity

ROSARIO, Argentina, Aug. 13.—The tramway workers of Rosario, the second largest city of Argentina, returned to work after several weeks of a most bitter solidarity strike for the workers who were dismissed by the Belgian-owned company for "political reasons," that is for belonging to syndicalist and Communist labor organizations. All the dismissed workers were reinstated when the city authorities announced that the concession of the company will be cancelled immediately if it did not resume the service.

General Strike.

When the tramway workers struck, several trade unions, the taxicab drivers, slaughterhouse workers, shoemakers, telephone operators, saw mill workers, and sugar refinery workers joined the strike out of solidarity for the dismissed men. The governor of the province proposed to the company immediately after the beginning of the strike to reinstate the men and thus remove the reason of the strike, but the company refused. All street car communication stopped and the city was without transport facilities for several weeks. In the meantime other classes of workers, who joined the strike out of solidarity, put up their own demands, particularly the telephone operators, who are still striking.

The employers offered an increase wages, but insisted on the exclusion of the active militant workers, which the strikers, however, refused.

Port Tied Up.

The strike became general when the stevedores and port workers joined the strike and thus struck for the second time within a few months, tying up the second largest maritime port of Argentina.

Though Rosario is in the interior of Argentina, it is an important maritime port, because seagoing vessels can go so far up on the Rio de la Plata.

The port workers struck again because the shipping companies did not keep their agreements, reached after the last general strike of the port workers of Rosario, which took place there a few months ago. The port workers' strike tied up 300,000 tons of grain, which are waiting on the warves for loading.

MOONEY DRIVE IN BRITAIN GROWING

Reformists Forced to Join Movement

LONDON (By Mail).—Growing sentiment on the part of the workers of this country for the release of Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, victims of one of the most infamous of American frame-ups, is compelling even the reformists to join the swelling ranks of labor throughout the world that are demanding unconditional freedom for the two class-war victims.

The London Daily Herald, official organ of the British labor party, in an editorial of recent date, declares, in part:

No Doubt of Innocence.

"Of the innocence of Mooney and Billings there is not a shred of doubt. . . . One of the vilest plots ever devised and carried out by corrupt officials in the pay of vindictive and unscrupulous employers of labor has been completely exposed.

"The refusal of a new trial is due—as it was due in the Sacco and Vanzetti case—to fear of the exposure it would bring. Sacco and Vanzetti died. Mooney and Billings spend long years in prison, to shield the true criminals—the authors of the frame-up and their employers."

Mooney-Billings Meetings.

The labor movement of England, as well as of the other countries throughout the world, is organizing its forces to demand freedom for Mooney and Billings. The International Labor Defense, which is organizing the movement for Mooney and Billings in the United States, states that during the week of the Sacco-Vanzetti memorials in August, Mooney-Billings meetings will be held simultaneously in other countries.

Warren Billings recently addressed, through the I. L. D., a letter to the International Class War Prisoners Aid of England, calling upon the workers in England to protest on behalf of himself and his co-prisoner, Tom Mooney.

LIQUOR TRADE CHIEF RELEASED.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 13 (UP).—Wm. Dwyer, former New York "rum syndicate" chief, was released on parole from the federal penitentiary shortly after 1 p. m. today.

He had served a year and six months of a two year term for violation of the federal prohibition laws.

Sea of Workers Greets Class War Prisoners

A veritable ocean of cheering workers, massed from the factories and shops of Berlin and other German cities, greeted the class war prisoners whose release the German working class forced upon the capitalists after a long struggle. The picture shows the crowd in front of the Schlesienbahnhof.

Twenty Berlin Cops Search Youngsters

BERLIN, (By Mail). — Bulowplatz. A full patrol of policemen arrive and halt before the Karl Liebknecht House.

"Donnerwetter! Something is wrong here!"

Criminal bands, auto-thieves, assassins?

"Attention! Dismount!" rang the order of the officer.

Ha, now everyone knew why they came. An auto filled with eleven and twelve year old children and youthful workers stood there.

They only wanted to ride to their camp to do some building.

"Is that the only object? Can we believe that?"

About twenty cops surrounded the children, and searched the auto for weapons! On the command of Zorgiebel, of the social democrats.

OPEN AIR RALLY IN POUGHKEEPSIE

Communist Meeting Is Well Attended

(Special to the Daily Worker)

POUGHKEEPSIE, Aug. 13.—Nearly two hundred workers listent sympathetically at an open air meeting election campaign conducted by the Workers (Communist) Party Saturday night at which A. Markoff, candidate for the assembly from the 18th District, was the principal speaker. A comic feature to the evening was provided by Robert J. O'Brien, exposed stool-pigeon, red baiter, Rotary Club "statesman" of the National Security League who was given the platform for ten minutes to expound the Babbitt brand of Americanism.

Early in the meeting O'Brien had appeared on the scene disguised as an old man with smoked glasses and long hair. Disguise is said to be one of O'Brien's chief vaudeville devices. A little later he discarded the make-up and challenged the speaker. For ten minutes he was permitted much to the amusement of the workers to warn those present against the dangers of a violent overthrow of the bosses power.

Exposes Boss Tool.

Markoff in replying showed that the American workers should remember their revolutionary history with pride. The American nation was born in revolution, he showed, and other such events this time in the interest of the workers will follow in the future. Markoff also showed the relations of O'Brien with the DeLaval Manufacturing Company for "special work' in protecting the firm against agitators.

About 100 Daily Workers were distributed at the meeting. One hundred fifty Ruthenberg pamphlets were sold.

FIND MISSOURI PRIMARY FRAUD

Report "Grotesque" Irregularities

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 13 (UP).—An investigation of the Missouri primary of last Tuesday shows "grotesque irregularities," Nathan Frank, defeated for the republican senatorial nomination in that state, told the United Press today.

Frank said he had just received a report from P. E. Burton, his campaign manager, who he requested to go to Kansas City and start an inquiry into charges of fraud made in a telegram to Frank by David M. Proctor, who was defeated with Frank.

"The investigation is not completed by an examination of returns in the first wards (plural) show grotesque irregularities," Frank said after he had received a telegram from Burton in Kansas City.

Peru Puppet Again Helps Wall Street

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 13.—Opening the factories of the state tobacco monopoly, largely financed by foreign capital, President Leguia of Peru declared that they should all be thankful to foreign capitalists for "without foreign capital Peru's prosperity would be impossible."

The Peruvian government has just granted a huge concession rich in oil, tobacco and timber to United States capitalists, which will also be used as a refuge for counter-revolutionary Russian emigrea.

Members Asked to Get Signatures

but lagging in others. There is no excuse for not collecting the necessary number of signatures to insure a place for the national and state tickets on the official ballot in states where the Party membership is considerable and the opportunity favorable.

"The Central Executive Committee calls on every Party member to devote some of his or her time to this task. No matter how busy you are with other work, you must find some time to do this important Communist activity now. Members who fail to participate in this work cannot be considered to be performing their duty to the revolutionary movement. We are now in the midst of the election campaign. This is the time to get signatures, when the workers are interested in election matters. This is the time to get them because if we don't file now, later it will be too late.

"The Central Executive Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party calls on the entire membership to mobilize for this important Communist duty.

"Central Executive Committee,

FLOOD SWEEPS INDUS VALLEY

Natives Flee Rushing Icy Torrent

KARACHI, British India, Aug. 13 (UP).—Millions of tons of icy water poured with terrific force down the Indus Valley today, sweeping everything before them.

The torrent was released when a glacier damming a tributary of the Indus River about 140 miles beyond Lehin, Kashmir, gave way to 9 p. m. Sunday.

Natives Flee.

Natives in the path of the devastating flood, forwarned, fled to the hills. No telegraph facilities exist in the valley, but one of the most ancient formes of human communication, signal fires, were lighted on the hilltops and word was passed to the imperilled villages.

Canon were fired also and the word sped with incredible rapidity through Kashmir, one bonfire picking up where another left off.

Pent Up for Weeks.

Water had been pent up for weeks in what once was the bed of the River Shayok, forming a vast lake 17,000 feet above sea level in the Karakorum Mountain range, in the great plateau of Central Asia.

When the glacial barrier broke, the water poured down from that great height, irresistible in its onrush. It was feared the entire Indus Valley would be inundated.

The bursting glacier was 1,200 feet thick and more than 1,000 wide. It held in check a lake nine miles long and 300 feet deep.

Districts May Be Wiped Out.

It was feared the Nubra and Shaddu districts would be wiped out within the next few days.

All during the night and today, streams of natives struggled upward from the valley to places of safety. Troops were sent from Nowshera to the upper Indus Valley to assist in the evacuation. Indus River steamers were ordered to proceed downstream to Sukker and Hyderabad.

JUGOSLAV WHITE TERROR GROWING AS CRISIS COMES

Workers and Peasants Persecuted

BELGRADE, (By Mail). — The conspiracy against the leader of the Belgrade political police, Zika Lazic, has led the Jugoslav murderers into a new, frightful terrorization. The Zagreb police alone have thrown no less than thirty Bulgarian and Macedonian students into prison. The prisoners find themselves in great danger.

Six of the arrested are suspected of taking part in the conspiracy and have been transported to Belgrade. Their investigation has just begun. The other prisoners have not been released until now, although the police could not bring any proof at all against them.

The police have not stopped at these arrests. As the example of the Skruptschina murder (shooting of Paul and Stefan Raditch in the Belgrade parliament) shows, the Jugoslav police, at this critical political moment, are attempting to draw the attention away from the affair by mass arrests and persecutions of revolutionary workers and especially the functionaries of the labor movement.

The press is forbidden to publish anything about these investigations and persecutions.

Zika Lazic was one of the most reactionary leaders of the white teror. He was the leader of the "Black Hand," which issued orders to the executioners of the prison hole of "Glavnjaca" in Belgrade. He made all Jugoslavia suffer with unbelievable brutality the suppression of the labor movement, of the revolutionary peasantry and the national minorities.

He was known as specialist for the Serbian terror in Macedonia. His crimes in Monastir, Ueskub and Istip only exceed the terror of the followers of Protogeroff in the Bulgarian part of Macedonia. He has instigated numerous murders of national revolutionary Macedonians and revolutionary workers and peasants and passed over the terroristic acts of the fascist organization against the Macedonian revolutionary movement. Lazic has also cooperated in preparations for the murders of the Croatian representatives in the Skruptschina, and the number of his victims is so great that it is almost impossible to perceive from what quarter his assassination was planned.

RADITCH BURIAL BRING PEASANTS

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, Aug. 13.—The determination of the Croatian peasants for complete autonomy from the suppressive rule of the Belgrade government was evidenced today when 150,000 peasants participated in the funeral of their leader Stefan Raditch, who died as a result of wounds received in the Belgrade parliament.

Representatives of the Belgrade government were not admitted to the funeral, in spite of their request that they be allowed to attend. Peasant delegations placed wreaths upon the grave of the dead autonomist leader, and the martyr's crown of thorns predominated—an expression of the sentiment for the autonomist aims of Raditch.

SYRIA ASEEMBLY SUSPENDED BY FRENCH RULER

Nationalist Movement Gains Impetus

PARIS, Aug. 13.—As the movement in Syria for independence grows and the legislative body becomes less willing to follow the advice of the French commissioner, the constituent assembly has been suspended for a period of three months by Henry Ponsot, high commissioner and governor of the country under a League of Nations mandate.

The Syrian assembly proposed to frame its constitution in such a way that would declare virtual independence for the country, which the League of Nations and the French government refuses to grant.

Under the arrangement with the League of Nations, the French government, after the suppression of the 1925 rebellion allowed the Syrians to elect an assembly, in an attempt to appease the liberal section of the nationalists. Since 1926 the radicals in the assembly have been pressing for national independence and when the movement became too strong the assembly was suspended.

BRITISH PLANES BETOKEN 'PEACE'

Prepare for Bloody Air Battle

LONDON, Aug. 13.—In order to perfect its defense and offensive machinery the British war department will stage a mock air battle over London which will last for a week, in which 350 army planes will participate.

The planes will fly from one point, designated as an "Eastern power" and they will be met by a victorious defense force. They will be directed by a perfected telegraphic system that will seriously test the efficiency of the British air force. The maneuvers will be closely watched by army officers who will watch for any defects that will handicap the British army in an actual air battle with the deadly poison gas fleet of the "Eastern power."

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The British press is demanding that the government disclose the details of the Franco-British naval pact in order to appease those who think that it involves a military alliance between France and England.

Steamer Is Grounded. 75 Passengers Aboard

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 13 (UP).—The Munson liner, Munamar, with 75 passengers on board lay aground off Great Abaco Island today, Tropical Radio was advised.

The Bahama government tug, Lady Cordeauz, was reported standing by and will attempt to refloat the 3,400 ton vessel at high tide tonight. Light seas were running, it was said, and the steamer appeared in little danger.

A salvage steamer has been ordered from Key West to the rescue of the Munson steamship Munamar, Merritt, Chapman and Scott, marine engineers, informed the United Press today.

Carrying Class War Prisoners in Triumph

German class war prisoners released under the terms of the recent amnesty act, wrung from the capitalists by the German workers, were hailed in triumph thru the streets of Berlin, perched on their shoulders of their comrades, members of the Red Front Fighters.

WORKERS TERRORIZED IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (By Mail).—Whoever wants to form a picture of the white terror in the "democratic" Czechoslovakia let him read the following extract from the speech of Senator Herz before the senate plenum on July 12.

"In Zeliczovce we planned demonstrations for July 8 and they were forbidden. Workers and peasants from the surrounding districts appeared in spite of the order of the police and kept themselves in order. Nevertheless, the police surrounded the people and made a number of arrests. The prisoners were taken to Okresny, where they were subjected to torturous investigations. They were held in jail from eight o'clock in the morning until seven o'clock the next day. Then they were fined with from 30 to 500 crowns apiece and freed.

The workingwoman, Esti Evan, was arrested and fined 200 crowns because she laughed. The worker, Gobelas, was beaten on the bottom of his feet and besides that sentenced to pay a fine of 150 crowns. Josef Liptass, an old religious farmer, wanted to go to church, and was arrested and in this way had to pursue the Christian next life. Gustav Lichner was tortured and suffered, according to the report of the physician, bloody wounds. He bled from the mouth, had wounds on the left foot and upper arm. As a reward he was fined 500 crowns.

"We also protest against the illegal raids. Books and journals have ben confiscated in whole editions, of which no account is given by the head of the police. Editions of 'Lenin and Leninism,' 'Fight Against Betrayal of the Working Class' and '20 Years of Youth Organizations' were confiscated."

Police Raids.

The police raided the newspaper "Rovnost" in Brunn, the printing plant of "Tynia," the secretariat of the Communist Party and of the Communist Youth Alliance. Raids were also carried out against numerous Communist functionaries. The police are still seeking for the propaganda material for the Red Day and confiscated some brochures.

Censor Protects Vienna Fascist.

PRAGUE (By Mail).—The censor here, whose reactionary character is well known, has confiscated the July 15 number of the "International," the international Communist paper, in large numbers because it dealt with the blood bath that the Vienna police directed in July 15, 1297. A picture of the July struggle was also confiscated.

BRITISH REPEL "MOBS" IN INDIA WITH TEAR GAS

Most Human Method, They Decide

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 13.—The British judge in Simla, Mr. Martins, who has been carrying on an investigation into the bloody conflict that took place a short time ago in the vicinity of Delhi, has come to the conclusion that the Indian police must be equipped with tear-gas bombs, since this is the most human method to repel restless "mobs."

The Punjab government declares that they will prove the value of tear-gas in the fight against "agitators" in the near future.

Many Persons Rescued After Being Marooned by Downpour in South

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The tail end of the Florida hurricane deluged Washington and nearby Virginia and Maryland Communities during the past 24 hours.

Considerable damage resulted from the torrential downpour and some fears were felt that the Potomac River might overflow its banks and destroy many of the cottages which dot its shores.

Firemen responded to emergency calls until noon today, pumping out basements and rescuing persons marooned by the rising waters. More than 120 were carried by rescuers to places of safety as the flood waters covered lowlands in the district of Columbia.

HANdOuTS

In America if you really want to win the benediction of the church, the respect of the bell-hops and the cooperation of the press make a few hundred thousand in graft. Graft, however is a berry that grows on a thorny bush in the the U. S. S. R., as witness the recent Donetz trial. Members of the socialist party, who are jumping up and down in their eagerness to wipe out capitalism by whispering behind its back, are quite startled at the direct methods the U. S. S. R. is using to ensure honesty in state affairs.

The child who covers Russia for Victor Berger's Milwaukee Leader inserted the following happy paragraph in an article sparkling with unconscious humor:

"The recent trial of technical experts in the Donetz basin, ending in the execution of some and the imprisonment of most defendants, has made a very bad impression in foreign countries which supply most of the technical experts for the Russian industries."

"A bad impression" is no name for it. It created a panic. All the boys with their suitcases packed who expected to go to the U. S. S. R. and do an Albert B. Fall now regard the Soviet authorities as ill-natured in the extreme.

Writhes for Rich

Accompanying is an actress forced by our amusing system of society to writhe somewhat to give a thrill to the vulgar rich who clamber into the $12 seats in their dress suits and aggressive bellies. She will do anything the stage manager tells her because it so happens there is a line a mile long outside the entrance waiting to take her job. In this picture she is combining business with a little pleasure having picked up a touch of poison ivy behind her left knee.

* * *

People in the U. S. who are scampering around looking for happiness should know it as a plant not indigenous to capitalist soil. Economic conditions can make a prize fight out of the happiest family. For instance this case. Mrs. Ethel Trombley of St. Joseph, Michigan claims she didn't have a dime her husband treated her that bad. He left her. Mrs. Trombley was so roiled she put up $500 of her own money to have her husband extradited from California to stand trial for desertion. In doing so she uttered one of those intimate slams that usually are only heard in the sanctity of the home. She said her husband was "a menace to society."

Busy at Bunk

The difference between the U. S. S. R. and the U. S. is that the one organizes for a broad life the other for bunk. Above is Dr. Frederick Gordon drumming up interest in the proposed 1932 Washington Exposition by addressing a meeting on the steps of the sub-treasury, Wall and Nassau Sts. An exposition is a scientific method of transferring the coin of the gullible to the greedy. Philadelphia has one recently. It wasn't must of a success. Now if a man is tired of life in Philadelphia he doesn't turn on the gas, he just utters the word "Exposition" on Broad St.

Gems of Learning

Former U. S. Senator Henry Clay Hansbrough.—"The object of the Smith Independent League is to emphasize the importance of the rehabilitation of American agricultural. We have taken notice of the systematic opposition of the present Administration as well as of its defense of those members of the party management whose interests run parallel with the predatory class." The interests of the management of the democratic party do not run parallel with those of the predatory class, they are.

FRUIT COMPANIES AT BOTTOM OF HONDURAS FIGHT

Cuyamel and United Interests Clash

TEGUICIGALPA, Honduras, Aug. 6, (By Mail).—The settlement of the boundary dispute between Honduras and Guatemala was again postponed indefinitely by the refusal of the Honduran government to submit the conflict to the Central American tribunal as proposed by the United States secretary of state when the negotiations by a commission composed of representatives of Guatemala, Honduras and the United States failed.

Guatemala accepted arbitration by a Central American Tribunal composed of representatives of the six republics, but Honduras, after waiting a few weeks refused, giving as its reason that the lists of members from among whom such tribunal could be selected is not final and only temporary, and consequently could not have any binding value. Instead, Honduras says that it is willing to submit to arbitration by the president of the United States, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States or any other tribunal established by the U. S. government.

Fruit Company Feud.

The American owned Cuyamel Fruit Company, very powerful in Honduras, tried to build a railway across Gutamalan territory to make a short route for the transport of its goods to the sea. The Guatemalan government, backed by the still more powerful United Fruit Company, also American owned, refused. There were armed conflicts at the frontier, when Guatemala repelled armed men sent by the Cuyamel Co. from Honduras to force a passage through Guatemala. When this became impossible Honduras revived an old claim to this territory.

The American government was asked to arbitrate. Washington did not wish to arbitrate between the interest of the two powerful American companies. But while the Cuyamel Co. is influential only in Honduras, the United Fruit Company is powerful in most of the other Central American government, who consequently, in a Central American Tribunal would vote for Guatemala, that is for the United Fruit Co. As the United States remains neutral in this dispute, there seems no escape from the present impasse and the Honduran government is talking war as the only solution.

GITLOW'S TOUR STARTS SEPT. 3

Communist Nominee to Speak Thruout U. S.

any value comes to a man unless he has to put up his mits for it. I have been reading about Gene Tunney making two million dollars with his gloves and winning a $50,000,000 wife, so we farmers are thinking of putting on the gloves and knocking out the capitalists."

Ex-Wobbly Writes.

From the mining region of Montana comes a letter from a former Wobbly, who now sees that political action is a necessary weapon in the arsenal of the working class. He hails from Anaconda, and wishes to have his name omitted because he believes it more valuable that he hold his job than get a little publicity. He writes to Foster, who will speak in Butte on September 13.

"Dear Bill:—I intend to be at your meeting in Butte on September 13 unless I break my neck in the meantime. Anything is liable to happen to a fellow here. I used to be so much of a syndicalist that I thought you Communists were no better than the democrats and republicans. Well, I have been doing a lot of reading and thinking in the last year. I saw what the state militia did to the striking miners in Colorado and how useful the state was to the mine owners in suppressing demonstrations, arresting leaders and shooting down the pickets.

"I also read about the strike in Ohio, Pennsylvania, and northern West Virginia and how the state officials that were elected by the working class votes used the armed forces of the state against the striking miners. Now, I notice that they are doing the same thing in New Bedford.

"So I am for the Workers (Communist) Party in this election campaign, because I realize that it does not expect to emancipate the working class by putting a sheet of paper in the ballot box.

"Yours for the kind of political action that mobilizes the workers on the industrial as well as on the political field for the overthrow of capitalism."

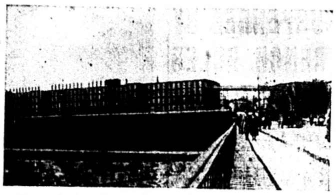
Gitlow's Itinerary.

Scores of letters like this, breathing the spirit of militancy, reach the National Election Campaign Committee every day at its headquarters, 43 East 125th St., New York City.

Gitlow's tour will include the following cities:

Sept. 3, Philadelphia; Sept. 6, Monessen or Canonsburg; Sept. 7, Pittsburgh; Sept. 9, Cleveland; Sept. 10, Youngstown, O.; Sept. 11, Bellaire, O.; Sept. 12, Toledo, O.; Sept. 13, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Sept. 14, Gary, Ind.; Sept. 15, Indianapolis; Sept. 16, St. Louis; Sept. 17, Springfield, Ill.; Sept. 19, Duluth, Minn; Sept. 20, Iron Range; Sept. 22, Bismarck; Sept. 24, Plentywood; Sept. 26, Great Falls; Sept. 28, Spokane; Sept. 30, Sattle; Oct. 1, Portland, Ore; Oct. 2, Astoria; Oct. 4, Oakland; Oct. 5, San Francisco; Oct. 7, Los Angeles; Oct. 9, San Diego; Oct. 10, Phoenix; Oct. 11, Tuscon; Oct. 13, San Antonio; Oct. 14, Houston; Oct. 16, Fort Worth or Dallas; Oct. 17, Oklahoma City; Oct. 18, Tulsa; Oct. 19, Arma, Kan.; Oct. 21, Minneapolis; Oct. 22, Omaha; Oct. 23 Kansas City; Oct. 24, Milwaukee; Oct. 26, Chicago; Oct. 27, Pontiac, Mich.; Oct. 28, Detroit; Oct. 29, Reading; Oct. 30, Philadelphia; Oct. 31, Boston; Nov. 1, Haverhill; Nov. 2, Fall River; Nov. 4, New York; Nov. 5, Providence.

The Bridge to Starvation; Amoskeag Mills



Thousands of workers used to crowd across this bridge over the Merrimac River at Manchester, N. H., in the days when all twenty-seven gates of the Amoskeag Mills, the largest of their kind in the world, were thrown open to the wage-slaves to enter and be driven. Now it is a bridge to famine. Few of the gates are open and only the line of the stragglers shown above is called to work at the mill. However, there is hope alive even in the grim Amoskeag and the town around it. Months ago before the textile workers had walked out in New Bedford, one of the present leaders of the Fall River Textile Mill Committee organized a Mill Committee in these mills also.

MECHANICAL VENDERS DISPLACING CLERKS

(By Federated Press)

Millions of clerks now working behind counters had better lay in a supply of tin cups and lead pencils if Consolidated Automatic Merchandising Corporation (Camco) succeeds in ushering in the "Automatic Age of Merchandising." Clerks go out where Camco comes in. Already United Cigar Stores, at 33rd and Broadway, has laid off several because of clever machines which sell you your favorite brand of cigarettes. These machines differ from Capek's "robots" only in lacking human form. They parrot the cigarette's slogan and end up by saying, "Thank You" in the best mechanical manner for your 15 cents.

And What Not!

Other vending machines carry chocolates, chewing gum, postage stamps, handkerchiefs, mints and perfume, make change and weigh you. They are made by General Vending Corporation, Sanitary Postage Service Corporation, Automatic Merchandising Corporation, Remington Service Machines and Schermack Corporation, all of which have been consolidated into Camco.

On Camco's board are executives of the United Cigar Stores and Remington Arms Co. with representatives of the merged firms, several bankers, a lawyer and a merchandising expert. Camco claims to have access to 50,000,000 retail locations. Wares will be marketed through its automatic machines in Woolworth, United Cigar, Schulte, Liggett, Union News, J. C. Penney, McCrory, Photomaton and other retail outlets.

Open-Shoppers.

Back of the corporation is seen Remington Arms Co., foe of the Machinists Union, breaker of the metal trades strike in Bridgeport, Conn., in the post-war period, and manufacturer of guns, ammunition, typewriters, office machinery and various metal products. Remington takes over the production of automatic postage stamp selling machines, of which 20,000 are in operation now, selling 120,000,000 stamps yearly. Within five years 80,000 more stamp sellers will be installed

Underwood also takes over the genius of Joseph J. Schermack, inventor of the talking automatic machines which now sells cigarettes and makes change but which can be turned into any sort of simple merchandising. Schermack's machine, it has been said, "does everything but slap a man on his back and ask him how his family is."

Thousands Face Elimination.

Following the success of Schermack's machine on Broadway, plans are being made to place 100,000 talking venders throughout the country. Two venders, it is estimated, displace one clerk, or, as Camco executives put it, "release him for more productive efforts."

Another new Remington machine sells gum and mints; 30,000 are in place now and within five years 220,000 will be busy selling goods.

MAIL OF 'SUNDAY WORKER' OPENED

British Police Spy on Communications

LONDON, (By Mail).—English workers' institutions notice regularly that their mail comes a few hours late, since they first pass thru a political control in the post offices. Mail immunity is supposed to be granted by law, but the police in all lands do not seem to mind this law.

The Sunday Worker, a Communist newspaper, made a important discovery lately. The newspaper received in its mail regularly a letter addressed to a bourgeois firm, especially lately did these letters come every day. But it is impossible to locate the firm.

From this fact it is evident that the police spy not only on political organizations but also on private firms when it has an opportunity. Thru the maneuvers of the police officials a false letter is sent to the "Sunday Worker."

The newspaper has published the text of the letter together with a notice that the firm—evidenly a publishing house—to whom the letter is addressed, should announce itself.

DETROIT, Aug. 13.—The strikebreaking Peninsular Stove Company failed in its attempt to convict nine striking iron molders here after they picketed the plant. The company recently tried to introduce non-union conditions.

SAINT NAZAIRE, France, Aug. 13 (UP).—The riddle of the Belgian liner Elizabethville and her fortune in diamonds remains unsolved. An Italian salvage party which has been searching for the diamonds in the wreck of the Elizabethville, sunk by a German submarine during the war, gave up the quest today.

WORKERS MADE INDIGNANT BY SCHOOL COSTS

Robbery Is Fine Art With Educators

(By a Worker Correspondent)

KANSAS CITY (By Mail).—There is a good deal of agitation throughout the country about the graft and general dishonesty of the Harding-Coolidge administration and of Tammany Hall, the real boss of the democratic party. But why pick on just these two political machines of the capitalist class when similar graft and corruption rules in every city and state government.

In Kansas City, Kansas, the board of education annually robs the poor workers out of tens of thousands of dollars. To be sure, free education is a great American principle and tradition. However, the local politicians who sit on the board of education, posing as educators, think differently. They feel that cold cash takes preference to all kinds of principles. They have instituted a system of extorting enormous sums of money from the children for books and school supplies.

Almost every student of the higher grades has to spend from 12 to 15 dollars every term. To some this may not sound as a big sum, but the Kansas City workers find it very hard to spare 12 dollars for books. Particularly hard is it for those workers who make from 20 to 50 cents an hour. The politicians from the board of education have developed their art of robbing the public to a point of unique perfection. In order to assure their steady income of graft they change the text books every year or every second year so that the same text book could not be used again. In addition, a student is compelled to buy the text books even if he proves to know the lessons. So the principle is that one must buy books. The workers are indignant at this robbery. They rightly feel that this hold-up must cease.

The Communist Party here has received a number of letters from working class mothers asking the Party to take up this struggle. The Party, the Young Workers (Communist) League and the Young Pioneers, will surely take up this fight, while at the same time it calls upon the school children and their parents to organize. Some workers think that they can force legislation providing for real free education. The Party makes clear to these deluded workers that with the state and municipal legislatures controlled by the two old parties the workers stand no chance of relief and that the only way to stop this robbery is to organize the school children and the parents and through their organized force compel the school authorities to grant free education.

Imperialist Airplane Crashes in Nicaragua

"In regard to the question of specific film music, which is at present a vital problem for American producers, the Russian cinema leaders take a different attitude, keeping the optical feature of the picture distinctly separate from the phonetic. Although T. Sorokin favors the use of music, as shown in his latest article in the official monthly Sovietskoe Kino, he speaks of natural orchestral music and not of our movietone of vitaphone types of mechanical musical accompaniment. Most of the Soviet film writers consider a motion picture artificial enough without the addition of artificial music.

"'A really well performed and well produced dramatic film does not need any musical accompaniment, except it be an incidental case or during the intermissions,'" writes a Russian critic.

"'While in case of a dance or a ballet-pantomine, music is natural, it is rather disturbing when it is injected into such sentimental boulevard plays as are done by the New York Broadway houses—plays acted in a studio which naturally require no music.'"

"Like the puppet theatre of the middle ages, the motion picture today is a mechanical art, and the Soviet intelligentsia looks at it in that spirit. Fostered and supported by the Soviet authorities, it yet remains an inferior popular art—a kind of evolutionary prelude to the real dramatic stage and real living musical productions such as ballets, operas, orchestral and vocal concerts. It is thus nothing but an elementary step from a primitive to a higher culture, and thus in the Soviet terms a picture should be first and last a kulturfilm.

"So far as I have been able to see the Soviet films, I prefer them to our best productions, regardless of whether they are with or wtihout musical features. To judge the new Russian motion picture justly one should see more than those few proletheistic pictures that have been displayed in America. Let us hope that L. Monoson, the learned representative of the Soviet films in the United States, will enable American audiences to see not only 'October' and 'SVD,' but the different nationalistic productions having typically romantic appeal, such as "Spletnia-Gossip,' 'Cherny Stolb' (Black Post) and others."

COLOMBIA HOUSE OPPOSES MELLON

Seen as Victory for British Oil

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 13.—As British oil interests rejoiced over the temporary defeat of the Mellon interests when the Colombian senate unanimously agreed on a motion congratulating President Abadia for "the proper way in which the oil situation had been handled."

A preliminary motion congratulating the government specifically on the repeal of the Barco oil concession, controlled by the Mellon interests, while meeting with favor was declared unconstitutional for fear of insulting the United States government.

The state department at Washington made it clear yesterday that they were watching the situation carefully and would be ready to intercede for Mellon in case he does not succeed in coming to an agreement with the Colombian government.

WORK 10 HOURS A DAY FOR 45 CENTS AN HOUR

Mitten Serfs Tortured By Speed-up

(By a Worker Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA (By Mail).—The workers engaged in the taxicab industry here are one of the most underpaid and exploited sections of the working class. There is no taxi drivers' union here at the present time. Machinists and auto mechanics are forced to work under the most miserable conditions at the Quaker City Cab Company: 10 hours per day, 7 days per week and sometimes when a storm ties up the cabs they must work many hours overtime.

The speed up that is used here is fierce. If a mechanic fails to turn out a certain amount of cabs he is fired. Mitten, of course, controls this company and this labor-hating exploiter drives the workers almost to madness.

The older workers worry about dismissal continually since a couple of workers are fired each week. The workers protest but the boss says it's hard to get a job but easy to get new men and if you don't do the amount of work required you can go.

No fans are used in the place to draw the deadly gas fumes out. The workers sometimes drop faint in the shop and very often leave work with headaches. The pay is from 45 to 65 cents per hour for machinists and mechanics. The store-keepers and tool-room attendants receive only from 60 to 100 dollars per month for a 12-hour work day and 7-day week. And this exists under Mitten management by Mitten men.

The only way that the older men can get rid of the torture of having to keep up with the younger men to hold thir jobs and to get rid of the fear of being thrown out of work, the only way to have these miserable conditions in general bettered is by having the taxi-workers in Philadelphia to organze into such a strong union which will be able to do what they want and place the bosses under ther own power.

Astoria Militarists Hire Imposter to Speak in the Name of the Communist Party

VETERANS PUT ON PATRIOTIC STUNT TO DUPE WORKERS

But Communists Will Fight Back

In a statement issued by the John J. Dwyer Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, under which name the democratic machine of Queens broke up a meeting and assaulted the speakers of the Workers (Communist) Party last Thursday at the corner of Steinway and Jamaica Aves., Astoria, a vicious attack is made on Communism, and at the same time disclaiming responsibility for the brutal attack on the speakers of the Workers Party.

The statement, issued by County Commander Van Etten, cited as "proof" of the American fascists' so-called fairness the giving of their platform to a "Communist" speaker by the name of Paul Newman after the Communist platform had been assaulted and the speakers beaten up. Newman, who is not and never was a member of the Workers (Communist) Party, was given the Tammanyites' platform and allowed to make false statements concerning the Communist platform and the ultimate aim of Communism in order that a semblance of fair play might be given. Newman was yesterday characterized as an imposter at the District Office of the Workers Party.

Evidence of the fear into which the democratic machine of Queens was thrown by the meetings being held by the Workers (Communist) Party is given in the organized and systematic way in which so-called "free speech parties" are being held in Astoria to offset the exposures of graft and corruption made by the Workers Party. An appeal is made by the Dwyer Post to all corrupt and grafting Queens political clubs to co-operate in meetings to spread capitalist lying propaganda to "the same rank and file citizen who is being reached by the undermining propaganda of the opposition." Other means of spreading the lies of the democratic party will be used, such as pamphlets, booklets and the radio.

"The invasion in our community by the disciples of revolutionary Communism," the statement goes on to say, "has awakened us to the need of developing an effective and constructive Americanization program in a broad and practical manner."

With barefaced hypocrisy the democratic machine of Queens, which broke up the Workers' Party meeting last week, rolls off such phrases as "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." The same corrupt organization which made off with millions of dollars in sewer specifications graft talks glibly of "equality of opportunity" in its statement, issued under the name of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The platform of the Workers (Communist) Party will be again set up next Thursday, August 16, at the corner of Steinway and Jamaica Aves., and the platform of the Workers' Party will be expounded by prominent Communist speakers, among them Robert Minor, editor of the Daily Worker and Communist candidate for U. S. Senate. Other speakers will be Rebecca Grecht, Communist candidate for Assembly from the Fifth Assembly District of the Bronx; Abraham Harfield, one of the speakers who was beaten up by the "advocates of free speech and personal liberty" last week, and Communist candidate for Assembly from the First Assembly District of Queens; Max Schachtman, editor of the Labor Defender; Verne Smith, editor of Labor Unity; P. Shapiro and Donald Burke.

Workers of Astoria are asked to attend the Communist meeting next Thursday as a demonstration of protest against the action of the Astoria democrats, hiding under the cloak of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The speakers will devote a large part of their talks to the exposure of the graft and corruption which rule Queens County. Workers of Queens will be reminded, also, that the country of the democratic and republican bosses was born in revolution. Part of the attack on the Communists made by the democratic machine of Queens was based on Communism being not "reformative and progressive" but revolutionary.

The workers of Waukegan are taking a keen interest in the election campaign of the Communists, and in their fight for free speech. Bedacht is one of the best speakers of the Party, and a very large crowd is expected to attend this meeting.

30 INJURED IN ELEVATED CRASH

Wooden Cars are Held Responsible

before the danger signals could be set, another train rounded the curve and crashed into the first. The failure of the company to provide automatic signals which have frequently been made the subject of agitation, is given as a contributing cause for the accident.

Fire Breaks Out

Fire which immediately broke out, added to the danger and confusion. Two cars immediately buckled following the crash, the motorman's vestibule crumpled up like paper and a number of cars left the rails. Firemen from a nearby station were rushed to the scene and put out the blaze. Ladders were raised from the street by which some of the passengers descended. Others were carried out and still others were able to walk back to the Crescent Street station one block east of the wreck.

Same Cause.

The accident follows another less than a month ago which occurred on the Ninth Avenue elevated I. R. T. line near 66th St. and which resulted in the death of one worker and the injury of over sixty others. In this instance, wooden cars were likewise to blame. The company officials of the transit commission worked to fix the blame on the motorman of the train, Stanley Zelig, who was arrested and held on a charge of manslaughter.

BRITISH CRISIS IN UNEMPLOYED

1,300,000 Workers Out of Jobs

LONDON, Aug. 13 (UP).—Increasing alarm is being expressed over the unemployment situation in Great Britain, with 1,300,000 men out of work.

The ranks of the idle have been swelled by approximately 20,000 a week since the end of May, and the situation, it is feared, will grow worse. Approximately 250,000 more men are idle than at this time last year.

The press has begun to express grave concern. The Sunday Times in an editorial said the problem will dwarf other political issues in the next session of parliament and may be the dominant issue in the 1929 general election.

The recent report of the industrial transference board made it clear that unemployment in many big industries, notably coal, is beyond the capacity of the industries to absorb. In other words, the expedient of transferring workers to new fields will prove useless.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13. — The telegraphers working on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad have won an increase in wages.

STRIKE OF OHIO STEEL WORKERS IN SECOND WEEK

Men are Determined to Win Ohio Strike

CANTON, Ohio, Aug. 13.—Under the leadership of the Central Alloy Steel Mill Committee, five hundred steel workers entered the second week of their strike at the Central Alloy plant today. The spirit of the men is militant and they have announced their determination to bring out the workers in the Massillon and Canton units of the corporation.

Agitation among the men in the mills is being actively pushed in spite of the efforts of the steel corporation to prevent it. Knowledge that if the grinders and chippers lose their strike, wages will go down in every department of the plant is causing a demand for a strike thruout the mills.

Leaders of the Central Alloy Mill Committee state it as their opinion that the walk-out will spread to the other departments and mills within the next few days.

The strike which began last Monday is the third since July 25 when the steel corporation put over its initial wage cut, when wages first dropped from six dollars a day to $5.50. The bosses later promised to raise the scale to fifty-five cents an hour with the result that [illegible]

A statement issued by the union later, declared that in spite of the capitalist court's attempt to wreck the strike by jailing its leadership, the struggle against the wage cut will continue and grow larger. Leaders of this union are developed from the ranks, and new forces step in to lead in the struggle when necessary.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 13.—A quiet but extensive mobilization of forces is now the order of the day among the strikers beginning their second week of a struggle against the American Printing Company, the Lincoln Manufacturing Company and the Algonquin Mills, in an effort to annul a 10 per cent wage cut.

The week will be marked, leaders of the Textile Mill Committees declared, with continued insistence of the striking workers on their right to picket the struck plants. All last week, beginning with the first day of the strike, the police forces here ferociously attacked any formation of strikers patrolling the plants.

Police Terror.

Despite this an equal brutal court terror that culuminated in six month jail sentences imposed yesterday on the union leaders and over 80 arrests, the workers succeeded in spreading the strike from the American Printing Co. mills to the plants of the other corporations.

Presenting a revised lineup, the Boston Red Sox defeated the Cleveland Indians, 6 to 2. Todt went back to first base, Rothrock to third and Rogell to short. The Red Sox drove Grant out of the box in the first five innings, and Miljus, who replaced him, put in the two more.

Ed Morris pitched his fourteenth victory of the season for the Red Sox.

The Pittsburgh Pirates won from the Brooklyn Robins, 6 to 1, in the only other major league game. Ray Kremer held the Robins to six hits and was effective in the pinches.

LABOR SPORTS IN U. S. SPREADING

History of Workers' Athletics Traced

By FRANK BRONBERGER.

Why do we need workers' sports? This is a question that has been ignored by the official American labor movement and only recently have the workers themselves begun to show some interest in labor sports.

Sports in ancient times were part of the amusement of the ruling class. The gladiators of ancient Rome were nothing but slaves selected to fight lions or themselves for the pleasure and entertainment of the rulers.

First Workers' Sports Clubs.

Each successive ruling class has [illegible] Soviet Union.

Labor Sports in U. S.

The United States is a country where professional sports have been developed to a greater degree than in any other country in the world. Labor sports in this country are 50 years behind Europe. The first workers' sports clubs in the United States were organized by immigrants about the year 1900. Cut off, however, by language and customs from the rest of the country, these clubs remained small, isolated groups and soon passed out of existence.

Within the past few years a new workers' sports movement has sprung to life and is showing signs of increasing activity. Steps were taken several years ago to organize the Workers' Gymnastic and Sports Alliance of America and in addition, the Labor Sports' Union was founded a year and a half ago.

Both organizations are operating successfully. On Aug. 25 and 26 the Labor Sports' Union will hold its second national athletic meet at Wingate Field, Brooklyn, in which many working class athletes from all over the country will take part. This meet is an event of the greatest importance in the labor sports movement in this country and should be supported by all those who are genuinely interested in fostering labor sports.

YOUNG WORKERS GIVE OUT HAND BILLS; ARRESTED

Were Distributing Anti-Military Leaflets

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 13.—Seventeen young workers, all members of the Young Workers (Communist) League, eight girls and nine boys, were arrested by jingo authorities at Camp Grant, after they had distributed over a thousand leaflets to the Illinois guardsmen. They were all taken to the county jail, to await further action of the military officials in charge of the camp.

Charges placed against them by Captain James U. Sammis, Jr., provost marshall of the camp, were "distributing Communist literature on a government reservation and to soldiers of the Illinois national guard."

This was the second arrest of members of the Young Workers (Communist) League within the last week. The ages of the young workers arrested ranged from 15 to 20 years.

The young workers were arrested after they had been distributing leaflets to soldiers in the camp for twenty minutes. The soldiers were reading the leaflets, which urged them [illegible] imperialist [illegible] defend [illegible] arrested.

Now they are being held by jail "until the government [illegible] action." The arrests, however, did not dampened the spirit of the young workers. In a letter, one of them says, "These arrests have not scared us in the least. We will continue to distribute more anti-militarist leaflets and continue to hold more open air meetings despite the dirty tactics of the police and jingoes of the National Guard."

Worker Stays at Post Despite Grave Injury

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Edward R. Gosnell, 45, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad engineer, stayed at the throttle of his train yesterday despite an accident that may prove fatal.

Gosnell's head struck a low bridge near Laurel, Md., while examining the water gauge on his locomotive. The blow knocked him back into the cab and left a severe gash in his head.

He refused, however, to leave his post until the train reached Hyattsville, 10 miles distant. There he was taken to a hospital where physicians pronounced his condition critical.

Blood of Chinese Workers

The arrests of 15 Chinese and other workers in New York Sunday for making a collection for the trade unionists of China can be taken as another "little" indication of the official American attitude toward the world-shaking events in that great country. The United States government is in the process of "recognizing China," with the support of "liberals" and "socialists" here by extending its support to the mercenary gang of adventurers headed by Chiang Kai-shek, calling itself the "government of China," or the "Nanking government." And even down to the thickest headed Tammany policeman, this becomes the key to the policy officially applied throughout the country. The Sunday tag-day arrests were apparently incited by the Kuomintang organization in New York, which in its own puny way follows the lead of the cut-throats of Nanking.

The incident of the arrests must not be allowed to pass without being used to rouse American workers to the real situation in China and the meaning of Coolidge's "help" to "China," which is in fact nothing more than the bribery of a bureaucratic organization and a parasitic layer of Chinese society for the privilege of throttling a nation.

The enormity of the crimes being committed in China today are almost entirely beyond the present, sluggish imagination of the bulk of American workers. Out of a population of approximately 400,000,000, it is estimated that more than 300,000 have already been slaughtered by the white terror. The bloody work of the mercenary tools of foreign imperialism, of whom the traitor Chiang Kai-shek has become the chief, is only vaguely suggested by the perfunctory dispatches that tell of occasional wholesale executions.

The All-China Federation of Labor has issued a list of slogans for use in the struggle, which will give some idea of the torture that our Chinese brother workers are enduring, and at the same time the sublime courage that they are putting into the fight for freedom. Here are the slogans sent to us:

"White terror in China has already killed 318,000 workers and peasants."

"'We are not afraid of defeats. We have the support of the world proletariat and the Soviet Union!' the Chinese workers and peasants say."

"'The Kuomintang is grabbing the people? The three principles are killing the people. Down with the Kuomintang and its three principles!' the Chinese peasants say."

"'Down with the Kuomintang flag of white terror! Up with the red flag of hammer and sickle!'—tell the Chinese workers."

"'Oh! How can we kill all the Communists? The workers and peasants nearly all are Communists!'—cry the reactionaries in desperation."

"'Rather kill a thousand innocent than to let one escape!'—the militarists say."

"'It's the Communists who are demanding back pay. It's the Communists who are striking. They should be killed!'—the Chinese capitalists say."

"The Kuomintang besides shooting workers and peasants leaders and Communists applies such primitive barbarous punishments as: extracting eyeballs, cutting out hearts, peeling off skin, cutting off breasts, pulling out finger nails, using bayonets to pierce the sexual organs of women already shot, pouring boiling water on chests, beheading, cutting people in two at the waist, etc."

"'What is it to kill a few hundred workers? It's easier to find a few hundred workers than to find as many dogs!'—say the imperialist capitalists in Shanghai."

Surely there is a ghastly touch of reality in this that ought to stir American workers to action. The workers of this country must be made to realize the tremendous role the Chinese revolution is playing in history today. Betrayed, and apparently "killed" by the treacherous and corrupt Chiang Kai-shek, the Revolution only shows itself to be more alive than ever. Red Armies have been flung together out of chaos and have already won several important victories.

The labor movement in Asia! Could anything at the present time be more important? The imperialists know it and are trying to exterminate the labor movement there. The American workers must know it, and must help with all their might.

Big Bill Dwyer Comes Out.

Bill Dwyer was the Whisky King, up 'till two years ago.

He headed the gang that brought 50,000,000 gallons into the United States and, to accomplish it, built up a bootleg marine of eighteen deep-sea vessels and uncounted high-power motor boats.

Millions in profits came in to this truly royal figure in an American business—a business which we can be sure is no small factor in politics and commerce.

Many of the millions went to bribe the prohibition officers of the Coolidge-Mellon-Hoover administration. Don't forget that. And don't forget what millions in bribes can do to an administration—especially a Coolidge administration. Remember Albert B. Fall and Harry Daugherty, "clean as a hound's tooth," and Jess Smith, sitting in Daugherty's office in the department of justice to receive the bribes arising from the bootleg and pardon department, and later dying by a pistol-shot in Daugherty's and his joint residence just at a critical moment when exposure seemed inescapable. At another critical moment when exposure seemed inescapable, the chief of the gang, Warren G. Harding, died in an unexplained way, by which death Coolidge became president. When again the ghosts of Teapot Dome and the Continental Trading Company bribe-money began to walk and even to edge into the cabinet at the elbow of Mellon, Coolidge was able to pass the presidential nomination on to Herbert B. Hoover, also a member of the Harding-Coolidge-Daugherty-Jess Smith gang.

Hoover, who went mum through the Harding-Coolidge administrations of eight years of graft and perjury and suicide as a cabinet member, is now in a hard-fought campaign. In this campaign Booze is an issue, and the attitude of each candidate toward Booze will play a part in the winning or losing of two states which may be decisive in the election: New York and Massachusetts. Smith has the edge on Hoover on the Booze question in these two "free-liquor" states. Hoover must be for prohibition to carry other states, but must make a showing somewhat favorable to the thirst of a large social element in New York.

Why does the Coolidge-Hoover administration find it best now in the election campaign to release the Whisky King?

Can the Whisky King do something for Hoover in New York?

Of course the bootleg business has a stake in prohibition. Prohibition and the bootleg business are twins in a capitalist society.

When Big Bill Dwyer went to the pen the millions of bootleg profits and bootleg bribe money did not go with him.

And Big Bill Dwyer is out. "Ill health" is the vague reason given, but the "ill health" is not explained.

Perhaps it was home-sickness.

CAMPAIGN CORNER

National Platforms are selling in thousands. Orders are pouring into Campaign Headquarters. One letter may contain a lowly dime for one copy, while another may contain a check for $100 worth. Pat Devine reports that 100 copies were sold at an anti-war mass meeting held recently in Minneapolis and that many more would have been sold had not the supply given out.

• • •

"Please send me at once 200 copies of 'The Platform of the Class Struggle.' Enclosed is a check to cover same," writes Anita Whitney of Oakland, California.

Comrade Whitney recently bought $100 worth of Vote Communist stamps.

The Tribune of Salt Lake City is conducting a straw vote campaign. In a recent issue the result of a vote taken at an auto tourist camp gave Hoover 59, Smith 31, Foster 3 and Thomas 1. Of the 31 votes cast for Smith 11 voted for Coolidge in 1924, 9 voted for Davis and 5 for LaFollette. The 16 that switched to Smith from the republican party and its offshoot, the LaFollette split, merely jumped from the fryin' pan into the fire.

And the Ladies' Educational Club of Kansas City, Kansas, contributed $5 to the Communist Election Campaign. Kansas is the home of Charles Curtis, Hoover's running mate. Foster and Gitlow will pay their respects to this pair when they speak in Kansas.

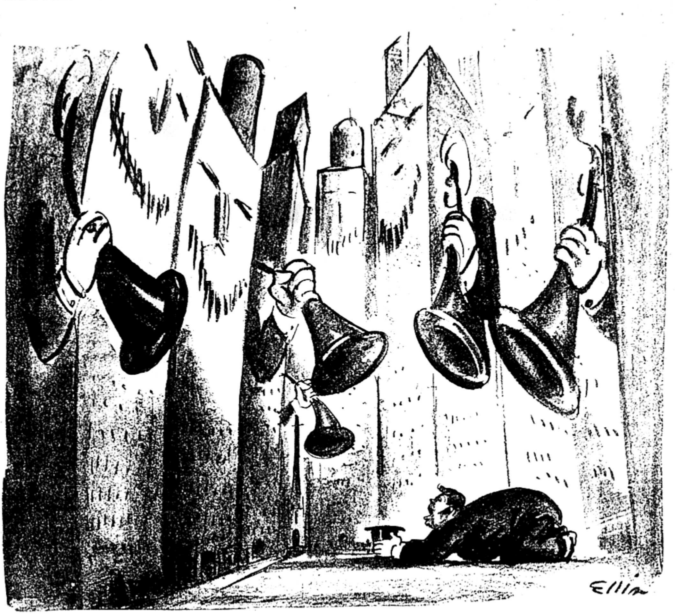
At a recent meeting of the Lithuanian chorus, "Aidas," it was decided to help the Workers (Communist) Party election campaign. A check for $10 was forwarded to the National Election Campaign Committee, 43 East 125th St.

HOOVER ACCEPTS THE WALL STREET NOMINATION

By Fred Ellis



The Working Youth Conference

Rationalization; Needle Trades; Clerks; the Unorganized; the Young Worker

By PHILIP FRANKFELD.

THE General Working Youth Conference comes at an opportune time. We are living in a period of a sharp depression in the country. This sharp depression follows the period of prosperity which to some extent succeeded in lulling the masses of workers to sleep.

At the present time, with industries like mining and textile undergoing deep-going crises; with the workers in both industries involved in great struggles; with the bosses trying hard to solve the crisis at the expense of the workers; with the workers in many instances showing increased willingness and capacity to resist the onslaughts of the bosses, it is doubly important to draw the young workers into the struggle.

Rationalization Process.

The process of rationalization which on one hand calls for greater efficiency, the introduction of new and more advanced machinery, greater speedup of the workers, mass production, etc. at the same time means a concerted drive on the part of the employers to cut wages, to lengthen hours and to smash the organizations of the workers. The workers are in no mood to accept this attempt to reduce their standard of living; the workers show more signs of restlessness and discontent than in many years past since 1919-21, and most important to us as Communists—a growing militancy and capacity for struggle.

We can point to many instances of this, but instead will limit ourselves right to New York in order to find corroboration.

Left Wing Takes Offensive.

In the needle trades the left-wing has again taken the offensive and has started an organization campaign to re-establish the Union which the Sigman gang succeeded in destroying—but without Sigman. In Local 43, the young millinery workers have so far successfully stopped the destructive tactics of the Zaritsky machine and have retained their militant leadership and their strong local union. In the furriers, the left-wing has been consolidating its position-while the right wingers have had splits within their own camp.

Struggle of Clerks.

The Fruit and Grocery Clerks have engaged in several struggles in defense of their Union and union conditions; the Dental Mechanics are still out on strike for recognition of their Union; the Waiters and Waitresses in both Brooklyn and New York; the mens clothing workers (who were later on sold out by the Amalgamated officials) and even the workers on the ferry-boats on the Battery, who pulled the famous strike on July 4th. And today, the barbers in upper Harlem went out on strike for recognition of the Union.

Youth Aid Adult Strike.

It is quite evident from even this partial list that many young workers were involved in these strikes. The grocery and fruit clerks, the dental mechanics and the paper-box makers are mostly youth. In the mens clothing strike, in Wasserman Clothing Co. for example, fully 50 per cent of those whe went out on strike were young workers. These young workers were not unionized, but nevertheless joined the adult workers when they went out on strike.

Young Workers Will Fight.

And just last week the strike of the shirt-makers in Perth Amboy. Most of them were young workers. They were militant, they were full of fight. The strike was spontaneous In this one case one gets a clear picture of what the immediate future holds in store for the general labor movement. The young workers were never overpaid; they were never bribed by the bosses. The young workrs are not organized-and now with the intensification of exploitation of the workers, with the speedup, wage cuts, and so forth, the young workers will also fight back-and fight back strong. Only in this light can we consider the lessons of the Perth Amboy shirt makers strike.

Communists Must Do Organizing.

It is the duty of the left-wing and the Communists to organize the unorganized workers. The bureaucracy is going more and more to the right. They cannot and will not organize the unorganized. The so-called progressives are too fearful, are too hesitant, are too much afraid of antagonizing the "official" labor movement.

The Communists and the left-wingers must without hesitation assume leadership over the struggles of the unskilled, semi-skilled, and unorganized workers. Especially since our main emphasis at this time is to work among the unorganized workers and for the creation of new independent unions.

Problem of Unorganized.

The question of the young workers is an integral part of the general question of the unorganized since the youth constitute so large a percentage of it. The General Working Youth Conference is a step in the direction of helping to organize the unorganized. Every Communist, every left-winger worker, every militant worker in the trade-unions, in large shops and in small shops every place where there are young workers employed-must give their utmost support to this campaign to organize the unorganized young workers. Left wing and Communist workers must fight in their local unions for the sending of delegates to the General Working Youth Conference in September, for the endorsement of the resolution, for the election of delegates in organized shops include young workers—one for every ten—and in unorganized shops. We have had too much of talk, we must now take steps to actually organize the youth.

A Hero of His Time: General Sandino

A Portrait of a Great Fighter; Challenges the American Empire; "A Bandit"

By MAX GRILLO

(Translated by Sol Auerbach.)

(This article appeared in French in Henri Barbuse's weekly paper, "Le Monde.")

A young Hispano-American, doctor of law of the University of Paris told me of the interview which he had with Augusto Sandino in his own camp. From Honduras he had to scale high and almost impassable mountains before he reached the encampment of Sandino.

Augusto Sandino personifies the conscience of the Spanish-American, from the day when his chief Moncada decided to fold his flag before imperialist diplomacy. Sandino and his three hundred companions swore to repel the invaders or to die on the barricades. Like Cordoba, the hero of Ayacucho, the brave Nicaraguan was able to say that if it was impossible to conquer it was not impossible to die.

Loved By His Men.

With three hundred guns and seven thousand cartridges he undertook to realize this noble action. Admirably acquainted with the territory, raised in the school of danger, he decided to carry on a guerilla warfare of rapid marches and hazardous attacks.

He has captured thirty cannon of the latest model, with which he several times repulsed the inexpert infantry of the Saxon-American United States marines. His three hundred companions are now eight hundred heroes, the most glorious legion which Amerca has seen. Among them are Salvadorans, Mexicans, Guatemalians, Argentinians, some Germans, some Colombians, some Peruvians.

This young and gay hero is extraordinarily loved by his men. They obey him and admire him. In the Roman manner one of his companions is always at his side ready to put Sandino to death rather than to see him taken captive. In the depth of a ravine, in the most hidden spot of the encampment he has his staff headquarters. On the wall, a portrait, that of Bolivar. "I am the son of Bolivar," Sandino said to his visitor, and he added:

Marine Terror.

"If I commanded two thousand men like those who surround me now I would throw an army of ten thousand marines out of Nicaragua. They do not know how to fight. They run away. They have no initiative. In my camp no one drinks alcohol; my men drink only pure water, but only from certain springs and certain sources, because I have been obliged to make the greatest part of the water sources unusable, as a just reprisal to the use of poison gas by the North Americans. I accept the war until the time when the invaders shall leave my rountry. They are very strong and powerful. . . . I myself am a weak soldier. God will say the last word.

"I know that at Washington I am called a bandit; but never does Sandino and his men violate women, never mutilate the corpses of their enemy. Look at these photographs. Return to your country and tell what you have seen; go to Europe and tell Paris that the bandit Sandino does not dishonor his small victories. I have some prisoners, among others an officer of high rank, for whom I have been offered a ransom of five thousand dollars. I have also been offered fifty thousand dollars to sign for peace. As if those who stoically accept death can think of the gold of the enemies of his country. Evidently they think me no more important than Diaz."

"And what are the limits of your republic of Nouvelle Segovie?" my friend asked.

Fights Imperialism.

"My country, the one for which I am fighting, has the frontiers of Latin America. When I began my campaign I though only of Nicaragua; but then, in the middle of danger and when I realized that the blood of the invaders had been absorbed by the soil of my country, my ambition grew. I have thought of all of the Central American Republics, of which one of my companions drew a map. Look, an extended arm which supports five mountains and on the highest point a 'guetzal.' Know that the guetzal is the bird of liberty, because he dies twenty-four hours after he has been captured."

Sandino continued: "I have organized a government in the country dominated by my forces. With the telephone material that I have taken on my assault on the Yankee marines I have established a net of communication between various points. With gold from the mines in the region I have manufactured money. Say to Latin America that, as long as Sandino breathes, the independence of Latin America will have a defender. Never will I betray my cause. For that reason I have called myself the son of Bolivar."

Told You So

SENATOR Jim Reed has lost his political grip on Missouri. He supported a wet for the senatorship but a dry won. The Missourians, however, to show that they have no fundamental objection to a schooner of beer gave the gubernatorial democratic nomination to a man who would grow two beers where there is now only one. And the successful dry wired Al Smith that he would do his utmost to put Missouri in the Smith column and help keep the beer pumps working in the cellars of New York.

• • •

H. L. MENCKEN says that Al Smith is an exhilarating cocktail while Herbert Hoover is a dose of aspirin. Queer that such a resourceful fellow as Mencken did not think of running a bromo selzer with Al.

THE Public Committee on Power is gnashing its teeth because the plan to consolidate the proposal to merge the Consolidated Gas Company and the Brooklyn Edison Company was approved by the Public Service Commission. The commission refused the Public Committee on Power a hearing tho Governor Smith, for reasons of political expediency, suggested that they be given a chance to take a crack at the merger. Fighting consolidations is a Quixotic business. Better consolidate the employes of the gas trust into a powerful, militant industrial union and organize for the purpose of taking over the gas companies and other public utilities for the benefit of the workers, under a Workers' and Farmers' Government.

SOMETIMES the Nicaraguan people who are defending their country against the American imperialists are termed "rebels" and sometimes "bandits." The New York Times will have them bandits, come what may. Strange how this man Sandino succeeds in leading the war of liberation despite the frequency with which he is bombed, killed and captured. He even surrenders occasionally. Reminds us of General De Wet of Boer war fame. De Wet was always getting surrounded and just when London was about to go on a victory spree and sing "We don't want to fight but by jingo if we do, we have the men we have the guns and we have the money do" the foxy Boer would show up in the rear of his pursuers and pepper their posteriors with lead.

LORD ASQUITH'S war diary which is running in the Hearst papers makes interesting reading. What a lot of dumbbells those British strategists were! Rarely were the generals and high politicians on speaking terms with each other. Scores of thousands of men were sacrificed because of the incompetency of General French who kept a well-stocked harem at the rear of the front. But for the tremendous resources of the British Empire and the aid of the American ruling class at the most crucial moment in the war, the "tight little isle" would now be either a Workers' Republic or a hunting ground for the Kaiser.

HOOVER is going to wage a hellish campaign. All his pep songs carry the smell of brimstone and sulphur. His national anthem is "Hail, Hail, the gang's all here; What the hell do we care; What the hell do we care," and for an encore he has: "Besides a hell of an engineer, he's a hell of a regular guy." This is getting too hot. What will the bushbaptists of the alfalfa regions think of this kind of propaganda?

CHICAGO has finally succeeded in demoralizing Greek political life. Our latest information from Athens is that several prominent Greek politicians were kidnapped on the eve of election and are held for ransom. In fact the Greek opposition went farther than their contemporaries in Chicago. The worst the Chicagoans did was to hold the enemy until after his ward was made safe for the kidnapers' candidate. They might take him for a "ride" or bump him off if he proved obstreperous but it is not recorded that they ever held him up for any more than he carried in his jeans. It is always thus, the convert is almost certain to outdo the teacher in zeal.

THE Sultans and their millions of wives may cause an earthquake if they decide to roll over in their graves at the news that the Turkish crown jewels are to be sold to establish a state bank. There is some dispute over whether the Turkish collection is more valuable than the czarist collection now under Soviet lock and key. It is possible that the Sultans had the largest collection. It is the custom in the Occident even as in the Orient for a bridegroom to bestow a bauble of some kind on his atavistic bride and since the Sultans were rather well disposed towards the fair sex and at times generous, it is a reasonable assumption that they collected more jewels than the czars, who after all, lived in a colder climate.

COMMUNIST PARTY URGES MINERS TO BUILD NEW UNION

WORKERS PARTY GOES ON BALLOT IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Ticket Now Qualified in 11 States

Speed Campaign for Signatures

South Dakota has been added to the number of states on whose official ballots the Workers (Communist) Party ticket will appear in the elections according to a telegram received today by the National Election Campaign Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party, 43 East 125th St., New York City, from Arthur Starr, special organizer in the agricultural regions of the Northwest.

The necessary number of petitions has been filed with the secretary of state for South Dakota, Starr reports. The working farmers of that state, who were fooled by Townley and his fake get-rich-quick oil schemes, are now beginning to realize that there is no short-cut to emancipation from the perennial troubles that afflict the farmers.

On Ballot in 11 States.

The Communist ticket is now on the ballot in 11 states, and organizers are actively engaged making the necessary preparations to qualify it in the majority of the other states of the Union. In some states getting the party ticket on the ballot is little more than a formality, but in states like New York and Ohio it is a stupendous task to collect the necessary number of signatures.

In addition to South Dakota the Communist ticket is on the ballot in the following states: Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Michigan, Arkansas, Iowa, Kansas and New Mexico.

The work of putting the Party ticket on the ballot in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine is somewhat handicapped because of the energy and finances thrown into the New Bedford and Fall River textile struggles by the Party organization in New England. Alex. Bail, district organizer, reports, however, that the Communist ticket will be on the ballot in those three states.

Progress is being made in collecting signatures in New York State, but the Party, members must show more enthusiasm than hitherto dis-

DU PONT "GIVES" $50,000 TO SMITH

Pierre S. Du Pont, multi-millionaire munitions king, it was learned yesterday, has punctuated his support of Tammany Al Smith by a contribution of $50,000 to the governor's campaign fund, the largest contribution yet to be made to the democratic vote-buying chest.

No limit will be set to the size of contributions, John J. Raskob, manager of the Smith campaign and business associate of Du Pont, announced.

Other contributors to the fund were John D. Ryan, president of the open-shop Anaconda Copper Company with $10,000, and John T. Smith, counsel for the General Motors Corporation with another $10,000.

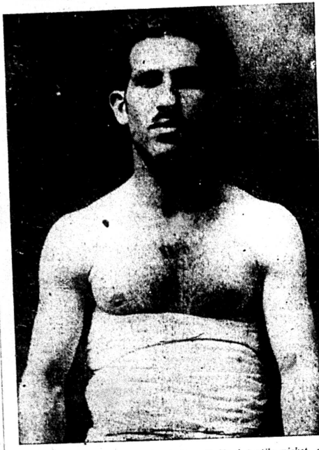
Bukharin Report in 'Daily' Saturday

Saturday's issue of the Daily Worker will contain the full stenographic transcript of the report made by Bukharin on behalf of the Executive Committee of the Communist International at the Sixth Congress of the International now in session at Moscow.

This is one of the most important reports that has been made in many years—it is the official statement of the views of the general staff of the greatest revolutionary organization that ever existed. It analyzes and clarifies all of the big questions of world politics and class struggle which interest the workers everywhere.

In Saturday's Daily Worker you will get it complete in the official text, as just received from Moscow. It will cover two full newspaper pages, and the Daily Worker will be enlarged to 8 pages, this Saturday, in order to publish it without omitting the customary material.

Mill Picket Leader Beaten in Prison



Augusto C. G. Pinto, militant New Bedford textile picket, who was arrested for the eleventh time when the police jailed two entire picket lines at the Whitman Mill recently, has been beaten up in the "house of correction." He is shown above with the bandages around his abdomen. It is a common occurence in American class warfare for police or detectives to jump off a chair onto a man's stomach.

PINTO, PICKET LEADER, TELLS OF HIS TORTURE

By SYLVAN A. POLLACK.

Battered and bruised, A. C. Gonzales Pinto, militant picket leader of the New Bedford textile strikers, lies at the point of consumption. Brutally beaten with blackjacks because he acted as an inspiration to the rest of the strikers, Pinto was savagely attacked in the House of Correction after he was arrested on August 3.. Since the strike started April 16 he has been jailed 12 times.

When visited in his home in the garret at 829 Water St., Pinto was still suffering from the unhuman treatment meted out to him by the mill owners' agents. Asked to tell of his experiences, Pinto told me the following:

"After I was arrested on Aug. 30, I was taken to the the House of Correction. Placed in a cell with another striker I started to speak to him in a whisper. The keepers told me to shut up and I did not say any more.

Handcuffed.

"The next morning I was taken to court to be arraigned on the charges against me. I was handcuffed and compelled to walk that way through the streets to the court house. I objected to that kind of treatment and told the detective that the capitalist class has special laws for the workers. When I said this he scowled and it was easy to see that he was angry.

"Later I was brought back to the House of Correction and placed in cell 30. This was about nine o'clock at night. An hour later a flashlight was turned on my darkend cell and four men entered. It was so dark that I could not see their faces. They dragged me thru the corridor and took me down into the basement into a special cell called the "hole." The men did not speak and neither did I.

Brutally Beaten.

"About three hours later the four men entered the hole. One of them said: 'Did you bring the blackjack?' and another answered: 'Yes.' Then they went into action. One man

CHUKHNOVSKY READY

Courageous Aviator to Leave on Krassin

MOSCOW, Aug. 14 (UP).—Early resumption of the search for Ronald Amundsen and members of the lost dirigible Italia in the Arctic was announced today by the Soviet Relief Committee.

Repairs have been completed to the plane of the Russian aviator Chukhnovsky, which was wrecked on one of his earlier rescue flights and towed back to safety by the icebreaker Krassin.

The Krassin was instructed to rush repairs to her prow, damaged recently in the ice, and to pick up Chukhnovsky. The ship then will proceed to search for Amundsen and the party of Renato Alessandrini, lost when the Italia crashed.

The "Krassin" succeeded in saving most of the lost crew after all the other rescue parties failed, and are now the only ones left in the struggle in the Arctic.

UNION OFFICIALS MOVE TO DITCH RAILWAY STRIKE

70,000 Workers Taking Walkout Vote

To Hold Ballot Secret Until Sept. 2

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Officials of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen are doing everything in their power to avert a walkout of 70,000 workers employed on roads operating west of Chicago, it was learned today. Even if the vote which is now being taken should favor a strike, a strike will not be called, officials of the union declared.

70,000 Voting.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14 (UP).—A strike vote affecting 70,000 railroad employes and 98 per cent of the railroads operating west of Chicago, was being cast today by Western members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the order of Railway Conductors.

A call for the vote was issued after attempts to arbitrate demands of the trainmen failed in Chicago last week. The men have asked increases of 10 per cent for yardmen and 18 per cent for trainmen and conductors.

The railroaders, according to A. F. Whitney, president of the trainmen's organization, agreed to accept an offer of seven and one-half per cent, but the settlement was conditioned upon two of the union groups abolishing certaining working rules.

Abolition of the rules, Whitney declared, would have offset the increase agreed upon and would have lowered the standards of pay in comparison with those received in other sections of the country.

The strike vote will be tallied here and will be announced September 2 Whitney said.

NEW UNION CALLS CLOAK WORKERS

Tear Up Boss Union's Books, Is Slogan

Climaxed by the slogan issued to the masses of workers in the cloak and dress manufacturing industry here to "tear up the books of the company union and join the cloakmakers' union of and for the workers," a call was issued yesterday by the National Organization Committee which will be distributed among the workers today by the thousands. It declares in part:

"Strike while the iron is hot. Let all together begin the task of building a union. Every worker in the industry must become a member of the union. Every shop in the trade must immediately put itself under the leadership of the National Organization Committee. Let the employers feel the united strength of the cloakmakers who are fighting to abolish the chaotic condition in the industry, brought about by the Sigman-Schlesinger clique.

"A cloakmakers' union as against a company union! This was the slogan launched by the 15,000 cloak and dressmakers gathered at the huge mass meeting in the Bronx Stadium.

"No time must be lost. You must immediately join the ranks of the builders. Your decisive action has thrown the camp of betrayers into a state of paralyzed fear. The convulsive hysterics of the advertising agent, Schlesinger, in the employers' yellow sheet, the 'Forward,' proclaims to the world their hopeless fear of facing the new movement.

"Safeguard the foundations of your union! All must join. All must help build the organization!

"Let every man or woman engaged in manufacturing cloaks and dresses join our union. Struggle for human working conditions in the factories.

"Tear up the books of the company union! Drive their agents out of your shops! Bring shop complains to your own union, 16 W. 21st St. Enroll yourselves as members of the union. Take out membership books at $3.35. Pay your dues regularly. Help in everything that leads to the erection of a strong, clean and united Cloakmakers' Union of and for the workers."

Ford's Genius Makes Famine Gradual, Sure

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 14.—Firing workers whose pay envelopes average seven dollars and fifty cents a day and re-hiring them at five dollars is the latest wrinkle which Ford efficiency has introduced into starvation in the automotive industry.

The new device for driving the men to the wall has had its initial tryout at the Ford battery department, where those survived the merciless speed-up long enough to feel themselves safe, now suddenly find themselves at the employment gate with no chance for a job paying more than five dollars.

Many of the older men are being immediately replaced by others who are scarcely more than boys and are better able to endure the speed-up and willing to take the decrease in pay.

There is no question that the "vanishing pay-envelope" stunt, now that it has won its spurs in the battery department, will be gradually extended to other departments of Ford industry.

RED WEEK TO AID ELECTION DRIVE

Tag Days Planned for Aug. 20-26

The week of August 20 to 26, set aside as Red Week, and culminating with the Tag Days of Saturday and Sunday, August 25 and 26, will find the election campaign of the Workers (Communist) Party on its financial feet.

Under the slogan, "Strike a blow for the Party of the Working Class" and aptly illustrated by a picture of a worker eagerly rolling up his sleeves for a crack at an amply proportioned capitalist whose head is a money-bag and whose nose is a dollar sign, the District Office of the Workers (Communist) Party has printed a colored leaflet to be distributed by the thousands among New York workers this week, mo-

MAYOR NOT IN TO MILL DELEGATES

Murdoch Free to Lead Again Monday

(Special to The DAILY WORKER)

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 14.—A committee of 30 striking members of the New Bedford Textile Workers Union, chosen by the thousands of strikers to lodge formal protest with Mayor Ashley against the vicious police attacks on picket lines and the barring of strikers' children from the city's public parks, appeared in the City Hall yesterday and was told by an official that the mayor had left five minutes ago.

While permission to picket is the chief demand of the Textile Mill Committees' members, the union will insist on the right to use the public parks as gathering places for the strikers' children.

A huge wave of mass resentment swept over the city when the police arrested Elizabeth Donnelley, T. M. C. children organizer, and several children when they tried to sing strike songs in the park last week. After making the arrests, the police drove out the hundreds of children gathered there.

HUGE FURRIERS DEMONSTRATION HERE TONIGHT

Workers to Build Real Union in Industry

Rally in Cooper Union, Other Halls

The two-year-old struggle of the fur workers against the union officialdom which betrayed them and destroyed union conditions in the shops will culminate in the great mass meeting tonight at Cooper Union. At that time the workers will be asked to endorse the International United Front Committee and the campaign recently launched by them for a real national organization of fur workers. The meeting will be held immediately after work.

Great Enthusiasm.

In gauging the sentiment of the furriers in the fur market, their determination to wipe out the decayed remnants of the right wing skeleton of an organization and its record of reaction, is easily seen. Thousands are expected to come to the meeting, an announcement having been made last night by the committee in charge of arrangements that additional halls are being engaged.

Stressing mainly the importance of quitting work promptly at 5 o'clock, so as to come to the meeting on time, a statement issued yesterday by the International United Front of the Fur Workers' Locals in the United States and Canada declares, in part:

"At this monster Cooper Union mass demonstration the representatives of nearly every local in the United States and Canada, the representatives of the Joint Board, of the Progressive Bloc, and of the Greek fur workers will present the plans for building one powerful international union.

Build a New Union!

"Down with the remnants of the decayed and sinking scab agency that calls itself the International Joint Council. It is time to build one international union capable of defending and safeguarding the workers' job, the workers' union conditions and the workers' rights and freedom.

"Wednesday is the day of the first united demonstration of furriers under the auspices of the International United Front Committee.

"Unite your ranks. On to Cooper Union mass meeting. Let no furrier stay away. Respond to the call of your union. A second hall is provided for if necessary. Come on time.

"One union is being built. One union for the workers. This is the last death blow to the company union. The greater the response, the sooner the victory.

"On to the historic furrier' demonstration. No overtime on Wednesday evening. In thousands, on to the demonstration on Wednesday, 6 o'clock, at Cooper Union."

"Automobile—Symbol of Modern Slavery"

The Daily Worker will begin tomorrow a series of unusual articles on the automobile industry by Ben Lifschit. These articles deal with the development of one of the most important industries in the modern economic world. They picture the enormous consequences of the unprecedented growth, the competition and conflict of large business interests, the enslavement of the workers, the developments which are making this industry one of the forces driving to imperialist war.

Read this series of articles on one of the most important issues before the workers—"Automobile, Symbol of Modern Slavery."

SOUTHERN MILL REVOLT

150 Unorganized Girls Strike for Pay

PETERSBURG, Va., Aug. 14.—One hundred and fifty workers, most of them girls, walked out on strike from the Twentieth Century Rayon Textile Company plant here demanding higher wages. The strike was spontaneous, the workers in the plant being unorganized.

The wages of the workers were greatly slashed by the company some time ago, when the bosses complained that the dull season made it impossible for them to pay the regular wage. The workers accepted this cut at the time, being unorganized, on the promise that as soon as business goes back to normal, their wages should be increased until it was on a par with their regular pay.

Now the dull season is completely over, and the firm is doing a tremendous amount of business. But it refuses to raise the wages of the workers again, as it stipulated when the reduction was made.

TRACES LEWIS BETRAYALS LEADING TO ABANDONMENT OF JACKSONVILLE SCALE

Central Committee Exposes Role Played by Socialists in Aiding Lewis

Pledges Support to Coal Diggers in Building New Militant Union

Condemning the betrayal of the mine workers by the Lewis machine and declaring that this betrayal will go down in the annals of American labor history as one of the most dastardly acts of treachery ever inflicted upon the mass organizations of labor, the Workers (Communist) Party yesterday issued a statement to the miners calling upon them to continue the struggle and give every efforts towards building the new union and pledging its support to the coal diggers in this historic task.

The statement traces the course of the Lewis treachery beginning with his first taking power over eight years ago and ending with his final sell-out in the recent abandonment of the Jacksonville scale and the virtual advice to the miners to go back to scab condtions.

The statement follows in full:

STATEMENT OF THE WORKERS (COMMUNIST) PARTY

The strike of the bituminous coal miners has collapsed. The collapse of the 15-months strike in which the rank and file miners and their families put up a heroic struggle, undergoing tremendous hardships and making superhuman sacrifices is due to the conscious treachery, incompetency and corrupt practices of John L. Lewis, the president of the United Mine Workers of America, his International Executive Board and district officials.

The betrayal of the miners who toil in the bowels of the earth, will go down in the annals of American labor history as one of the most disastrous acts of treachery ever inflicted upon a large mass organization of labor. By the act of John L. Lewis and his henchmen, the United Mine Workers has been wrecked and the rank and file miners who have seen their mighty organization ruined must begin the arduous task of starting anew to build an organization that will be able to fight stubbornly to regain all that John L. Lewis has surrendered to the capitalists.

"NO BACKWARD STEP"—A LIE.

With oratorical bombast John L. Lewis, assuming a pose of fighting opposition to the coal operators, declared at the beginning of the strike to the thousands of miners who were prepared to fight to the last ditch, that the United Mine Workers of America would never take a backward step, that the Jacksonville scale would be maintained.

Now that the Jacksonville scale has been abandoned and the bituminous miners are facing wage cuts of from $1.50 to $3 a day, Mr. Lewis cloaks his outrageous act of treachery in the following words, according to the editorial in John L. Lewis' official journal, the United Mine Workers' Journal:"

"They have modified their wage policy as their gigantic contribution towards the stabilization of the coal industry. By this sacrifice they again prove their loyalty to the public welfare. Now let the coal operators and the public do as much as the miners have done."

LEWIS PLEADS GUILTY.

These are fine words. Franker words were never uttered by a traitor to the working class. By these words, John L. Lewis pleads guilty to selling out the miners.

To interpret the above so that every miner who toils in the hot bowels of the earth digging coal, can understand, Lewis admits that he agreed to abandon the miners' wage of $7.50 per day as a gigantic contribution to the coal operators.

Lewis and his officials, who squandered millions of the miners' money during the strike, drawing big salaries, have refused consistently to give adequate relief. Nevertheless, they found no difficulty in making, at the expense of the miners and their families, a contribution to the capitalists towards the establishment of the industry.

What does this stabilization mean to the miners? It means destruction of their union. It means wage cuts, it means sharpening competition between the union and non-union fields, further reduction in wages, greater speeding up of the miners, longer hours, also, and the driving out of the coal mines of over on quarter of a million miners.

"LOYALTY"—TO WHOM?

This was no willing sacrifice on the part of the miners. These conditions of savage exploitation, jungle conditions of competition between the miners, low wages, part-time employment, and permanent unemployment for over one-quarter of a million miners, are not the result of conscious public sacrifice on the part of the miners, but the logical outcome of treacherous, corrupt reactionary and criminal policies of John L. Lewis.

The stabilization of the industry that will result will be hailed with glee by the operators who are impatiently waiting to turn the misfortunes of the miners into additional fabulous profits, while for the miners it will mean a nightmare of capitalist frightfulness, hunger, increased exploitation, industrial despotism, and abject poverty and degredation of the one-quarter of a million miners and their families who will be driven from the industry.

Mr. Lewis states that by this sacrifice they (the miners) again prove their loyalty to the public welfare. Mr. Lewis forgets about the welfare of the miners in his loyalty and subserviency to the public welfare of the capitalists. Mr. Lewis has made the "supreme sacrifice" of leading the miners to defeat and the destruction of their organization in order that the capitalists could overcome the crisis in the coal industry at the expense of the miners.

REFUSED TO ORGANIZE MINERS.

The loss of the strike is the climax of the policies pursued by Lewis. Failure to organize the unorganized resulted in the production from the unorganized fields outstripping the union fields. At the outbreak of the strike, John L. Lewis resisted, opposed and refused to support any move for the organization of the unorganized.

For years John L. Lewis has been responsible for a fascist policy of terrorism against the rank and file. Whole locals were expelled from the organization and the best, the most militant and class-conscious fighters of the miners driven out of the union. Gangsterism dominated the union with the chief gang-leader being John L. Lewis. Every expression of opposition was shut up by the use of the black-jack, gun and machine-gun. Militant leaders of the miners were assassinated. This is how Lewis endeavored to kill whatever militancy manifested itself in the organization. The fighting calibre of the organ-

Local 376, Carpenters, Issue Appeal for Support of Members Throughout Country

FIGHT AGAINST HUTCHESON, RIGHT WINGER

Militants Barred From Office

An appeal to all local unions of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America has been sent out by the Defense and Reinstatement Committee appointed by former Local 376 in which the membership is urged to instruct the delegates to the September convention of the organization to support the appeal of Local 376.

The Defense and Reinstatement Committee, of which Nathan Rosen is secretary, was appointed with full power just before the local was disbanded following the attack made upon it by the William L. Hutcheson machine ending with the revocation of the union charter.

Rosen to Appeal.

The president of former local 376, Morris Rosen, was candidate against Hutcheson for international president and led the fight against the reactionary machine which the progressives have carried on for a number of years. Rosen will be present at the coming convention to plead the case of the local from the decision of the Hutcheson machine.

The statement to the locals follow in part:

To all Local Unions of the U. B. of C. & J. of A.

Dear Sirs and Brothers:

The above committee entrusted by the former Local Union No. 376 with the task of presenting the case of Local Union 376 and defending the rights of the members, feels itself duty bound—especially now since the case is coming before the convention, to remind the Brotherhood of Carpenters of our appeal and to present new facts for the consideration of the membership and of the delegates to our convention.

We want to thank the large number of Local Unions which protested against the action of General President Wm. L. Hutcheson in revoking our charter.

We also want to thank the many locals and members who ordered or distributed our booklet, "The Appeal of Local Union No. 376."

This booklet, "The Appeal of Local Union No. 376" can be had free of charge by writing to Nathan Rosen, 174 Grafton St., Brooklyn, New York, and stating the number of copies wanted.

The decision revoking the charter of Local Union No. 376, dated June 14th, 1926, and signed by Wm. L. Hutcheson, General President; John T. Cosgrove, First General Vice President, and Geo. H. Lackey, Second General Vice President stated, "The charter of Local Union No. 376 is hereby revoked and it is no longer a Local Union of the United Brotherhood. Arrangements will be made to give the members an opportunity to transfer their membership to other local unions so that the individual standing, benefits, rights and privileges in our Brotherhood may be maintained."

Sends Secret Orders

Notwithstanding the above decision, General President Hutcheson sent a secret order to the officers of a number of locals to which our members were assigned and deprived them of the right of ever holding office in the United Brotherhood. Nearly one thousand members were thus disfranchised in a most unscrupulous manner.

The above deceitful trick was discovered when Joseph Lapidus, an active member of former Local Union No. 376, was nominated as candidate for President of Local Union No. 1164 and was removed from the ballot by Hutcheson's secret orders. Brother Lapidus has appealed his case to the forthcoming General Convention. This appeal will not only determine the rights of nearly one thousand members of former Local 376, but favorable action upon this appeal will have the effect of putting a stop to President Hutcheson's irresponsible methods. It will serve notice on our officials that constitutional provisions and guarantees made by decisions can not be arbitrarily abrogated.

All Must Help.

Every Local Union must help, to put an end to the despotism of Hutcheson. Instruct your delegates to the General Convention to support the appeal of Local Union No. 376 and the appeal of Joseph Lapidus. Fight for the rights of all others who have been persecuted for their opinions. Get the booklet, "The Appeal of Local Union No. 376" and become acquainted with our cause.

Brother Morris Rosen, former progressive candidate for General President and President of former Local Union No. 376, will be present at the convention to plead the appeals for Local Union No. 376 and Joseph Lapidus. See that the floor is given for a hearing.

Please notify us what action was taken by your Local Union.

Thanking you in advance for your support, we remain,

Fraternally yours,

Defense and Reinstatement Committee of Local No. 376.
Nathan Rosen, Secretary.

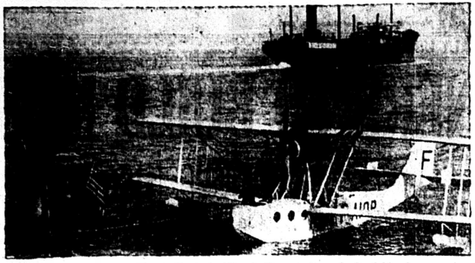
Preparing for Imperialist War in the Heart of New York



The picture shows Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flier, at the cock-pit of his plane, purchased especially to speed up communication between the Battery and Barren Island. At the latter place, Chamberlin is in charge of construction work which will make New York City one of the most formidable air ports in the world.

WORKING WOMEN RALLY SATURDAY

Letter Calls Upon All to Participate

In a statement issued yesterday from the office of the United Council of Working Class Women, 80 E. 11th St., women in New York City were urged to rally to the aid of the miners' Joint Defense and Textile demonstrations to be held all over the city on Saturday.

The arrangement committee, of which Bertha Fishman is chairman, and Kate Gitlow secretary, sent out letters to thousands of women in New York City, urging them to participate in the demonstrations. The statement, in part, follows:

Attempt To Break Strike.

"The bosses are attempting to use working women to break strikes, to replace militant men workers, to lower wages, to break unions. They consider women as easier to exploit. They did not think women would resist the open shop drive. They rely on the role of housewives to keep husbands at work, no matter how low the wage, no matter how bad the conditions.

"In a number of bitter strikes the working women and housewives have proven that they are militant and class conscious. In some struggles the women have led the way. The women were the most active in resisting the wage-cutting drive of the bosses. Housewives not only gave more support to their striking husbands, but actually led the picket lines, took part in demonstrations, suffered clubbing and were framed up.

"In all strikes a great amount of relief funds is collected by women organied in the United Councils of Working Women.

"Throughout New York open air meetings will be held at various corners, Saturday, August 18th. Speakers will discuss the role of working women, including housewives, in the class struggle."

A list of the meetings at which the women will rally on Saturday will be published later in the week.

TO TAKE PHOTOS AT BIG CARNIVAL

Special Russian Hour at "Daily" Affair

Pictures will be taken of the national groups and individuals wearing the best costumes at the huge International Costume Carnival of the Daily Worker, to be held in Pleasant Bay Park next Sunday. The fortunate costume wearers will find their pictures published in the Daily Worker a few days later.

Since a great many workers are planning to attend this international carnival in costume, it is predicted that the judges will have no easy time selecting the best ones. National costumes of all sorts will be worn by thousands of workers, with Russian costumes probably outnumbering those of any other country.

A special Russian hour is being planned by the committee in charge. During this hour tea will be served in samovars and a Russian accordian orchestra will play songs of the old and the new Russia.

Another feature will be open-air dancing around a bonfire in the evening. Russian and American dances are expected to prove the favorites.

An elaborate athletic program is also being arranged. The Labor Sports Union will take a prominent part in this program and a soccer game will be played by two of its member organizations. There will also be athletic exhibitions by the Finnish Athletic Club.

Tickets for the great carnival are being bought up fast. They are 35 cents and are on sale at the office of the Daily Worker, 26-28 Union Square.

Warn Against Storm in Carribean Region

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 14 (UP). —Warning of a new tropical disturbance over the Caribbean Sea was issued by the National Observatory today. The warning said:

"The disturbance to windward has moved rapidly towards the west, over the Central Caribbean Sea, far from observation stations, and is probably centered to the south of the Dominican Republic. In case it moves in the same direction tomorrow, it probably will pass over the southern part of Jamaica. Its intensity is unknown. In the rest of the Caribbean Sea and throughout Cuba good weather is the rule."

LABOR BODIES TO JOIN SACCO MEET

I. L. D. in Letter, Urges Participation Aug. 22

More than 500 New York labor and fraternal organizations were asked by letter yesterday to take part in the Sacco-Vanzetti memorial meeting set for 5 p. m. Aug. 22 in Union Square. The meeting is being arranged under the auspices of the New York Section of the International Labor Defense. The letter of invitation, signed by Rose Baron, secretary, reads in part:

"Aug. 22 marks the first anniversary of the judicial murder of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti!

"It is nearly one year since a cyclone of angry protest and horror swept the world following the death of these two militant workers who paid with their lives for loyalty to their class.

"Arrangements have now been made for mass memorial meetings to be held in every important city in the world. Here in New York the New York Section of the International Labor Defense has arranged an open air meeting to take place in Union Square on Aug. 22 at 5 p. m.

"This meeting will also be a protest meeting for the liberation of Mooney and Billings who are in prison today after 12 long years as a result of one of the blackest labor frame-ups in the history of America.

"It is said by cynics that the memory of the American worker is short—that he easily forgets—that he may be subjected to whatever insult and injury—and that in a little while all is forgotten. Answer this callous lie with a monster mass meeting that will emphatically evidence labor's determination to prevent further class murders and frame-ups.

"We ask you to urge the members of your organization to attend this demonstration en masse. If possible, please issue a call to your membership for this purpose."

It is estimated that 50,000 workers will take part in the memorial. One hundred thousand leaflets announcing the demonstration have been printed in English, Italian and Yiddish and are being distributed in factories, shops and offices by volunteer workers.

BRITISH PLANES READY FOR WAR

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The mock air battle over London engaged in by two opposing armies of British planes, one supposed to represent an "Eastern power," and in which 350 planes are participating, has covered the city with smoke from imaginary poison bombs, that if real, could wipe out the entire population.

If the aim of the British government in staging the combat were to arouse fear in the hearts of the inhabitants, it has done so by the artificial stimulation both in the air and in the newspapers. Military observors are watching the maneuvers closely in order to perfect the air force.

MINE EXPLOSION CAUSES 1 DEATH

Seven Others Badly Burned

(By a Mine Correspondent.)

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. (By Mail.)—Criminal indifference to the loss of life on the part of the Chicago, Wilmington and Franklin Coal Company may cause the death of Neal Specer, a coal digger, and has already caused agony and suffering to seven miners burned by the gas explosion at the New Orient mine here.

The explosion occurred at about 4 p. m. Saturday as the day shift men were moving out from the mine. Miners claim that gas from an old working had been drawn out into the main entry and was then ignited by a spark from the trolley pole on the motor.

Endangered Others.

That the accident might easily have caused the death of a large number of miners, was the opinion expressed here by everyone. Considerable indignation was voiced against the company, the company safety first man, Walter Nichols, and Joe Rogers, whose duty it was to watch for gas at this part of the mine.

Rogers is financial secretary of the New Orient Local Union by virtue of the bare-faced steal at a fraudulent election held in June. Along with his various other enterprises, Rogers operates a gas filling station at Benton and through agreement with the company he sells gas to the miners employed at Orient and then has the company check off the miners' wages to pay for the gas.

As one miner puts it, he was too busy selling gasoline to watch out for gas in the mine.

In any case, today seven miners are suffering, one may be dying as a result of the criminal betrayal on the part of the local labor fakers and greed on the part of the company officials.

MOORE, O'BRIEN JOIN IN DEBATE

Professional Strike-breaker Exposed

(Special to the Daily Worker)

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 14.—An assemblage comprised of 400 workers of this city, the largest crowd of workers that has ever assembled here, the other night heard Richard B. Moore, candidate for Congress on the Workers (Communist) Party ticket from the 21st Congressional District, expose J. Robert O'Brien, professional strikebreaker and "100 percenter," the United States capitalist government.

The debate which followed an open air meeting at which A. Markoff spoke, was arranged when O'Brien was given the platform for ten minutes. It was there that O'Brien challenged any member of the Workers (Communist) Party to debate with him. Richard B. Moore answered the challenge.

O'Brien Choses Topic.

The topic of the debate, chosen by O'Brien, was, "Resolved that under the workers' government of the United States, labor has better conditions than under the anti-labor government of the Soviet Union." Moore took the negative.

He pointed out that American capitalism is one of the most rapacious and labor-hating in the world. He cited the use of coal and iron police to murder and jail the strikers in the Pennsylvania coal fields. He showed that 2 per cent of the population own 60 per cent of the wealth in the United States.

Proves U. S. S. R. Superior

On the other hand, citing the facts and figures about the Soviet Union, Moore spoke of workers' control of industry as the fundamental difference between the Soviet Union and the United States.

DISCUSS DRAFT PROGRAM STILL AT WORLD MEET

Losovsky Would Expand Trade Union

(Wireless to the Daily Worker).

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Aug. 14.—The twenty-sixth session of the World Congress of the Communist International opened yesterday morning. The discussion continued.

Among the speakers at this session were Dengel, of Germany; Sultansade, of Persia; Alfonso, of Indonesia; Brand, of Poland; Varga, of the Soviet Union; Choraz, of Czecho-Slovakia; and Weinstone, of the United States.

Dengel declared that the adoption of the draft program means the final settlement of the theoretical basis of the Communist International and facilitates the propaganda of Marxism among the workers. The program should also be an aid to action and not only contain theoretical principles. The passage in the program on capitalism is too short. The role of social imperialism must receive more detailed treatment as must also the role of the left wing social democracy.

The speaker declared that the German delegation thinks that the dictatorship of the proletariat must nationalize all land and not only large scale farms. The adoption of the program means great progress for the Communist International.

Weinstone, of the United States, then declared that tendencies toward fascism existed in America. Varied social elements are ready to unite on the basis of a fascist dictatorship, he said.

He further declared that the draft program can be summed up as internationalism. The program must stress the Communist attitude on racial questions, particularly in the United States, where we are fighting for equal rights for the Negroes.

The twenty-seventh session of the congress continued in the afternoon with Losovsky as chairman. Losovsky declared that the draft program contains very little about the trade union question. The draft also fails to mention the final aim of trade union struggles, i. e., the overthrow of the bourgeoisie. The draft fails to mention that the reformist labor unions represent a continuation of the state apparatus within the working class. Questions of the relations of the Communist Party and the trade unions also are not dealt with.

The speaker declared that the draft must receive a new section saying everything that the Communist International has to say concerning reformist and revolutionary trade unions.

ISSUE LEAFLET ON MOONEY CASE

I. L. D. Publication Is First of Series

Tens of thousands of copies of the first of a series of leaflets and pamphlets, to be issued on the world-famous Mooney-Billings case by the national office of International Labor Defense yesterday rolled off the press to be spread throughout the country in the campaign to revive interest among American workers in the movement now being developed to figiht for the release of these two victims of the frame-up system, who have served in prison for more than 12 years.

"Tom Mooney and Warren Billings have now been in prison for more than 12 body-tearing years," reads the leaflet, in part. 'They have become symbols of one of the blackest and most reactionary institutions of the American ruling class—the frame-up system; the victims of their class enemy—the capitalists. Why have these two men been forced to suffer the torture of a living death in prison when all evidence points to their complete innocence? When it has proved a dozen times over that they were victims of a conspiracy?

"The answer is that these two leaders were loyal to the interests of the working class; that they were in the front ranks of the fight to win a better life for their fellow-toilers; that they could not be bought off by the boss class."

In brief and incisive language the leaflet gives an account of the history of the case, showing step by step how Mooney and Billings were framed by the open shop and jingoist interests of California. The whole miserable net of perjured and degenerate and underworld characters used by the prosecution as "witnesses" is exposed in the leaflet and an appeal issued to the American working class to rally in a mighty campaign to obtain the freedom of the two prisoners. The leaflet can be bought at $2.25 per thousand from the I. L. D. at 80 E. 11th Street, Room 402, New York.

Young Workers League Member Gets Second Patent for Invention

A second patent has just been granted to Eugene Vinogradov, 1358 Washington Ave., Bronx, 22-year-old Russian inventor and member of the Young Workers (Communist) League. He came to this country in 1923 and is now a student at Morris High School.

The patent is granted for "Newspaper Vending Machine," an automatic device for the sale of newspapers. It contains several newspapers or magazines and releases one at a time, when a token or a sufficient number of pennies is dropped in a slot.

The previous patent that had been granted to Vinogradov was for an optical and automatic device, which eliminates the use of electric lights in dark rooms during the daytime, by means of efficient and equal distribution of sunlight throughout the building.

U. S. INVASION STIRS HONDURAS

Fear Same Fate as Nicaragua

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Aug. 14.—Reports that American marines had invaded Honduran soil at the village of Danli for the alleged purpose of seizing Nicaraguan peons suspected of serving in the Nicaraguan army of independence has caused a storm of protest here.

The answer of certain official circles that the Honduran government was forced to permit the passage of American troops in order to save itself the fate of Nicaragua, has resulted in charges that it is inviting that fate at the expense of the neighboring republic.

"Is the Honduran treaty with the United States another scrap of paper?" has been asked.

NICARAGUA LOAN AFTER ELECTION

Banker Calls Armed Guard "Essential"

PANAMA, Aug. 14.—A twelve million dollar loan as bait to expedite the election of the candidate supported by the American authorities is the reason for the recent refusal of the loan to Nicaragua suggested by L. S. Rosenthal, manager of the Nicaraguan National Bank at Managua, in a statement issued here. Mr. Rosenthal is on his way to New York where he will discuss the situation with American financial interests.

The American bankers are awaiting the outcome of the American-supervised elections in the fall, the banker said in substance. He believes that the issue will be floated immediately after the elections.

The loan will be adequately backed by the property of the Nicaraguan National Railway, the stock of the Nicaraguan bank and a first lien on customs.

The rehabilitation of Nicaragua depends largely on the legal authorization and fiscal support of the Nicaraguan national guard and on the removal of the affairs of the national bank from political influence, the banker asserted.

RED WEEK TO AID ELECTION DRIVE

Tag Days Planned for Aug. 20-26

bilizing them for the election campaign drive and for participation in the Tag Days.

Leaflet Contains Program.

The leaflet, which outlines the nine cardinal points of the platform of the Workers (Communist) Party, calls on all class-conscious workers to contribute to and collect for the campaign fund of the Workers Party and to enroll at one of the various election campaign stations which have been set up throughout the city. Every section of the city will have its center, from which a large number of workers will radiate on Saturday and Sunday to fine-comb that particular section for contributions to the campaign fund in special collection boxes.

Workers in all shops and homes are called upon by the Workers (Communist) Party to contribute to the Election Campaign Funds, to collect from other workers in their shops and to volunteer for the two big Red Tag Days.

During the Red Week, workers' clubs, unions, fraternal and benevolent societies are urged to run affairs for the benefit of the Workers (Communist) Party Election Campaign Fund. Every dollar collected for the Red Campaign Fund means that five hundred leaflets will be distributed among workers.

UNION FORMED BY OFFICE WORKERS LEAGUE IN N. Y.

Demand 39-Hour Week, Closed Shop

A new stage in the development of the office workers' organization was marked when the membership unanimously decided to transform the Office Workers' League into the Office Workers' Union. This step is but the official confirmation of the steady evolution of the organization in recent months from a purely educational association to a full-fledged labor union, it was announced.

The meeting, which was very well attended, was marked by a lively discussion of the union's immediate program and the report of the organization committee.

The program of the organization, as adopted by the membership, calls for the recognition of the union, the closed shop, a 39-hour working week, payment for overtime and all legal holidays, vacations, proper sanitary conditions, protection against unwarranted discharge or demotion, the regulation of temporary employment, the establishment of office committees and office chairman, protection against discrimination for union activity, or on account of race, color or creed, and the procurement of a good standard wage for all office workers.

The program further urges a fight against company unionism and company welfare schemes in all its forms—a curse from which office workers are today suffering.

Unanimous concurrence was given to the recommendation of the organization committee that the union apply itself at the outset to organizing the most underpaid office workers.

The organization committee reported that as a result of the questionnaire submitted to the membership several such large offices have been selected for immediate organization.

A call was issued for volunteers to take part in "colonizing" activities within offices. On this work depends the success of the union's initial organization activities, it was declared. All unemployed members of the union are urged to volunteer for colonization duty. Communications should be sent to the Office Workers' Union, Labor Temple, 14th St. and Second Ave., where the union meets regularly every second and fourth Monday of the month.

PROPOSE PUPPET PLAN FOR INDIA

CALCUTTA, India, Aug. 14.—An "all parties" commission, which was deserted by Mahatma Ghandi and Moslem leaders, proposed a new constitution for India which is intended to give it a dominion status.

The proposal is hardly expected to satisfy the Indian nationals and autonomists for it leaves India virtually as before, under the direct tutelage of the British government. The governor general, who is to be appointed by England, is to have full veto power over all legislation, and chief command of the army, navy and air force, which practically takes all power from the legislature provided for in this plan.

Organize Spanish Speaking Branch of New York ILD

A Latin-American and Spanish-speaking branch of the New York section of the International Labor Defense has been organized with an initial membership of about 35.

At an enthusiastic meeting held recently at the headquarters of the branch, 55 W. 113th St., officers were elected and an executive committee embracing practically all of the Spanish speaking countries appointed. The officers are Luis Martinez, organizer and P. Martinez, secretary.

The following countries are represented on the executive committee of the branch: Chile, Cuba, Argentina, Guatemala, Spain, San Salvador, Venezuela, Mexico, Nicaragua, Colombia, Peru, Ecuador, Uruguay, Paraguay, Costa Rica, Santo Domingo, Panama and Bolivia.

The Latin-American and Spanish-speaking branch is the 45th branch of the New York section of the I. L. D., and the 15th language group.

WORKERS DIE IN FACTORY BLAST

Explosion in Indiana Kills 8 to 15

HAMMOND, Ind., Aug. 14 (UP). —Between 8 and 15 men were killed, and a two-story building occupied by the Indiana Sanitary Pottery Company was wrecked by an explosion of undetermined origin this afternoon.

The fire burning in the wrecked building and two other adjacent unoccupied structures was so hot that firemen were unable to get within a block of the plant to fight the flames.

The exact number of men in the plant was not known, but it is believed that none could withstand the heat, even if they escaped being crushed by the falling walls of the building.

MOVE FOR FREE CROATIA GROWS

Students Raid Shops Selling Serb Papers

ZAGREB, Jugoslavia, Aug. 14.—As the sentiment for an independent Croatia grows among the peasants following the death of Stefan Raditch, student organizations here, who had decided to boycott all newspapers and books in which Serbian type is used, destroyed several shops where such newspapers were sold. The Croats use a modified Roman type.

The more conservative wing of the Croatian-democratic coalition has condemned such action and urged the peasants to take a pacifist policy towards the Belgrade regime.

Following the death of their leader the Croatian Peasant Party executive elected Vladimar Matchek as substitute president, while the nominal head of the party will be the dead Stefan Raditch.

Communist Party Condemns Treachery of Lewis Machine; Endorses New Union

TRACE RECORD OF BETRAYALS ENDING WITH FINAL MOVE TO ABANDON JACKSONVILLE SCALE

Statement Analyzes the Role of Socialists in Furthering Betrayal

Calls Upon Miners to Continue Struggle and Build New Union

ization was thus seriously crippled.

John L. Lewis fought the Kansas miners in their fight against the Industrial Court, drove their militant officials out of the union and put in his own reactionary officials who agreed to the compulsory arbitration clauses of the Industrial Court of Kansas. He squandered millions in West Virginia, but never seriously intended the organization of the West Virginia miners. He stole the last election of the United Mine Workers of America after the rank and file had overwhelmingly defeated John L. Lewis and his reactionary crew and elected the progressive 'Save the Union slate by an overwhelming majority.

Lewis advocated a policy of class collaboration, arbitration, industrial peace, etc., based upon capitalist efficiency and mass production and the elimination of miners from the industry.

In the Anthracite he led the strike to a defeat and made an agreement that enforces arbitration and the contract system upon the miners.

He refused to consider national action in the coal industry with the result that union miners are always actually working and scabbing on their brothers who happen to be on strike. He has fastened the reign of the reactionary officials upon the union by decreeing that only American citizens can hold office, thus disfranchising the large bulk of foreign-born miners who are not citizens, but who are militant and class-conscious. He has limited the present strike of the bituminous miners to only a few fields. He opposed mass picketing. He refused to take up a fight against the injunction.

Lewis squandered hundreds of thousands of dollars in paying big salaries, and did not pay strike relief or provide for relief. Only during the last stages of the strike did he provide relief and then only after the miners themselves had organized the National Miners' Relief Committee. He gave relief, when he did, only in isolated cases to those who supported the administration.

He made separate agreements in Illinois and Indiana, thus taking the heart out of the strike and making certain its defeat. Only a general strike tieing up the entire industry could have defeated the coal aperators. Lewis and the reactionary district officials fought and resisted this demand of the left wing. The district officials bear the responsibility for the defeat equally with John L. Lewis.

A. F. OF L. LEADERS STRIKEBREAKERS.

The collapse of the strike also exposes the strikebreaking role of the bureaucracy of the American Federation of Labor. Mr. Green, the president of the American Federation of Labor, is a member and former official of the United Mine Workers of America. The bureaucracy of the A. F. of L. did not raise a finger in behalf of the miners. Not a single act of solidarity was organized by the reactionary officials of the American Federation of Labor.

At the convention of the A. F. of L., the strike was ignored. Later, capitalist politicians were invited by the A. F. of L. bureaucracy into the situation. Every proposal for mobilizing the masses of the trade unions for the support of the strikers was rejected. Faith was put in the capitalist politicians who demanded action against the Communists and not support to the strike.

Instead of busying themselves to help win the strike, the officials of the A. F. of L., William Green, Matthew Woll and others, met with the Bar Association and with the largest open-shop interests in America to plan an anti-strike law against the working class of the United States.

YELLOW TRAITORS EXPOSED.

The crushing defeat of the United Mine Workers of America is a blow to the whole labor movement. It exposes the role of the present administration of the American Federation of Labor as being contrary to the interest of the workers. By its failure to unite with the forces of the miners the workers of all other unions, the bureaucracy of the A. F. of L. has given great material support to the offensive now being conducted by the open-shop interests. Its action has greatly weakened the unions and strengthened the fight against them.

The general crisis facing the trade unions has been brought nearer by these actions. Faced with the defeat of the bituminous miners' strike, the destruction of the United Mine Workers of America and with a growing rebellion among the textile workers, needle trade workers, and others against their reactionary strike-breaking union-smashing policies, the Executive Board of the A. F. of L. again calls for the extermination of the rank and file movement in the unions by raising once more the war cry for the extermination of the Communists from the unions. The reactionary officials only become militant against the enemies of the exploiters. These tools of the capitalists in the unions are the most bitter enemies of the militant class-conscious revolutionary leaders of the workers.

The battle betwen these enemies of the workers in the trade unions and the rank and file will continue until the workers will oust the whole reactionary officialdom from Green to Lewis and from Woll to Sigman out of the labor movement.

SOCIALIST PARTY AGAINST MINERS.

The socialist party did not support the miners. It lined up with John L. Lewis and his reactionary machine. It did not appear in the picket lines to inspire and help the miners in their difficult struggle against capitalist greed, exploitation and persecution. It fought the left wing which was inspiring militancy in the struggle and heroic resistance to the capitalists and the reactionary Lewis and his officials.

This socialist party, which, during the days of Debs, hundreds of thousands of miners supported and voted for, has abandoned the class struggle, has united with the blackest reactionaries in the unions against the workers. The socialist party, like John L. Lewis, Green, Woll and Company, and the coal operators, is responsible for the miners' defeat. It should be despised and fought by every miner.

MINERS' HEROIC FIGHT.

Against the workers the capitalists act as a united force. The coal operators used the whole power of the government of the United States against the miners.

Betrayed by the reactionary trade union officials on the one hand, the miners, on the other hand, were brow-beaten by the police, persecuted by the courts, deprived of their most elementary rights by injunctions, raided by constabulary and shot by troops. Caught between the two forces, one of the treachery of Lewis and his officials and the other of the persecution of the capitalist government, the miners courageously and stubbornly fighting, were beaten back. Huddled in barracks and tent colonies, starving and suffering, the privations of the long bitter struggle, the miners, their wives and children, nevertheless put up a heroic and memorable fight.

This fight they carried on against the whole capitalist attack under the leadership of the left wing. The left wing inspired the miners to fight on. The left wing organized the mass picket lines. The left wing led them to defy the injunctions. The left wing organized the opposition to Lewis and his reactionary leadership. The left wing organized the National Miners' Relief Committee and provided relief. The left wing defended the miners at each and every step of the long bitter struggle.

COMMUNIST PARTY FOR MINERS.

The Workers (Communist) Party gave full support and leadership to this left wing and to the brave fighting miners. It fought all the enemies of the miners inside of the union and outside. The Communist Party, always loyal to the miners, is deserving of the support of each and every miner. The Workers (Communist) Party fought side by side with the miners, raised relief, fought the injunctions, carried on a war against Lewis. It was the best and strongest ally of the fighting miners and the left wing. The Communists were fought by Lewis, driven out of the mines. The capitalists raised cries against the Communists in the striking mine fields.

All these facts prove that the Workers (Communist) Party has no interests separate and apart from the workers, that its objective is to fight all capitalist oppression and exploitation. Today the capitalists own and control the mines, mills, factories, land, etc. The government is their government, representing their strike-breaking rule and bloody dictatorship against the workers. The Workers (Communist) Party is the Party of class struggle, of uncompromising revolutionary struggle for the overthrow of this vicious capitalist rule based upon exploitation and oppression. It stands for the rule of the workers, for a Workers' and Farmers' Government to take over the mines, the factories, the mills, the land, etc., in the interests of the workers and farmers. Every class conscious miner should join the Workers (Communist) Party, the fighting revolutionary Party of the workers.

A FRIEND OF ANDREW MELLON.

John L. Lewis, however, betrayed the miners and led them to defeat. He is a republican. He is a member of the party of Andrew Mellon, the most vicious opponent of the miners in the present strike. In spite of this fact, Lewis still urges the miners to support Mellon and the capitalist forces he represents, the same forces which have used the government to crush the miners.

The American Federation of Labor proposes the same policy of supporting capitalist politicians, republican and democrats, who will continue to use the government as a strikebreaker against the striking miners and workers fighting wage cuts, fighting for their unions and fighting for bread and butter for their wives and children.

The Communists stand for independent political action. The Communists want the workers to fight against the capitalists and their political parties. The capitalists and their parties are the enemies of the workers. The misleaders of labor who want to continue to sell out the workers, to the capitalist political parties, the Lewises, the Greens, the Wolls, etc., must be driven out of the labor movement and a mighty party of labor built up.

The defeat of the bituminous miners means a general offensive against the miners in all districts. The anthracite, Illinois and Indiana will be the next sections of the coal industry to be attacked. The Boylens, Cappelinis, Brennans, Fishwicks, etc., will not save the miners from the attack that will inevitably come and soon as a result of the bituminous betrayal and debacle. The miners must organize to resist this attack that will take place.

MUST FIGHT LEWIS BETRAYAL.

The April 1st conference was called to oust Lewis and save the Miners' Union. It called attention to the fact that Lewis and his policies were wrecking the United Mine Workers of America. The wrecking of the union has been completed. The miners must salvage as much of the wreckage as they can and leave nothing to John L. Lewis. The National Arrangements Committee has issued a call for a National Convention to miners to build a new miners' union. The National Convention will take place on September 9th in Pittsburgh. In all districts the fight against Lewis and for the miners' National Convention must be carried on vigorously. All local unions must fight the Lewis betrayal and elect large delegations to the September 9th convention. All miners who were driven and forced back to work by the Lewis treachery, throw yourselves into the fight against Lewis and for the building of a new fighting union of the miners.

The only way out of the present deplorable conditions confronting the miners is to build a new powerful miners' union, that will be able to fight the wage cuts, reestablish union conditions, and defend the miners. To build this union, the Lewis regime must be annihilated and relegated to the scrap-heap.

The unorganized fields must be organized!

The miners must be welded into a national union under militant class conscious leadership!

NO MONEY FOR THE LEWIS MACHINE.

Not one penny from the hard earned toil of the miners must go to the traitor, Lewis! Don't pay dues! Don't pay assessments!

Do not recognize the Lewis officials!

Abolish the check-off that gives the operators the opportunity to collect the money from the miners for Lewis so that with the miners' money he can continue to fight them and betray them!

Call district conferences and repudiate John L. Lewis, the traitor!

Long live the New Miners' Union!

Elect delegates to the Miners' Convention to be held September 9th, to organize the new union!

Affiliate your local unions now before the convention takes place!

Miners of all districts, Pennsylvania and Ohio, Illinois and Indiana, the Anthracite, Kansas, Colorado, West Virginia, Wyoming, the South and Pacific Coast, prepare for the future, prepare to win back the conditions you have lost, prepare to regain your strength! Demonstrate that the 30 years of sacrifice, of war with the coal operators to build your union and establish living conditions have not been in vain! Build your new union into a powerful militant mass organization! Use your political power for your class!

Shatter the citadels of the reactionaries who are crippling the trade union movement! Demonstrate anew that the fighting militant self-sacrificing spirit of the coal diggers is not dead!

On the ruins of the Lewis wreckage will rise then a more powerful, a more determined miners' union, controlled by the rank and file, responsive to its will and needs. Such a union will defeat the operators and blazen the way for the whole trade union movement towards class struggle for the overthrow of capitalism and the emancipation of the workers.

FIGHT FOR A NEW MINE UNION.

Miners, fight on! Lead the way! The textile workers, needle trades workers, steel workers, and others will follow to build a united trade union movement in the United States that will be invincible!

On the road to victory is the National Miners' Convention to build a new Miners' Union!

WORKERS PARTY GETS ON BALLOT

Ticket Now Qualified in 11 States

played in order to roll up the tremendous number of signatures required to place a Party ticket on the ballot in New York.

Abraham Jakira, district organizer in Pittsburgh, assures the Nation Election Campaign Committee that he will come across with his quota of 3,000 signatures for Pennsylvania, and there is no doubt but H. Benjamin, organizer of District 5, will do likewise. There are thousands of miners in Pennsylvania anxious to register a protest against the capitalist parties of the coal barons and to show by voting for the Communist ticket on election day that they have learned through 15 months of a grueling strike that their only hope for the future is in organization under the banner of a revolutionary political party that has for its final aim the overthrow of the systems which breed unemployment, wage-cutting, union-smashing, strikebreakers, stool-pigeons, coal and iron policemen and state cossacks.

Big Ohio Vote.

One-half the necessary number of signatures required to place the Party ticket on the ballot in Ohio has been secured. As in Pennsylvania, the mining population of that state have learned to lok with hate on the capitalist parties that have lined up with the operators in persecuting them during the strike.

Petitions are in circulation in Illinois, and organizers are active in Indiana and Wisconsin. In Minneseta, the heart of the farmer-labor movement, the reactionaries in that party are hurling abuse at the Communists for putting a ticket in the field. When the Communists worked inside the farmer-labor party, they were accused as disrupters and trouble-makers. It is hard to please the labor fakers. The socialist party is about dead in Minnesota; only the Workers (Communist) Party is holding aloft the banner of the class struggle. The Party ticket will be on the ballot there.

The Middle West.

In the states of Oklahoma, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Arizona and Wyoming Workers Party organizers are doing excellent work. Nebraska is almost over the top. B. H. Lauderdale of Texas, Party organizer in that state, is not only paying his own way from his collections and sale of literature, but he is sending money to the national office.

Sorenson is preparing to get the Party on the ballot in Oregon and Washington. He is certain that his efforts will be successful

Levine, district organizer in California, reports that a new law passed in 1927 provides the possibility for placing our electors on the ballot as independents with a minimum of 12,000 signatures. The work of collecting signatures cannot be commenced before September 2, and they must be filed by October 1.

Of the 3,500 signatures needed to qualify the Party ticket for a place on the ballot in Connecticut over 2,000 are already in. Arthur Starr, who reported success in South Dakota, will have the assistance of A. C. Miller, former Communist assemblyman in the North Dakota legislature, in placing the ticket on the ballot in that state.

Petitions in South.

In the states of Tennessee, Kentucky, Georgia and Florida Party organizers have been active for several weeks. Petitions are being circulated in Kentucky, and nominating conventions are being arranged in other states.

Though the state officials are likely to take advantage of every technicality to throw the Workers (Communist) Party ticket off the ballot, there is every reason to believe that at least 30 states will be in the Communist column by election day. As the organizers finish their work in states where the requirements are not so strict, they will be rushed to the states that are harder to crack.

Paterson Mill Owner Sentenced for Fraud

Sentence of a year and a day in Federal Penitentiary was imposed yesterday on Louis Taback, of Paterson, N. J., silk textile manufacturer, on a charge of conspiring to conceal assets in the bankruptcy of the Franklin Silk Mills.

grabbed my right leg; another my left leg while the other two my right and left arms. They held me in the air and started to beat me. For about 10 minutes the blackjack continued to do its work. Most of the blows were aimed at my chest, evidently believing that if I was hit in the fleshly part of my body it would not be so noticeable and leave as many marks. However, they also hit me on the head, arms and legs. When I did not cry out, they became more angry and hit me all the harder.

"One of the men shouted: 'You see what kind of a s-- of a b---- he is, he won't say anything.' Shortly after, I was carried back to my cell."

The spirit and fighting determination displayed by Pinto is what makes it possible for the 30,000 strikers to continue their fight for 17 weeks against the mass terrorism of the mill owners and their flunkies in city hall and police headquarters.

The workers have the courage and the will to fight to victory. If they are fed they will continue on the picket lines until they win. All workers should rally to the support of the strikers and their families. Send contributions at once to the Workers' International Relief, 49 William St., New Bedford, Mass.

reactionary president of District 5, is a final evidence of the utter bankruptcy of the corrupt Lewis machine. The contempt with which the scab coal operators met the proposal is the best indication of the necessity for building a new fighting union of the coal diggers.

Joining Progressives.

Numerous locals of the former U. M. W. A. and miners of unorganized coal fields are severing their relations with the collapsed Lewis machine and are rallying their forces for the new union. Applications for charters and dues cards are coming to the National Miners onvention Arrangements Committee, Pittsburgh.

"On to Pittsburgh, September 9; build an honest, militant union," is the appeal of Watt and Toohey.

At the same time an appeal for funds has been made for the purpose of enabling the mine delegates to come to Pittsburgh for the historic convention.

HANDOUTS

The senile socialist party could be expected to sympathize with the efforts of the corrupt American Federation of Labor breaucracy in "stamping out once and for all" the Communist influence in the trade unions, a thing which, theoretically it has already done several dozen times. Bill Green is as liable to stamp out the Communists as a blind man is to wipe out the Japanese beetle with an air rifle. The Milwaukee Leader editorially says:

"The American Federation of Labor executive council has our sympathy in its denunciation of the Communist pests who would disrupt the trade union movement and play into the hands of the employers."

In four paragraphs the editorial refers to the Communists as pests half a dozen times. This irritation on the part of Victor Berger is a mask for a well-known mental paralysis. But even so a pest is a higher form of existence that the fungus-like plant life represented by members of the socialist party.

WORKERS PICKET THO MISLEADERS REFUSE TO ACT

Officials Advocate Company Unions

(By a Worker Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA, (By Mail).—The hosiery workers' strike here at the Ajax, Emmett, Federal Mills, is still on. The strikers picket the mill every day. The mill is filled with scabs.

The Ajax mills moved to Phoenixville and is an "independent" union. Picketing has not yet been altogether outlawed here and the labors misleaders don't feel particularly anxious to organize mass picketing. Picketing before the scabs' homes is not prohibited but the bureaucrats haven't even thought about it.

Mitten would never commend the writer, because he is a Communist, as he would the labor misleaders who preach cooperation with the bosses to the workers. Why, these misleaders went even to the extent of advocating the organization of a national hosiery manufacturers' association and other ways of betraying the workers. They commended the Mitten-Mahon-pact company unions which are interested in the problem of the destruction of the union.

This is done at a time when the workers are engaged in a bitter strike against the hosiery barons; fighting against wage-cuts, speed-up, and union conditions being smashed by the bosses.

The bosses very cooly send workers, who are paid miserably in the south, to the north where the strike is taking place in order to replace the strikers. They do this without fear because they know that the misleaders will not say a word about it, that they will never put a real fight against them. They do this, of course, to break the union and build up their own class collaboration company "union."

The bosses feel very conscious of the fact that they must break the workers' union if they intend to put over a wage-cut and to continue the speed-up. The misleaders also know this but do nothing about building the union because they are afraid of losing the patronage of the bosses. So they give the workers "co-operation with the bosses" bunk and kill a strike by not advocating mass picketing and, in general, a militant strike.

Fearing any growth of or sympathy to the strikers after the 100 per cent walkout on the Ajax Mills, the bosses moved the company to Phoenixville. They thought they would kill the strike by moving, but they didn't count on the great militancy of the rank and file; they thought it was enough to have the labor fakers on their side.

The present Worker Correspondent was threatened with being beaten up by the Mitten scabs because he wanted information of the strike in order to have it published in the only true labor paper in the country in the English language, The Daily Worker. But the rank and file saw that the Correspondent was actually one of their own, a worker like them, militant against the bosses, and so they gave him news of the strike which he has here put in writing.

HUSH RECORD OF NOBILE RESCUE

Hays' Movies Do Not Report Deed

(By a Worker Correspondent)

I attended one of the Loew's theatres in this city. The rescue of General Umberto Nobile, fascist adventurer and loud mouth, was shown in the Metro-Goldwyn and Mayer News by the Norwegian flyers.

Not one word was mentioned about the "Krassin," neither was there anything shown about her.

I was not at all disappointed for the failure to give credit to the Soviet rescuers. What else can be expected from an industry which has William Hays, member of the Ohio gang, at its head?

Hays and the rest of these gentlemen are badly mistaken when they ignore the brave deeds of the Soviet rescuers. The action of the "Krassin" speaks for itself.

No applause was given when Nobile's picture was shown on the screen. Some hissed and still others booed. The bluffs of the blackshirts "busted" this time.

"You can't hide the truth" for "it swims up like oil on water" as the old Italian proverb goes.

The Soviets will have a good laugh at the fascists this time. All the workers should laugh with them.

CASSELL.

INJURES HEAD AT WORK.

CLINTON, Tex., Aug. 14.—John Nelson, 50 years of age, was seriously hurt while at work on the Southern Pacific docks here. His head struck the concrete docks. He sustained a fractured skull, it is believed.

Where Wall Street Broadcast to Millions

Speakers Platform

The huge Stanford Stadium above, at Palo Alto, California, was chosen by Herbert Hoover, republican presidential nominee as the scene for his notification speech. Here in accepting the presidential nomination, Wall Street's other candidate broadcast Wall Street's message thru a national radio hook-up that brought his words to all corners of the country.

'SOCIALISTS' DECLARE REVOLUTION IS OVER

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Aug. 14.—The afternoon session of the congress of the second international opened here yesterday with De-Brouckere, of Belgium, reporting for the commission on political prisoners. The speaker demanded the abolition of the death penalty. He compared fascist Italy with the Soviet Union. He also mentioned the persecuted populations in the Balkans, Hungary, China, Spain, Lithuania, the United States, etc. He concluded that the "socialists" can only offer the persecuted moral support at this time. A resolution for the abolition of the death penalty was unanimously adopted, as was also the report to the commission.

No Peace Possible.

Albarda, of Holland, then made a report to the commission on militarism and disarmament. He declared that as long as capitalism exists there is no permanent peace possible, but the proletariat must do everything in order to force the powers to accept international arbitration. A new war can only bring new chaos and not the revoutlion, he said. Only through peace can "socialism" be achieved.

Dalton, of Great Britain, then delivered a few general phrases. He said that the British delegation supported the resolution.

Brockway, a member of the Independent Labor Party, demanded the organization of an international resistance against war.

Renaudel, of France, approved the resolution. Crispien, of Germany, declared that the "socialists" are only in favor of force as a means of defense.

The resolution was then unanimously adopted with the following final formulation: "It is the duty of all 'socialist' parties to exercise the strongest pressure, even in revolutionary form, upon the government which refuses international arbitration and declare swar."

The final session of the congress opened under the chairmanship of Vandervelde, of Belgium, and Lansbury, of Great Britain. A manifesto was adopted on the first point of the agenda, only one vote of the Independent Labor Party dissenting.

"Revolutionary Process Ended."

Bauer, of Austria, then declared that the revolutionary process ended with the stabilization of capitalism. The Bolshevists alone hope for war. The program of the Communist Internal increases disruption. A polemic is necessary against the Bolshevists in order to convince the Communist workers that disruption is a crime. The manifesto is an appeal for unity.

Auriol, of France, then approved the manifesto.

Lansbury, of the British Labor Party, and Dollan, of the Independent Labor Party, then polemized against the tactics of the second international toward the Soviet Union.

Panken, of the United States, stressed the great unemployment in America.

Henderson, of Great Britain, thanked the Belgian "socialists." Vandervelde replied. The congress then closed.

GUARD PAINTS BIG PRISON AS A REAL UTOPIA

But Walls Hold Class Fighter 10 Years

(By a Worker Correspondent)

WHEELING, W. Va., (By Mail).—Those who wish to be enlightened on the joys of prison life have but to invest a quarter at the Moundsville Penitentiary and listen attentatively to the fatherly talks of the escorting guards. Workers remember Moundsville Penitentiary as the place where Eugene Debs was first brought after his sentence and from local reports I gather that the militant miners of this section made such a protest against his arrest that it became necessary to remove Debs to the peaceful South.

The writer and Carl Hacker, Ohio Secretary of the International Labor Defense visited the prison when they learned that Alex Chessman, a miner, was still behind the bars due to his activities in the 1925 coal strike. Chessman was framed-up on a bombing charge and sentenced to 10 years. He was the most progressive and active in his local union and jailing him was one way to silence him and put an end to his activities. His story of how he tried and how the lawyers handling his case have squeezed his earnings from him show clearly the justice the workers get from the capitalist courts. Chessman reports that all his friends have forgotten him except one. This friend being the International Labor Defense, from which he hears regularly and which gives him aid. Chessman has been crippled, having lost an eye and part of his left arm in a mine explosion. He said he was glad to hear of the militant fight of the miners in the present struggle and asked us to say that he wished he could help. Fellow workers should send encouraging letters to such a militant workers as Chessman who has spent many years behind prison bars for his activities on behalf of the working class.

But more about the joys of prison life. Going thru with a group of college students and passing for such there was an opportunity to ask a few questions of the prisoners. All of the prisoners complained of the food. Although the guard praised the kitchen as clean and the food as "the kind that mother makes" we found cockroaches, flies and cobwebs decorating the kitchen and the soup kettles. The guard assured the college students that there was no such thing as the third degree or dungeons in West Virginia. We could not help smiling for we knew better!

Religious service attendance and Sunday school attendence is required of all except the warden and a few officers. They already have the keys to heaven. During the services the prisoners are lectured to "by long haired preachers" who tell how to be good members of society when they get out. The guard assured us that the white boys would not be corrupted while in prison because we are going to keep them separated from the Negroes. Discrimination even in prison! Three Protestant services to one Catholic service is the religious mixture served the prisoners.

The guard explained of the opportunities the prisoners get for an education. On the outside he stated many were too poor and others did not have time to get any education. He spoke the truth for the first time. Immense library. Good reading of course. And all censored too, of course. Do they play baseball? I should say so. Movies? You can bet all the tea in China. Everything that they want they can get. A Utopia found at last! This is the impression the guard gives the college boys. But the lean looks on the boys inside show that its not quite so rosy as it is painted to be. Although the guard tells us that the past is forgotten when the gate closes on a prisoner, yet the boys have a different story.

The guard explained that at present the place was overcrowded. Holding about twice as many as it originally meant to accomodate. But he assures us that a bill would be passed soon and everything will be O. K. in a few years. From this one is led to believe that a prison is the only place where a worker can get an education and good food. Indeed a Utopia found at last but sorry to say that high wall keeps it from our reach.

Knopf and Farnsworth Plan Five Productions This Season

EDWIN H. KNOPF and William P. Farnsworth, whose production of "The Big Pond," by George Middleton and A. E. Thomas, comes to the Bijou Theatre, August, 21, with a cast headed by Kenneth MacKenna, Doris Rankin and Reed Brown, Jr., have formed the firm, Knopf and Farnsworth Productions, and will offer a number of plays this season. Following the premiere of "The Big Pond," they will commence work on a new play by George Middleton, tentatively called "In Memoriam."

Other productions definitely scheduled for this season are "Friday Afternoon," by Mr. Knopf; "The Corespondent," by Andre Picard, author of "Kiki," and a costume play called "Heliogabalus," by Marcel Duvernois, a French journalist. The title of the latter play will be changed, as Henry L. Mencken and George Jean Nathan are the authors of one with the same name. There is also a possibility that the firm will produce a revue called "The First Revue," for which Mr. Knopf has written the dialogue and lyrics.

Elmira Lane, who played in "The Desert Song" and the lead in "Sunny" on the coast, has been made the understudy to Evelyn Herbert in "The New Moon."

* * *

Barbara Brown will play the leading feminine role in the forthcoming production of "Relations" that opens as the Masque Theatre, August 20.

EVELYN HERBERT

Who will be the prima-donna in the new Schwab and Mandell operetta, "The New Moon," due here next month.

Clark Silvernail, who returns from Europe this week, will rejoin "The Silent House" at the Shubert Theatre. Harold de Becker, now playing the Chinese role of Ho-Fang, joins the special company, now being organized.

A musical comedy, tentatively titled "Business is Business," book by Madelaine Monroe Hansen and William Lennox and lyrics by William Lennox, has been bought for immediate production by Frank L. Teller, producer of "Lady Do." Mr. Teller's plans also include a comedy, titled "All Right," with Maude Fealey as the featured player, which will open at the Cort Theatre, Chicago, on September 2.

HOSIERY FIRM BOSS GUARDED IN SOCIALIST TOWN

Armed Strikebreakers In Reading

(By a Worker Correspondent)

READING, Pa., Aug. 13.—The uninitiated should come to "socialist" Reading to learn how the bosses may secure real protection in a strike. Gunmen, armed strikebreakers, professional finks and stoolpigeons, deputy sheriffs used by the employers—these are advantages in our "advanced" city quite as they are in the company owned mine towns.

When the Noe-Equl (Princess Royal) Hosiery Company decided to use direct methods to defeat its workers, now on strike, it apparently was not at all concerned that we have a "workers' government" here.

No Fear of Socialists.

Mr. Cummings, one of the owners, did not seem to fear that the workers' police force would be called out against him. Just the opposite, he was able to get some of the deputy sheriffs to do his dirty work.

And so we find that the company has mobilized a young army of armed thugs, "guards" carrying loaded shotguns promenading the roof and premises of the company plant. In addition, the company imported a certain Howard Walker, one of the most notorious professional strikebreakers in the industry, to help along and take charge of the good work. Walker had the indiscretion to get drunk and run into a "socialist" policeman, otherwise he would still be at large making a record in this "socialist" city.

Harsh Words!

The "Reading Labor Advocate," the organ of the socialist bureaucrats, complains of the danger to the "community." The gang of strikebreakers, it says, "is a serious menace to the peace and security of the law-abiding citizens of this community." The bosses, the paper further charges, are not helping to improve "the moral tone" of the community by importing "such as Walker and his like into Reading."

MACHINIST UNION GROWS.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Aug. 14.—The newly organized Machinists' Union here is progressing rapidly, it is reported. From three to six new members are admitted each week. It is estimated that the town is 85 per cent organized.

Worker Beaten to Death in Kings County Hospital, Is Charge Made by Patients

BRUTALITIES ARE FREQUENT AT CITY RUN INSTITUTIONS

Patients Disappear; Interne Threatens Girl

Charges that an old man was beaten to death at the Kings County Hospital in Brooklyn on July 28, were yesterday repeated by two former patients at the hospital. The victim of the beating was Joseph A. Brown, 59, of 4555 48th St., Woodside, Queens. Charges of brutality towards patients in Kings County and other city hospitals have been repeatedly made by patients, since the beating up of two Jewish interns at the hospital by Gentile internes in May, 1927.

The patients who made affidavits as to how Brown died, are Michael Hagerty, and Howard Van Allen, a Negro truck driver, who were in the same ward as Brown when they charge Brown was slugged by an attendant. Further charges by patients at the hospital include a statement that an interne made improper advances toward a woman amnesia victim, and that two women patients in a delerious condition, walked out of the hospital last week, clad in nightgowns. The patients have not been seen since, and the hospital authorities have made no efforts to trace them, it is said.

Kings County Hospital is the Brooklyn counterpart of Bellevue, to which workers, unable to pay the exorbitant fees demanded by private doctors and hospitals, are forced to seek admission. An investigation early this year revealed that the patients were brutally handled; that the food served was of the vilest sort; that patients were neglected; and that race discrimination was rife. The superintendent, Dr. Mortimer Jones, was suspended, but later reinstated by Mayor Walker. The hospital is a firetrap, in which frequent blazes have broken out, endangering thousands of patients. An "inquiry" has been ordered by Mayor Walker, but a white-wash, as in the past, is expected to result.

MINERS KILLED IN SLATE FALL

Two Die, One Fatally Injured

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 14.—Two miners were instantly killed and another was so severely injured that he is not expected to live when a heavy fall of slate trapped a crew of workers in the Isabella mine of the open shop Hillman Coal and Coke Company late last night.

Andy Bubsah, 20 year old coal digger, and Paul Linn, both employed as loaders were instantly killed. Mike Megalese, 50, a cutter received a fractured skull and a crushed breast bone, and will probably die.

Safety rules have been completely neglected by the scab coal operators. Precautions against accident are no longer taken since the open-shop miners have no method of enforcing their rights.

In order not to give the mayor the excuse for crying foreigners, the committee consisted mainly of citizen strikers. The mayor has been issuing long statements explaining that the followers of the T. M. C. are mainly "aliens" and that citizens are not sympathetic to the T. M. C.

Flora Martin, picketing a mill gate at the north end of the city last night, was arrested in the daily police attacks on picket lines. The new charge employed by the police and courts against the strikers was brought against her. This charge is "loitering." Union spokesmen yesterday reiterated their stand that no illegal prohibitions by the bosses' agents would prevent the strikers from availing themselves of the right to picket.

A special committee was yesterday elected by the members of the Textile Workers Union of the T. M. C. to plan a big reception for William T. Murdoch on the occasion of his release from prison. Murdoch, leader of the big strike since its first day, was sentenced to a three months jail term for activity on the picket lines. He will be freed next Monday after completion of the term. A huge and imposing welcome program and demonstration is being planned, it was ascertained.

YANKS AND ATHLETICS BOTH FALTER IN RACE

(By United Press)

The New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics both slipped a cog in the American League race. Grady Adkins hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 5 to 2 victory over the world champions. Babe Ruth's 44th home run of the season was one of the two runs made off Adkins's delivery. Ruth is now 19 days ahead of his 1927 record.

The Athletics ran afoul the puzzling slants of Elam Van Gilder, losing to the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 1. Bishop's single in the seventh drove in Miller with the lone Philadelphia tally.

There was no change in the torrid National League penant race Thursday, both the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants winning. The Giants beat the Chicago Cubs, 10 to 2. The Cardinals beat the Boston Braves, 6 to 1.

Larry Benton pitched his 22nd complete game of the season against the Cubs, winning his 19th victory. The Giants hammered five Chicago pitchers for 15 hits. Lefty O'Doul starred at bat for the Giants, driving in three runs.

Grover Cleveland Alexander won his 13th game of the season, holding the Braves to seven hits.

COOK BREAKS SWIMMING RECORD OF 13 YEARS

OCEAN CITY, N. J., Aug. 14 (UP).—August Zerva, 32 year old cook, of Atlantic City, today is hailed as a great distance swimmer after battling cold water, choppy waves and seaweed in a successful swim from Atlantic City to this resort last night.

The distance of more than 15 miles was covered in five hours and six minutes by the burly chef, bettering the record established by Charles Durburrow of five and one-half hours made in 1915.

GENERAL ARAB REVOLT LOOMS

Heat Detains British Invaders

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 14.—A general uprising of Arab tribes against the diplomatic intrigues and oppressions of the British and French in the Near East is forecast by the sudden uprising of Wahabi tribesmen, according to advices received here from the interior of Arabia and Transjordania.

Native leaders, traveling from encampment to encampment, are reported to be stirring the Arabs to a general revolt against the British and French, while a general wave of anti-European hostility is reported from many points in the Near East.

Only the intense heat is keeping the British land, air, and tank forces from undertaking a so-called punitive expedition beyond the Irak frontier. The British forces, which numbered several thousand originally with strong plane and tank support, have been doubled, according to the latest dispatches from Jeddah.

Native leaders assert that the British are seeking to gain control of a free pipeline route from their Mosul petroleum wells to the Persian gulf and that Feisal, king of Irak, is merely the instrument which they are using against Iban Saud, Sultan of Nejd, whose hostility blocks their plans.

WORKERS SCHOOL IN OHIO RAIDED AND 7 ARE HELD

Ashtabula Police Seize Instructors

ASHTABULA, O., Aug. 14.—The arrest of seven worker-students has resulted from the unexpected raid by the chief of police and two of his officers which interrupted the session of a class in the Young Workers School here. Two of the instructors at the school were closely examined by the police.

Questions like, "Are you financed by the I. W. W. or do you get your money from Moscow?" were asked of the instructors. The instructors failing to satisfy the police with their replies, the students were marched to the local police station. All the books at the school, and the wall-newspaper issued by the students were confiscated by the police.

After being held for two hours the workers were finally released, although not freed. Court action will be taken against them by the police, according to all indications. The International Labor Defense took immediate steps to aid the arrested students.

LONDON BOMBED IN TRIAL RAID

LONDON, Aug. 14.—War in peace time was featured here last night with a raid of seventy bombing planes which dropped sufficient quantities of high explosives to wipe out large sections of this city. The raid which is part of the annual military maneuvers was staged to demonstrate the effectiveness of London's anti-aircraft guns in repelling an air invasion, and to impress the nation with the need of greater armament.

The Universal Handcuff For Strike Leaders

The judicial tools of the Massachusetts textile kings have added within the past few days a new and drastic means of breaking strikes and suppressing the labor movement.

Peter Hegelias, strike leader, was tried before Hanify, the Fall River judge, and of course the strike leader was convicted simply because the mill owners who rule the city and who own the judge wanted him convicted. Hegelias appealed, and gave bail pending the appeal.

But that bail for appeal was not enough.

Here comes the new device—a device intended to handcuff Hegelias and any other union organizer to whom it may be applied to prevent their activity on behalf of the striking workers.

The new device is called a "surety bond." What does it mean? The organizer was compelled to put up a bond of $1,000 for "surety"—entirely aside from the regular bail for appeal. What happens next? Simply this:

If the man under the $1,000 "surety bond" does anything of any sort whatever that the mill owners don't like, the police arrest him and the $1,000 is forfeited automatically!

Here is the universal handcuff for labor organizers!

With this practice in operation in any strike the entire list of leaders can be rounded up and put under "surety bond," after which every one, on any pretext whatever, can be re-arrested and caused to forfeit the big sum of money. The theory is, of course, that workers cannot afford to put up—and lose—a large sum of money every few days for each and every one of their active people in the strike. And of course the surety companies will not supply "surety bonds" that are sure to be forfeited.

This diabolical device is a new addition to the laws and practices of courts intended to stop the organization of workers, to prevent speaking by workers with grievances, either in strikes or otherwise, and generally to obliterate all activity of our class in protection against employers or for initiative in improvement of their conditions.

It is understood that whenever any petty capitalist judge may receive from his masters instructions to do so, he can put all active workers under such a bond and keep them under bond as long as the employers may desire.

As far as we know it is the first time this particular device has been applied in just this way. It will probably become a highly valuable addition to the injunction as a means of enslaving the workers.

The textile workers of Fall River and New Bedford owe it to the working class as a whole to fight to the finish this beastly invention of the bosses' little judge.

But the working class as a whole owes it to the textile workers to come immediately to their rescue. This is a flaring light to show the workers that the textile workers' fight is the fight of our entire class—against the entire capitalist class.

It is the universal handcuff that may be snapped upon the hands that are building the labor movement anywhere.

Not nearly enough support is being given to the textile workers of New Bedford and Fall River. They are fighting heroically enough to inspire other workers far and wide. The struggle is leading directly toward the formation of a great new Textile Workers' Union on a national scale which promises to be one of the most splendid organizations in the American labor movement.

To win their fight they need relief funds for their families as well as defense funds against such measures as this.

Help them, fellow workers!

The Communists and the Negro

By H. WILLIAMS.

Some pessimists believe that because the Negroes of America represent a minority group our lot is hopeless.

That is not so. These defeatists must learn to understand the social forces which are at work in shaping the destiny of the human race.

Historically speaking Negroes represent the most potential revolutionary element of the American population, because of their status in capitalist society. They are not alone; they are part and parcel of the working class and oppressed social groups, all of whom are in a state of revolt against their common enemy, capitalist-imperialism.

Communists for Negro Cause.

One of the first demonstrations of devotion and loyalty to the Negro race in America was recently expressed by the Communist Party at its national presidential convention.

The program of the party dealing with the Negro problems stands out as a historic document. No other party except a truly revolutionary one could dare adopt such a program.

The republicans, democrats and socialists are traitors, oppressors and enemies of the Negro race. The Communists alone are worthy of consideration and support.

Our condition under the present social order can only be changed through militant struggle by the broad masses. We might as well realize this, for just as freedom from the system of chattel slavery was achieved thru a revolutionary struggle the Civil War, an armed conflict between the capitalists of the North and the landlords of the South, in like manner freedom from wage slavery will be achieved only under conditions in which the ruling class will precipitate another armed conflict, this time between the workers, farmers and Negroes against the capitalists and their lackeys.

We must therefore prepare ourselves for this inevitable clash by joining the ranks of the Workers Communist Party so as to steel ourselves for the historic role we will be called upon to perform.

Bosses Fear Only Reds.

The Communist Party is the only section of the labor movement that is feared by the bosses.

The exploiters are continually preaching about the "red" so as to poison the minds of the colored workers. But we cannot be so easily deceived by these "gentlemen" who used us in the last imperialist war to increase their profits and to enslave the colonial peoples including black Haiti and Liberia.

CAMPAIGN CORNER

P. S. DuPont, chairman of the board of directors of General Motors, is so anxious to help Al Smith win the election that he is expected to resign his position in that organization. Big Business is certainly getting into politics. Wall Street has been given a coat of whitewash in recent years and is now openly taking its position at the political helm. The masses are learning a thing or two about the world they live in and realize that it makes no difference whether Morgan is president or whether his servants, Coolidge, Smith or Hoover, occupy the White House.

District campaign managers and district organizers are so busy securing signatures to place the party ticket on the ballot that they have [illegible] much time to send in reports on their activities to the publicity department of the National Election Campaign Committee. Nevertheless this is of the utmost importance. The comrades throughout the Party are anxious to know how things are going all over the country. Since telepathy is yet at a very low stage of development and we cannot afford a set of television glasses we urge the D. O.'s and campaign managers to take a remedy for writer's cramps and shoot in some news.

* * *

Collecting signatures is great fun and not so dangerous. It is by no means as hazardous a venture as going to Coney Island on a hot Sunday. A comrade just came in with the following experience: She approached a man who was sitting on his doorsteps, for a signature, after the preliminary introduction. He replied that he was a business man and was against the workers. "Perhaps this is John J. Raskob or Henry Ford in disguise," mused the signature seeker. So she inquired what his business was or which of the great trusts he was head of. He was boss on the B.-M. T. subway—a common, ordinary foreman. "I am against the workers," he reiterated. "I have men working under me." Manufacture your own brimstone after reading this.

All sections of the Workers (Communist) Party must at once take steps for the organization of Tag Days to be held August 18 to 26. All news concerning the arrangements for Tag Days should be sent at once to the National Office to be used for publicity purposes.

* * *

The campaign treasury has its mouth open these days as wide as a United States senator on the fourth of July. It snaps its jaws on every contribution that falls into its maw and opens up for more. Our treasury does not seem to be suffering from an inferiority complex because of the millions that are pouring into the republican and democratic treasuries. It is a Communist treasury and will be quite satisfied when $100,000 has passed through its teeth. Forward your contribution at once to National Election Campaign Committee, 43 East 125th St., Alexander Trachtenberg, treasurer.

Fascists Fighting U. S. Workers

Workers Party Must Continue the Struggle Against These Enemies of Labor

By W. J. WHITE

ALL over the world we see the growing intensity of the class struggle, as always, as the birth pangs grow more acute, and the old comes more and more in conflict with the new, we see the old being forced to resort more and more to force to try and hold their grip on that which keeps them the dominating class in society, property. With the new problems confronting them they are forced to come out more and more into the open and fight for their right to hold on to their possessions. More and more they are forced to show that their prating about liberty, equality, right of free speech and the right of public meetings and of free press is the sheerest hypocrisy. Forced out of this entrenched position and having to come out into the open they are showing to the workers the mailed fist in the velvet glove in such a manner and in such a way that there is no mistaking their purpose, and that when they are put to the test they will use every force to hold and maintain their position at all costs at the top of the heap against the workers as long as possible.

One of the means they are now resorting to is to organize their shock troops, for their protection, out in the open, and to resort to suppression of the opposing forces of the workers, with ever more brutality, and in doing this they are laying aside their former hypocritical masks and pretenses and disclosing to the workers that they care not what they may have to do; if necessity calls they are ready to do anything and commit any crime to safeguard their own cause.

Fascists Active.

THE above thoughts come to me as I read in an Associated Press dispatch of the formation of the Fascist League of North America, in which we are informed there is over 30,000 members, in 92 organizations. This organization is out in the open and is letting the workers know that it is being organized by the property possessing class for the avowed purpose of defending the owners and will help them to hold on to their possessions. Along the same line is a recent speech made by the president of an eastern college before the Kiwanis Club of Pittsburgh, that his college had received from a donor a gift of $100,000 for propaganda among the students of his college to offset the effect of such agitations as the recent drive to save the lives of Sacco and Vanzetti. This Kiwanis club before which he spoke is but one of the many fascist organizations organized by the capitalists for their interests. The American Legion, the Minute Man of the Constitution, Daughters of the American Revolution, and the hundred and one such kindred organizations, bear striking testimony to the fact that the imperialists of this country are coming out even more and more into the open in their drive to arouse their own class to the threatening danger to their class and interests.

Military Against Strikers.

THE velvet glove is being stripped and the steel fist beneath is being shown out in the open, as the struggle grows fiercer. Citizens' military organizations are hearing lecture after lecture on how to handle strikes and other manifestations among the workers. At the recent maneuvers in this state the governor, Fisher, who has earned a very unenviable reputation among the striking miners because of his open advocacy of the side of the operators, told those attending the Citizens' Military Training Camps that they were a credit to the state and that the people who believed in law and order looked to them to not only defend the state from the enemy without, but also to suppress the growing tide of radicalism within the borders of the state.

"Unions" Aiding Fascists.

No one can deny that the reactionary leadership within the unions are fast traveling toward the fascist position. Everywhere we see the evidence piling up that the misleaders of labor for a price are rushing into the fascist camp of the employers, and that they are also doing their best to take as many of their gullible, blind and bigoted followers into the fascist camp with them that they can. The social democrats are fast traveling into the same camp, with the bought and paid for wealthier class collaboration, false leadership of the befuddled and beknighted workers, who still believe them to be honest and straightforward. The papers of both the paid for leadership and the social democracy reek with inspired editorials for fascism and they vie with each other in trying to earn the price of their prostitution. No attack against the Communists can be too vicious for them to launch. No lie is too monstrous or preposterous for them to tell, and their poisonous attacks against the Soviet Union of the working class must please and satisfy even the most fastidious of the fascist employers. No capitalist newspaper of the most [illegible]udent description has ever contained more deliberate lies and calumniations against the first republic of the working class than the Jewish Forward and the New Leader have spewed forth in their effort to overturn this the first workers state and bring the efforts and struggle of the Russian workers to naught. Fascism oozes from their miasmic carcasses. Lore, Abe Cahn and O'Neill strive with might and main to satisfy their masters, the imperialists, and Mussolini has no curse or anathema more deadly to the working class than the poison which drips from their poisonous pens.

Task of Party.

IT is the historic task of our Party to break this strangle hold which the imperialist and industrial lords of this country are trying to get around the necks of the workers. Our speakers and papers must never tire of exposing this attempt of the forces of reaction to hamstring and cripple the members of our class. They must not succeed in the designs they have in leading the workers into the swamps of the employers under the guise that they have their god at heart. We must expose them and show them up for what they are and let the workers look at their fascist faces from which we have stripped their masks of respectability. We must make it our duty to strip them and make them stand naked before the working class. When we do this and let the workers see the fascist forces of the masters backing and helping them in their nefarious work then we know we can leave them to the wrath which comes from a betrayed and sold out working class. Fascism must not be allowed to prevail in this country. We must fight it, expose it and destroy it.

Told You So

THAT advertising genius, Ivy Lee, continues to tell us by means of subway posters that we should ride on the "L" even though the subway is fast. The delights of elevated riding are painted in the glowing words which the Standard Oil publicity man is accustomed to supply to client and consumer alike. Fortunaely, we are not strong for Ivy, even though he is in favor of the recognition of Soviet Russia. Fortunately, we say, for at this moment an eight-column headline telling of another crash on the elevated stares us in the eyes. The cars, being of wood, went up in flames and 800 passengers fled in panic. Yes, Ivy, the elevated is speedy, but it does not always get you where you want to go.

* * *

THE wets in the G. O. P. will stay put and so will the drys in the democratic party. A little thing like a glass of booze is nothing between friends. Those who have seen the play "Revelry," or read the book by the same name, understand how Harding and his cabinet were selected with the aid of the Anti-Saloon League and the more conscientious drys, but the highballs flowed merrily in the "little green house on K. Street" while prohibition agents roamed the country snatching half-pints from unguarded hips and making life miserable for the speakeasy proprietor who was not punctual with his bribe money.

THE Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton will not have his Baptist pulpit polluted by Al Smith, so it is not likely that the much advertised debate will come off. Straton stated from his pulpit that Al was a bad egg morally. He did not charge Al with being any of half a dozen kinds of bum yeggs, but he gave his radio audience to understand that the election of the Tammany candidate would not be so good for pure womanhood. The frothing clergyman knows that Tammany has learned several ways of getting easy money now, that are much more effective than keeping a red light district. "Thar's gold in them thar sewers" is the new Tammany slogan. The Doc gets his from the morons who believe that by throwing fits they can get rid of their devils. A plague on both of them.

* * *

PROFESSOR JOHN DEWEY, head of the People's Lobby at Washington, attacks the big banks for squeezing "the small investors out of the market." What does the professor think the small investors were born for? Does he think the big bankers get so much fun out of life that they can resist the temptation to skin a bunch of small investors every now and then? Something should be done about this. Dewey, being a learned man, no doubt heard of a fish called the shark. Not only does a shark swallow mackerel and herring but he even takes a bite out of a fat banker once in a while just for fun. Why not swat the shark? It's just like those liberal fellows to keep tickling the magnates with feathers and making them laugh themselves sick.

* * *

THE entomologists of the world have united at Ithaca, New York, to wage war on insects. The great scientist, Dr. L. O. Howard, got a great big hand from his audience when he stated that in the war betwen the human race and the bug species, man was the aggressor. If he had come out for light wines and beers he would not evoke more enthusiasm. An English doctor was attentively listened to while he discoursed learnedly on the habits of the lowly flea. Despite the usual levity with which the subject of the flea is treated, he said, fleas offer interesting and often serious problems. We'll tell the world they do.

WHICH reminds me of a story. A preacher not noted for his promptness in paying bills, drew down on his head the wrath of his tailor, to whom he owed considerable money. The preacher sent his pants to the tailor to be pressed for the Sunday service. "I'll fix the tight-wad," muttered the little needle and thread man as he seized a slovenly dog and wrapped him up in the clergyman's trousers. The preacher got into his pulpit and coughed, preparatory to delivering his sermon. His pants were neatly pressed, but what the deuce was biting him? The biting increased, but the unfortunate sky pilot must maintain his poise. He began: "The words of God are in my mouth." Then the entire output of the tailor's cur bit him in concert and the preacher, grinding his teeth, added, "but the devil is in my breeches."

Tom O'Flaherty

A Candid Statistician Looks at the Future

Paints Gloomy Picture of the Economic Future —But Leaves Out Many Gloomier Touches

By THURBER LEWIS

AS history goes, ten years isn't a long time. But to the revolutionary strategist, ten years is a long time. The reason for this is not that he is obsessed with the notion, hackneyed by cynics, that "the revolution is around the corner." But because he knows the delicately balanced and explosive nature of capitalism will not stand for long term prophecy. Who, in 1915, could have predicted a proletarian dictatorship in Russia by 1917? Who, in 1914, foresaw the world dominant position attained by the United States capitalism a few years later?

Which brings us to the prophecy of one who is anything but a revolutionist. "There promises to be, within a decade, such a development of producing capacity as will far outrun the absorbing power of all markets."

Benjamin Baker, who wrote that, is the business forecaster of "The Annalist," a leading financial weekly published by the New York Times Company. He writes "The Business Outlook" on the front page of that journal every Friday. Mr. Baker is an uncommonly frank economist. It isn't often that he paints rosy pictures. There is nothing remarkable in this except that most "economists" have the habit of painting rosy pictures.

As to the Farmer.

BAKER amplifies what will happen within a decade: "It will presently be made evident that the problem of the farmers' is in reality the problem of crop producing inefficiency competing with an increasing measure of crop-producing efficiency: that all agricultural products the country can either use or sell abroad will within a decade be produced on much less than the present acreage, and by perhaps less than half of the present farm population; and that in consequence, industry will have to absorb, or invent new jobs for, additional workers to the number of many millions."

Add this augury of the land to the picture of industry sketched in the quoted sentence preceding and you have "within a decade" a very gloomy prospect.

In brief, it is: Industry will be producing far too much for all its markets; and at the same time millions of farmers will look to industry, laying off its workers by millions, for jobs that can't be provided.

The New Trustification.

On top of overproduction, you are given, with no equivocation, a preview of its accompanying phenomenon: centralization and trustification on a massive scale. It is hard to get around the conviction that Mr. Baker's description is by way of warning, although he does not say so to his capitalist readers. He has told them plainly what they are up against and his reference to fixing prices and apportioning markets is undoubtedly a hint that this is the inevitible and the sooner the cartels get organized the better off they'll be.

Blasting a Pet Theory.

WHAT Mr. Baker has to day can be endorsed by any Marxian revolutionist. Marxians have been saying this for many years. It is interesting to note also that in justifying his position, Mr. Baker felt it necessary to burn some powder under a pet school-room theory of the professors of economics. "For a true perception of what is taking place it is necessary to clear the mind of the familiar economist's dictum that general overproduction is impossible 'because there is no limit to human wants.' Neither this conclusion nor the assumed basis for it is valid in this present economic world. It is not true that everyone wants unlimited quantities of anything—with the exception of money and leisure. And even if everyone did, the bounds of economically possible production are set by the economic swapping power of the individual whose 'wants' can never be satisfied. The advance of machine production and the management thereof are steadily reducing what the great mass of individual workers have to give in an economic swap of service for goods."

The Marxian will find things to quarrel with here. But what Mr. Baker means by a dwindling swapping power is simply the growing inability of the worker to buy back a sufficient amount of the commodities he produces to keep him in a job and that the less he is able to buy back the more there is overproduction. In other words the cumulative crisis Marx predicted many years ago.

Other Factors.

ALL of which gives us, from the mouth of one of the most competent of capitalist "experts," an economic portrait of the future strikingly similar to that of the Marxist. And it brings us back to the "Decade." A revolutionist is not fooled by the easy formulation of ten and twenty-year trends. Capitalism is far too complicated a process. Mr. Baker sees only the economic aspects. If he sees them correctly does not make him immune to the charge of overlooking others. It may not be in this, but it is certainly in the line of the Communist to take everything into account.

The situation that Baker has portrayed to occur ten years from now is patently one under which capitalism cannot continue to exist. Ten million unemployed will stop the machinery of capitalism enough to project a revolutionary situation. But there are other things that can stop the machinery of capitalism and project revolutionary situations.

There is war. It is not likely that American capitalism will undergo the creeping paralysis that Baker describes without trying, as European capitalism did in the last, to alleviate it by the disposition of man-power and the humming industry that war makes possible. Nor is it unlikely that in the struggle for the markets, Baker says, will be all absorbed in that period, war will be a consequence.

The Exploited Will Not Be Silent.

AND what about the workers, the ones who suffer most sharply to such a progressive economic vertigo? Might they not have something to say about how long they will put up with the evils such a prospect forces upon them?

And what about the Nicaraguans and Chinese and Filipinos who will be used to as colonial slaves in the frantic struggle to keep capitalism's head above water "at home"? They will also have something to say.

It is a very gloomy picture that Baker paints. But he left out many gloomier touches—for capitalists to look at.

NEW INTERNATIONAL FUR UNION LAUNCHED AT MEET

"AUTOMOBILE—SYMBOL OF MODERN SLAVERY"—NEW OCTOPUS RISEN TO POWER

"Horseless Carriage" Becomes Vehicle of Business

Driving Force to War

By BEN LIFSCHITZ

BEN LIFSCHITZ

From the laughable little "horseless carriage," but of the jokes of the practical and sane, the automobile has in a short generation grown into an octupus of transportation which helped empires to build their economic greatness. The past fifteen years in the life of this remarkable industry has witnessed a boom development unprecedented in economic history.

Vast fortunes have been made literally overnight in furthering its progress. Bankers and finance capitalists have staged the most dramatic battles for its control. Hundreds of thousands of workers have been drafted into its service—and slavery. Speed-up, exploitation, standardization, mechanization of the human being—the Belt!—these and a thousand other revolutionary developments have occurred in the short span of its life-time.

Whither Automobile?

Has this giant attained in the U. S. its maturity or is it still in the upward stage of development? Upon the correct answer to this question depend other, vastly larger, questions of economic perspective.

This much may be said: The Bonanza period of the industry is drawing to a close!

Capital, investment in unbelievably enormous amounts has flowed [illegible] the industry. The rapidly con[illegible]ating money power is leading to bitter competition between capitalist combinations not only in the United States but between those at home and abroad.

In the United States this struggle is most clearly marked in the rivalry between the gigantic Ford and General Motors Company groups. The development of the new model Ford car, accompanied by the production of the new model Chevrolet, reflects this conflict. This

RUMOR WALL ST. LOAN TO JAPAN

To Aid Imperialism in Manchuria

SHANGHAI, Aug. 15.—That the Japanese government intends to strengthen its hold on Manchuria by increased economic penetration backed by force, if necessary, was indicated here today by a rumor that the Japanese government was preparing to float a loan of $30,000,000 to the Manchurian government, part of which is to be floated in New York, probably through J. P. Morgan and Company.

Opposition against the proposed loan, which would employ American money to strengthen the Japanese position in Manchuria, is being expressed by Nanking governmet officials.

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 15.—Baron Hayashi, envoy of the Japanese government to the Manchurian warlord, informer Premier Tanaka today that Chang Hsueh-liang had told him that the Nanking agreement was still under consideration, and that there is still a possibility of Manchuria joining the Nanking regime.

Report Men Meeting Secretly

Reports that railroad workers in the employ of the Long Island Railroad, a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Railroad, are meeting secretly outside the "regular" union meetings are gaining ground here, as threats of a strike are heard with growing frequency along the company's line.

Charges that workers with long terms of service are being discharged for minor offenses or on grounds which are little more than a pretext are common.

Organizers are reported to be in the field and feeling among the men is running high.

STEEL STRIKERS DEMONSTRATE

500 Stage Solidarity March to Pay-off

CANTON, Ohio, Aug. 15.—Turning their final pay-off by the Central Alloy Steel Corporation, against which they are on strike, into a demonstration of mass solidarity in the face of wage cuts, police terror and deportation proceedings against many of their number, 500 chippers and grinders of departments eight and five of the Canton mill marched from their strike meeting to the employment office in a demonstration which has brought the officials of the company to understand that they are facing a determined mass of men.

Absolutely Firm.

With the usual terror of the steel corporation against its workers on strike closing in on them, the 500 steel workers who walked out of the Central Alloy Steel Company's mill here one week ago, remain absolutely firm. Not one man has returned to work.

Empty persuasion and terror alike have failed to drive back to the mills the men who have determined that they must win this walkout or face a general reduction of wages to levels below which it is barely possible to subsist.

Under the lead of the Central Alloy Steel Mill Committee, the 400 chippers and 100 grinders are working actively to bring out the men thruout the entire Canton plant. The Mill Committee is rapidly acting to organize the men.

Following the arrival in Canton of manager Fairles of the Massillon plant, whose intention was to persuade the strikers to go back to the mills with promises of fifty-five cents a day and a bonus, the local

MARINES KILL 4 NICARAGUANS

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Aug. 15.—Marine patrols clashed with forces of General Sandino again today, killing four and capturing five.

The patrol, under Lieutenant Edson, which last week retreated after a short engagement, near Espanolita, is reported on the ofensive again.

It was believed the group encountered today is part of the force which defeated the marines last week.

DELEGATES TO CONGRESS HAIL DRAFT PROGRAM

World Communist Meet Praises Document

Hold the 27th Session

(Wiireless to The Daily Worker).

MOSCOW, U. S. R. R., Aug. 15.—Further discussion of the draft program occupied the twenty-seventh session of the World Congress of the Communist International here yesterday afternoon.

Semard, of France, declared that the draft program utilizes the experiences of the last ten years, but that it must deal more in detail with the role of the social democracy, its attitude toward the Soviet Union and its role in capitalist rationalization. The formulation of the draft program concerning the hegemony of the proletariat in the revolution must not be weakened as a concession of the peasantry, as Renaud Jean suggests. Such an alteration would oppose the Leninist idea concerning the role of the proletariat. In the opinion of the French delegation, the draft must deal more in detail with the possibility of building socialism in one country alone.

Not "Too Heavy."

Page Arnot, of Great Britain, then declared that the British delegation in general approves of the draft which represents a continuation of the work of Marx, Engels and Lenin. The draft correctly utilizes the experiences of the Russian Revolution, the speaker declared, hence the British delegation is opposed to all criticisms that the draft is "too Russian."

The British Labor Party declares that fascism is impossible in Great Britain. If the Communists adopted this idea it would mean an overestimation of the strength of capitalism. Fascist tendencies on the part of the British borgeoisie undoubtedly exist and are commencing to take ideological and organizational forms.

The British delegation recommends certain improvements in the draft and welcomes the latter as the instrument for the conquest of the workers and their ideological armament in the struggle against capitalism.

BUILDING TRADES COUNCILS UNIFIED

Move Seen for Greater Boss Control

Announcement was made yesterday by William J. McSorley, president of the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, of the completion of plans for the union of the two building trades councils hitherto functioning in New York City.

The dual building trades council which was the only one actually effective was organized about ten years ago by the notorious Robert P. Brindell, who served a term in Sing Sing for extortion. The majority of the building trades unions were compelled to affiliate with this organization. The council is known to have been completely dominated by the building trades employers.

District Office Issues Appeal to All Members

All members of the Workers (Communist) Party are requested to report at the district office, Workers' Center, 26-28 Union Square, between 6 and 6:30 p. m. today, to participate in special party work, according to a statement issued at the district office of the Workers (Communist) Party office yesterday.

The work is of utmost importance, the statement says, and a satisfactory response is urgent.

COMMUNISTS TO DEFY JINGOES

Astoria Meeting to Be Held Tonight

The right of Communists to speak at open air meetings in the Tammany-Jingo infested Astoria, Long Island, will be tested tonight at 8 o'clock when a demonstration will be held at the corner of Jamaica and Steinway Ave.

Last Thursday night, Abe Harfield, Communist candidate for the Assembly from the first district of Queens; George Padgug and Paul Muller were badly beaten following an organized attack led by members of the Dwyer Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Rebecca Grecht, state campaign manager of the Workers (Communist) Party, was arrested on a framed-up charge of "inciting to riot." She is now free in $500 bail.

The speakers tonight will be Robert Minor, editor of the Daily Worker and Communist candidate for U. S. senate; Abe Harfield, Rebecca Grecht, Verne Smith, editor of the Labor Unity; P. Frankfeld, acting district organizer of the Young Workers League; John Muller, Donald Burke, and Pete Shapiro. Max Schachtman, editor of the "Labor Defender," will be chairman.

Announcement has ben made in the local press by the Tammanyite members of the Dwyer Post that the so-called "Americanization" process will in the future be intensified by "free speech parties" of a similar nature to that which last week resulted in the assault on the Communist speakers.

At tonight's meeting the speakers will devote much of their time to the exposure of the graft and corruption of Tammany Hall in Queens and tell Astoria workers the truth about Al Smith, the candidate of the traction interests and the enemy of the workers, as well as exposing the big business and open-shop program of Hoover.

The democratic assistant district attorney of Queens, McClancey, will be the principal speaker tonight at the "Americanization" meeting to be held by the Veterans of Foreign Wars in opposition to the Workers (Communist) Party meeting.

PICKETING GROWS IN FALL RIVER DESPITE TERROR

Spies "Back to Work" Talk Fails as Lines Hold

Tansey in Scab Move

(Special to the Daily Worker.)

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 15.—Nine more of the striking workers here were today sentenced to six months' imprisonment each, under surety bonds of $1,000. Venemously attacking the Textile Mills Committee as a "criminal organization" and reviling the leaders, Judge Hanify meted out savage sentences to the strikers.

James Reid, Manuel Rogers, Jesse Cordeiro, Antone Sousa, Joseph Pecheco and Louis Ferrier got six months and $1,000 each, and others were placed under $1,000 bail for leading the picket line at the American Printing Company on the afternoon of August 6.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 15.—A line of pickets yesterday succeeded in getting thru the cordon of police and conducted a demonstration before the gates of the American Printing Company. House picketing grows despite all the strike-breaking machinery the mill bosses could mobilize.

The workers striking for the return of the ten per cent wage cut are holding out determinedly despite an intense police terror and many other forces trying to crush the strike.

Competing strongly with the police and Massachusetts courts in strikebreaking activities is the latest act of the officialdom of the American Federation of Textile Operatives.

The workers, however, refuse to be terrorized and are stoically facing clubbings by city and state cossacks and long jail sentences meted out by judges in the state that murdered Sacco and Vanzetti. In addition to this the three textile mills affected by the walk-out have been busy employing scores of stool-pigeons who are to try to spread a back-to-work movement. All their rumors to the effect that the strike committee has called off the strike are groundless and are disregarded by the strikers.

Adding to the strikebreaking activities of the police, spies and Massachusetts courts are the officialdom of the American Federation of Textile Operatives, whose latest open act of scabbing is the announcement made yesterday by President Tansey from Boston, where the reactionary officials are meeting in conference.

Tansey, who while leading a labor

BATTY'S TACTICS FAIL IN STRIKE

"Obey Cops" Slogan Is Flop; Is Pinched

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 15.—Vividly exposing the impracticality of the cowardly policies of the A. F. of L. Textile Council in the textile strike here was the arrest of William Batty, council secretary, and a few of his fellow officials for picketing. Batty and his union have always denounced the militant tactics of the Textile Mill Committees and called upon their members to "follow police regulations carefully."

Heretofore permitting the small Textile Council lines to picket while they broke up the mass demonstrations of the T. M. C., the police completely disregard the "law and order" leadership, as soon as they received instructions to smash all picketing. This new policy of the mill owners is being carried out because not one man is breaking away from the 28,000 on strike.

"The reactionary union has until now lost considerable membership because of the policy of "lying down before the bosses," a T. M. C. statement declares, adding, "today's event merely adds to the proof already presented that militant struggle against the employers is the best method of winning the strike."

The leaders of the Textile Council were released on bail of $100 each, and are to be tried tomorrow.

Symbol of Anti-USSR Bloc in Pact Signing

PARIS, Aug. 15.—It was announced here today that the signing of the Kellogg pact will take place in the Quai D'Orsay, where Wilson's league protocol was signed by the powers. Many point out that just as the Soviet Union was not present at the signing of the protocol, it will also not be present at the signing of the Kellogg pact, which is taken as evidence of the continued anti-Soviet bloc.

Find Russian Nobles Frolic in Drug Fests

LENINGRAD, U. S. S. R., Aug. 15.—Cocaine, hasheesh, heroine, oriental debauches ending in a "harmonization of souls" characterize the post revolutionary, as they did the pre-revolutionary life of Russian aristocracy, according to revelations made by the Soviet State G. P. U.

The discovery of secret lodges, semi-masonic in character, whose members, remnants and left-overs of the former aristocracy, transact their business in hypothetical paper and land titles on an imaginary bourse, are among the discoveries of the authorities.

Checks drawn on banks which ceased to exist ten years ago, and signed obligations payable on the czar's treasury are other aberrations of the frantic aristocrats, now faced with the feat of earning the food they eat.

"Friends of Anna Virubova and Grigori Rasputin" is reported to have been the name of one of the lodges. Another was called the "Blue International" from which all but "blue bloods" are excluded.

At the head of a third stood Ochneff-Lefevre, former confectioner to the czar, who has since been sent north by the authorities. He was addressed as "Your Majesty Louis Fourteenth," and was fated to restore not only the Russian aristocracy but the France of Marie Antoinette.

All these lodges are alleged to have maintained counter-revolutionary contacts with emigre groups outside the Soviet Union. Secret meetings of the membership were an occasion for "soul harmonization."

SPEED-UP HITS PRINTING TRADE

It cannot be said that the speed-up and high pressure of Big Business are overlooking the aristocracy of labor. True, members of the printing industry would be horrified if the world at large should become aware of their pacific submission and the open violation of the most sacred oath: "No member shall see another member wronged, etc."

The aristocracy now are on a level with the menials, but they will stand more abuse than their less fortunate unskilled brothers. Their standing in the community will not let them lower their dignity to question whether they are cattle or human beings. Some on the "inside" receive a pittance for their faithful-

WORKERS SHELF THE REMAINS OF A. F. L. "UNION"

Drive Is Opened for $25,000 Fund for Organization

Will Call Convention

Holding what the hall keeper termed the largest crowd that ever filled the building, old Cooper Union last night was crammed while at least 4,000 fur workers enthusiastically voted endorsement of the resolution of the International Fur Workers United Front Committee that a new national organization of fur workers, independent of the A. F. of L. be launched.

Jam Hall.

People literally jammed tight every inch of available standing space, including the large corridors beyond the doors and many hundreds were turned away from a meeting that proved to be one of the most historic steps in the exciting history of that organization.

After listening attentively in an almost overpowering heat to speakers from nearly every American and Canadian local of the International Fur Workers Union, including speakers from the group which split off from the right wing New York Joint Council, the assemblage rose as one man for the standing vote asked on the resolution calling for the formation of a new and real International union of fur garment and fur pelt workers.

Although more locals are official participants in the new union movement, the time and crowded condition of the hall permitted speakers only from Local 1, 5, 10, 15, 25, 30, 40, 70, 54, 58 and Progressive Bloc of the Joint Council. The international committee also includes 91, 88, 53, Toronto and Winnipeg locals. The entire former International contained only several more local unions.

Convention Called.

The thousands of workers also instructed the leaders to call a formal convention for the official naming of the new union within not more than 60 days from last night's meeting.

With thunderous and protracted applause, the spirited meeting greeted the introduction of Ben Gold, manager of the left wing New York Joint Board, which is leading the fight for a real workers' union, as against the company union of the A. F. of L. and the bosses. Other speakers were: S. Liebowitz, of the Joint Board; H. Sorkin, S. Wexler and J. Winnick of the "Council" bloc; M. Langer, Newark; G. Perlman, Boston; S. Burt, Philadelphia; M. Stien, Newark, S. Weil and L. Bricca, Brooklyn; A. Sotiropolos, Greek Local 70; and S. Soulounias of the Joint Board, Greek branch. M. Englander of Canada, was chairman. Louis Hyman, Chairman of the recently launched new Cloakmakers' Union also spoke.

$25,000 Fund Drive.

Two other resolutions were also unanimously carried. One was for launching a drive to raise an organization fund of $25,000 which was to be used to begin a campaign to organize the open shops, and the other was a resolution of protest against the use of the police industrial squad as open assistants of the right wing in the new terror campaign started by them.

The chairman also introduced to the meeting a worker who had been slashed by a right wing thug in an attack on a shop that morning. Meyer Weinstein, the victim, had refused to go to a meeting of the right wing and for his refusal was held by members of the police squad while being cut up by W. Yacker, the thug. Yacker was later arrested on a warrant sworn out.

New Union Call.

The resolution calling for the formation of the new union declares: "In view of the above facts, we, the thousands of fur workers and the elected representatives of Locals 1, 5, 10 and 15, of Locals 88, 58, 54, 53, 25, 30, 40 and 91 of the respective: New York, Brooklyn, Newark, Philadelphia, Boston, Toronto, Winnipeg; and the Progressive Bloc, formerly of the Joint Council, assembled in Cooper Union on Wednesday, August 15, hereby pledge

GITLOW'S SPEECHES RILE THE TEXTILE BARONS

Addresses in Fall River and New Bedford Rouse Ire of Mill Boss Press

The New Bedford and Boston papers have given considerable space to the speeches made by Benjamin Gitlow, Communist candidate for vice-president, at two meetings in New Bedford and Fall River last Sunday. The boss-controlled press took advantage of the opportunity to attack Gitlow and the Communists under the guise of "impartial" reports.

Thousands of workers in the two textile cities listened intently to Gitlow, who spoke under the auspices of the Textile Mills Committee.

Commenting on the arrests of hundreds of pickets and the brutality of the police, Gitlow pointed out that the same thing happened in Passaic, where pickets were arrested wholesale. The money and property of sympathizers were tied up, and a policy was followed by the operators and their political henchmen calculated to scare the workers away from the picket lines.

Rest of Workers Affected.

"When the Passaic strike was over, most of the cases were thrown out of court," Gitlow said, "and it would not be likely that the same practice will be followed in New Bedford.

"Upon the outcome here in New Bedford," the speaker declared, "depends the wages and working conditions of the rest of the workers in the textile industry thruout the nation. If this wage cut goes thru, it will continue on down the line. If the workers can stop it and gain their demands, it is going to mean not only a stop to the epidemic of wage-cutting, but renewed fight in other textile centers to gain improved conditions.

STRIKING OHIO MINERS DEMAND FREEDOM FOR MOONEY AND BILLINGS AT ENTHUSIASTIC MEET

Special to the Daily Worker

MARTINS FERRY, O., Aug. 12 (By Mail).—An enthusiastic meeting of striking miners was held here today under the auspices of the International Labor Defense in which a protest resolution against the continued imprisonment of Mooney and Billings was passed unanimously. A copy of the resolution was sent to President Coolidge, care of the White House, Washington, D. C.

The resolution follows in part:

"Two hundred striking miners and organized workers assembled today in the mass meeting called by the International Labor Defense adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings, two leaders of labor in California, have been imprisoned for more than twelve years in their sentence to life terms, and have suffered bitterly at the hands of the capitalist class for their loyalty to the labor movement, and,

"Whereas, it has already been clearly established beyond a doubt that Mooney and Billings are totally innocent of the crime charge against them and the evidence produced at their trial and since the trial, it is clearly brought out that they were the victims of a vicious frame-up engineered by the black reactionary forces of Californias open shoppers, and,

Whereas, it is the duty of every labor and progressive organization to work actively to obtain the freedom of our two brothers, in prison:

Therefore be it resolved, that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States, to Governor Young of California, to Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings and the press.

International Labor Defense Starts Investigation of Frame-Up of I. R. T. Motorman

WORKER JAILED IS SCAPEGOAT; COMPANY GUILTY

Wooden Trains Blamed for Deaths

The New York Section of the International Labor Defense has started an investigation of the case of Stanley Zillig, I. R. T. motorman, who is being framed up on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the collision of two "L" trains several weeks ago.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the I. L. D., Tuesday night, it was decided to have Isaac Shorr, attorney for the organization, make a detailed investigation of the case. The I. L. D. will then if necessary, take complete charge of the defense of Zillig.

I. R. T. to Blame.

The accident, as a result of which Zillig is being framed, occurred when his train crashed into another stalled "L" train at Columbus Ave. and 69th St., during a short circuit. More than 50 persons were injured, one of whom died in the hospital. Competent observers declare that the wooden trains used by the Interborough, which have been condemned as dangerous on numerous occasions, were largely responsible for the injuries.

In the investigation following the accident the I. R. T. played its usual hypocritical, anti-labor role. After its lawyer first pretended to defend Zillig, who had been arrested and held in $15,000 bail, the company washed its hands of the case and informed the district attorney that it would furnish neither counsel nor bail for the motorman.

Try to Hush Up Case.

At the time the New York Section of the International Labor Defense issued a statement branding the arrest of Zillig as a paupable frame-up and an attempt to shift criminal responsibility from the Interborough Company to one of its workers. Since then efforts have been made on the part of the company and the police to hush up the entire case and the exact whereabouts of Zillig are unknown, tho he is believed to be still in the Tombs where, with his head swathed in bandages, he was taken when he was unable to furnish the exorbitant bail. The investigation by the I. L. D. is expected to result in a complete exposure of the frame-up.

COLLECTIONS TO MARK RED WEEK

Workers Thruout City Will Participate

"Red Week," August 20 to the 26 inclusive, will begin on Monday of next week with the appearance of Communist campaign collection lists in all shops, factories, in all workers' clubs and benefit societies and in all places where workers congregate. Thousands of Communist campaigners will carry about with them such collection lists and obtain the signatures and contributions of their shopmates, their relatives, and friends. While bosses are writing out checks in support of their pet capitalist candidates, workers thruout New York will organize financially in support of their workingclass candidates and the Workers (Communist) Party platform.

The District 2 Election Campaign Committee, in charge of the Red Week Campaign and the Red Tag Days which will mark its close, does not, according to Rebecca Grecht, Campaign Manager, expect campaign contributions the size of those generously donated to the capitalist parties by such labor-haters as [illegible], Raskob, Ford and Du Pont. The Campaign Committee will be satisfied with a contribution of one dollar—more will not be turned down—from every worker in New York.

Workers to Aid Drive.

The news of the gigantic contributions made to the war chests of the capitalist parties by their strikebreaking bosses have resulted in a definite reaction on the part of the workers. Their duty in organizing financially in election campaigns begins to assume as much importance to them as the organization of militant picket lines.

From next Monday to Friday, besides busying themselves with the collection of funds and making collections, workers will report at one of the thirty Red Tag Days stations thruout the city, to enroll as volunteers for the Red Tag Days. An unparalled turnout is expected. The Red Week windup will be ushered in with the jangle of collection boxes on Saturday morning, August 25, and the jangle will continue and increase until late Sunday night. Volunteers for the Tag Days would do well to provide themselves with two collection boxes each, in order to be able to tap the flood of homecoming week-enders from the nearby beaches and camps at which workers take their abbreviated vacations. All workers are urged to volunteer for this most important political task. A list of stations at which enrollment can be made will be published shortly.

Increase Tempo of Communist Signature Drive in Connecticut

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug 15.—With the date for filing signatures with the secretary of state approaching nearer, the signature drive of the Workers (Communist) Party in Connecticut is increasing in tempo. The state election laws demand that 4,000 registered voters sign to place the Party on he ballot. This means that at least 6,000 signatures will have to be secured to take care of all the names that will be crossed off by the town clerks.

Small groups of the Workers Party in New Haven, Hartford, Stamford, and Bridgeport are going out every evening in the week and some have already topped the 300 mark. Workers Party units are also arranging "Signature Sundays," when all the membership must report to headquarters and report back how many names they have collected.

ness—50 cents to a dollar per day extra as "exceptional" craftsmen. Others are striving to get into the chosen few. A very wide margin in the ranks is the outcome and the polished gents who are paid for such shrewdness just look pleasant and contemplate the scene behind the throne.

Shady Scenes.

Why yes, scenes behind thrones are in order. When the management wished to displace the department foreman at the New York American plant, there were many shady scenes. The management decided to have a strictly "business administration," imported two men of their choosing and proceeded to install them without ever a thought of contractural relations or agreement. After many pros and cons the curtain was drawn and the throne exposed: the good fellow who broke many hearts and caused so much regret was the moving figure behind the throne, so an alleged "superintendent" was the reward.

The speed-up immediately was evident. More money to those who could be exploited. Some who could not stand the foul smell found new fields of pasture. And of course there was no anxiety as the supply is more than sufficient for the needs of the matter.

Vile Working Conditions.

Economy in all departments, men going almost blind for the want of proper light, and no relief at hand. Heat eliminators—a joke. Not even a good apology. Numerous reasons why it should not be helped. Men are in a desperate condition, worse than some mines. Division in the ranks: make-up, linotypers and the lowly hand compositors.

Two men operating a Ludlow casting machine with the speed-up "superintendent's" shadow on their backs caused the machine to squirt hot metal for some distance. One suffered a singed eyeball and was rewarded with a few days off. Probably a supply of Eagle pencils will be donated if the unfortunate one loses the sight of his eyes.

Ice-cream is barred during working hours, no matter how hot the weather is. Chapel meetings are "packed" and very few progressives venture to voice their sentiments. Many talk in some "blind pig" away from all contact with the chapel.

Reward for Faithfulness.

It is rumored an unfortunate proletarian by the name of Phillips, after 29 years of faithful service for William R. Hearst, will not be even given the consideration of the faithful animal and put to graze. His services are no longer required. One thing to be thankful for, brother: you had some place to go nights, and you successfully built a monument Hearst can be proud of—Mount Simon, Cal. You will have lots of company as a new idea imported from Chicago is being put into practice a la ganster control. There is no room for sentiment. This is a business administration and the survival of the fittest by hook or crook.

Printing slaves should read the only newspaper that fights for their interests as well as for the interests of the other wage slaves—the Daily Worker. And help sovle your problems by the only remedy which Big Business does not relish—vote the Communist ticket.

GUNS AND VIGILANTES RULE CHILE WORKERS

(By a Worker Correspondent)

VALPARAISO, Chile (By Mail).—Having worked hard enough and seen enough here of the actual conditions under which the natives live—under the domination of United States and British capitalists—I am taking this opportunity to write to you while the ship I am working on is anchored at the Valparaiso harbor.

On our trip up and down rivers and along the coast, we have come in contact with the most depressing situation as far as the workers are concerned. I have already told you of conditions in Peru (published in a previous issue—Ed.) and I hope since that letter has gotten past the censors and that this one will.

U. S. Copper Company Exploits.

The same American copper company that exploits the workers in Peru also has mines in Chile. At Chanarall the workers live in the company barracks. If they are favored with a family of over five they are allowed to occupy two small rooms in the wooden shacks that some people have the nerve to call homes. Their rations are carefully given out by the company kitchen as follows: One and one-half pounds of bread for every two people over 14 years of age; one pound for two children; five pounds rice per week; two pounds of beans and eight to ten pounds of dried fish per week. With this "generous" allowance and five pesos salary per day the workers manage to live somehow.

As we came into the harbor of San Antonio three United States battleships met our gaze. We soon learned why—for the tanks of the International Petroleum Company faced the harbor. These oil kings must certainly be afraid of the consequences of exploitation for they have ordered three cruisers to subdue a population of 3,000!

Vigilantes Keep Guard.

The workers live in company barracks for which they pay a rent of from 45 to 50 pesos per month, out of a salary of about five pesos per day. The whole settlement is closely watched by vigilantes who will not allow foreigners to speak to the natives.

Passing by Antifagasta we noticed three battleships in the harbor. In fact there was at least on British or American battleship in every port.

We hit Valparaiso when the government and the reactionary labor leaders were celebrating the Fourth of July for the United States capitalists. That same evening the reactionary fascist labor unions, together with the government, gave a farewell banquet to Collier, the ambassador from Wall Street. This banquet tells more about the complete suppression of the workers than anything else I know. Collier, who had placed vigilantes and military guards about the American embassy at the time of the Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations, and who had called out the bluejackets who killed 14 and wounded four of the demonstrators besides arresting 150, was praised by these labor fakers—and (it's hard to believe that corruption has gone this far, but it is true) was commended on his work for labor!

Fascists Controls Unions.

Under such a misleadership it is no wonder that the workers cannot better their conditions. The unions are controlled by fascists and United States agents, specially imported for the purpose, all in the pay of the companies. It is a front formidable enough to cow the most militant workers—thus, battleships, vigilantes, prisons, islands awaiting the preletarian exiles.

Militants Under Ground.

About the average pay in Valparaiso for a highly skilled worker is estimated to be five pesos per day. Rarely do they live in more than one room—sometimes one even finds a family of ten in one room. They all sleep on the floor—beds are a luxury. The stench of the tenements and dirty streets is almost unbearable.

There are some militant organizations. But they of course function under-ground.

LOCAL 3 WORKER EXPOSES BROACH

Pictures Conditions in Union

(By Electrical Worker.)

Keep up the good work exposing H. H. Broach, the labor faker, international vice president of the Brotherhood, and the dictator of Local 3. I believe his paid henchmen should also be exposed.

One delegate by the name of Ackerman bungled or had no guts and lost a power house job which went to non-union men. This is an unemployment time. This job could have taken care of from 100 to 300 men. This delegate runs two lunch room wagons. That's where most of his time goes, I guess.

An "Honest" Faker.

Next there is Tom Clark. This bird on Broach's meal ticket has been living off Local 3, I. B. E. F. for a good many years. This official once got up on the floor of No. 3 and said what of it, if a delegate takes some money from a builder or boss, so long as he does not sell out the men.

But how can a man serve two masters?

Then there is Preiss, the business manager, getting a starvation salary of only $125 per week. He has also been living on the backs of the workers for years. What has he ever done for the union? A softsoaper and sermonizer and philosopher of the Tammany machine. There are a lot of others who will be exposed for their fakery in due time, for instance, Johnny Lapham and Dan Kiley. Once they posed as progressives. I want to say to them: Why do you allow members to be barred and don't utter a word? You two had pretty near the whole meeting to yourselves under the O'Hara machine, that is, you criticized that administration when you saw wrong. What's the matter now?

You are getting $115 a week holding down soft jobs. That's the reason.

Broach Tough Guys.

Then there's Broach's tough guys and cops; there are also his detectives, in and outside of the meeting hall; also the industrial squad. The tough guys under the O'Hara administration were like a flock of lambs compared with these lions. Then there is "Little Caesar" himself, another great sermonizer; a philosopher of great things which he has done and will do; never what he is doing, thus keeping the members off the main subject. The Broach machine will go down. Rome fell, Caesar fell, Napoleon fell; the Prince of Wales also fell several times. "Little Caesar," you are due next.

DUNN TO DEFEND TAG DAY IN COURT

Statement Hits Arrest of 15 Workers

lief of Chinese Trade Unionists.

The subpoenaes were served by an agent of the Department of Public Welfare and the witnesses must appear tomorrow morning at 10 a. m., at the First District Magistrate's Court, White and Center Streets.

The arrest of fifteen workers in Chinatown last Sunday while they were soliciting funds for the aid of the starving workers and peasants in China was protested yesterday by several of the leading members of the Committee to aid the Chinese Trade Unions.

Dunn Issues Statement.

Robert W. Dunn, secretary of the organization, denied the charges that had been made against the committee, saying that the sole purpose of the collection drive was to bring food and clothes to the thousands of Chinese workers who have suffered through the suppression of their labor unions by the reactionary Nanking government. "Our outstanding purpose," Dunn said, "is to bring succor to the Chinese workers. The fact that the authorities attempted to stop our drive by arresting 15 of the persons collecting funds for relief, I interpret as a direct attempt to keep the Chinese people in want, in order to better further imperialist ends.

Will Continue Drive.

"This drive, however, will not stop now, despite the arrests, and despite the certainty of future arrests. The Committee to aid the Chinese Trade Unions will soon issue an appeal throughout the United States, to individuals, labor, students and fraternal organizations, asking them to come to the aid of the Chinese workers. Before these individuals we will place the true facts of the conditions of the Chinese workers, which have thus far been suppressed on all sides."

Other members of the committee to aid the Chinese Trade Unions, among them Robert Morss Lovett, Carl Haessler, Roger Baldwin, Duncan McDonald, Freda Kirchway, Robert Whittaker, Riichard B. Moore, Robert Minor, Scott Nearing and Hugo Gellert, have criticised the stand taken by the authorities against the collection of funds to aid the Chinese Trade Unions.

Flint, Mich., I. L. D. to Hold Picnic for Miners on Sunday

FLINT, Mich., Aug. 15.—Many workers are expected to be present at a picnic to be held by the local International Labor Defense Sunday out Atherton Road. The proceeds of the affair will go for the relief of the miners.

An elaborate program of activities is being arranged by the committee in charge, including games and sports of all sorts.

TARGET PRACTICE AT BIG CARNIVAL

Variety of Costumes at Affair Sunday

Workers will have an opportunity to indulge in target practice for the American proletarian revolution at the great International Costume Carnival of the Daily Worker, to be held in Pleasant Bay Park Sunday. A shooting gallery will be one of the features of the carnival and it is expected that many future members of the American Red Army will patronize it.

The news that the Daily Worker has arranged the first outdoor proletarian costume carnival ever held in this country has caused thousands of workers in New York City and vicinity to begin rumaging in their chests and trunks for appropriate costumes. Since the best national groups, as well as individual costumes, will have their pictures taken and published in the Daily Worker, workers are sparing no efforts to be at their best.

National costumes of all sorts will be seen next Sunday, with the probability that Russian costumes will predominate. These are expected to add great color to the Russian hour that is being arranged, during which tea will be served in samovars and Russian folk-songs will be played by an accordion orchestra.

The costumes will also be displayed to good advantage during the open-air dancing around a huge bonfire.

The athletic part of the program at the carnival is being well taken care of. The Labor Sports Union will bring some of its best athletes there and two of its member organizations will engage in an exhibition soccer game. The Finnish Athletic Club will also take part with various athletic exhibitions.

Tickets for the big carnival have begun selling fast. They can be bought at 35 cents each at the office of the Daily Worker, 26-28 Union Square.

GERMAN CRISIS SEEN LOOMING

No More U. S. Money to Pay Debts, Said

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (UP).—Considerable concern was expressed here today over the reported intention of the American state department to attempt to limit loans to Europe, because of the stringent credit situation.

The opinion was expressed that Germany would have difficulty meeting her reparations obligations if she is unable to borrow abroad. It is commonly understood ho government is making the Dawes plan payments with outside credit.

Industrial newspapers emphasized that if the United States closes her purse and England is unable to assume the American role of lender, Germany would face serious financial difficulties, especially since the Dawes annuity reaches 2,500,000,000 marks during the year beginning September 1.

TOBACCO MILL WORKERS SLAVE FOR BIG TRUST

Reynolds Co. Maintains Vast Spy System

By ART SHIELDS

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (FP).—They fire employes for "disloyalty" at the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company plants in Winston-Salem, where 12,000 men and women turn out Camels, Prince Albert, Soud and varieties of plug and scrap with the aid of automatic machines. It may be that the offending worker is highly efficient, but as the boss makes out the time card a company stool pigeon murmurs something about "disloyalty."

"Disloyalty" takes many forms. Sometimes it is membership in the forbidden union, ferreted out by a spy, or the discovery of a pack of cigarettes of some rival company in the worker's pocket when the boss searches the dressing room. All loyal employes are expected to use Camels only, whether they like them or not. Again, "disloyalty" may be the failure to buy company stock, or perhaps the worker, moved by compassion, protests against overtasking a woman or weak old man.

Slavery.

"Never say that conditions in the R. J. Reynolds plants are verging on slavery," said Edward L. Crouch, international organizer for the Tobacco Workers, in talking to the Federated Press. "They are slavery." Crouch knows conditions, having lived in Winston-Salem nearly all his life and worked in the Reynolds factories 13 years.

There is no freedom of speech in the big tobacco mills that press grimly on the streets near the city square. A young man who operates an automatic cigarette machine found this out. He had been watching a girl sweat and strain at a new packing machine that uses two girls where nine were formerly required. The machine has a heavy fly wheel the girls must turn, either with their feet at the risk of broken legs, or with the arms and the weight of their bodies, as this girl was doing.

The girl paused, flushed and exhausted, and asked the young man what he thought of such work.

"I'll tell you: I wouldn't let my wife or any sister of mine do it," he replied indignantly.

Stool Pigeon.

A second girl was the only other listener, but she was a stool-pigeon. He was summoned to the superintendent's office, asked to repeat the remark, and was given his time in full.

Average pay at Reynolds' is less than $11 a week. It is hard enough to get flour, meal, coffee and beans without buying company stock in addition as loyal employes are desired to do. For the great majority it is impossible. This stock goes by the name of "insurance," for it is supposed to insure the job, though it does not always do this.

Indeed, loyalty is no guaranty of job safety. The company's policy is to fire the high-pay workers and put cheaper hands in their places. An automatic cigarette machine operator, for instance, may begin at 25 cents an hour and in 10 days he has learned his job. If he survives the loyalty test his wages are gradually raised, a half cent an hour at a time, provided he nags the foreman about it in a cautious way. Ten years later he may be getting 48 cents an hour, the maximum. Then one day the boss sadly tells him that business is bad, and his machine must be shut down, but that when business is better he will be taken back. Day after day thereafter the worker haunts the employment office in a wait for his old job.

Fix Fixes You.

At the employment office is a gentleman named Mr. Fix—and the workers, making a pun on his name, say he fixes them good and plenty. After the operator has been waiting in the office for days or weeks Mr. Fix pleasantly offers him a job at a similar machine—at 25 cents an hour. Dismayed, the operator protests that he is a 48-cent man and an old timer. Mr. Fix is very sad: it's too bad; that's the best we can do now, but if you don't want this job you can come back, and when there is a better opening you can have it.

Quite differently the Reynolds worker fared from 1919 to 1921 when his job was protected by an agreement between the International Tobacco Workers' Union and the company. Crouch tells of the reinstatement of 2,000 workers wrongfully discharged. The present union campaign is to regain that former security, 48-hour-week and high wages.

$15,000,000 Is Grafted in Liquor Traffic Each Year Here, Is Charge

"New York has always been graft-ridden. Everybody who can graft grafts. This has bentrue for generations."

This was the illuminating comment made yesterday by Major Maurice Campbell, federal prohibition administrator for New York, when he was confronted with evidence that over $15,000,000 was grafted annually in this city.

"Why," Campbell remarked, "there were more than 10,000 saloons in the old days, and they paid $1,500 each for their annual licenses. Does anyone imagine that there are fewer drinking places now?"

Campbell insisted that his own agents were above reproach as far as graft was concerned. Most of the graft goes to the city police, he asserted.

RAY WEIR, YOUNG MILITANT, DEAD

Workers to Pay Last Tribute Today

Ray Weir, militant young member of the Millinery Workers Union, died yesterday from double pneumonia, after a long period of activity in the union. She was only 20 years old.

Other members of the Millinery Workers Union will remember her as one of their most active workers, as a member of the organizational committee of Local 43 and as a member of the committee of twelve who went to the general executive board to protest against the decision disrupting Local 43.

In honor of her whole-hearted devotion to the workers' cause, the union has asked that all members stop work between 10 and 11 a. m. today to pay their last tribute to Ray Weir as her body passes the union headquarters on West 37th St.

PRISONERS IN FASCIST JAILS NEARING DEATH

Regime Cruel and Hard on Communists

GENEVA, Aug. 15.—After the sentence against the members of the Central Committee of the Communist Party in Italy, last April, the prisoners have been subjected to a very sharp prison regime. They are in single cells, forced to be silent, never allowed to come out into the air, for the 40-minute walk allowed other prisoners is not granted them.

They are given only bread and thin soup for food. No prisoner can last this cruel regime very long and the health of Gramsci and Terracini is very bad and cause for real worry to their relatives and friends.

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—Those sentenced in the many Italian trials are suffering terribly in the fascist prisons. Many are those who would rather have been sentenced to death, and many are in grave danger of losing their lives.

The young worker Targoni, from Seston Fiarentino, has become seriously ill, and his mind has become unbalanced due to torture.

Paclo Betti, who, as a result of torture, became crazy, has just been sentenced to 12 years in prison. Betti is hardly expected to live through more than one or two years of the prison sentence.

The worker Amodei, who after the bombing at Milan was arrested, became crazy due to torture. His body is covered with wounds, his eyes are bloody, and he always shivers. It is also believed that he will not last very much longer in the fascist hell-hole.

German Social Democrats Explain How Vote for Cruisers Is Not Vote for Cruisers

AVE ONLY DONE HAT REICHSTAG WANTED THEM TO

Warships to Cost Nine Million Marks

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—The mass resentment of thousands of German workers over the social democratic conniving at the building of a new German cruiser fleet as one of the first acts of their tenure of cabinet power, has forced the Mueller government to attempt to evade some of the onus for its stand.

In an official statement issued yesterday the social democrats explain how their vote for the cruiser fleet was not a vote for the cruiser fleet. The Reichstag had already voted to construct the boats, the statement reads, and the unanimous cabinet sanction was merely to discover whether or not the treasury was in a position to stand the strain of such heavy armament taxation. The vote was undertaken at the request of the Federal Council, the communique states.

In spite of the poor shape in which the government finances now find themselves, work on the cruisers is reported to be going ahead. The social democrat slogan, "Child feeding but no warships" is being shouted in derision through the streets of Berlin and in front of the social democratic headquarters.

It is estimated that to build the new cruisers will cost the German nation 9,000,000 marks.

BISHOP BROWN TO GO ON TOUR

To Speak for Workers Party Election Drive

William Montgomery Brown, the famous heretic, who used to be a bishop, will cover the principal cities from Chicago to Los Angeles in the interest of the Communist Election Campaign. The dates have not yet been selected.

Bishop Brown made life miserable for his former associates in the Episcopal church when he cut the traces that hitched him to hocus pocus and superstition and published his book, "Communism and Christianism." A terrific row ensued, and Brown was for several years the torget for the heavy gns of the Episcopal church. The venerable rebel came through the ordeal with drums beating and banners flying and with the firm determination to devote the rest of his life to the working class movement.

When William Montgomery Brown saw through the sham of religion and had his eyes opened to the oppressive role of capitalist government and the robber nature of capitalism, he looked around for a political party that offered the best facilities for fighting for the emancipation of the workers. He chose the Workers (Communist) Party, and despite his age has delivered hundreds of speeches for the Communist movement i nthe past several years.

The tour tentatively outlined calls for Bishop Brown to speak in the following cities: Chicago, Milwaukee, Duluth(Minneapolis, Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Phoenix, Houston, Oklahoma City, Kansas City, St. Louis, Cincinnati.

NINE SENTENCED IN MILL STRIKE

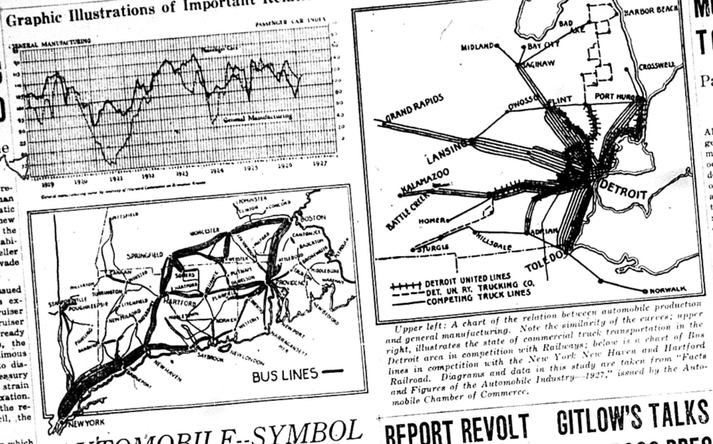
union is at the same time a high official in the Fall River police department, yesterday repeated the statement Secretary Gampos made recently, and told the textile workers to stay in the mills and not strike for the return of the wage reduction.

In discussing the wage question at his Boston meeting, well-fed Tansay announced, "We don't say everything is entirely satisfactory with regard to wages, there is room for improvement." Textile workers here, even members of his own organization, are expressing the deepest resentment at this cynical disregard of the workers' misery.

Every obstacle is being placed before the Textile Mill Committees and the International Labor Defense in getting the jailed strike leaders free on bail bonds. Volunteers here who vouch to go bail on the strike leaders sentenced to 6 months imprisonment are being refused on all manner of technicalities. So far the union and the I. L. D. have succeeded in obtaining the freedom of Jack Rubinstein.

Seventy-five additional cases of arrests for picketing are to come up for trial tomorrow. Lawyers of the I. L. D. will appear before the District Court to defend them.

Graphic Illustrations of Important Relations in Automobile Industry



Upper left: A chart of the relation between automobile production and general manufacturing. Note the similarity of the curves; upper right, illustrates the state of commercial truck transportation in the Detroit area in competition with Railways; below is a chart of Bus lines in competition with the New York New Haven and Hartford Railroad. Diagrams and data in this study are taken from "Facts and Figures of the Automobile Industry—1927," issued by the Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

"AUTOMOBILE--SYMBOL OF MODERN SLAVERY"

struggle is further acentuated by the fact that the automobile market is nearing the saturating point at an increasing speed, whereas the productive apparatus of the industry is capable of an ever enlarging output.

This contradiction is forcing American manufacturers to give ever increasing attention to the problem of the foreign market. At the same time we note similar preparations being made by European manufacturers, especially the British, to compete with the American automobile industry. Thus the newer developments in the automobile industry, as in the other important industries, point to the inevitability of international conflicts and war.

Economic Importance of Motor Vehicle Industry.

The magnitude of the motor vehicle industry, and the extent of its recent growth are not generally comprehended. Inasmuch as these have an important bearing upon present and future relations with railroads, we may present a summary of the industry as it is today. This will indicate also how rapidly it has grown.

Broadly speaking, the automobile has now been used more than a quarter of a century for transportation. As a factor of major importance in national transportation, however, the spectacular development of the motor vehicle began about a dozen years ago when the war agencies drew sharp attention to its possibilities, notably in the case of motor trucks. While the automobile primarily as a pleasure vehicle, and secondarily as a means of business transportation, had established itself firmly before the war, the motor truck was used only in very limited degree until it was employed on a large scale for military transport and as a supplement to railroad service in 1917 and 1918, when the heavy demands of military traffic placed an overload on the older form of transportation.

The Development of the Automobile Industry and its Relation to the General State of Industry.

The automobile industry fluctuates with general industrial activity. An upward or downward movement of the general industrial curve is as a rule accompanied by a similar but smaller swing of the automobile curve.

In order to make a comparison between the automobile industry and industry in general, it is necessary to allow for seasonal factors, as well as for differences in the rate of growth. The rate of growth in the output of passenger cars during the period 1919 to 1926 was computed to be 2,000 cars a month. Seasonal and growth factors have been eliminated from both curves.

Motor Truck Trend Similar to General Manufacturing.

The major trend and monthly variations in the production of trucks are very similar to those of general industrial activity. The use of motor trucks for transporting both raw materials and finished products accounts for this similarity in the curves.

The rate of growth of the truck industry since 1919 is computed at 170 trucks a month.

When we compare the relations of the production of the motor truck to passenger car production, we see that the tendency is towards a higher percentage of production towards the motor trucks. While in 1917 the production of motor trucks was only 76 per cent of the total production, by 1922 it was already 10.3 per cent, and by 1926, 12.5 per cent.

The motor truck is becoming a very effective competitor to the railroad, especially for hauls within a 20-mile zone, and is a factor in general haulage up to 50 and 70 miles. Above that distance the truck is used chiefly for special services, such as hauling furniture and perishables.

Need for all forms of transport serving the same territory is indicated in the map above filed by the Detroit United Lines with he Interstate Commerce Commission. The map shows the extent of truck roads and routes operating in areas which also have electric and steam road facilities. While the rail service is station to station and occasionally siding to siding, the truck service is rarely exactly competitive with rails, even between the same cities, because it is door to door.

Another factor in the development of motor service is that the total cost of hauling certain articles, such as furniture, is less by truck than by rail in distances under 300 miles.

Between New York City and	Miles	Truck rate	Freight	Packing	Cost by rail
Philadelphia	94	78.60	20.75	181.00	201.75
Hartford	115	92.25	28.25	181.00	209.25
Albany	150	115.00	25.00	181.00	206.00
Boston	235	176.25	33.25	181.00	214.25
Buffalo	415	287.25	30.50	181.00	220.50
Cleveland	540	368.50	50.56	181.00	231.50

The time-saving, "one-handling" factor is an added reason for truck haulage, which continues to give the truck an economic place in furniture hauling, even on the long distances, where the truck rate is higher.

Tomorrow's article will deal with the automobile industry in its relation to war; the powerful combines: Ford, General Motors and Chrysler-Dodge; it will also deal with the question of whether the saturation point of the market has been reached.

The motor truck is becoming so effective in transportation that railroads are using motor trucks very extensively. Forty-six railroad lines are using the motor truck for terminal operations; fifteen for store-door delivery; eleven to replace local freight trains. (See Facts and Figures of the Automobile Industry, 1927 edition, page 74.)

80,000 Motor Buses in U. S. A.

The motor coach is even younger than the motor truck. Its extensive use began only about six years ago. The extension and growth of motor coaches is assuming ever greater proportions. Sixty steam railroads use buses directly or through subsidiaries. Electric railway companies now use 7,284 buses. There were 52,017 miles of exclusively interstate lines and 270,000 miles of common carrier bus roads in 1927. (See dingram.)

Public support of motor buses for rapid short haul transportation has spread rapidly in New England. Solid thin lines show bus routes in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island and New York which compete with New Haven Railroad. (Maps filed as testimony before Interstate Commerce Commission by New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.)

The basic wage made effective July 1, 1928, throughout Western Australia, was fixed by the arbitration court in that state as $21 for male workers and $13.75 for females. This scale is to continue in force for one year.

Six Hundred members of the Panama Chauffeurs' Union have petitioned the mayor of Panama City to reconsider his order that each applicant for a chauffeur's license shall deposit $100 in cash or a mortgage bond in that amount.

REPORT REVOLT ON UPPER NILE

Armed Arabs Attack British Posts

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 15.—Revolt threatens to spread over the entire Near East and engulf the British power in these parts has broken out on the Upper Nile, where 1,500 members of the Nuer tribe or Berbers are reported to have attacked outposts.

A report from Khartoum, which is on the Nile River in the center of the British Sudan, indicates that a large group of tribesmen attacked the government post of Duk Faywill, which is manned by a police force.

Since the Egyptian parliament was disbanded and elections suspenpended for three years unrest has steadily grown in Egypt proper, where students are reported to be demonstrating in the cities. The revolt in Irak and now on the lower Nile threatens to spread to many of the tribes.

for fear of offending their capitalist backers. It has been printed in a wall St. journal that 'Wall Street has nothing to fear from either party.' That is true, and its truth can be seen here."

Speaking in Fall River, Gitlow attacked the local police authorities for breaking up peaceful gatherings of strikers and attacking pickets, tho the law permits peaceful picketing. When the strikers are allowed to hold meetings, their speakers are charged with speaking too loud," he said. They want them to speak so low that nobody can hear them.

"The millionaire capitalists of Fall River," Gitlow declared, "are making millions in the mills while the workers are starving.'

Gitlow pointed out that there is only one political party in the field in this election campaign that has a program corresponding to the needs of the workers and only one party that has for its aim the interests of the working class. It is the duty of the textile workers, the speaker said, to support the Workers (Communist) Party ticket in the election campaign, to help put the Party on the ballot by securing signatures, and to join the Party, so that in quality and numerical strength it may be able to perform its historic mission, which is to lead the exploited masses in the United States, in mill and in mine, in agriculture and in industry, in the struggle to conquer their rightful inheritance from the capitalist highwaymen who now illegally hold it by force thru the capitalist government.

CROATS DECLARE MUSSOLINI PACT TO BE INVALID

Passed Without Votes of Peasants

ZAGREB, Jugoslavia, Aug. 15.—Although on the surface Croatia generally seems to be calm as it mourns the death of Stefan Raditch, occasional outbreaks in the form of demonstrations in the towns and the outbursts of anger in newspapers and speeches at the ratification of the Nettuno convention with Italy show something of the turmoil underneath.

Here at Zagreb newspapers and spokesmen for the Croatian Peasant Party denounce the Belgrade parliament for its passing of the Nettuno pact and declare that the pact applies only to old Serbia, not to Croatia, Dalmatia and Slovenia, who have virtually declared their independence of the Jugoslav government. M. Pribitchevitch, leader of the Democratic Peasant Party, in a newspaper interview, said:

"The treaty is shameful. The government killed a number of our members and drove the rest from parliament by inconsiderate conduct toward the murderers. However, neither Nettuno ratification nor any other vote taken by this rump parliament is binding on any other part of Yugoslavia except old Serbia."

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Ag. 15.—The parliament adjourned today after passing the Nettuno pact by a majority of one. The Serb agrarian opposition and the Croatian sympathizers here declare that the pace is not valid, since it must have a vote of two-thirds of the entire representation and the pact was railroaded through after the entire opposition had left the parliament.

Doubt Loewenstein Murdered by Poison

BOULOGNE-SUR-MER, Aug. 15 (UP).—Doubt was expressed in judicial circles today that the coroner's court wold find enough evidence to justify an official investigation of the statement that Alfred Loewenstein was murdered by poison.

It was pointed out that the Belgian banker's relatives had admitted that he used purgatives and digestion powders which easily could have been the "toxic matter" that Dr. Paul reported finding in the intestines.

STEEL STRIKERS DEMONSTRATE

500 Stage Solidarity March to Pay-off

press has run as its only account of the walk out to date, a lying report that 200 of the men had returned to their jobs. Not one man has broken ranks since the beginning of the walk-out more than a week ago.

Worthless Promises.

Leaders of the strikers told Fairles that his promises were worthless and not in good faith. Their demand for six dollars a day flat rate and no bonus sent him to cover with only the report that he could not infringe the "universal scale" set by the steel manufacturers. When the men added that he would have to negotiate with the Central Alloy Steel Mill Committee in the future he refused to deal further with the men.

A big meeting of steel workers held at Massillon, eight miles from Canton, succeeded in acquainting the chippers and grinders in the Massillon mill with the demands of their fellow workers in the Central Alloy plant. Following the meeting many Massillon men signed up with the Mill Committee. Leaders of the walk-out state that it is a question of days only before the Massillon mill workers join the strikers at the Central Alloy in a tie-up of the Canton steel industry which will force the corporation to grant the demands of the men.

Strike Breaking Fizzles.

The total failure of the strikebreaking activities of the Central Alloy officials met an initial setback when eleven of the first batch imported left at once on learning that they had been hired to break a strike. The handful of scabs remaining are being used to do little besides stand around the struck departments, 5 and 8, to give the other men the impression that work is being produced. The only operation undertaken by the scabs, however, resulted in serious injury to one of their number when he was struck by a bar.

FORCE PEONAGE ON NICARAGUAN REFUGEES AGAIN

Marines Herd Refugees Out of Honduras

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Aug. 15. The forced return to Nicaragua of hundreds of men, women and children who had fled before the brutality of the American marines and the binding of these unfortunates to a peonage more terrible than any they have yet known is contemplated in a plan which the American military authorities have worked out and are effecting in Honduras at present.

Many of the refugees are victims of the bombing by American airplanes of the village of Chinandega during the marine invasion of the Nueva Segovia district during the campaign against the army of independence under General August Sandino.

It is estimated that there are virtually thousands of starving Nicaraguans, many of them orphans, homeless in Honduras as a result of the American invasion.

The intention of the American military athorities is understood here to bring these refugees back to Nicaragua where they will be farmed out as on terms of stringent peonage to coffee, banana and cocoa plantation owners against whose servitude many of them originally revolted and joined General Sandino's forces.

The exact number of the American marine forces now on Honduran soil is not known, but estimates place them from a score to more than a hundred.

HANDOUTS

Nobody but a Fascist, whose brain works best when it's running backwards, would attempt to make the Italia fiasco seem liking an epoch-making triumph and Nobile a second Columbus. Yet an attempt at such an absurdity is the Italian-made film now showing in France.

The picture was too much even for the French capitalist papers. Le Soir commenting says the film shows: "Too many Italians and not enough of the others who lost their lives in trying to rescue them from a voyage undertaken by a presumptuous government, idiotic propaganda and a foolhardy commander.

"Every one seeing the film asks: 'Where is the Krassin?'"

A Fascist is just as liable to distribute films showing the Krassin as Mussolini is to distribute copies of the Communist manifesto on the streets of Rome.

HOW TO MAKE A POLITICIAN: Take one large mouth and attach to the bottom of a medium-sized vacuum; connect with invisible speaking tube running to Wall Street; select a large hand, capable of holding much graft, and join to an arm long enough to get down into the barrel; strings for the mechanism should run into the offies of J. P. Morgan. Wind up before political campaigns. Loads of fun. The above diagram was posed by Gen. A. A. Lilly, republican.

"All play and no work makes Jack a dull boy" as can be judged from the above society folk members a fthe large army of the mentally unemployed. They haven't anything to do and even if they did they did they would have to get somebody else to do it for them. The society people pictured above are consciously standing on their heads at a high-priced summer resort, a thing they do unconsciously much of the time. When the Amerjcan workers get the idea a little better they will turn the passing economic system bottom side up and you will be able to travel along this beach with a telescope and not see one parasite.

Executive committee of the National Conference on Prohibition Enforcement on Governor Smith:

"His whole record in public life has been consistent as the servant of the saloon and liquor traffic interests and of the most corrupt political organization in the history of this republic, Tammany Hall."

The real nature of Al Smith's Tammany Hall is getting to be about as well known as Colgate's Tooth Paste.

Executive committee of New York State Federation of Labor:

"Gov. Smith's nomination is decidedly pleasing to all wage-earners of New York, and they will support him with enthusiasm. Gov. Smith is a tried and true liberal advocate of just labor and social laws and the foe of sumptuary legislation."

He can help labor in the same way he stopped the billion dollar gas merger.

PROGRESSIVES DRIVEN OUT BY ARREST THREAT

Plan Free Speech Fight in City

(By a Worker Correspondent)

LYNN, Mass., (By Mail).—A mass meeting of shoe workers in this city was stopped recently by the police and the speaker was ordered to leave town immediately.

The meeting was called under the auspices of the Progressive Shoe Workers, Lynn branch. William J. Ryan and Chester W. Bixby, of averhill, were to be the principle speakers.

When Bixby arrived at Saster's Hall on Andrew Street, he found a score of police and detectives congregated in front of the building and he was told that the police had notified the Saster's Aid Association, who own the building, that the hall could not be opened or the meeting held in Lynn.

Bixby was taken aside by the inspector in charge and told to leave town immediately or he would be arrested.

There was a conference between the committee and the speakers at which it was decided that they would postpone the meeting to a date in the near future at which they will be prepared for a free speech fight.

By eight thirty the street was thronged with workers who had come to attend the meeting. These were notified of the action taken by the committee and that there would be a meeting held in the city of Lynn at an early date, possibly next week. The people showed their resentment to the action of the police in a very vehement manner. Many of them suggested that tsarism having been abolished in Russia had been transferred to Lynn and the United States.

The Progressive Shoe Workers are now making arrangements to pick up the challenge thrown down to them by the bosses thru their police department. They are going to enter a fight to determine whether all free speech has been suppressed in this city.

Altho the threat to arrest was not carried out, Bixby was dogged by police detectives every step that he took right up to the time he took the train about 9.30 p. m.

William J. Ryan is a member of the Shoe Workers' Protective Union, Local 9, in Haverhill. He was the general secretary-treasurer of that organization for about five years. Last January when an attempt was made to put over a wage cut in Haverhill by the way of an arbitration decision, it was Ryan who led the revolt of the workers and, after a 16 day strike, reached a settlement with the manufacturers for a return to the prices of 1927 and 1928.

Bixby is also a member of the same union, local 7, of Haverhill and was one of the original organizers of his local. He has held the office of president of District 1 as well as president of his local several times. He was the first president of his local, having been elected by a nearly unanimous vote with nearly nine hundred voting.

CALLES REBUILDS REFORMIST BLOCK

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 15.—The restoration of Luis Leon to the cabinet of President alles as minister of agriculture is considered to be a slap in the faces of Manrique and Soto y Gama, leaders of the extreme reactionary wing of the National Agrarian party. Leon had previously been dismissed from the Calles cabinet on the excuse of an alleged "scandal" with the Spanish actress Padilla.

The newly appointed minister of agriculture is a close friend of Luis N. Morones, who was ousted immediately after the assassination of Obregon on the threatening demand of the Obregonists agrarians. The proposed general reorganization of the cabinet is taken to indicate a check on the concessions which have been demanded and usually received by the extreme ractionary wing of the Obregonistas since the murder It is rumored that Adalberto Tejada, Governor of Vera Cruz, will become Minister of the Interior which is a key position controlling state politics. Tejado is also holding aloof from the main body of Obregonites.

It is also rumored that Gilberto Vanlenzuela, minister to England, is returning to assume a post. Elias Calles, half-brother to President Calles and Mexican consul in New York, is also rumored to be returning to assume a post in the reorganized cabinet.

Roberto Cruz, who was discharged as chief of police and who is a known anti-Obregonista, was given the command of the State of Sinaloa thus breaking the Obregonist military hold in West Mexico. At present it is gradually becoming evident that Calles is gaining control of the new September congress.

HOLD LABOR SPORTS OLYMPICS AUGUST 25

By W. B.

In the short period of its existence, the Labor Sports Union has achieved some remarkable successes in the field of sports. First, in connection with the organization of the Labor Sports Union in Detroit, Jan. 15, 1927, a national indoor athletic and gymnastic meet was held. It was the first labor sports meet of its kind and was a big success. In this meet we had 100 athletes participating with 1,000 spectators. This slaid a firm basis for the growth and activities of the Labor Sports Union.

Just a little over a year ago, the Labor Sports Union held its first track and field meet in Waukegan, Ill. This outdoor meet surpassed all our expectations. Over 300 athletes, coming from all parts of the country, took part.

Give Lie to Enemies.

The enemies of the labor movement predicted that the meet would be a flop. In fact of all their wailings and lamentations the meet was run off in as order a manner as ever a meet run by the Amateur Athletic Union, the official capitalist sport organization. More so, as the spectators and the athletes, along with the officials, showed a spirit of co-operation that cannot be found in the bourgeois organizations.

Last year, outside of these two major meets, there were held many district and section meets by the various local organizations of the L. S. U.

Successful Indoor Meet.

An indoor athletic and gymnastic meet was held in Detroit last January that compared favorably, both in regards to the participants and the spectators, with any meet ever held in Detroit by any organization. Over 200 athletes took part. The events were held over a period of two days, with nearly every indoor sport, including boxing and wrestling, on the program. Over 3,000 workers attended the meet.

For some time past preparations have been going on for the second annual olympics of the L. S. U., to be held Aug. 25-26 in New York at Wingate Field. To date over 300 entries have been received from all parts of the country and more are coming daily. Worker athletes and their friends from the distant parts of the country are organizing parties to come to the meet in Fords, trucks and buses. Some will come by trains at reduced rates secured by the L. S. U.

PLUMBER FAKERS KEEP SOFT JOBS IN LOCALS 1, 463

Doran Clique Moves to Betray Helpers

(By a Worker Correspondent)

Election for all officers of the Manhattan and Bronx Plumbers Local 463 was held recently at the Labor Temple, 243 E. 84th St., N. Y. C.

"The Old Familiar Faces."

Those elected were William Doran, president; John Walsh, vice-president; William Flood, recording secretary; Matten Moran general secretary; Timothy Hopkins secretary-treasurer; Thomas McGirr, Patrick Drew, David Holboon and George Meaney for business agents; John Hasset for compensation agent.

All these gentlemen served the previous term. There was no opposition to them. The progressives of local 463 failed this year to put up a slate of their own.

They are all typical A. F. of L. fakers. William Doran sat in jail with "Czar" Brindell for conspiracy.

Union conditions are not strictly enforced on the jobs by these officials. The plumbers' helpers are neglected altogether.

Betray Helpers.

A new agreement with the masters association will be signed soon. Already Doran and his clique are giving hints that they will attempt to betray the helpers is the new agreement. Everything, however does not depend on them. The American Association of Plumbers' Helpers will not allow these fakers to betray them. We will fight to the last ditch.

According to reports of the "inner circle" of Local 463 there is disagreement between Doran and Leonard, the state organizer of the United Association of Plumbers, Steamfitters, and Gasfitters of North America. No principles of any sort are involved. It is simply a question who should get more of the gravy.

And Also Local 1.

In Local No. 1, of Brooklyn, there were also general elections held for all officers. The same men were reelected. Oates is president; Edward Peterson is secretary. One man only was defeated. He is Crane. Larry McDonough was elected in his place. The official of Local No. 1 sold out the plumbers during the 1927 strike. For the last year and half the plumbers in Brooklyn are working without an agreement.

Reports are current in Local No. 1 that these officials may force upon the plumbers an agreement this winter when the work in the building trade is slack. The bosses are preparing to attack the plumbers. Prepare now to repel their attacks.

Admit the helpers into the union and thus be in a better position to fight the bosses. Now is the time.

FRANCE BUILDS 27 WAR VESSELS

Follows Franco- British Naval Pact

PARIS, Aug. 15.—Attempting to appease the critics of the Franco-British naval pact who claim that the pact is virtually an alliance between the two powers and provides for a pooling of the two navies in time of war, government officials today declared that the pact in no way hindered the development of the French navy, which is now constructing 27 modern worships.

It was explained that France's position is "peculiar," since she lost nearly as many vessels as British during the world war and has to scrap many obsolete ships. A building program therefore is necessary, with a budget covering construction until 1932.

Twenty-six modern ships will be needed to replace obsolete vessels before January, it was said, and 27 keels already have been laid down in French shipyards.

WORKERS PARTY CAMPAIGN GROWS IN KANSAS CITY

See Big Industrial Struggles Looming

(By a Worker Correspondent)

KANSAS CITY (By Mail).—The Party and League organizations in Kansas City successfully emerging from the first stages of the election campaign that is putting the Party on the ballot is with equal success entering the next stage of the election campaign, the spreading of Communist propaganda among the exploited workers.

Despite the fact that we lack experienced speakers, open air meetings are being held throughout the city. Not less than two meetings a week. In two working class sections the Party and League will hold regular meetings every week. One in Armourdale, at Shawnee Park and Pyle St., every Wednesday, 8 o'clock in the evening. The other in the Negro section of the city, at the corners of N. 5th St. and Troupe. Bethany Park will be the third place where meetings will be held. The meeting among the Negro workers will be held every Friday at 8 p. m.

The results of these meetings prove that the worker here has been slowly realizing his position. The audiences, when the Communist speakers explain to them the issues and problems of the workers, enthusiastically agree with them. Besides new contacts are established and new Party and League members recruited. We can confidentally look forward and expect that before a few short months are over a Party and League organization of a respectable size will be built up in Kansas City.

The Party program is meeting with particular success among the Negro workers. They are realizing that only the Communists are the real champions of the workers and that only through the realization of the Communist program will the Negro workers be emancipated as workers and as a race. At the same time the Party is actively engaged in the election campaign better contact is established as result of this work with the workers in the local industries. We can safely predict, judging from the conditions in the factories and the sentiments of the workers, that big industrial struggles are looming on the horizon. Particularly is this true in the packing houses.

DELEGATES TO CONGRESS HAIL DRAFT PROGRAM

orate their own national programs on the basis of the international program.

Kolarov, of Bulgaria, declared that his delegation is in general agreed on the draft, but does not agree with Bukharin's statement to the program commission that Bulgaria is a country where a bourgeois democratic revolution is to be expected before a proletarian revolution. The Bulgarian peasants could be organized not only for an agrarian revolution, but also for the fight against capitalism and for socialism.

Duncker, of Germany, then withdrew his objections to the form of the draft, but suggested that it be entitled "Program Manifesto." A short declaration of principles should be extracted, he said, and pasted inside Party membership book. The Congress should adopt the draft.

Mikolos, of the Soviet Ukrainia, declared that the draft failed to mention the Leninist definition of the dictatorship of the proletariat as a class alliance of the proletariat with the non-proletarian toilers for the overthrow of capitalism, the destruction of capitalist attempts at restoration and the establishment of socialism.

India Hails Draft.

Narayan, of India, then declared that the Indian delegation welcomed the draft. Its chief advantage, he asserted, was its detailed treatment of the colonial side of the World Revolution. Certain points referring to the colonies, particularly to India, should be more clearly formulated, however. Regarding the possibility of a temporary co-operation between the Communists and the native bourgeoisie, the Communists must never forget that the native bourgeoisie is incapable of an honest fight against British imperialism. The Indian Communist Party must utilize the differences between the native and the British bourgeoisies, but must never forget that the differences represent no more than a family quarrel between two bourgeoisies.

RUTH HITS HOMER BUT YANKS LOSE TO CHICAGO

The Philadelphia Athletics lost another chance to gain on the New York Yankees, the two American League leaders losing for the second straight time.

Babe Ruth hit home run No. 45, but the Yankees went down before the Chicago White Sox, 8 to 4. Jack Quinn held the Tigers scoreless for seven innings but weakened in the eighth and ninth, Detroit beating Philadelphia, 6 to 3.

The White Sox pounded George Pipgras, who was trying for his twentieth victory of the season, out of the box in the third inning. Faber and Crouse, the White Sox battery, hit home runs and Joe Dugan got a lucky homer in the ninth when Mostil lost the Yankee's fly in the sun in addition to Ruth's homer.

The Cleveland Indians beat the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 0, Shaute allowing eight hits.

Garland Braxton outpitched Sam Gray, the Washington Senators defeating the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 3. Schulte, Browns' outfielder, made two doubles and two singles.

The St. Louis Cardinals gained a game on the New York Giants in the National League pennant race Wednesday, increasing their lead to three and one half games.

Wee Willie Sherdel held the Boston Braves to seven hits, the Cards winning, 7 to 3. Jim Bottomley hit his twenty-sixth homer with two mates on base. A three run rally in the ninth inning brought the Chicago Cubs from behind to defeat the Giants, 6 to 5.

After the Cubs had tied the score 3-3 in the seventh the Giants took a 5 to 3 lead in the first of the ninth. Genewich, however, weakened in the Cubs' half and Faulkner, who relieved him, was unable to halt the Chicago rally. Norman McMillan, Cubs' third baseman, starred at bat, driving in three runs with a home run and two singles.

OIL MAGNATES IN BIG CONFERENCE

Royal-Dutch and N. J. Standard Present

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Important oil problems relating especially to the British-American conflict are being considered at a conference now being held in Invernesshire, in which Henri Deterdig, director general of the Royal-Dutch Petroleum Company, Walter G. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey and of the Near East Development Corporation, and John Cadman, chairman of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company are participating.

Important questions are expected to be discussed here, notably that of the import of oil from the Soviet Oil Syndicate and the exploitation of the rich oil sources in Mosul in the Kingdo mof Irak. The conflicting interests of the companies, both in the Near East and in South America have made this conference necessary, it is thought.

Florida Faces Flood; Gale Sweeps Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 15.—A series of floods in the Lake Okeechobee region of Florida, in the wake of a fierce hurricane today threatened great havoc. A series of gales which have beat against the coast line of the peninsula was causing great damage throughout Georgia.

A wide shallow inland sea has formed in the Okeechobee region, inundating all territory between Okeechobee City and Bassenger.

WATSON ACT IS USED TO FIGHT RAIL WORKERS

Union Misleaders in Betrayal

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—A statement issued today by the conference committee of railroad managers attacking the taking of the strike vote by the Brotherhoods of Railway Trainmen and Conductors has unexpectedly revealed the bosses purposes behind the Watson-Parker as an instrument put over to prevent all strike activity of the railroad workers.

Although the union officials have done all in their power to ditch action on the part of the workers and have "arbitrated" the issue four times, the railroad magnates now attack the unions for their "refusal to arbitrate." The move is seen here as a preliminary to a countrywide attack on the railroad workers standards, an extension of the most intensive speed-up now in force on the railroads.

Discredits Law.

The strike vote, the managers declare, is "imperiling the usefulness of the Watson-Parker Railway Labor Act," thereby revealing what they expected the act to accomplish. After the passage of the law the "New York Times" declared editorially that "a strike on the railroads is now inconceivable.

The "Happy Warrior" Smells Powder

The first big blast touched off in the election campaign exploded last Tuesday, when the announcement was made at Smith campaign headquarters that the big powder and politics magnate, Pierre Du Pont, cached $50,000 in Al's treasure chest. The news rocked Wall Street. Indeed not since the Du Pont powder wagon exploded in front of Morgan's headquarters in 1921 was there so much excitement in the lair of the financial pirates of the United States.

Fears were expressed that the "Happy Warrior," hitherto a stranger to the smells of the battlefield would not stand up under his first whiff of powder. But according to reports from the war correspondents stationed in the bomb-proof dug-outs of the General Motors Building, Al came up smiling after the smoke cleared away. His brown derby was a little too far down over his left ear, it is true, but his cigar was smoking as usual.

It is just like a dynamite king to blast a pioneer path thru the slush fund wilderness, where other feared to tread since boodle in politics became anathema to the reformers who did not get their share of the swag. Du Pont hurled his bomb at those anti-corruptionists with the sang froid of a white-collar slave spending a dime for a bus ride for his sweetheart.

Fifty thousand dollars!

It's a lot of money. But we are informed that a profit of several millions of dollars is collected yearly by the Du Ponts from their powder and poison gas factories. Several thousand workers toil daily at risk of life and limb to produce those profits for the Du Ponts, some of whom are replenishing the election arsenal of the G. O. P. and others that of the democratic party.

Fifty thousand dollars may look like a high premium to pay for an imperialist insurance policy, but a couple of colonial wars would bring that sum back and more besides. War and imperialism are like Siamese twins. The Du Ponts are not manufacturing powder only for Fourth of July demonstrations. They are not giving their money away to Al Smith because he is a conscientious objector against war. They are giving it away because it will insure a dry spot for Du Pont powder, no matter which of the two imperialist candidates wins in the elections.

The detonation from the Du Pont blast was heard in Nicaragua, and served notice on General Sandino that the election of Al Smith, the democrat, whose platform platonically murmurs against the occupation of Nicaragua, means a continuance of the republican administration's policy in his country. The Du Pont donation is a symbol of imperialism.

The class-conscious workers of the United States have plenty of food for thought in the powder magnate's contribution to the democratic campaign fund. What are they going to do about it? This is what they should do:

They should become increasingly active in their support of the Workers (Communist) Party ticket. They should rally around the Communist program in this election campaign, the only program that purposes to organize the workers for the struggle against Wall Street, against the imperialist war mongers who batten on the oppressed masses at home and on the colonial and semi-colonial peoples. They should contribute to the $100,000 Communist Campaign Fund, which is being raised with the object of carrying the message of the class struggle to the workers and exploited formers thruout the United States—the men who will be called on to hurl the Du Pont explosives at the workers and farmers of other countries, in the next imperialist war, and who will be the targets for the high explosives of the Du Ponts of other imperialist governments.

The workers and poor farmers of the United States should work and vote for the Communist ticket, join the Workers (Communist) Party, and mobilize for the fight that will end imperialism, war, unemployment, and poverty forever.

This must be the answer of the American working masses to Pierre Du Pont's $50,000 contribution to the election slush fund of Al Smith.

Two Professors on Imperialism.

"The most significant point with regard to Nicaragua," said Professor J. I. Cox of Northwestern University, "has been the furor of criticism, some well-justified and some not, which has been aroused." (Our emphasis.)

This is an example of the method by which a "liberal" professor can help United States imperialism. All the rest of the sentence means nothing beside these three words: "and some not." The dear professor appears to be criticizing the invasion of Nicaragua, some of the criticism of which is "well-justified," thus establishing himself as an opponent of imperialism, only to get in the idea that some of the criticism is not justified. This is the kind of "enemies" that imperialism thrives upon. If the attacks on United States imperialism in Nicaragua are not all justified, then the marines ought to remain there and conquer Nicaragua for Wall Street, of course with "some" reform in their methods of conquest. Pehaps the marines should brush their teeth and chew less tobacco while murdering Nicaraguans, or perhaps be less rough with women and children, or perhaps the professor means they should not drop their guns when the Sandinistas chase them. But since not "all" of the criticism of their bloody work there is justified, of course the real political content of the "liberal" professor's remark is that they ought to stay there and conquer Nicaragua for Wall Street.

Another professor at work with his jaw. Professor David Y. Thomas, head of the department of history and political science of the University of Arkansas, in explaining that the United States has threatened war against Mexico in the interest of oil speculators against whom criminal actions had been brought in the United States, said:

"The gods on Olympus must laugh every time they think about how our state department is defending those men whom the department of justice moved heaven and earth to put behind prison bars."

Same thing again! Same trick professorial speech! This dear man appears to be attacking the action of the state department in making war on Mexico, but the thing he really slips over is the idea that "the department of justice moved heaven and earth to put" (the Teapot Dome and other oil criminals) "behind prison bars." Did it, now, really? Is there any such fool as does not know that the department of justice in the most methodical and efficient way assured the escape of the oil criminals? The professor is giving Harding's and Coolidges accomplices in the Teapot Dome steal a little clean bill of health while chiding them harmlessly about some other assistance they gave to the same thieves.

Such are professors!

CAMPAIGN CORNER

The Ohio comradea have already collected 12,000 of the 20,000 signatures required to place the Party ticket on the official ballot. The campaign manager for Ohio writes that a big drive is now on to collect the balance of the signatures. August 26th has been set as a tentative date for a Tag Day in Cleveland, and on September 2nd a banquet is being arranged to celebrate the placing of the Party ticket on the ballot.

* * *

Comrade Charles Mitchell, organizer for District 15, reports that the Party units are arranging "Signature Sundays," when all the members must report to headquarters and report back how many names they collected. He is confident that the Party ticket, national and local, will be on the ballot this year.

Comrade Sorenson wires from Seattle, Washington, for five hundred Natoinal Platforms. This 64-page booklet, which sells for ten cents, is a best seller among Party publications.

From Baltimore, where Herr Mencken flays the babooserie and the babbitry, hurls his contempt at the working class, and jabs the bourgeoisie playfully in the ribs, comes the news that mass meetings with Foster and Nearing as the speakers are being arranged in that city. The main difficulty, Comrade Berger reports, is to find a suitable hall to hold the crowds that are expected to attend the Foster and Nearing meetings.

* * *

The campaign is gathering speed in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania. Open-air meetings will be organized next month, ad the comrades are arranging a picnic with Benjamin Gitlow as the principal speaker.

White Collar Slaves in Wall St.; Pup Tents on the Hudson; the "Daily" in Need

Scene 1: Wall Street, 12.30 p. m., July 3, 1928. A crowd of workers—mostly white-collar slaves—fills the street. A man rises on top of an automobile. "Comrades and fellow-workers," he begins. But before he can say much more, he is pulled down by a squad of police, kicked, manhandled and hustled off to jail. Some of the clerks in the crowd jeer and hiss the speaker. And in the background, all over the broad United States, 110,000,000 people prepare to celebrate the birth of liberty in these same broad states. The man who had tried to make a speech in Wall Street also celebrates the birth of liberty—in jail.

Scene 2: The casino of Camp Nitgedaiget, Beacon, N. Y., 10.45 a. m., Sunday, Aug. 12, 1928. The casino is filled with workers of various trades. A man enters thru the doorway. Everyone rises spontaneously. Out of several hundred throats bursts in vigorous rhythm the song of freedom, the rallying cry of the workers of the world—the International. The man mounts the stage to loud cheers. "Comrades and fellow-workers," he begins. It is the same man who only a little over a mouth before had tried to make a speech in Wall Street. But the speech he is making now is different, and his audience, tho part of the same class, is different too.

The speech which Robert Minor, editor of the Daily Worker and Workers (Communist) Party candidate for United States senator, made at Camp Nitgedaiget last Sunday was fully as serious and important as the speech which he had unsuccessfully tried to make in Wall Street. Above the entrance of the Nitgedaiget dining-hall hung a huge sign: WELCOME ROBERT MINOR. Here in the casino the workers shouted welcome. But Minor had not come here for tributes and cheers and graceful phrases. He had come with a message for the workers at this workers' camp, a message that was a call to duty to one's class.

Minor told an old and ever-new story, the story of the financial struggles of the Daily Worker. It was a story which most of those present had probably heard before. Why bring this melancholy tale to people who are trying to forget their cares for a couple of weeks? This is Camp Nitgedaiget and Nitgedaiget means Don't You Worry.

But the existence of the Daily Worker is not the concern of a single individual, but of an entire class. And this concern cannot be postponed for more convenient times. Bills are unpaid, the members of the staff have received no wages o only a small part of their wages for weeks in succession—the Daily Worker is fighting for its life. Workers, these are your bills that are unpaid, your comrades that are suffering because they have no money to buy the bare necessities, and it is your Daily Worker that is fighting for its life!

What will be your answer?

And the workers gave their answer in unmsitakable terms. Two hundred and seventeen dollars was immediately raised in response to the appeals of Minor and A. Ravitch, business manager of the Daily Worker. Two hundred and seventeen dollars was the answer of Nitgedaiget on Sunday morning.

But this was not all of the answer of Nitgedaiget. In fact, only the beginning. Minor's appeal for funds inaugurated Daily Worker Week at the camp during which every worker, both vacationists and camp employes, are expected to do their part towards keeping their class paper alive. There are 50 employes at the camp, all of them unionized, all of them working an eight-hour day and a six-day week. The Workers (Communist) Party members among them have voted to contribute an entire week's wages to the Daily Worker. And the non-Party employes will certainly not lag behind.

The Nitgedaiget Unit of the Workers (Communist) Party has taken charge of Daily Worker Week and has outlined a program of activity. Various games have been arranged and other play devices are being used to raise funds. Tomorrow will be Prohibition Day: certain activities and luxuries will be prohibited to the campers, and all those indulging will have to pay a tax to the Daily Worker. Judges have been elected from whose decisions there can be no appeal. Saturday will be literature day at the camp and a literature bazaar will be held under the direction of M. Bailin, agitprop director of the Nitgedaiget Unit.

And the Nitgedaiget dining-room is resplendent with signs. "This is Daily Worker Week, Camp Nitgedaiget Must Go Over the Top." "Show Your Loyalty to the Soviet Union, Support the Daily Worker." These and other slogans are keeping the vacationers from forgetting that this is Daily Worker Week and that they have a duty to perform.

Thus Camp Nitgedaiget plays its part in the struggles of the American workers. It is only on rare occasions such as the present that public collections are made. But thru other devices funds are constantly being raised for working class causes. And during the present summer the camp has contributed hundreds of dollars to miners' relief and the Joint Defense.

Which is as it should be. There is no forgetting here where the workers rule, where we can sense that power that some day shall be ours. No exploiters, no bosses, no police doing the dirty work of their masters. In this workers' republic, where the camp manager, B. Cohen, is chief commissar, the strength of our class is everywhere palpable, giving strength to the great struggle that goes on around it on picket lines, in trade unions, in the political field.

Founded five years ago with a few pup-tents where workers came to spend their week-ends, Nitgedaiget has grown swiftly and can now take care of 790 campers, with accommodations for tho winter, too. The camp is constantly being improved and this year 73 modern bungalows supplemented the 300 tents, with bungalows scheduled to replace all the tents next year. And a camp that is run by and for workers necessarily does away with the profiteering and dishonesty of the commercial camps. Fresh food, lodging and a camp life that includes a variety of activities are provided for $17 a week—about half the rate of the "socialist" Camp Tamiment.

And there are activities such as can never be found at the commercial camps, activities in which the collectivist mass spirit predominates. Great emphasis is laid on the cultural expression of the working-class spirit. Every Saturday night a working-class play, written, performed and staged by the campers themselves, is produced under the direction of Jacob Mestel, director of the Freheit Dramatic Studio and an actor of many years' experience. Plays such as these are unique in this country and their counterpart can be found only in the Soviet Union.

During the present season themes such as the coal strike, the elections and colonization in Soviet Russia have been dealt with in dramatic form. Last Saturday a satirical sketch, telling the story of the conversion of a camper who insists on worrying at the Don't You Worry camp, was produced. This was written by B. Fenster, who is also the editor of the Camp Yat, the humorous weekly paper that is read every Friday night at the camp-fire.

And for those campers who can sing, or think they can, there is the chorus, coached by the musical director, L. Malamut, who numbers among his other accomplishments the ability to make an accordion sound almost like a symphony orchestra. Athletics finds Yossel Rashkovich, the agile and spirited athletic director, keeping everyone, even the elderly and portly, on the move.

And Nitgedaiget has its own daily paper, edited and written almost entirely by Paul Novick, a member of the staff of the Freiheit, for several weeks and now by L. Talmy. the "Potcht," as it is called, makes no pretence at competing with other Communist newspapers, but confines itself rigidly to life at Camp Nitgedaiget. It is a four-page, typewritten wall paper and every morning the campers may be found gathered in groups before the various places where it is hung up, reading and discussing the latest news. "The Potcht" is a complete newspaper, containing editorials, news stories, special articles and cartoons, with the light touch predominating. The editor gave evidence of his excellent news and political sense last Sunday when he devoted his leading editorial to the coming of Robert Minor to the camp.

Lectures are another important part of the cultural activities, and among those who have spoken at the camp this summer are Bert Miller, J. O. Bentall, Ray Ragozin and A. Markoff.

All these are class activities, part of the class struggle of the American workers. Nitgedaiget offers no escape from that struggle. The Daily Worker and Freheit, which together with the platform of the Workers (Communist) Party are sold during meals, as well as at the camp store, will not let the campers forget the battles of their class. The camp activities, made of the very stuff of these battles, will not let them forget. And Daily Worker Week will not let them forget. For Nitgedaiget is determined to go over the top.

AID FOR CHINESE WORKERS URGED

MOSCOW (By Mail).—The agitation and propaganda department of the Red International of Labor Unions sent out today to all sections and adherents of the organization the following letter:

Dear Comrades:—

In accordance with the decision of the Congress of the Hilu, an international fortnight of help for the Chinese labor movement is to be held.

Fight Terror.

This fortnight of help is to be a worthy reply of the international proletariat to the unrestrained white terror which continues to rage over the territory of China, to the interventionist carousals of all the imperialist powers and especially of Japan; to the unintermittent bloody repressions against the militant labor movement and the Chinese revolution in general. The Rilu and all its affiliated organizations must respond to the appeal for help made by our Chinese brothers by organizing a broad mass campaign of help for the Chinese proletariat. This campaign should consist of acquainting the wide masses of the toilers with the Chinese events, of organizing moral and material help for the Chinese workers, especially by money collections, for the labor movement in China.

In its telegram of June 13 last, the executive bureau of the Rilu called upon all its affiliated organizations to comence energetic preparations for this campaign immediately. How are these preparations to be carried out?

Plan Campaign.

In the first place a commission for the preparation and the execution of the fortnight should be immediately organized, to which should be attracted for joint work representatives of the following organizations: The Party, the I. C. W. P. A., International Workers' Aid, the Youth League, the Anti-Imperialist League, the "Hands off China" Society, the peasant organizations, etc. The wider the participation in the campaign of the most varied strata of the toilers, the greater will be the response to it and the more successful it will be. It is also necessary to draw into the campaign the most prominent representatives of science, literature, art, etc.

Of what should the preparations for the carrying out of this campaign, both along the trade union line and the line of other organizations with which the work is to be jointly carried out, consist? They should approximately consist of the following:

(a) Issue of appeals and their publication in the press.

(b) Issue of special editions of considerable space to be devoted in the organs of the workers' press to questions of the position of the Chinese revolution and labor movement, the policy of the imperialists, the Japanese intervention, white terror, the strike movement, activities of the trade unions, position of the peasant organizations, etc.

(c) Assigning special sums in aid of the Chinese labor movement.

(d) Organizing mass money collections in aid of the Chinese labor movement amongst the wide strata of the working class and toilers in general, and also in aid of imprisoned Chinese revolutionaries and the families of the victims of white terror.

(e) The organization of exhibitions dedicated to the struggle and position of the Chinese workers.

(f) Conducting a mass campaign of protest against the white terror, executions and arrests of active participants in the labor movement of China.

(g) Organizing mass meetings and talks dedicated to the labor movement and the white terror in China.

(h) By showing appropriate films illustrating the revolutionary struggle of the toilers of China and the situation in China.

Told You So

HERBERT HOOVER has accepted the G. O. P. nomination for the presidency and the country can breathe easier. It would be a terrible situation if he had turned it down and put the public thru the ordeal of enduring another republican convention. Herbert trotted out the old dinner pail which exhaled a delightful odor of garlic and onions in addition to the pork and beans of former G. O. P. presidential campaigns. It is true that Hoover scorned the "full dinner pail" slogan as inadequate. So he threw in the flavoring by suggestion.

* * *

HOOVER talked money and no doubt he expects that money will talk back in the elections. Billions for public works are dangled before the eyes of the workingclass voters. The old delusion that a victory for the republican party meant more corn on the workingman's cob and more fat on his ribs is expected to ring the bell again for the G. O. P. And when the worker learned from hungry experience that this was the hokum he decided to switch his vote to the democrats only to find that he was only jumping from a cesspool into a sewer.

HOOVER'S acceptance speech places him definitely with the most consciously reactionary wing of the republican party. He has digested Harding, Jess Smith, A. B. Fall, Harry Daugherty, Gaston B. Means and William Burns, the "prophesying stool-pigeon." Hoover boasts of the successes of the G. O. P. administration since it took over the task of running this country for the capitalists from the monumental hypocrite Woodrow Wilson. The administration reduced taxes. For whom? What else did the administration accomplish?

PERHAPS the brain of the engineering genius was so busily engaged planning big things that Hoover did not have time to follow the track of Teapot Dome. Let us refresh the good militarist quaker's memory. The Harding administration turned the department of justice into a cut-rate drug store where the best bootleggers were always welcome and where federal protection could be purchased wholesale at a considerable discount. Business was so brisk that Attorney General Daugherty who was up to his neck in strikebreaking activities could not handle all the graft problems that came to him for solution. So he installed an assistant in the department of justice as head of the Bureau of Graft, Concessions and Protection.

UNFORTUNATELY Smith, was not seasoned enough for the job tho he had many years experience as a free lance swindler and the poor fellow blew his brains out when he felt that the country was being sold out to the highest bidders and that this was going to fear. Jess would not object to peddling the navy or the oil reserves, but when it was rumored that Daugherty, was about to ask for bids on the white house and treasury building, Smith got scared and bumped himself off. At least the papers had it that he did, but there are others who claim that the dirty work was taken off his hands.

* * *

PRESIDENT Harding died after eating a mess of crabs and Calvin Coolidge, the strikebreaker from Vermont, took his seat. Warren G. was a good old skate, shot craps, played poker and frequently wrapped himself around a potent beverage—in other words he was human. His cronies, Harry Daugherty, A. B. Fall, Denby and the rest of them, also shot craps, played poker and imbibed spiritual cheer. What of it if they got away with a few statefulls of gasoline or shook the bootleggers down for a couple of million? The "patriots" got the gasolene and the bootleggers were violating the law anyhow. A pox on them!

* * *

TEAPOT DOME squirted all over the white house. Things looked so ominous that optimistic radicals smelled a revolution thru the stench. Calvin Coolidge shulked in the recesses of the white house and his lips were as tight as the fists of a dead miser. The looters of the naval oil reserves and other graft mongers were forced out of the cabinet, but to this date only one scapegoat—a fellow to sold the crutches that were intended for crippled war-veterans—was sent to the penitentiary. The others went scott free with their graft. And neither Hoover nor Coolidge nor any other member of the cabinet raised a voice against the thieves.

* * *

THESE are accomplishments that Hoover conveniently ignores when paying his tribute to the most corrupt administration in the history of American politics. He hails Coolidge as a "great president,"—a canny small-bore politician, who might qualify for a position as assistant editor of the Ladies' Home Journal but outside the United States, there is no other country in the world—not even Albania—where he could rise to position in public life equal in prestige to that of village pope in Bulgaria.

COURT FAILS TO TERRORIZE FALL RIVER STRIKERS

Deportation Threat Is Made to Pickets by Judge

6 Months Jail for Nine

(Special to the Daily Worker)

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 16.—The overawed, confused and threatened with deportation and long prison terms, by the judge, and district attorney and especially hired Portuguese flunkeys, scores of Portuguese textile workers today stolidly refused to be bludgeoned into renunciation of the Textile Mill Committees, the union leading the strike. Nine strikers and leaders most articulate in their pledges of union loyalty were again the victims of savage six month jail sentences and $1,000 "surety bonds."

Openly speaking as mill owners' agent Judge Hanify brazenly declared that the vicious sentences he was meting out were for the offense of picketing and singing strike songs.

Intimidate Strikers

The intense campaign of intimidation of the strikers up for trial was consciously carried thru with the most flagrant disregard of the so-called laws the judge presumably was there to uphold. In a long vituperative attack on the Textile Mills Committee, which he later ordered translated by the Portuguese interpreter, Hanify termed the workers' organization as "criminal" and "illegal," membership in which is punishable by deportation and imprisonment.

Following this fascist procedure, the editor of a reactionary Portuguese paper, and a Portuguese lawyer who is the nephew of the priest who helped police break up the funeral of Johnny Madeiros, drowned boy, then delivered long harangues against the union.

Honduras Land Dispute Is Fruit Feud

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Aug. 16.—The Honduran government has received another note from Secretary Kellogg which, it is generally believed, states categorically that the Honduran-Guatemala boundary dispute must be submitted to the Central-American Arbitration Tribunal, which the Honduras government refuses to do.

The disputed land contains large fruit plantations which are being contested by the United Fruit and Cuyamel Fruit Companies, the former of which has branches throughout Central America. The Cuyamel, with its center in Honduras, has consistently refused to submit the dispute to the Tribunal because the United Fruit would have a stronger representation and thus get the better in the decision.

Special CEC Meet on Negro Work to Be Held Tomorrow

As the work of this committee has been much hampered in the past because of failure to attend the meetings, the CEC is requiring that all members shall attend punctually. The committee has just been reorganized and it is of the utmost important for the effective prosecution of this work, especially in connection with the present election campaign, that every member participate.

When the terrorism of the Fall River Textile bosses operating thru their police burst upon the textile pickets on Aug. 8, Peter Hegelias, young leader of the Fall River Textile Mill Committees, was one of those most savagely attacked by the authorities. Sunday Carnival Will Draw Thousands

With the huge International Costume Carnival of the Daily Worker at Pleasant Bay Park only two days off, active preparations are now being made at the park to handle the largest crowd that has ever visited there.

Many workers, it was learned, are postponing week-end vacations which they had planned in order to attend the carnival Sunday. It will be the first outdoor costume event that the working class in this country has ever held. Various national groups are planning to attend in their national dress. Pictures will be taken of the best groups, as well as of the best individual costumes, and later published in the Daily Worker.

Great interest has been aroused by the announcement that the editorial staff of the Daily Worker will engage the editorial staff of the Young Worker in a mortal base-

MILITANT MINER IS SENT TO JAIL

Steve Jacobs Framed by Court

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, Aug. 16.—The Guernsey County Court, before going on vacation, climaxed a busy term of persecution against the striking miners by sentencing Steve Jacobs to one year at the Columbus Penitentiary. Jacobs, tricked by the complicated machinery of the state and fooled by the beautiful promises of the judge, changed his plea of not guilty to guilty, thinking in this way to get free. Jacobs was framed on a charge of possessing dynamite.

Jacobs was approached in his cell and induced to change his plea on Saturday afternoon, one day before the time of his trial. Since he pleaded guilty, the defense was powerless to defend him. Jacobs's case is another attempt to silence strike leaders and put an end to their activities. However, the miners march on to a new organization, a new

"Belt" Claims 18th Victim at Packard Plant

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 16.—The "belt" at the Packard Motor factory took another victim here today when James Wheeler, 55, dropped dead while at work. Doctors said that his work in intense heat was responsible for his death. Wheeler is the eighteenth to die while at work this summer.

Workers in the Packard plant have on a number of occasions protested against the terrific speed-up which has been forced upon them. A large number of those protesting openly have been summarily discharged after their names were turned over to company officials by hired stoolpigeons.

CHINESE LABOR UNION AID URGED

Jeng Tells of Nanking Anti-Labor Tactics

Reports from China arrive daily describing the want and privation under which the Chinese people are forced to live. The workers are suffering through the suppression of their labor unions; the peasants through the unprecedented greed of the land-owners. Besides these internal instruments that hang over the heads of the Chinese people, the presence of foreign imperialist marines in China are used as instruments of intimidation and murder. The reactionary Nanking regime, born of the counter-revolution that betrayed the millions of Chinese peasants and workers, is slaughtering thousand upon thousand of militant Chinese workers, suppressing the labor unions, butchering their leaders.

EXPECT 50,000 AT SACCO MEET

Workers Will Crowd Union Square Aug. 22

That the Sacco-Vanzetti memorial demonstration on Union Square Wednesday, August 22 at 5 p. m. will be an unprecedented mass gathering is proved by the number of telegrams, letters and messages which continue to pour into the offices of the New York section of the International Labor Defense, Rose Baron, secretary, said yesterday. Labor unions, fraternal organizations, and branches of the I. L. D. are hourly pledging their support of the memorial demonstrations.

Organizations which have answered the call to take part in the demonstration include the Furriers' Union, the International Ladies' Garment Workers, Locals 22 and 43; Architectural Iron and Bronze Workers' Union; the Hand Millinery Workers' Union, Local 43; the Amalgamated Food Workers, Bakers' Local 22; United Council of

GREAT BRITAIN PREPARES WAR

LONDON, Aug. 16 (UP).—A great fleet of bombing planes, to be held as a threat against hostile nations who might bomb London during war time, was urged today as a defense measure.

British air force maneuvers over London for three successive nights have demonstrated the impossibility of defending the city from night air raids. Brigadier-General P. R. C. Groves therefore proposed today a vast increase in the country's bombers. The purpose of the formidable fleet would be to make enemy nations afraid to bomb London, because of the more terrible havoc the British could work in their own cities in retaliation.

Red World Congress Adopts Draft Program

Meet Is Unanimous; Bukharin Cheered by Delegates

Stress War Danger

(Wireless To Daily Worker.)

MOSCOW, August 16.—The draft program of the Communist International, introduced by Nikolai Bukharin, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Communist International, was unanimously adopted at the twenty-eighth session of the World Congress of the International.

A storm of applause greeted Bukharin when in expounding the program he declared, "The Congress should adopt the program which aims to unite the proletarian forces for the coming struggles. The program is a program for world revolution."

Social Democrats Disruptive.

Bukharin in his closing speech on the question of the draft program, declared, "The social democrats say that our program is disruptive, but facts will show the workers that we want unity whereas the social democrats are disrupting the mass organizations of the working class by expelling the Communists, etc.

"Abramovitch declares that the coalition policy means handing over the power of the Party to the workers. The action of all the so-

Russian Workers and Pressers to Meet

The first shop chairmens' and delegates' conference to be held since the new union of cloak and dressmakers was launched, is to be held next Tuesday, Aug. 21, in Webster Hall, 11th St. and Third Ave. Immediately after work. This announcement was made yesterday from the headquarters of the National Organization Committee.

Leaders of the N. O. C. will deliver a report on the progress of the organization drive. Plans for extending the scope of the drive will be discussed and decided on. FORCE MILLS TO CLOSE UP AGAIN

Strikers, Invited to Work, Stay Out

(Special to the Daily Worker)

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 16.—Abandoning all hope of obtaining scabs with which to resume operation, the Pierce, Soule, Taber, Sharpe and Booth mills clanged their gates shut after keeping them open after a vain standing invitation to the strikers to return. The 58 cotton manufacturing plants here had demonstratively reopened the gates several weeks ago and had kept them open in the hope that the strike would be broken. The gesture of opening and the subsequent police terror was a miserable failure. Not more than a few score of petty foremen returned to work.

The mill closing today was hailed by the masses of strikers as evidence of a coming split in the ranks of the employers.

Eli Keller, union organizer, in a statement issued today answered the charges levelled against him by Thomas F. McMahon, reactionary head of the United Textile Workers' Union. Keller, who is also a leading member of the Passaic local of the U. T. W., was charged by Mc-

13 MINERS DIE IN GAS BLAST

Coal Operators Admit Negligence

COALPORT, Pa., Aug. 16.—Thirteen miners were killed here in the No. 3 Mine of the Irvona Coal and Coke Company late yesterday when a gas explosion went off, due to the criminal failure of the company to rock dust its mines.

One hundred and fifty-nine men were in the mine at the time of the blast. The thirteen who were killed, and one other miner who survived, were working together in one section and were trapped by poisonous fumes following the explosion.

Marina Coccia, the survivor, gave the details of what occurred just preceding the blast.

Officials of the mine admitted their failure to rock dust the diggings, a precaution which is known to be a fairly certain preventative against explosions. Thousands of miners have been killed during the past few years due to the increasing and criminal neglect of the open-shop operators.

JINGO ORDERED PORTER SENTENCE KEPT SECRET AS INVESTIGATION PROCEEDS

Whereabouts of Jailed Textile Leader Remains Uncertain

Link Seizure of League Members Thruout United States With New Move

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 16.—The creeping shadow of the army intelligence service lies over every soldier who dares even in thought to oppose the use of himself and his organization against his class as the result of investigations which the United States war department, is making into the activities of the Young Workers (Communist) League in connection and other activities.

The arrest of John Porter, vice-president of the New Bedford Textile Workers' Union, and a former serviceman, is reported to have furnished the occasion for the investigation and the secrecy which has surrounded his imprisonment and sentence is attributed to the secrecy with which the war department is proceeding against the workers in the army.

It was Major-General Preston Brown, commanding the first corps district, at Boston, under whose military jurisdiction the case of the young textile leader came, who on his own initiative or that of his departmental chief, requested the war department to keep secret the sentence passed upon John Porter following his sudden transportation to Rhode Island and subsequent court martial several weeks ago.

It was learned that the sentence

COMMUNISTS WIN ASTORIA FIGHT

Tammany Thugs Forced to Move on

A cheering crowd of 1,000 workers who listened for three hours to speakers of the Workers (Communist) Party last night at Jamaica and Steinway Aves., Astoria, L. I., was the answer to the attack on a previous meeting held last Thursday night. At that time Abe Harfield, Communist candidate for the assembly from the first district of Queens and George Padgug and Paul Muller were badly beaten by hooligan members of the Dwyer Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Rebecca Grecht, state campaign manager of the Workers (Communist) Party was arrested on a charge of "inciting to riot." The organization is known to be a decoy for Tammany local bosses.

Resent Expose.

Resentment at the expose of Tammany corruption by Harfield and other Communist speakers at other meetings was the cause of the attack.

Stirred by the brutal attack on the Communist speakers last week, workers from Astoria and adjacent towns on Long Island flocked to the meeting last night. Five minutes after Max Shachtman, editor of the "Labor Defender," opened the meeting, a group of the belligerent "patriots" swept up to the pavement in a car, carried out a platform and erected it about fifteen or twenty feet from the Communist meeting.

At the meeting last night, the principal speaker for the legionists was a certain George H. Kent, said to be a stool pigeon who has been seen snooping around the Workers Center in which Communist headquarters are located with the purpose of spying on the movement.

Cops Are There.

About a dozen sullen policemen from the Astoria station remained during the entire meeting. While Bert Miller, organizational secretary of District 2 of the Workers (Communist) Party was revealing the long history of Tammany corruption in New York, a bag of water was thrown.

Several minutes later, painfully conscious that their audience consisted at most of 50 persons, the stalwarts from the "foreign wars" organization modestly removed their platform down Steinway Ave., and across Jamaica, where a gentleman, Krump, by name, proceeded to denounce the Communist program.

Among the speakers at the meeting were Robert Minor, editor of the Daily Worker and Communist candidate for U. S. Senator; Abe Harfield, Bert Miller, Rebecca Grecht, Philip Frankfeld, acting district organizer of the Young Workers League, John Muller, Donald Burke and Pete Shapiro.

Minor told the history of the Centralia frame-up and how organizations like the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion are utilized by the capitalist class for "their own dirty work."

FUR LOCALS PICK NATIONAL HEADS

U. S., Canada Unions to Hold Meetings

As first steps in following out the instructions thye received Wednesday night at the mass meeting where a new furriers' union was launched, the International United Front Committee of Fur Workers yesterday anounced that machinery is being set in motion to construct the Provisional National Executive Committee of the new national organization.

All the American and Canadian fur garment and fur dressing locals that are represented on the International United Front Committee, representing nearly every local in the present A. F. of L. International Fur Workers' Union, are to hold membership meetings in the immediate future and are to choose their representative to the N. E. C.

The Provisional National Executive Committee is to function as the central body of the new furriers' union till the national convention to be held within 60 days chooses a permanent executive body.

Committees of workers from the locals of fur dressers in surrounding cities and Brooklyn are coming into the office of the left wing Joint Board, which now serve also as the headquarters of the newly launched union, with information of the open shops that swamp the fur dressing trade. They asked that a drive be begun to organize their trade. Since the reactionary A. F. of L. International officialdom began their destructive attacks against the New York Joint Board, the open shop system gained predominance in the fur dressing industry. The officers of the new organization announced that a drive in that industry will be begun as soon as plans now being considered are completed.

The six fur workers arrested yesterday by the police industrial (thug) squad, were fined $5 each when tried yesterday in Jefferson Market Court before Magistrate Goodman. Willie Yacker, the gangster who had slashed Meyer Weinstein who refused to be forced into the scab Joint Council was held for further examination till September 4th. The right wing union was compelled to provide $2,500 bail before the thug was released.

WORLD-WIDE MEMORIALS FOR SACCO-VANZETTI

To Hold Demonstrations in All Countries to Protest Against Class "Justice"

(By Federated Press.)

Yellow-skinned workers of the Orient, swarthy laborers of India together with organized masses of Europe, will mourn with American workers August 22 for Sacco and Vanzetti, and rededicate themselves to the task of freeing Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings from life imprisonment in California.

In hundreds of cities and towns of England, France, Germany, Russia, and in every industrial center in the United States and Canada, these meetings will commemorate the first anniversary of the death of the two "anarchist bastards" whom Judge Thayer, Governor Fuller and President Lowell sent to the electric chair. Meetings have been definitely arranged in 75 American cities and the International Labor Defense estimates that at least 25 more demonstrations are being planned.

The World-wide Sacco-Vanzetti, Mooney-Billings demonstrations will be conducted by the International Labor Defense and allied organizations such as the powerful Rote Hilfe of Germany, Mopr of the Soviet Union, Class War Prisoners' Aid of England and Canadian Labor Defense League. The Germans have prepared a Sacco-Vanzetti film, tracing the history of the men from Italy through their participation in labor struggles in the United States until their death in Charlestown state prison.

Workers at Braintree, England, are contributing to a fund to place a stained glass window in memory of Sacco and Vanzetti in the Trades Council Hall. It was in South Braintree, Mass., that the crime occurred for which the two labor martyrs were framed. When Governor Fuller visited Braintree this summer, he was met with a demonstration of several hundred workers to

Soviet Union Crew Salvages L-55, British Submarine, Sunk in 1919 by Destroyer

UNDERSEA BOAT PLANNED ATTACK ON RED WARSHIPS

Entire Crew Lost, Is Indication

By EUGENE LYONS.

MOSCOW, Aug. 16 (UP).—An almost forgotten tragedy of the world war was brought to light today through the recovery from the bottom of the Baltic Sea of the rusted hulk of the lost British submarine L-55, and the crumbling skeletons of some of her crew.

The fate of the L-55 never was known in detail, but an official government announcement here today said examination of the hulk led to the belief that every member of her crew perished when she was sent to the bottom by a Russian destroyer on June 4, 1919.

The L-55 was salvaged by the Russians and taken to the Kronstadt base. The official announcement said unidentified skeletons were found in the inner compartments of the submarine. The number was not given, but it was not believed that any of the submarine's complement escaped.

Planned Attack on Soviet.

Official information here in Moscow gave details of what happened to the L-55 during the Baltic Sea operations after the Armistice. On June 4, 1919, the fort at Kronstadt reported a fleet of four English minesweepers in Kaprosky Bay, with a submarine periscope showing near them.

The Russian destroyers Agart and Gavril were sent in pursuit. Shots were fired at the periscope. An explosion followed and the submarine appeared no more.

The war department announced it was studying the rusted hulk to determine the conditions under which the L-55 sank.

from China, are bloody and horrible. Pictures of Chinese worker-leaders, decapitated, lying in pools of blood; pictures of militant, hanging from posts, their bodies horribly mutilated by the reactionary forces; all these show the need for aid more eloquently than mere words can.

These conditions form the text of a letter from Sou Chao Jeng, chairman of the All-China Federation of Labor Unions, which last night was issued in pamphlet form by the Committee to Aid the Chinese Trade Unions, from its office at 96 Fifth Ave., room 314. The letter, which appeals to workers all over the world to come to the aid of their Chinese comrades, reads, in part, as follows:

"Again and again, from the deep underground into which we have been driven by the united counter-revolution of the Chinese capitalist landlords and militarists, and the imperialist robbers, we address to you our ardent appeal for aid.

"We realize that all measures will be taken by our government and yours to prevent our groans and cries of anguish from reaching you. They understand that you would not be likely to look on calmly at the pain and suffering of your Chinese brothers. We know that this appeal will also reach you with considerably delay and great difficulty.

"We have been cruelly deceived by our bourgeoisie; having disposed of the northern militarists with our aid, having captured the Yangtze region, having occupied Shanghai and Hankow, they decided to put an end to us! They betrayed the common struggle of the Chinese people and offered their services to your governments, and together with them they have been destroying and drowning in rivers of blood the workers' and peasants' movement during these last fifteen months.

"We are firmly convinced that you will come to our aid and that you will help us in our struggle for right, life and liberty, against the entire counter-revolutionary bourgeoisie.

"We rely upon your fraternal solidarity and your fraternal aid. The cup of patience of the Chinese people is becoming filled. The Chinese peasantry is rising again, while the soldiers refuse to take up arms against the people and go over to the side of the toilers.

"Help us in our struggle and thereby you will also fight against the menace of a new world war."

The appeal is signed by Sou Chao Jong, chairman of the All-China Federation of Labor Unions. Funds for the relief of the Chinese workers should be sent immediately to the Committee for the Aid of the Chinese Trade Unions, Robert W. Dunn, secretary, at 96 Fifth Ave. Room 314.

Workers Demonstrate for Class War Victims at the I. L. D. Outing

COMMUNIST DRAFT PROGRAM APPROVED

cial democratic ministers in Russia from 1917 onwards, however, showed that they served the interests of the bourgeoisie exclusively against the proletariat. The social democrats declare that we are provoking war because we discuss its possibility and warn the workers against it. (Laughter.) Our program is against the imperialist war, for proletarian class unity, against the capitalists and social democrats and for socialism.

Continues Marxism.

"Leninism is not an addition to Marxism but its continuation and development. Lenin did not introduce one atom that was not Marxist into the theory of the proletarian Revolution. In opposing the reformist nonsense concerning 'Asiatic Communism,' we declare that Leninism is the most orthodox Marxism.

"It is impossible to deal in this speech with all the problems discussed in the commission, but Sultansade's attacks regarding finance capital must be answered. Sultansade thinks he is attacking Hilferding, but in reality he is attacking Lenin who held the same view regarding the origin of finance capital.

"With regard to the problem of ultra-imperialism, it would be wrong to deny entirely the possibility of a world-wide trust. However, its affirmation is only possible when the class struggle is ignored. Ultra-imperialism is impossible in practice. By supporting the League of Nations, the social democrats are fighting for ultra-imperialism.

"The draft program stresses the parasitic sides of capitalism, these parasitic sides, however, are not decisive. Capitalism will not collapse in consequence of parasitism but as a result of the intensification of contradictions leading to conflicts. Our program must deal in detail with this in order to refute the social democratic idea of an organized, non-anarchist capitalism. The social roots of reformism have varied bases. The aristocracy of labor is not explained simply by colonial surplus profits but also by the capitalist differential profit, for example: when a highly developed country, like the United States, can exploit backward countries on the basis of a simple commodity exchange.

"The United States pockets the best part of the world's surplus profit today, hence the American proletariat is the most conservative in the world.

"The decline of British capitalism resulted in the decline of the influence of the reformists. The peculiarity of imperialism is that it first lays the basis for the social imperialist ideology and afterwards smashes that basis by intensification of its own contradictions.

Fascism.

"The discussion on fascism showed two extreme divergences; first there is a tendency to describe all attacks on the workers as fascism; second there is the declaration that fascism is impossible in highly developed countries. The truth, however, is that fascism is a special form of reaction characterized by the utilization of the petty bourgeois peasant masses appearing at a certain stage of capitalist decline. Therefore there is no fascism in the United States and only the beginnings of it in Great Britain.

"Regarding the relations of the social democracy with fascism: undoubtedly the former is developing towards social fascism, but there are only tendencies and not a finished process. Fascism and social democracy must not be identified.

Land Nationalization.

"Regarding the question of nationalization of land, Renaud Jean has discovered a contradiction between the non-immediate nationalization of all land and the immediate prohibition of sale and purchase of land. Actually no such contradiction exists. The proletarian revolution cannot afford to make enemies of the peasants by immediately nationalizing all land and it protects the peasants from speculators by prohibiting the sale and purchase of land. The rich estates will be expropriated, the peasant farms will not be. The latest investigations of Riasanov show that Marx had the same opinion on the peasant question as Lenin.

"Regarding the questions of war Communism and NEP, Varga's attitude results from the fact that he underestimates the serious mistakes of the Hungarian Communist Party during its dictatorship. The proletarian dictatorship in Hungary gave the peasants nothing and antagonized them by requisitions and leaving landholders behind on their estates as specialists. The dictatorship also antagonized the petty bourgeoisie by threatening to shoot tradesmen who opened their shops. A recent article of Varga's declared that even if the leaders of the Hungarian proletarian dictatorship had made no mistakes, defeat would have been inevitable from the given circumstances. This represents a serious underestimation of the errors of the Hungarian Communist Party. In consequence of its attitude to the peasantry and the petty bourgeoisie, the dictatorship of the proletariat antagonized the majority of the population. If the dictatorship had given the peasants something, it could have found a means of demoralizing the opposing armies which were largely composed of peasants. Nevertheless the probability exists that in the first stage of the dictatorship of the proletariat war Communism will be adopted.

N. E. P.

"Some comrades are of the opinion that highly developed countries may skip over the NEP and refer to a remark of Lenin's. Lenin did make some such remark, but at the third congress he referred to Britain as the only possible exception. Lenin also approved the draft program at the fourth congress. It is unthinkable that Lenin would have permitted a serious error in the NEP policy to pass without criticism."

ball combat. The game is expected to settle once and for all the much disputed question of intellectual supremacy in the field of proletarian journalism. Though the two staffs are keeping their line-ups secret, a persistent rumor is that Robert Minor, editor of the Daily Worker, will pitch for his team.

In order to make sure that the game will be fair, Benjamin Gitlow, Communist candidate for vice-president, has been secured as umpire. Gitlow has announced that he will be ready to substitute for any player who is injured in the battle.

Other Events.

Besides the baseball game, there will also be an exhibition soccer organizations of the Labor Sports Union and an athletic exhibition by the Finnish Athletic Club.

Many other numbers are being planned, including a Russian hour, with tea served in samovars, open-air dancing and target practice in a shooting gallery.

Tickets are 35 cents and are on sale at the office of the Daily Worker, 26-28 Union Square.

JAPAN WORKERS URGE SOLIDARITY

Ask All to Support the Chinese Revolution

Pointing out that the workers and peasants of Japan have no quarrel with the workers and peasants of China, the Japanese Workers' Association, through its affiliations in numerous cities in America, has distributed a leaflet printed in Chinese declaring solidarity with the oppressed Chinese masses.

"The Tanaka government in Japan represents the landlord and big capitalist elements," the leaflet declares. "These are the elements that have sent additional troops to Shantung with the real purpose of crushing the workers and peasants revolution in China. And these same elements grind the energy and flesh of Japanese workers and peasants into bloody profits."

Pledging support to the mighty Chinese revolution, the leaflet further states:

"Fellow Chinese workers! We extend our hands to you. Let us unite our forces in China, in Japan, and here in America! Let us work together for the success of the Chinese workers' and peasants' revolution in order to emancipate you from the yoke of foreign imperialism, from the brutal clutches of war lords and landlords, and in order to emancipate us from the exploitation of Japanese imperialists and capitalists."

Downtown Conference of Workers Clubs on Party Election Drive

Many downtown workers' clubs, sick and death benefit societies and fraternal organizations are expected to participate in the Downtown Election Campaign Conference which will be held Friday, Aug. 24, at 60 St. Marks Place.

The conference, which, according to report made by A. Milgrom, who is handling the election campaign for the Workers (Communist) Party in that section, will be representative of many nationalities and many trades, will elect a functioning Executive Committee to actively further the election campaign of the candidates of their own class. Concrete help will be given by the workers of these clubs in the gathering of signatures as well as in the collection of the necessary campaign funds.

All workers' organizations are urged to elect two delegates each to represent them at the conference.

REFORMIST WAR SCHEMES FLAYED

German Reds Demand Referendum

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—The intention of the Social-Democratic controlled cabinet to continue with the naval building program to the limit provided by the treaty of Versailles, in spite of its expressed admiration of the Kellogg pact, has roused much comment and criticism from conservatives and liberals alike, which may lead to a crisis for the cabinet of Dr. Meuller.

The conservatives point out that inspite of the election promises of the reformists, the socialist cabinet is continuing military and naval preparations. One armored cruiser, costing $20,000,000 has already been built, and five others of the same size will be built.

In order to meet the reformist criticism in its own ranks the Social Democatic Party is calling a conference for Saturday in which the best means of meeting the criticism and organizing a strong coalition will be discussed.

NEGRO PREJUDICE IS ASSAILED AT BIG MEETING

Speakers Attack Judge for Discrimination

At the meeting called by the Boro Civic Association of Brooklyn at 1658 Fulton Street to protest against the anti-Negro attitude of the judge at the recent trial of Mrs. De Luca, Henry Roseman and Ben Licht of the American Labor Negro Congress were warmly received by the audience when they called for solidarity of the Negro and white workers against exploitation.

The speakers pointed out that at the trial of Mrs. De Luca, a white woman, the judge declared that she had no business to live among Negroes, since it is impossible for white and colored people to live together. When the lawyer, Mr. Serrio, doubted the word of the prohibition agent the judge declared, "In my section of the country had you made any such accusation against an officer of the law he would smash you before you got out of the courtroom, or if he had sufficient self control to wait until he got outside, he would have taken personal vengeance upon you regardless of consequences."

Roseman and Licht explained the policy of the Negro Labor Congress which was aimed at the wiping out of all exploitation. A resolution, providing for a meeting of all Negro organiations in the near future was passed.

Troops Attack 5,000 Dalmatian Workers and Students Protesting the Fascist Pact

FIGHTING GROWS IN SPALATO AS MEET CONTINUES

Demand Autonomy; 84 Arrested

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 16.—Opposition against the ratification of the Nettuno Pact that gives the Italian government special property rights in Dalmatia, which is on the Adriatic facing Italy, coupled with the movement against the Belgrade regime oppression, has led to a monster demonstration in Spalato, a Dalmatian city. Five thousand students and workers paraded through the street in spite of the attempt of the police and military to break the demonstration.

When the demonstrators, bearing slogans that denounced the Nettuno Pact with the fascist government and calling for autonomy, were ordered to disperse by the police they continued on their march. The military was called out and in the effort to break up the parade fighting between the soldiers and the demonstrators continued until 2 o'clock in the morning. Eighty arrests were reported and the casualties are not known.

The Nettuno Pact, which was passed by the Belgrade parliament when the opposition was absent, and which is declared by the autonomists to be void, has aroused great opposition in Croatia, Slovenia and Dalmatia, provinces that had been incorporated under the Jugoslav kingdom against the will of the inhabitants. The special rights given the fascists in Dalmatia, it is charged, would abrogate the rights of local peasants and increase the oppression that they have suffered at the hands of Belgrade.

MILL STRIKERS STANDING FIRM

Intimidation of Court Fails

fused by this threatening terror, a number of strikers were said to have denied membership in the T. M. C. These, and many other, received six months probation terms. Most of these, however, came to the headquarters of the union later and affirmed their allegience, declaring that they did not understand what they were doing after being confused by the barrage of questions in court. Several, however, actually deserted the ranks on being faced by a six months jail term.

Manuel Pacheco, husband of a woman striker beaten up on the picket line by the police, rose courageously in court and defiantly hurled at the judge, "I will stay with the Textile Mill Committees till the very end." Joseph Travis, 17-year old striker staunchly maintained his legal right to strike and picket and denounced police brutality on the picket lines. They were included among those receiving six months terms. The others were James Ried, union leader; Manuel Rogers, Jesse Cordiero, Antone Sousa, Joseph Pachecho, Louis Ferriero, Bill Seroka and Henry Lavoie. Bail of $1,000 each was demanded in addition to the surety bond of similar amount.

Strikers Determined.

Tactics of the mill owners and their agents in the courts in jailing strike leaders and every man rising from the ranks to assume the helm of the struggle, will fail, strikers declare. They are determined to stay out till they win the wage cut fight.

The union and the International Labor Defense are issuing appeals to raise the enormous funds necessary to gain the release of the leaders. In ensive efforts are to be made to spread the walkout, and the union leaders' release will hasten this event, the appeals state.

AUTOMOBILE--NEW GIANT

Largest Industry Drives to World War

This second in the series of important articles on "Automobile—Symbol of Modern Slavery," by Ben Lifschitz, deals with the vast scope of the industry, the giant combinations fighting for power and the driving forces to imperialist war. Tomorrow's article will take up the question of the saturation point of the industry and the struggle between the Ford and the General Motors combines.

By BEN LIFSCHITZ

The automobile industry ranks first among American manufacturing industries, based on the wholesale value of its products. The motor vehicle bodies and parts for the industry rank ninth.

Motor vehicles	$3,371,855,805
Motor vehicle bodies and parts	$1,511,976,000

The magnitude of this combined industry can only be conceived when we compare the motor vehicle industry (including bodies and parts) with the two next largest industries in the country, slaughtering and steel. The figures follow:

Slaughtering and meat packing	$3,050,286,291
Steel works and rolling mills	$2,946,068,231

The two combined industries of meat packing and steel have a wholesale value of $5,996,354,522, against the combined wholesale value of the motor vehicles, bodies and parts, which is $4,883,831,805.

Automobile Industry and Its Relation to War.

There are two factors that make the automobile industry essentially a war industry, always at the disposal of the governmental machine.

1. The utilization of the motor truck on a large scale for military transport and as a means for the quickest mobilization of the army, especially for shorter distance hauls. Those who followed the world war know what importance the motor truck played generally in the war and especially in surprise attacks.

2. The machine shop and other factories of the automobile industry are very easily convertible to the making of war material, guns, shells and airplanes.

The Ford factories were turning out thousands of machine guns during the war and are now already converting some of their plants for the manufacture of airplanes. The Packard plant as well as others were also used to build war supplies during the war.

The Powerful Combines of the Automobile Industry.

1. Ford Motor Company.

The Ford Motor Company was incorporated on June 16, 1903. The capital originally subscribed in the company was $110,000, of which only $28,000 in cash was paid into the treasury. There were twelve stockholders, including Henry Ford, who held 25 per cent. of the common stock. Later, in 1906, Mr. Ford acquired sufficient stock to bring his holdings up to 51 per cent., and shortly thereafter purchased an additional 7½ per cent. In 1919, Edsel B. Ford, who had succeeded his father as president, purchased the remaining 41½ per cent. of the outstanding stock. On July 9, 1919, the Ford Motor Company was reorganized under the laws of the Delaware, for an authorized capitalization of $100,000,000. The company was chartered to build automobiles, trucks, tractors, aircraft, internal combustion, engines, ships, locomotives and all allied products.

The Ford organization represents a complete industrial chain. Raw materials, transportation and manufacturing are entirely under the company's control.

The company operates 35 branches in the United States, of which 32 are assembly plants. It has foreign offices and associate companies in South America, Cuba, Mexico, Europe, Egypt and Japan. The Ford Motor Company of Canada is located at Ford, Ontario. It supplies the trade in Canada and the British Empire, except the British Isles. It has foreign plants in all important centers of the world.

The first Ford car was completed in 1892. It was not until 1903 that the famous "999" model shot across the motor horizon.

In 1908 the model "T" appeared and with it the first real standardization was reached. With that point attained, the unparalled production growth of the Ford Motor Company began.

Counting from the first car, Henry Ford made, it required 30 years to produce the frist five million Ford cars. But the second five million cars were built in three years, May, 1921-June 4, 1924, when the ten millionth Ford car chugged briskly out of the shop to join its 9,999,999 forerunners. Just 381 days later (June 20, 1925) the twelve millionth Ford car was completed, and the fifteenth million car was scheduled to be off the line early in 1927.

This quantity production of an unheard-of scale, was only made possible by the introduction of new manufacturing methods, the conveyers system and the other methods of modern slave driving.

COSTA RICA IN OPPOSITION TO U.S. DOMINATION

Demand Interpretation of Monroe Doctrine

GENEVA, Aug. 16 (UP).—A delicate problem, affecting the United States and Latin-America, has ben placed before the League of Nations by Costa Rica.

The Central American Republic, in rejecting an invitation to rejoin the league, from which it resigned a few years ago, asked the league for an interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine.

Costa Rica, in her message to the league, characterized the Monroe Doctrine as a purely one-sided declaration by the United States, not binding on the Latin-American nations. Before joining the league, she desires a precise interpretation of the doctrine, especially as it affects the position of Latin-American countries in the league.

Costa Rica's pronouncement, coming so soon after Argentina's similar declaration to the league last March, was regarded here as showing the increasing solidarity of the Latin-American republics, as well as the increasing tendency of Argentina to assume the leadership of the southern nations, in place of the United States.

It is certain that the league will not venture an interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine without the full agreement of the United States.

Bulgarian Terrorists Practicing Cossack Maneuvers

The white terror in the Balkans has had no freer and more savage area to wreak its tortures on workers and peasants than in Bulgaria. Headed by reactionary army officers and Jingoes, the fascist organizations in Bulgaria have murdered, tortured and jailed thousands of workers in the last decade. The picture shows one of the cavalry officers practicing for war against the workers and peasants.

Death Record in China of White Terror

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—The International Red Aid publishes the following figures which show the results of the White Terror and class justice in China from the month of January to the end of May. According to reliable data, for the most part taken from the capitalist press, in the course of five months in China:

2,974 revolutionaries were murdered.

3,055 had disappeared.

7,949 were arrested.

Plans are rapidly being completed by the New Bedford Textile Workers' Union to make the welcoming reception for W. T. Murdoch a memorable one. Murdoch, union leader will be freed Monday after completion of a three month prison term for picketing.

A mass welcome meeting, which is being prepared for Monday will also inaugurate a new membership drive for the Textile Mill Committees organization.

BRAZILIAN MINE WORKERS HUNTED BY VIGILANTES

Jungle Fights Rage for 2 Months

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 16.—An outbreak of workers in the diamond mines in the State of Matto Grosso was suppressed by Mordeck and his army of 10,000 vigilantes (keepers of the status quo—fascists) whtn they chased the 2,000 workers over the border into the State of Guyaz.

The disturbances started two months ago when the workers found that they had been paid in counterfeit money by the foreign prospector-bosses. Enraged at this added exploitation after they had worked in stifling and disease-festered jungles for months, the workers organized an army, intent on chasing the exploiters from the country.

Troops summoned by the governor failed to suppress the uprising. Fighting in the jungles and mountains about the mines has lasted for months. The workers chose Carvalhinho, Portuguese name for tht sturdy water oak, as their chief.

Mordeck, who actually rules the district with the help of his army of vigilantes, who, when they are not fighting, do spy and guard duty for the companies, collected 10,000 of his followers, outnumbering the workers by five to one, and forced them to flee over the border.

TO AID IMMIGRANTS.

In the first Israelite Immigration Congress to be held in Buenos Aires, resolutions were adopted establishing a fund for loans to new arrivals. Plans were made for experimental farms, garment factories and homes, and for ultimate aid to relatives to immigrants to join their families in Argentina.

HANDOUTS

The best comedy now running in New York is the street cleaning graft investigation before Commissioner of Accounts James A. Higgins. The last act concerned a large payroll carried during the summer to protect city traffic from a sudden tie-up due to snow storms. The new one is just as good. The funnyman this time is Terrence Gillan, who told a story on the stand so improbable it ought to be published in True Stories Magazine. Yet he uttered his words with an air of sublime confidence. He said he was a boss at the Flushing dump and also had a job in the post office. He put in seventeen hours a day, he said. This was quite a grind. At the same time he needed the money. He worked from 6 p. m. to 2 a. m. at the post office. He got home as soon as possible and slept rapidly for 3 hours, until 6 o'clock, when he had to get up to get to the dump by 7 a. m. Here he worked until 4 p. m., he said. Other workers at the dump testified he had never been observed working there within their memory. If he was ever around it was purely in the role of spectator.

The socialist party press is advising workers to buy lots in Florida which are now selling for $2 each. But what with the hurricanes if you buy a lot in Florida you never know where you're going to find it, just as you never know where to find the S. P.

For Publicity's Sake

Euality under capitalism means that no matter what job you pick you can be sure of getting your share of misery. For instance chorus girls spend half their time looking for work and when they get a job it doesn't last long but long enough for them to listen to one long melody—the stage manager cursing. Their beauty only lasts a few years and then they're thrown out with the garbage. Above are two girls in George White's scandals forced by the publicity director to have their picture taken in front of a row boat in Coney Island. What they're afraid of is they won't have a chance to get off before the plane starts.

Gems of Learning

Miguel Primo de Rivera, son of Spanish dictator, who has just reached New York:

"I have always wanted to come to the United States, and grasp this opportunity, given me by my father, as a great pleasure. I have seen so much that is interesting and inspiring come to us out of the United States. . . ."

For instance, loans.

Peter J. Maloney, broker:

"Although the republicans talk about hard times under a democratic administration they forget the fact that a democrat gave them the Federal Reserve system, a thing that has made possible the bull market of the last four years."

The democrats' greatest contribution to the bull market has been Al Smith.

PICKETING AT COHEN SHOP IS CHIEF "CRIME"

Legionnaires Active in Fascist Work

(By a Worker Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA (By Mail).—It seems that America is going toward the olden days of the Czarist regime. The air itself is oppressive. In the shops, factories, mills, mines, the workers are slaves, exploited by the greedy bosses, thirsty for profits. No freedom, no democracy, no liberty for the toiling masses. The bosses, the imperialist, they can, and do enjoy all sorts of freedom and use all methods to oppress the working class, and smash any attempt on the part of the latter to free itself from slavery and oppression.

In the olden days of the Czarist regime, spies and spy agencies could be found in every corner of the country, to prevent the organization of the Russian workers and peasants.

Fascist Methods.

America today is employing the same methods. The American Legion, the eVterans of the Foreign Wars, the K. K. K. and a number of other fascist organizations are acting as spy agencies of the capitalists against the workers.

A dose of "democracy" was given to the writer of this article in the week of July 23. America is a free country. You have the freedom of starving in this country, no guardmen, no policemen, not a man of the capitalist state power will stop you. If you organize and refuse to starve, if you fight to better your conditions, then you are in for a dose of capitalist "democracy."

Monday, July 23, I got up to go to the picket line of the striking shop of S. J. Cohen, a clothing factory located at 13th and Callowhill Sts., this city. When the angels of freedom, with clubs in their hands, got tired of looking at me they arrested me with five other militant young workers who were in the picket line with me. The lawyer got us released later on bail. At five o'clock, same day, I was again arrested for being on the picket line (second time in a day). Why was I arrested? Well, try to guess it! "For breach of peace!" Isn't that a crime?

Tuesday morning, July 24; a very nice morning, but the air was oppressive. As soon as you get on the picket line you hear the voice of the "angels of freedom:" "Say, you! get to hell out of here." I ignored those orders and at eight o'clock in the morning I was again arrested (third time). Fortunately, I was taken all three times to the same police station, 10th and Bottonwood, and in the morning of Tuesday, at 9:30 a. m., a judge tried me, combining the three charges in one.

$10 and Costs.

The judge asked the policeman: "Why was this young fellow arrested?" When told for being in the picket line in front of the striking shop, the judge, without questioning me at all, declared: "Ten dollars and costs." I made an attempt to speak, but two "angels of peace and order," stationed behind me in the court room, dragged me away to the cell.

Friday, July 27, the Young Pioneers of Philadelphia organized a picketing demonstration in front of the S. J. Cohen shop, still on strike. Banners and placards, denouncing the terrible conditions of the Philadelphia clothing workers, were carried by the Young Pioneers. As soon as the demonstration made its appearance near the S. J. Cohen shop the squad of uniformed police, stationed there to defend S. J. Cohen, arrested me again (fourth time) and two other girl leaders of the demonstration. When taken into the station the two girl leaders were released on bail about two hours later. The captain of the Ten and Bottonwood police station detained me until very late at night.

The hearing of the latter case took place the morning after. The two girls were discharged. Even though I was charged with the same charge as they were, that of "breach of peace," the judge liked to have a separate case of mine and put me under $600 of bail. For a charge of breach of peace, constitutionally speaking, according to the laws, the judge has no right to detain anyone on $600 of bail. But we have democracy and the judge uses all the democracy he has against the workers.

We have "democracy" in America, but the workers are not allowed to tell to another fellow-worker not to vote for Hoover. Workers are not allowed to speak against the citizens' military training camps, a capitalist militarist institution for training the youth of this country to become good soldiers and stand ready for the coming war.

It's "seditious" to say that "the Soviet Union" is a good country, a country where the workers and farmers enjoy their freedom, the fruit of the revolution. In Philadelphia it is "seditious" to say that Coolidge is a strikebreaker.

Philadelphia is a big city. The city of "brotherly love," the city where American "independence" was declared, the city that has the bell of liberty. But now the bell is cracked, and so is liberty cracked in this country.

Saturday evening, July 28, while speaking at an open-air meeting at 29th and Cumberland Sts., an American legionnaire resented the statement that Coolidge is a strikebreaker, and that Hoover represents big business and not the workers, and that the Soviet Union is the only government that gives freedom to the toiling masses.

This legionnaire, this rat, this fascist, made an attempt to break up the meeting, but failed. A squad of policemen from the 31st district were called by the legionnaire and succeeded in getting me arrested (fifth time within a week), charging me with "seditious utterances against the U. S. government." A comrade came to the police station to get a copy of the charge to have me released. When he arrived at the station he was detained in jail with the same charge.

For two days none of the magistrates wanted to sign the bail to have us released, and therefore we had to sleep two nights in the stinking prison.

Until when will this be kept up? The workers are beginning to get tired of this kind of "democracy." The workers must and will organize to abolish this corrupt system of society. Then, when that day will come, these oppressors, these exploiters, these reactionaries of today, will be given the same kind of democracy that the workers enjoy under their regime.

The Business of Paying for Al Smith

Mayor James Walker, of New York and Tammany, recently auctioned off the first bale of cotton to reach the northern market from the south. The proceeds went to the Smith campaign fund to the larger donations from the DuPont armament interests, and others interested in electing Wall Street's "ace in the hole" candidate. At the left, Mayor Walker, next to him is Baron Collier, wealthy advertising man, who bought the cotton and it is understood engineered the stunt.

GUN-GOOD-WILL IN THE HAWAII ISLANDS

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Aug. 16.—The anniversary celebration of the landing of Captain Cook on the Island, in 1778, is being used here as an occasion for the display of American military and naval power, that is calculated to awe all watching Hawaiians. The British government, aroused by the display of American force, is rushing three battle ships to participate in the ceremonies.

The United States governments has sent its secretary of war, Dwight Davis, to bring an intimate token of American "good-will" on the battleship Pennsylvania. More guns now command Honolulu harbor. Other battleships are also here.

American troops, armed, parade through the streets as airplanes hover over their line of march. Davis watches the marching columns and the airplane maneuvers from behind the bayonets of his guard.

JOBLESS IS JAILED.

UNION CITY, N. J., Aug. 16.—Despite the fact that Henry Recklefs, 58 years of age, unemployed and homeless, affairms that he was never near 3754 Hudson Blvd., he has been sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail on the charge of sleeping in the cellar of that place. No consideration was given to the fact that Recklefs had turned over a poor woman's pocket-book with some money in it to the local police who returned it to the owner.

MILL COMMITTEE FORMED BY OHIO STEEL WORKERS

Put Forward Demand for Strikers

(By a Worker Correspondent)

CANTON, Ohio (By Mail).—Four hundred chippers and 100 grinders working for the Central Alloy Steel Company of this city are on strike.

This is the third time that the men have gone out since the company has lowered their pay. The men have organized into the Central Alloy Mill Committee and have put up their demands.

On July 25, without any notice, the men were cut from fifty-two and a half cents an hour plus the bonus, to forty-five cents an hour, and the bonus was cut. The wages dropped from six and seven dollars a day to five dollars and fifty cents. On July 27, in a peculiar manner, Mr. Seldon, the superintendent, raised the scale to 55 cents and assured the men that they would earn more than $6 a day.

But what did they find? They discovered that instead of more than $6 they were getting only $4.40 a day. That was the limit, and on Monday, August 6, the 500 men walked out.

The company has a plant in Massillon, about eight miles from here. One of the employment officers informed the committee of the men that they would split the difference between the pay in Massillon and Canton, and give them the difference. In other words, the company is determined to cut wages also in Massillon.

The steel workers will not stand for it. They have issued a leaflet putting forth the following demands: $6 for an 8 hour day, the removal of Mr. Seldon, the superintendent, who is the cause of most of the trouble in the plant, and the recognition of the Central Mill Committee.

The leaflet which the men issued calls on the other men in the mill to come out on strike, and tells them that if the chippers and grinders lose the strike, wages will go down all round. There is no question of this, for as the employment officer informed the men, the steel manufacturers' association have decided on the wage scale, and evidently decided that the beginning must be made in Canton.

Four of the men were arrested last night for distributing the leaflet of the Mill Committee but were immediately released on bail.

The Mill Committee is determined to put through its demands. The men are not making extortionate demands, but they realize one thing and that is that they must be organized.

Central Alloy is a merger of the Central Steel Corporation of Massillon and the Alloy Steel Company of Canton and its policy is now to cut wages. The men recognize that if they do not get together in an organization they will not be able to fight back. They are organizing and will fight back.

'SOCIALISTS' IN SABOTAGE ROLE IN UNIONIZATION

Give Out Patriotic Leaflets

READING, Pa. (By Mail).—The campaign to organize the unorganized workers of Reading, launched by the "socialist" party members and officials of the Federated Trade Council, to a superficial observer would seem as a serious attempt to really organize the scores of thousand unorganized workers in Reading and vicinity.

A close observation, however, of this "join the union" drive, a careful study of the literature of the same, of speeches delivered, will reveal the nature and purpose of the campaign, that no real support is lent this campaign and that the policy pursued is that of trailing along, one of sabotage.

Any attempt at organizing the workers, if it is to be successful, must be based on the concrete issues and demands that arise from the very problems and conditions of the workers.

To attempt to organize the workers on issues that have nothing in common with the interests of the workers, as put forward in Reading by the "socialist" party members, such as "self respecting American citizenship," "boost Reading, for a better American city to live in," "unionism means peace and harmony in industry," "unionism is for the workers and not against anyone," and the like. This is, in reality, only bringing illusions and confusion into the minds of the workers. Such treacherous and anti-working class policy of the socialist official trade union leadership can be understood when we realize the fact that the "socialist" party is nothing but the third party of the capitalist class, the party that represents the interests of small business and professional people.

Instead we find the "socialist" party members and the trade union officials appealing to the workers to organize on the basis of what? In a leaflet, "What America Means," distributed at the open-air meetings, we read, "For one hundred and fifty years Americanization has meant equality of opportunity, for the poor as well as for the rich, for the worker as well as for the employer." And, "Trade unionism is to be self-respecting Americanism that carries over into industry the principles of democracy. That is why great Americans—presidents, judges, clergymen, priests—believe so strongly in labor unionism."

Thousands of New York Communists to Aid in "Red Week" Beginning Monday

WORKERS WILL HOLD TAG DAYS AUGUST 25 TO 26

Labor Organizations to Aid Collections

The week of Monday, August 20, designated as Red Week by the Campaign Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party, will be observed by many workers' clubs throughout the city by the suspension of their routine orders of business in favor of a much shorter one. Many workers' clubs have already signified their intention of sending their memberships out with collection lists to collect funds for the Workers (Communist) Party Election Campaign Fund after a short address on the importance of the 1928 elections, the vital issues at stake with respect to the exploitation and union-smashing policies of the capitalist parties. Other workers' clubs, which have not yet arranged for this abbreviated order of business are urged to do so by the Election Campaign Committee of District 2 of the Workers (Communist) Party.

"Never before in any election campaign," said the Campaign Committee in a statement issued last night, "has the similarity of both the democratic and republican parties been so evident as this year, with dyed-in-the-wool republicans on the democratic committee and staunch democrats who have served their party in many a crooked deal intending to cast their votes for Smith the strikebreaker. That is why many thousands of workers will this year actively support the campaign of the Workers (Communist) Party who have remained apathetic in previous campaigns."

While collection lists will be seen in every part of New York where workers live or meet all week, and thousands of pencils will write thousands of names on those lists along with thousands of contributions to the Communist Campaign Fund, the bulk of the money expected will result from the two Red Tag Days of August 25th and 26th. All workers of this city are urged to participate. Stations have been set up in every workingclass section of the city. To effectively carry on the Communist campaign thousands of leaflets will have to be distributed and funds for printing are urgently needed.

RANKS OF STEEL PICKETS SWELL

Meet Deportation Move With Longer Lines

(By a Worker Correspondent)

CANTON, Ohio, Aug. 16.—A picket line swelling day by day is the answer of the strikers in the Central Alloy Steel Corporation to attempts of the authorities to smash the walk-out of 500 men by seizure and detention of strikers on charges involving deportation proceedings.

Unterrified by the detention of six strikers by the immigration authorities the strike is continuing unabated with the five hundred chippers and grinders solidly organized in the Central Alloy Steel Mill Committee, and determined to spread the strike to the steel industry the country over.

Unable to prosecute them with a shadow of legitimacy, the authorities have been forced to relinquish two of the strikers detained. The remaining four, having passports, expect to be released within the next few days.

The cases of four men arrested "on suspicion" have been continued.

Attempts of the special steel guard to terrorie the pickets with guns and powerful lights blazing at night at every entrance to the mills have completely failed to affect the morale of the men.

Solidarity of all workers with the strikers in Canton was exemplified in the miners' relief meeting attended by 2,000 men and women in Nimisila Park, Tuesday night. Besides his plea for the miners, I. Amter, working class leader, urged the importance of carrying to a finish the struggle in which the men are now engaged with the steel corporation. Amter declared that the surrender to the corporation now means immediate reduction of wages, not only in Canton, but thruout the steel industry. His speech was enthusiastically received by the workers.

Strike leaflets were sold at the meeting and distributed on the picket line the following day.

of the court martial was from one to two years' imprisonment with loss of citizenship, tho this was not officially stated. "It concerns the United States army, not the newspapers," Major-General Brown is alleged to have remarked in this connection. "The newspapers had better forget it."

Investigating League.

While implying that they could not understand the action of Major-General Brown in this case, officers at the war department gave it as their unofficial opinion that the move was based upon secret investigation which the army intelligense service is taking into the activities of the Young Workers League at this time.

Brown is away on a tour of inspection and was unavailable to answer inquiries.

Efforts to determine the extent to which the military intelligence investigation has proceeded to date and the measure in which the civil authorities and those of the war department are cooperating the apprehension of Young Workers League members have remained unavailing so far.

Secrecy.

The same uncertainty shrouds all attempts to pierce the mystery of the present place of detention of John Porter. Normally, Porter would be expected to serve his sentence at the eastern branch of the United States disciplinary barracks at Fort Jay, Governor's Island, New York. It is long-term prisoners who are shipped to the main prison barracks at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

The papers in the Porter case, together major general Brown's request that the facts be not given to the newspapers, are on file in the war department. Under army regulations the sentence of a court martial must be made in open court.

ARREST 2 "REDS" IN QUAKER CITY

2 Young Communists Held for Speaking

PHILADELPHIA, (By Mail).—One member of the Young Pioneers here, and one member of the Young Workers (Communist) League were arrested Tuesday night while addressing an open-air meeting at the insistance of B. L. Butterbaugh, of 630 N. 40th St. and Lloyd Siliger, of 4028 Powelton Ave., who complained that the speakers were uttering "seditious statements."

The Young Pioneer is Benjamin Weiss. He is fourteen years of age and a student at a local high school. Thomas Pinsker, who is the League member under arrest, was chairman of the meeting. They are being held by the police for court at the Moyamensing Workhouse, prison.

Despite the arrest of the two young Communists other speakers of the League continued the meeting at another corner. The audience of workers at the open-air meeting was greatly incensed at the action of the police, it is reported.

The Workers' (Communist) Party has issued a statement denouncing the police terrorism and declared it would pay no fines to the court. It further stated that it will continue, as well the League, to hold open-air meetings.

Workers Mobilized.

In addition to these organizations the entire membership of the New York section of the I. L. D. has been mobilized for leaflet distribution duty. One hundred thousand leaflets printed in English, Italian and Yiddish, calling for a mass attendance at the demonstration will be distributed by Saturday. Two hundred fifty thousand circulars have been printed.

It is expected that the police department will have more than 1,000 uniformed cops on duty on the Square to see that "order" is maintained. Last August during the Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations the police employed machine guns, tear-bomb squads, armored motorcycles in "protecting" the mass demonstrations.

50,000 Workers To Attend.

Rose Baron, in a statement issued yesterday said: "All the agencies of so-called public opinion, the press, the movies and the radio are anxious to stifle every mention of the forthcoming Sacco-Vanzetti memorial meeting. The ruling class in America wants these two heroic names blotted out forever. The New York section of the International Labor Defense calls upon every militant worker in the city to make it his or her duty to attend this mass demonstration. The names Sacco and Vanzetti must never be forgotten; they must be watchwords ever reminding us of the fury of class justice here in America."

It is estimated that more than 50,000 New York workers will crowd the square on the day of the memorial meeting. The demonstration will start at 5 p. m. Wednesday, August 22nd.

Urge Women To Attend.

The Committee for work among women of the Workers (Communist) Party of America, District 2, in a statement issued yesterday, called upon the working women to show the capitalist class and their government at Washington that they remember the murder of Sacco and Vanzetti one year ago, by attending the memorial mass demonstration on Union Square Wednesday, at 5 p. m.

Coal Diggers Overcome in Vain Effort to Put Out Raging Mine Fire

AMSTERDAM, O., Aug. 16.—When a crew of miners entered the diggings of the Amsterdam Coal Company mine Wednesday in an attempt to put out a fire, Frank Browne was overcome by the fumes. He is reported to be in a very serious condition today.

According to reports received at the headquarters of the National Miners' Relief Committee, the blaze started after all the coal diggers had left the pit.

Although the company maintains that the fire was caused by crossed wires, its origin has not been officially ascertained. Unless the miners succeed in bringing the blaze under control, it may be necessary to seal up the mine and suspend operations.

John Maher, who drove Coney Island's only remaining cab, was knocked down and seriously injured by a motor car as he stood patting his horse, Betsy.

NUN IMPLICATED AS ACCOMPLICE IN OBREGON CASE

More Evidence Involves Mother Concepcion

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 16.—In the further investigation of Mother Concepcion, who is held as an accomplice in the assassination of Obregon, further testimony was produced that indicated that the nun was directly involved in the plot.

When Toral was taken to the nun's home shortly after the crime the first question he asked was: "Mother, are you ready to die with me?" The nun did not deny that she was the "intellectual author" of the crime and reconfirmed her opinion that the religious problem in Mexico could only be settled by the death of Obregon and Calles.

Leon Toral, assassin of Obregon, in a statement made from prison says that he is pained that the pope should reprove him for his noble deed and hopes that he will not be excommunicated from the Catholic Church.

FISHERS STRIKE IN NEW BEDFORD

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 16.—Inspired to resistance against the lowering of working standards by the heroic 18 week old strike of 28,000 textile workers, more than 250 unorganized fishermen abandoned the boats of the fishing fleet after employers announced a wage reduction.

The bosses attempted to reduce wages of the fishermen ten dollars less each trip, this cut meaning about $250 a year as 25 trips are generally made each year.

Though never organized, the example of struggle shown by the textile workers, contributed largely to the fishermen's immediate answer of "Strike."

William Brown, secretary of the Fishermens' Union is expected here today. He will attempt to establish a local union here.

More than half of the entire city's fishing fleet is tied up by the strike.

Smith and Straton—Birds of a Feather

"I will hire the largest hall . . . I am going to ask the mayor of New York and Mr. Smith, as governor, for all necessary police protection, and, if it should be necessary, military protection."

So says John Roach Straton in his debate with Al Smith as to whether there shall be a debate. The issue is whether Smith is of the spawn of Tammany Hall's organized crime, as Straton contends, or whether Straton is a cheap faker, a professional liar, as Smith contends. It is one of those cases where both contenders are correct in their contentions, as far as they go.

But the grandiloquent words of Straton about police protection and military protection if necessary, are only bunk. Of course Straton knows that Smith's Tammany police will give him complete protection, simply because the faking sky-pilot represents a section of the ruling class. It is only the spokesmen of the working class that Smith's Tammany thugs assault and blackjack and jail for speaking. Defenders of capitalism get protection from the same police thugs that assault those who attack capitalism.

Straton represents just as thoroughly as Al Smith does the filth and crime of the society which both of them uphold and defend. If Tammany Hall and its present leader, Smith, have grown powerful on the organizing of prostitution, gambling and graft, the Reverend Straton draws his own dishonest income from the same source—the difference being only in the directness. While Smith's contact is that of a leader and organizer of the thugs, finks, ward heelers and contractors through whom the prostitution, gambling and graft are organized at first hand, the Reverend Straton's contact is, so far as we know, only with the nice gentlemen at the top whose control over society is the cause of the degradation, crime and misery. The capitalist system of exploitation of the working class is the cause. Straton lives by lies that help keep the system alive, just as does the meanest fink of Tammany Hall. This dirty-handed hypocrite only helps to conceal the real cancer with his quack remedies which pretend to cure the symptom.

Straton is right in saying that Smith is a spawn of crime.

And Smith is right in suggesting that Straton is a sneaking hypocrite.

The workers and exploited farmers have the fundamental interest and necessity that runs counter to both these servants of capitalism—the necessity to abolish the foul and criminal capitalist system in which both Smith and Straton are but sewer-birds.

Work for the liberation of your class. Work and fight to create a new and free system of society without exploitation, without prostitution, crime and graft, without poverty and misery—and wihout Smiths and Stratons.

Join the Workers (Communist) Party. Vote Communist.

Fruit Companies Brew War

WALL STREET'S and Washington's fingers are now raking an odorous mess on the boundary of Honduras and Guatemala. One of the chief objects of the American money masters in Central America is to disunite the five republics (Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, El Salvador, and Costa Rica.) While it is the expressed desire of the peoples of all these countries to unify, American imperialism has kept them divided, in the interests of plunder and war.

The dispute over the Guatemala-Honduras border is in reality a contest between two American fruit companies, the United Fruit Company and the Cuyamel Fruit Company, both Wall Street enterprises. The Cuyamel Company is in Honduras, while the United holds sway in Guatemala. Both are trying to control valuable fruit lands. Each dominates a government and wants its puppet to have jurisdiction over the disputed lands.

Fruit Companies Fight.

For many years the United Fruit Company has virtually controlled Guatemala. Today it owns one fifth of the territory of that country. In 1913 the Cuyamel Fruit Company obtained a concession from the Hondurian government of 25,000 acres of land in the Motagua river district. The ownership of this territory has been in dispute for over 100 years between Guatemala and Honduras. When the Cuyamel Fruit Co. secured its grant, it started to improve the land and to build a 33-mile railroad in 1913.

Before starting work on its improvements, the Cuyamel sought to obtain permission from the Guatemalan authorities. Naturally, being United Fruit Company employees, they refused. Despite the action of its competitors, the Cuyamel started work but was forced to stop because of the armed intervention of the United Fruit Company's government. The Cuyamel Fruit Company, however, was allowed by Guntemala to construct just one mile of the railway.

In 1918 the entire dispute was submitted to a representative of the U. S. government, Mr. Roy T. [illegible], minister to Costa Rica. But no decision was reached. Obviously, the U. S. government, which is impartial to its imperialist proteges, would not decide between two American exploiters. The dispute is still unsettled. The United Fruit Company, which has a monopoly on the fruit business in Central America, is doing all its can to crush its competitor. It even will go to the extent of starting a war between Guntemala, and Honduras, in order to stamp out its rival.

All logic suggested that the question be referred to the Central American court. When this tribunal decided the dispute between Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras, and the United States over the canal rights in Nicaragua in favor of Costa Rica and Honduras and against the United States, the United States simply refused to recognize the action of the court.

Guatemala, that is, the United Fruit Company, is willing to accept the jurisdiction of the Central American court. Honduras declines to submit the rights of the Cuyamel Fruit Company to this body.

Seek to Destroy Rivals.

If the United Fruit Co. is the victor, it will mean that the Cuyamel will be cut off from any outlet to the Atlantic coast. In short, it will mean the end of this competitor of the United Fruit Co. If the Cuyamel wins, the United Fruit Co. will be restricted in its activities to the left side of the Motagua river.

The officials in each country are tools of the respective companies. Their "patriotism" has been aroused to warlike heights. Accusations of bribery have been hurled from both sides freely. The fact is that both fruit companies spare no expense in gaining their object. Even the labor unions are bought. The Guatemalan Federation of Labor addressed a letter to William Green in July, 1928, attacking the Cuyamel Fruit Co. as the instigator of the trouble, while at the same time it forgot to mention that the United Fruit Co. controls the political life of Guatemala, and without doubt, inspired the indigation of the Guatemalan labor fakers.

"Divide and Rule."

THE United States fears an independent Central America. It has thus far been successful in buying or forcing these various governments to abide by its will. In Nicaragua the imperialists meet with the resistance of Sandino and his forces. In a united Central America the task of suppression and murder would not be so simple as it has been in the past. The axiom of "divide and rule!" is the guiding principle of American domination of this Wall-Street-raped territory.

General Augusto C. Sandino, who many times has announced that his struggle against imperialism is not limited to the confines of Nicaragua, has written to the people of Honduras and Guatemala, calling on them to refrain from being incited to war for the pleasure of the two U. S. fruit companies.

In a letter to his friend, Froylan Turcios, editor of Ariel, in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Sandino says:

All in Danger of Imperialists.

"In the name of Nicaragua, of Honduras, of Guatemala, I ask all the people who have a clear understanding of the situation in Central America to try to avoid, by all means possible, any break among ourselves. You must make the people of Latin America understand that among ourselves boundaries should not exist and our duty is to take equal interest in the welfare of each of the countries of Spanish America, because we all share the same dangers from the colonizing policy of the Yankee imperialists.

"For example, the question of the boundaries between Guatemala and Honduras, between Honduras and Nicaragua; the canal dispute between Nicaragua and Costa Rica; the quarrel over the Gulf of Fonseca by El Salvador, Honduras and Nicaragua; the Tacna-Arica controversy between Peru and Chile. In this manner, important affairs of Latin America are tangled up without being settled among ourselves. The Yankee imperialists have studied us well and profit by our state of culture and our lightness of character to imperil us whenever it suits their interests.

"The Yankee imperialists are the worst enemies of our people. When they see us fired by patriotic inspiration, when we sincerely seek unification, they stir up from the depths our latent quarrels; they incite hatred among us that we may continue disunited and weak, and for that reason easy to colonize."

IMPERIALISM brings destruction, desolation and internecine struggle to Central America. Out of these countries they take a king's ransom in profits. By fighting the competitive battles of the contending Wall Street vultures the workers and peasants of these countries weld their chains about themselves tighter.

Only by eliminating U. S. imperialism in Central America can the political and economic problems of this scene of Wall Street's unnumbered crimes be solved.

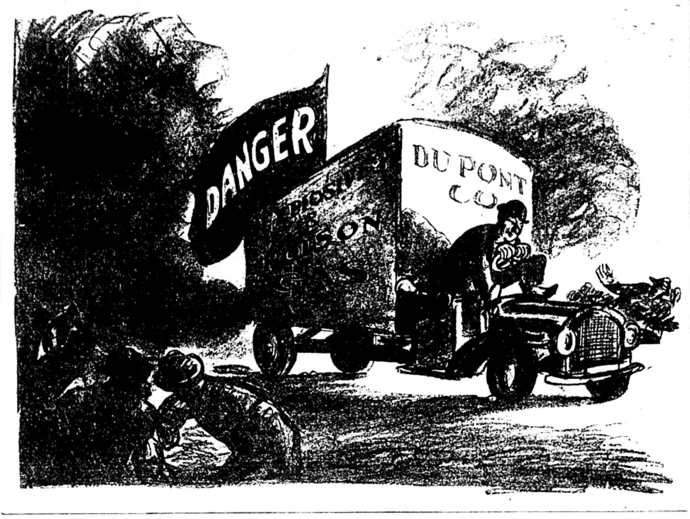
Scientist Reveals Deficiencies in Italia Preparation

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 15.—Professor Francias Behounek, Czech scientist who was on board the Italia when it struck the ice in the Arctic, is telling of his experiences in a series of interviews, which reveal the insufficient preparations made by the fascists for the Pole flight.

Cabins were overcrowded, bunks placed in corridors that obstructed the passage, impliments were imperfect. As a result the bearings taken were wrong and resulted in the failure of the rescue expedition to know the position of the wreck.

His story is especially interesting since Mussolini has forbidden Nobile or any of the Italian crew from talking about the event. Behounek has yet to tell about what happened after the crash.

THE DRIVER WITH THE BROWN DERBY By Fred Ellis



The Woman Worker in China

Slave 12 to 16 Hours a Day for Starvation Wage of 15 Cents

THE development of national industries and the growing penetration of foreign industrial and commercial capital in China is accompanied by the constant growth in the employment of women in industry. Particularly large is the growth in the employment of women's labor in the textile and tobacco industries.

Women 40 Per Cent of Workers

The women constitute 40 per cent of all the industrial workers in China. Out of 50,000 workers employed in the cotton and silk industries of the natives in 1926 there were 50 per cent women, whilst in the foreign mills, which are technically better equipped, the women constituted about 70 to 80 per cent. There is a whole number of factories employing exclusively the labor of women and children (in Canton).

The condition of the Chinese women worker is considerably worse than in the capitalist countries of Europe and America. It is worse than the condition of the Chinese working man, it is worse even under Chinese conditions which are characterized by political and cultural backwardness of the masses of the workers, by the abundance and cheapness of labor power, and by the atrocious exploitation of the workers by foreign and native capital.

Chinese Women Know No Rest

The Chinese working woman knows of no rest. She works the whole year round, day and night. In some provinces of China, under pressure from the workers, there were attempts made to establish holidays for working men and women on the days dedicated to the celebration of the Chinese New Year which usually lasts 7 to 10 days. This has not been achieved as yet.

Working Day 12 to 14 Hours.

THE working day of the working woman usually lasts in the up-to-date factories from 12 to 14 hours, and in less modern factories as long as 16 hours. In those factories where the women are virtually part of the machinery, not being allowed even an interval for partaking of food, the 12-hour day becomes more unendurable than the 16-hour day in the more primitive factories and in the home trades; in the latter the labor is less intensified and the women can allow themselves short intervals during work for food and rest.

In all the factories whether owned by native or foreign capital the employment of women and children on night work is permitted.

Since 1925 the Chinese trade unions have been carrying on a vigorous campaign for shorter, shorter hours, but little notice has been taken of their demands, and the women and children are frequently compelled to work even longer hours than the men, under the constant and vigilant eye of the supervisors. Should a working woman or child doze off for a while or work less strenuously on account of fatigue or sickness, the whip of the supervisor immediately falls upon the back of the unfortunate worker and the imposition of a fine is announced in a rough voice.

Abominable Condition.

From the standpoint of hygiene the working conditions in the factories are abominable. An American journalist, Agatha Harrison, thus describes a visit to one of the British cotton mills in Shanghai in 1923: "Hundreds of working women and children were tending the spinning wheels. It was three o'clock in the morning. Some of them fell asleep at their work from sheer fatigue, in a standing posture. The children of the working women were squatting close by. I saw with my own eyes how one of the children had its leg torn off by the machine, the child died on the spot from a profuse loss of blood, receiving no medical attention whatsoever." In the silk spinning mills of Shanghai the women work in unventilated furnaces in a hot and humid atmosphere which is so detrimental to their health that the women employed in those factories can be recognized by their peculiar palor and emaciated appearance.

No Privileges For Women.

THERE are no privileges for working mothers. Pregnant women keep on working day and night to the very last moment of childbirth. Frequently their bear their child whilst tending the machine, resuming work immediately after birth. The baby is either tied behind the back or put in a little basket near the machine, with the older brothers and sisters usually standing by. In the factories one may see working women nursing their children without interrupting their work.

In some of the Chinese provinces, as the result of numerous strikes, vacations of one or two weeks after childbirth have been established for working women; nevertheless the women, even if entitled, did not take advantage of the vacation. The place of the working woman going on vacation may be promptly taken by one of the thousands of unemployed women waiting outside the factory gates.

Whilst working under such unbearable conditions, the Chinese workers receive miserable wages, whilst the women receive two-thirds or one-half of the man's wages.

In Canton in 1927 the average minimum wage of a working man was 8 Mexican dollars a month, and the maximum was $25.50, whilst the average minimum wage for women was $7, and the maximum $15.36. No wages are paid to working men or women in case of sickness. It was declared by one of the employers of Canton before a commission appointed to investigate social questions in 1926: "When workers fall sick, they have to take care of themselves."

In other textile centers the working woman usually receives not more than 15 cents a day. In the factories of the Anglo-American Tobacco Company the women packers earn daily from 25 to 40 cents, and in the match factories about 20 cents a day.

In the factories of Tientsin the following rates of wages for working women exist (these data cover 6,357 working women of 25 factories):

	Less than 20c a day	From 20 to 40c	From 40 to 50c
Seasonal Wkr's	1,553	50	....
Permanent "	200	2,532	3,022
Total	1,753	2,582	3,022

Thus, the majority of the seasonal workers do not earn more than 20 cents a day, whilst the permanent workers do not earn more than 50 cents. On the whole, the average earnings of the Chinese woman worker are not more than 6-10 Chinese dollars a month, barely sufficing for an existence of semi-starvation.

Food of Rice and Soup.

IN the large cities of South China the food of the working woman consists of rice, soup twice daily, and boiled rice once daily. In Central and North China, where rice is considerably dearer, it is substituted by beans, maize, and wheat and flour boiled in water.

The earnings of the working woman do not allow the purchasing of clothes from new material; the working woman is usually clothed in old rags purchased from the second-hand dealers' stores, which are scattered all over industrial China.

On the average the earnings of the textile workers' family, if not less than 2 members of the family are working in the factory, do not exceed 12 Chinese dollars a month. At the same time, according to data by the trade unions for 1926, the indispensable living minimum for a working class family of 4 people in Hankow was not less than 28.46 Chinese dollars. Hence the textile workers' family earns only 50 per cent of the indispensable living minimum. The position of the working woman is further aggravated by the fact that virtually she never gets the full earnings.

System of Fines.

In the industrial enterprises of China, both national and foreign, the system of fines is widely used. Fines are imposed for failure to come to work, for slackness of attention, for talking to comrades, for laughing while at work. In the silk spinning mills of the Shantung Province there are 33 different varieties of fines: for being 6 minutes late a fine of 10 cents is imposed upon the working woman, an equal fine of 10 cents for washing up without permission, or for pausing at the machine. The working woman frequently has to part with one-half of her earnings in fines. Cases are not rare when she does not get any wages at all.

Besides fines there is also practiced the system of "security," which is held by the employer as a guarantee against pilfering, or clumsy and inaccurate work on the part of the working woman. The security is retained in the amount of three weeks earnings and is virtually never paid back to the worker.

Women Worker Flogged.

THE Chinese working woman is still suffering from the system of supervisors and overseers. The overseers flog the women and inflict corporal punishment for the least offense, considering them as their property. There are even cases of women being killed by the overseers who are carrying arms. Brutal treatment of working women by the overseers exists also in the foreign factories. The whip is never discarded. In 1926, in the course of a strike in the silk spinning mills in South China, a working woman was killed by a revolver shot fired by an overseer, because she had been elected by the workers to present a demand to the administration for a 20 per cent increase in wages.

CHINA WAR LORDS EXPLOIT MASSES

For ten years war has been going on unceasingly between the Chinese militarists and each day it becomes bloodier and more ruthless. Thus the Chinese masses find themselves in conditions of the most terrible oppression and exploitation. In the Changsi province, for instance, taxes from 1917 to 1928 increased more than 30 fold. Since the betrayal by the Kuomintang the groupings of inimical neomilitarists have become more complicated than ever before; there are supporters of Chiang Kai-shek, Pei Tson-si, Yen Si-chang, Feng Yu-hsiang, etc. Besides, the Kuomintang is incapable of uniting China—conflicts are ripening between the Kuomintang generals themselves. Therefore each of these adventurers are trying to get rich by exploiting the masses, who are completely ruined. The only way out of this position is to come out on the path of revolution.

We give below a list of those evils which the Chinese masses have to suffer as a result of the war between the militarists:

I. Political Position.

(1) The supreme power is in the hands of militarists; all regions are ruled by military chiefs.

(2) The right of meetings, freedom of speech and other elementary rights of the population have been annulled, especially for workers and peasants.

(3) The most barbarous punishments are practiced (eyes put out, ears cut off, etc.).

(4) The money-lenders and landlords help the militarists to exploit the peasants.

II. The Economic Position.

(1) All industrial enterprises, including those managed by the government, have been ruined (railway companies, cotton mills, etc.). Ammunition factories, however, are working successfully, and imperialist capital is spreading more and more in China, especially in Manchuria.

(2) The population is burdened by numerous taxes. The paper currency has completely depreciated, but the militarists force the merchants to accept it. The financial crisis has decreased the buying capacity of the masses; the workers have not received wages for a whole year. The peasant produce has decreased, and it is impossible to transport the products, as the means of transport have been disorganized. There is a shortage of food products in the town, and in the village great need is felt for industrial commodities.

(3) The Chinese merchants have been ruined (more than 1,000 shops in Peking have closed down), but the imperialists' goods are distributed in China. Great supplies of food from Japan arrive in Shanghai.

III. Public Education.

(1) More than eight-tenths of the schools all over China have been closed down (an extremely large number of elementary schools in the villages have been closed down).

(2) Public education does not exist, the former schools of this type have been closed down.

(3) Education imbued with the feudal spirit is comparatively flourishing.

(4) All civilization is dying out.

IV. Social Position.

(1) Banditism is spreading all over China, both in the towns and the villages.

(2) The unemployed peasants pour into the towns.

(3) Unemployment in the towns is increasing.

(4) Poverty causes numerous cases of suicide.

V. The Various Taxes.

(1) Taxes levied beforehand.

(2) Tax for the suppression of the Reds.

(3) Tax in aid of the militarists.

(4) Tax on things bought, amounting to two-fifths of sum expended.

Told You So

THE outstanding positive accomplishments of the G. O. P. administration are the invasion of Nicaragua and the slaughtering of thousands of the people of that country for daring to defend their rights against the American imperialists. The slaughtering of hundreds of Chinese workers at Hankow by shells fired from United States warships. The general advance of American imperialism thruout the world, accompanied by murder and oppression whenever the interests of Wall Street required "stern measures.' The use of guns, bombs, bayonets and injunctions against the American workingclass whenever they tried to better their conditions or fight for the principle of unionism by strike.

THIS is ony a short page of the indictment that could be drawn up against the republican party. And should anybody come to the conclusion after reading the foregoing that we entertain any hopes for better treatment from the democratic party should Al be elected, we simply point to the reign of Woodrow Wilson and his bloodhound Mitchell A. Palmer, attorney general, who had the streets of several cities treated to the spectacle of hundreds of men and women marching manacled to immigration detention points awaiting deportation because of their political opinions.

WE have no illusions about the democratic party and when Al Smith delivers his acceptance speech we shall have something to say in comment. The Al Smith who is endorsed by the Fascisti Alliance of North America cannot be a friend of the workingclass. The Al Smith who is alright for John J. Raskob of General Motors and General Motors cannot be alright for the workingclass. Lack of space prevents me from carrying this thot further today, but there will be other days, so we will hold something over, and we may repeat, since repitition if the life of propaganda.

BY way of comic relief, Bill Matheson, who is active in the mining fields of Illinois sent me a clipping with a Vancouver dateline which reads: "A nameless marine creature about six feet long, having an eel-like body and a head resembling that of a sheep, was on display at Provincial Police Headquarters here today as evidence of the existence of a sea-monster which many people have reported seeing in Lake Okanogan, in the interior of British Columbia." "Perhaps its Coolidge" hazards Bill. No Bill, not yet. Calvin will not have to turn himself into a man-eating hippopotamus or a Texas toad in order to get publicity until after the elections. And as for the description! All I will say is that a sheep's head is at least toothsome when properly cooked.

THE Consolidated Gas Company of New York and the Brooklyn Edison Company, amalgamated a few days ago despite the opposition of certain liberals who are still fighting the trustification of industry and supporting the political parties that keep the trust wheels greased. No sooner was the marriage ceremony performed by the Public Service Commission than the Consolidated Gas Company, the name adopted by the happy pair, declared a 100 per cent stock dividend.

THOSE who claim that the days of opportunity are gone in America are dripping. The members of the Public Service Commission were as anxious for the merger as a cannibal for a slice of baked Baptist. Party lines were disregarded, republicans and democrats rushing the ceremony with the haste of a village justice of the peace joining an eloping pair in wedlock, who were pursued by an angry parent, fortified by applejack and a sawed-off shot gun. There may have been a reason.

FAR be it from our purpose to undermine the moral underpinning of any prominent citizen, but if we were not what we are but instead looked on society as a fat goose to be plucked when the plucking was good, we should not think twice of accepting a baby carriage-full of stock in the spliced gas companies of New York and Brooklyn. After all, it is hard to get rich by working at it. And it is no more reprehensible to accept a bundle of stock certificates from a big hearted gas man than it is to rob one or one thousand workers of a part of the product of their toil in mill, mine or factory.

HOUSE of Morgan, United States Ambassador to Mexico, Dwight Morrow has again proved that he is a man of courage. Not being satisfied with risking his life by eating ham and eggs with Calles, he now gives further testimony to his hardihood by purchasing a home in a spot that is infested by bandits. Ah, a lucid interval! How could Morrow feel at home in an honest environment having lived so much of his life in that bandit's quarter, Wall Street? Bet, the Mexican highwaymen will park their legs when they arrive within a mile of his residence and crawl to his presence to swear fealty to their master and place their humble services at his disposal. As the bank messenger is to the treasurer so is a Mexican bandit to Dwight Morrow.

GITLOW CHALLENGES SMITH ON SACCO-VANZETTI MURDER

JAPANESE WAR PLOT SEEN IN MONGOL DRIVE

Section of Chinese Eastern Railway Seized

Japanese Send Arms

By EUGENE LYONS.

MOSCOW, Aug. 17 (UP).—Allegations that the Soviet, or the military authorities of the Sovietized State of Mongolia, are behind the seizure of a section of the Chinese eastern railway in Mongolia's present difficulties with Barga, were ridiculed in well-informed circles here.

It is generally believed the occupation is merely the result of a local uprising or one of organized banditry.

Russian "Whites" in Move.

It is also hinted that it is possible there is some Japanese or White Russian infulence behind the move. It is declared that the lack of more positive identity of those who occupied the section of the railway makes a clear interpretation of the incident more difficult, however.

Anti-Soviet Rumors.

Soviet newspaper correspondents at Harbin said today in their dispatches that the Japanese and White Russian newspapers have been publishing rumors of the concentration of Soviet troops in the neighborhood of Barga for some months. These reports are denied here.

"Suspicious" Affair.

Pointing out that the Japanese newspapers recently forecast an outbreak in the territory, the Soviet dispatches declared:

"It is suspicious that the Japanese press has known about the disturbances for some time and it is equally suspicious that the events in Barga have occurred at the precise time when Chinese-Japanese relations have become worse."

Arms From Japan.

The newspapers also emphasize the recent seizure of a carload of arms and munitions from Japan recently at Harbin enroute to Western Manchuria.

It is said here that it is possible previous shipments have succeeded in passing the Chinese-Russian frontier authorities and that this would explain the recent series of bandit raids along the eastern railway.

HARBIN, Manchuria, Aug. 17.—Reports received here state that Mongolian troops are moving along the Chinese eastern railway between the towns of Barim and Unur and have seized a section of the road.

CHINESE LABOR UNION AID URGED

Jeng Tells of Nanking Anti-Labor Tactics

Reports from China arrive daily describing the want and privation under which the Chinese people are forced to live. The workers are suffering through the suppression of their labor unions; the peasants through the unprecedented greed of the land-owners. Besides these internal instruments that hang over the heads of the Chinese people, the presence of foreign imperialist marines in China are used as instruments of intimidation and murder. The reactionary Nanking regime, born of the counter-revolution that betrayed the millions of Chinese peasants and workers, is slaughtering thousand upon thousand of militant Chinese workers, suppressing the labor unions, butchering their leaders.

KEY WEST, Fla., Aug. 17 (UP).—Charles Eggston, Atlantic City, N. J., was fatally injured when the Pan-American Airways plane President Machado fell into the Gulf of Mexico off Tampa last night, airway officials said today.

Eggston, a passenger on the plane, died aboard the tanker Legionnaire, which rescued those on the plane, a radio message to the airway offices said.

William T. Murdoch, leader of the New Bedford Textile Mill Committees from the beginning of the textile strike to date was recently released from jail where he had served a three months' sentence for activities on the picket line. TO HOLD DETROIT PICNIC SEPT. 2-3

Grand Rapids Election Outing Sept. 1, 2, 3

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 17.—The election campaign in the city of Detroit will be in full swing by September 2 and 3, when a big campaign picnic will be held. The picnic will mark the beginning of big meetings and demonstrations in the auto industry.

The Workers Party in Detroit is making all the necessary arrangements to get before the workers in the auto industry and to bring to them the platform of the class struggle. The picnic of September 2 and 3, which will be held at Welcome Park, Main and 15½ Mile Road, will also be used for the purpose of building up a strong mass demonstration for September 9, when the Communist presidential candidate, William Z. Foster, will speak. The campaign committee in charge of the election campaign in Detroit calls upon all workers and working class organizations to come out to the picnic and support and co-operate with it during the election campaign.

The picnic grounds can be reached as follows: Take "Clawson" bus at Ford plant, Highland Park, which will take you direct to the picnic grounds. Admission is 35 cents for two days.

Porto Rican Mayor Awaits Impeachment

SAN JUAN, Porto Rica, Aug. 17.—A citizen of Porto Rica has sworn charges alleging technical irregularities against Roberto H. Todd, mayor of the city, which resulted in the suspension of the mayor pending his impeachment.

Todd has been mayor for four consecutive terms and is the Republican National Committeeman for Porto Rica, backed by a coalition of republicans and socialists.

MILITANT MINER IS BLACKLISTED

Stephen Car Faces New Eviction Order

(Special to the Daily Worker.)

TRIADELPHIA, W. Va., Aug. 17.—Stephen Carr and his thirteen children are in danger of being evicted once more from the crowded, dingy shack which they call home, unless $18 in back rent is paid by the end of this week.

When the striking miners in the union fields called upon the coal diggers in the unorganized area to join their strike, Carr responded immediately. As a result, he has been blacklisted. Carr's wife and thirteen children have been put out of houses twice before, because he was unable to pay rent, since the strike began.

In the famous "airtight" injunction which closed the soup kitchen in Triadelphia and which forbade strikers even to speak to strikebreakers under pain of arrest, Carr's name was listed as president of the newly formed local. The list of names has served as a basis for the blacklist.

The relief committee urges that donations be sent to their headquarters that Carr and other blacklisted miners may be aided. The committee's address is 611 Penn Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

ARREST KENOSHA LEAGUE MEMBERS

Political Reasons Are Cause, Officer Admits

KENOSHA, Wis., (Delayed).—Samuel A. Herman and Ray Aholo, members of the Young Workers (Communist) League were arrested in this city on Saturday while addressing an open-air meeting.

At the same time that the league meeting was being broken up by the arrests of the speakers the Salvation Army was holding one of its "holy roller" meetings and was blasting the air with its religious songs.

The officer in charge stated that the league members had been arrested because of the political opinions expressed by them, when he was questioned as to why the Salvation Army people had not been arrested.

OIL BARONS IN CONFAB

Plan to Boost Prices at the Conference

LONDON, Aug 17 (UP).—A world conference on oil restriction was predicted today by the financial expert of the Evening Standard.

The writer said the conference would be called after "discussions" now taking place in Scotland between the three great oil magnates, Sir Henri Deterding, Walter C. Teagle and Sir John Cadman.

Sir Henry Deterding is director of Royal Dutch Shell; Teagle is head of Standard Oil of New Jersey and Sir John Cadman is chairman of the Anglo-Persian Oil Co.

The Evening Standard said well-informed persons consider the world conference on restriction of production as almost assured. The article continued:

"Naturally the trend of the discussions in Scotland is being kept as secret as possible but I am informed by an authority usually in close touch with oil affairs that all three leaders went to Scotland convinced of the necessity of restriction. There is little likelihood of

Communist World Congress Adopts Draft Program

'PROGRAM IS A WORLD PROGRAM FOR REVOLUTION'

Meet Is Unanimous; Bukharin Cheered by Delegates

Stress War Danger

(Wireless To Daily Worker.)

MOSCOW, August 16.—The draft program of the Communist International, introduced by Nikolai Bukharin, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Communist International, was unanimously adopted at the twenty-eighth session of the World Congress of the International.

A storm of applause greeted Bukharin when in expounding the program he declared, "The Congress should adopt the program which aims to unite the proletarian forces for the coming struggles. The program is a program for world revolution."

Social Democrats Disruptive.

Bukharin in his closing speech on the question of the draft program, declared, "The social democrats say that our program is disruptive, but facts will show the workers that we want unity whereas the social democrats are disrupting the mass organizations of the working class by expelling the Communists, etc.

"Abramovitch declares that the coalition policy means handing over the power of the Party to the workers. The action of all the so-

RAILROADS SEEK AID OF COOLIDGE

Want Intervention in Case of Strike

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 17.—Railroad managers of western roads on which a strike vote is now being taken have been making frantic demands on President Coolidge that he intervene in the situation to prevent the workers from going out, it was learned here today.

Coolidge has let it be known that for the present he does not plan any definite action and today expressed confidence in the special mediation board appointed by him some time ago to adjust disputes under the Watson-Parker law.

While Coolidge is now giving the impression that he will keep a "hands off" policy, it is almost certain that he will at the last moment carry out the bidding of the employers and use his efforts to drive back the railroad workers. The Watson-Parker law has a provision giving the president virtual control of the situation. Officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen while authorizing the taking of the strike vote, are known to be seeking a way to keep back the men who are overwhelmingly in favor of a strike in the wage dispute which has been postponed for nearly two years.

British Ry. Companies Use Workers Wages to Compete With Buses

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Out of the money taken from the railroad workers, due to the recent sell-out of Thomas, the "Big Four" a national combine, will lower week-end ticket prices in order to compete with the bus service, which it claims, is encroaching upon the profits of the railroads.

The bus companies counter by saying that they will also slash prices, which promises a rate war that may result in more wage cuts.

MILL STRIKERS THWART POLICE

Weisbord Addresses Two Meetings

NEW BEDFORD

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 17.—Suddenly varying its usual mass picketing in larger members by an additional form, the Textile Mill Committees' New Bedford Textile Workers' Union rendered helpless the police force, who for the past week had been under the mill barons' instructions to break up all picket lines, however small in size.

Instead of concentrating thousands at several strategic mills in the daily strike demonstrations as heretofore, the strike committee decided to have a smaller picket line at nearly every one of the 58 cotton manufacturing plants tied up by the strike.

Surprise Police.

At nearly every one of the struck factories a picket line of one or more scores of workers patroled the gates. The police were entirely unprepared for this.

Albert Weisbord, national leader of Textile Mill Committees, will speak here at the two strikers' mass meetings scheduled for tonight. Weisbord is now on a tour of all textile manufacturing districts in New England and other sections to prepare the various localities for the coming convention of mill workers' organizations, which will launch an independent national union. He will also go into conference with the local strike committee here and in Fall River upon his arrival, it is stated.

Two large and enthusiastic mass meetings of women workers heard Ray Ragozin, of the New York Working Women's Federation, deliver a speech in which she dwelt particularly on the role of women in the struggles of the working class. The proposal to organize a local section of the Women's Federation received spirited approval. Other speakers were Ellen Dawson, textile strike organizer, and Elsie Pulter of Boston.

Relief Urgent.

The Workers International Relief announced they will open two special food kitchens for children at either end of the city. Although they have been comparatively successful in extending the campaign for funds to further sections of the country, the relief organization announced they are in urgent need of funds, due to the increased applications coming in as the huge strike completes its eighteenth week.

INTEREST RISES IN 'DAILY' AFFAIR

With the huge International Costume Carnival of the Daily Worker at Pleasant Bay Park only two days off, active preparations are now being made at the park to handle the largest crowd that has ever visited there.

Great interest has been aroused by the announcement that the editorial staff of the Daily Worker will engage the editorial staff of the Young Worker in a mortal base-

Amundsen Is Alive, Krassin Crew Believes

STAVANGER, Norway, Aug. 17—The Soviet ice-breaker Krassin, after its heroic rescues in he Arctic Zone, is now undergoing repairs here in preparation for another trip into the Arctic in search of Amundsen and the six men that were lost with the balloon part of the Italia.

Commissar Oras is full of confidence that the men are still alive and is fully determined to find them. He points out that both Guilbaud and Dietrichson, pilots of the Amundsen seaplane are able pilots and must have reached the balloon party. They carried enough food and equipment with them to make life possible for a number of months. He thinks it possible that they exhausted their fuel supply and are now waiting for rescue from a world that has given up hope.

The Soviet flier Chukhnovsky also thinks that the men are alive and has determined to continue the search on board the Krassin.

4 STATES SWEPT BY FLOOD WATER

12 Drowned; Thousands in Danger

ATLANTA, Aug. 17 (UP).—Swollen rivers of Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia swept their flood waters down stream today, and new territory faced damage from a northward sweeping tropical storm—the second in a week.

At least twelve deaths were attributed to the storm as reports from stricken areas of the four states were received today.

Safety of thousands depended today on the stoutness of dams across river valleys.

Railroad service into Atlanta from the northeast was hazardous. The Southern Railroad reported fifteen minor washouts between Atlanta and Charlotte, N. C. It was estimated 100 highway bridges in the four states had been washed away.

Hundreds of persons were forced to flee as lowland homes were flooded.

The toll of life included three drownings in Virginia, two in South Carolina, three in North Carolina. The other deaths resulted from devastation of high winds.

MINE LEADERS FACE EVICTION

Four Avella Militants Threatened

(Special to the Daily Worker)

AVELLA, Pa., Aug. 17.—Eviction notices were served today upon the four local mine leaders of Avella by a deputy sheriff on behalf of the Avella Coal Company. Augus tCarmazi, superintendent of the Penobscot Mine operated by this company told the men that jobs are waiting for all strikers with the exceptions of William Hallam, Alex Park, Bill Harvey and Joe Sivert, who have led the strike in this camp since its beginning. The operators hope to break the resolve of the miners to retain their organization, by plucking off the leaders and ousting them from the community.

Within seven days, the blacklisted miners are told, they will have to vacate the company-owned houses. Unless the National Miners' Relief Committees comes to their aid, tehir household goods will be thrown into the roadside, and their families will find themselves without a roof over their heads, and without food. Even the vegetable gardens which the miners carefully cultivated, and looked forward to supplement their meager fare with, will be confiscated.

The relief committee urges that contributions be sent to its headquarters, 611 Penn Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa., so that these blacklisted militants may be aided.

Mexican Professor Shows Penetration of U. S. Imperialism

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 17.—At the discussions of the Inter-American Institute today Professor Jesus Silva Herzog disagreed emphatically with the American, Dr. Eysler Simpson, who claimed that no political danger follows from imperialism.

Political imperialism, he said, is the resultant of economic imperialism, and he pointed out that after every North American merchant goes his flag and that after commercial interests are created political penetration follows.

DARIEN, Conn., Aug. 17.—(UP).—A meeting of the Police Commission last night resulted in no action regarding the alleged disappearance of 10 gallons of confiscated liquor from the police station. Officials continued refusal to comment.

TO HONOR DEAD SEAMEN

USSR May Inter Crew of British Sub

LENINGRAD, Aug. 17.—The crew of the sunken British submarine L-55, which has been raised by the Soviet navy after lying at the bottom of the Baltic Sea for nine years, will be buried with appropriate military honors, R. A. Muklevich, commander of the Soviet fleet, announced today.

"Though these sailors were our enemies," he said, "the Red seamen bear them no malice. Unless the British government desires to make other disposal of them we will bury these men with military honors."

The submarine was sunk in battle June 4, 1919, having been sent to the Baltic as part of the imperialist expedition which attempted to crush the Russian revolution and the Soviet Union.

LONDON, Aug. 17 (UP).—The British admiralty is applying to Soviet Russia for return of the bodies recovered from the lost submarine L-55, it was said on reliable authority today.

ASKS CANDIDATE OF WALL ST. TO STATE POSITION

Communist Nominee, in Letter, Exposes Al's Role

Kept Mum Last Year

In an open letter to Gov. Smith, Benjamin Gitlow, Communist candidate for vice president, challenges the democratic presidential nominee to state his position on the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti in his acceptance speech, which will be delivered on Aug. 22, the anniversary of the execution of the two Italian labor leaders in Charlestown, Mass.

Gitlow will speak at Sacco-Vanzetti memorial meetings on August 22, and declares that he will "use the anniversary of Sacco and Vanzetti's execution to arouse the hatred of the masses to the vile system of capitalist frame-up and murder of innocent workers, and to mobilize them to fight to end it."

Text of Letter.

The letter reads:

"August 17, 1928.

"Honorable Alfred E. Smith,
"Governor of state of New York,
"Albany, New York.

"Dear Sir:

August 22 will mark one year since Sacco and Vanetti were electrocuted by the state of Massachusetts. These two workers were absolutely innocent of the crime for which they were executed. The state of Massachusetts ignored and defied the mighty protest of the hundreds of millions of people in all the countries of the world, who demanded that the judicial murder of these two innocent workers should not take place.

"The United States government, in the face of the widespread protest movement in this country as well as abroad, refused to interfere and sanctioned this outrageous, brutal execution.

Protests Ignored.

"Never in the history of the whole labor movement did a capitalist power fly so brazenly in the face of such a widespread demand as that of the millions of workers and peasants throughout the world who raised the cry for the release of Sacco and Vanzetti.

"The United States government, by its action in the Sacco-Vanzetti case, proved conclusively to the workers and farmers of America and the whole world that as the government of Wall Street, of the bankers and super-trusts, it will commit the vilest and most atrocious deeds against the labor movement in order to protect capitalist profits and investments.

Bloodthirsty Imperialism.

"The Sacco and Vanzetti case exposed United States imperialism in all its savage nakedness and bestiality. This imperialism, fattened with the blood profits of the world war, is depriving workers of the right to organize, is smashing their unions, is jailing hundreds of workers fighting wage-cuts in Massachusetts, keeps Mooney and Billings in prison, uses the government as a strikebreaker, orders militia and troops against striking workers, crushes the movement for independence in the Philippines, rapes Nicaragua, butchers Haiti, sends warships and troops to crush the Chinese Revolution, and refuses to recognize the Soviet Union, the first Workers' and Peasants' Republic in the world: This imperialism is preparing for a world war, which it will provoke in order to guarantee the foreign investments and enterprises of Wall Street.

"This imperialism of the United States that murdered Sacco and Vanzetti is preparing for the slaughter of millions of workers and farmers in an imperialist war for Wall Street.

Challenges Smith.

"The workers are, therefore, on

Soviet Union Crew Salvages L-55, British Submarine, Sunk in 1919 by Destroyer

UNDERSEA BOAT PLANNED ATTACK ON RED WARSHIPS

Entire Crew Lost, Is Indication

By EUGENE LYONS.

MOSCOW, Aug. 17 (UP).—An almost forgotten tragedy of the world war was brought to light today through the recovery from the bottom of the Baltic Sea of the rusted hulk of the lost British submarine L-55, and the crumbling skeletons of some of her crew.

The fate of the L-55 never was known in detail, but an official government announcement here today said examination of the hulk led to the belief that every member of her crew perished when she was sent to the bottom by a Russian destroyer on June 4, 1919.

The L-55 was salvaged by the Russians and taken to the Kronstadt base. The official announcement said unidentified skeletons were found in the inner compartments of the submarine. The number was not given, but it was not believed that any of the submarine's complement escaped.

Planned Attack on Soviet.

Official information here in Moscow gave details of what happened to the L-55 during the Baltic Sea operations after the Armistice. On June 4, 1919, the fort at Kronstadt reported a fleet of four English minesweepers in Kaprosky Bay, with a submarine periscope showing near them.

The Russian destroyers Agart and Gavril were sent in pursuit. Shots were fired at the periscope. An explosion followed and the submarine appeared no more.

The war department announced it was studying the rusted hulk to determine the conditions under which the L-55 sank.

CHINESE LABOR UNION AID URGED

from China, are bloody and horrible. Pictures of Chinese worker-leaders, decapitated, lying in pools of blood; pictures of militant, hanging from posts, their bodies horribly mutilated by the reactionary forces; all these show the need for aid more eloquently than mere words can.

These conditions form the text of a letter from Sou Chao Jeng, chairman of the All-China Federation of Labor Unions, which last night was issued in pamphlet form by the Committee to Aid the Chinese Trade Unions, from its office at 96 Fifth Ave., room 314. The letter, which appeals to workers all over the world to come to the aid of their Chinese comrades, reads, in part, as follows:

"Again and again, from the deep underground into which we have been driven by the united counter-revolution of the Chinese capitalist landlords and militarists, and the imperialist robbers, we address to you our ardent appeal for aid.

"We realize that all measures will be taken by our government and your to prevent our groans and cries of anguish from reaching you. They understand that you would not be likely to look on calmly at the pain and suffering of your Chinese brothers. We know that this appeal will also reach you with considerably delay and great difficulty.

"We have been cruelly deceived by our bourgeoisie; having disposed of the northern militarists with our aid, having captured the Yangtze region, having occupied Shanghai and Hankow, they decided to put an end to us. They betrayed the common struggle of the Chinese people and offered their services to your governments, and together with them they have been destroying and drowning in rivers of blood the workers' and peasants' movement during these last fifteen months.

"We are firmly convinced that you will come to our aid and that you will help us in our struggle for right, life and liberty, against the entire counter-revolutionary bourgeoisie.

"We rely upon your fraternal solidarity and your fraternal aid. The cup of patience of the Chinese people is becoming filled. The Chinese peasantry is rising again, while the soldiers refuse to take up arms against the people and go over to the side of the toilers.

"Help us in our struggle and thereby you will also fight against the menace of a new world war."

The appeal is signed by Sou Chao Jeng, chairman of the All-China Federation of Labor Unions. Funds for the relief of the Chinese workers should be sent immediately to the Committee for the Aid of the Chinese Trade Unions, Robert W. Dunn, secretary, at 96 Fifth Ave. Room 314.

COMMUNIST DRAFT PROGRAM APPROVED

cial democratic ministers in Russia from 1917 onwards, however, showed that they served the interests of the bourgeoisie exclusively against the proletariat. The social democrats declare that we are provoking war because we discuss its possibility and warn the workers against it. (Laughter.) Our program is against the imperialist war, for proletarian class unity, against the capitalists and social democrats and for socialism.

Continues Marxism.

"Leninism is not an addition to Marxism but its continuation and development. Lenin did not introduce one atom that was not Marxist into the theory of the proletarian Revolution. In opposing the reformist nonsense concerning 'Asiatic Communism,' we declare that Leninism is the most orthodox Marxism.

"It is impossible to deal in this speech with all the problems discussed in the commission, but Sultansade's attacks regarding finance capital must be answered. Sultansade thinks he is attacking Hilferding, but in reality he is attacking Lenin who held the same view regarding the origin of finance capital.

"With regard to the problem of ultra-imperialism, it would be wrong to deny entirely the possibility of a world-wide trust. However, its affirmation is only possible when the class struggle is ignored. Ultra-imperialism is impossible in practice. By supporting the League of Nations, the social democrats are fighting for ultra-imperialism.

"The draft program stresses the parasitic sides of capitalism, these parasitic sides, however, are not decisive. Capitalism will not collapse in consequence of parasitism but as a result of the intensification of contradictions leading to conflicts. Our program must deal in detail with this in order to refute the social democratic idea of an organized, non-anarchist capitalism. The social roots of reformism have varied bases. The aristocracy of labor is not explained simply by colonial surplus profits but also by the capitalist differential profit, for example: when a highly developed country, like the United States, can exploit backward countries on the basis of a simple commodity exchange.

"The United States pockets the best part of the world's surplus profit today, hence the American proletariat is the most conservative in the world.

"The decline of British capitalism resulted in the decline of the influence of the reformists. The peculiarity of imperialism is that it first lays the basis for the social imperialist ideology and afterwards smashes that basis by intensification of its own contradictions.

Fascism.

"The discussion on fascism showed two extreme divergences; first there is a tendency to describe all attacks on the workers as fascism; second there is the declaration that fascism is impossible in highly developed countries. The truth, however, is that fascism is a special form of reaction characterized by the utilization of the petty bourgeois peasant masses appearing at a certain stage of capitalist decline. Therefore there is no fascism in the United States and only the beginnings of it in Great Britain.

"Regarding the relations of the social democracy with fascism: undoubtedly the former is developing towards social fascism, but there are only tendencies and not a finished process. Fascism and social democracy must not be identified.

Land Nationalization.

"Regarding the question of nationalization of land, Renaud Jean has discovered a contradiction between the non-immediate nationalization of all land and the immediate prohibition of sale and purchase of land. Actually no such contradiction exists. The proletarian revolution cannot afford to make enemies of the peasants by immediately nationalizing all land and it protects the peasants from speculators by prohibiting the sale and purchase of land. The rich estates will be expropriated, the peasant farms will not be. The latest investigations of Riasanov show that Marx had the same opinion on the peasant question as Lenin.

"Regarding the questions of war Communism and NEP, Varga's attitude results from the fact that he underestimates the serious mistakes of the Hungarian Communist Party during its dictatorship. The proletarian dictatorship in Hungary gave the peasants nothing and antagonized them by requisitions and leaving landholders behind on their estates as specialists. The dictatorship also antagonized the petty bourgeoisie by threatening to shoot tradesmen who opened their shops. A recent article of Varga's declared that even if the leaders of the Hungarian proletarian dictatorship had made no mistakes, defeat would have been inevitable from the given circumstances. This represents a serious underestimation of the errors of the Hungarian Communist Party. In consequence of its attitude to the peasantry and the petty bourgeoisie, the dictatorship of the proletariat antagonized the majority of the population. If the dictatorship had given the peasants something, it could have found a means of demoralizing the opposing armies which were largely composed of peasants. Nevertheless the probability exists that in the first stage of the dictatorship of the proletariat war Communism will be adopted.

N. E. P.

"Some comrades are of the opinion that highly developed countries may skip over the NEP and refer to a remark of Lenin's. Lenin did make some such remark, but at the third congress he referred to Britain as the only possible exception. Lenin also approved the draft program at the fourth congress. It is unthinkable that Lenin would have permitted a serious error in the NEP policy to pass without criticism."

JAPAN WORKERS URGE SOLIDARITY

Ask All to Support the Chinese Revolution

Pointing out that the workers and peasants of Japan have no quarrel with the workers and peasants of China, the Japanese Workers' Association, through its affiliations in numerous cities in America, has distributed a leaflet printed in Chinese declaring solidarity with the oppressed Chinese masses.

"The Tanaka government in Japan represents the landlord and big capitalist elements," the leaflet declares. "These are the elements that have sent additional troops to Shantung with the real purpose of crushing the workers and peasants revolution in China. And these same elements grind the energy and flesh of Japanese workers and peasants into bloody profits."

Pledging support to the mighty Chinese revolution, the leaflet further states:

"Fellow Chinese workers! We extend our hands to you. Let us unite our forces in China, in Japan, and here in America! Let us work together for the success of the Chinese workers' and peasants' revolution in order to emancipate you from the yoke of foreign imperialism, from the brutal clutches of war lords and landlords, and in order to emancipate us from the exploitation of Japanese imperialists and capitalists."

Downtown Conference of Workers Clubs on Party Election Drive

Many downtown workers' clubs, sick and death benefit societies and fraternal organizations are expected to participate in the Downtown Election Campaign Conference which will be held Friday, Aug. 24, at 60 St. Marks Place.

The conference, which, according to report made by A. Milgrom, who is handling the election campaign for the Workers (Communist) Party in that section, will be representative of many nationalities and many trades, will elect a functioning Executive Committee to actively further the election campaign of the candidates of their own class. Concrete help will be given by the workers of these clubs in the gathering of signatures as well as in the collection of the necessary campaign funds.

All workers' organizations are urged to elect two delegates each to represent them at the conference.

SCAB BOSS IN STEAL.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug 17 (FP).—Louis Taback, non-union silk boss, will spend the next 12 months in Atlanta penitentiary. He counselled owners of the Franklin Silk Mills to secrete $25,000 of silk, throw their company into bankruptcy and then cash in on the hidden silk. With him go three other non-union bosses. It is Taback's second offense.

Among the speakers at the mass meeting will be Benjamin Gitlow, Charles Zimmerman and well known needle workers. Rose Wortis will preside.

REFORMIST WAR SCHEMES FLAYED

German Reds Demand Referendum

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—The intention of the Social-Democratic controlled cabinet to continue with the naval building program to the limit provided by the treaty of Versailles, in spite of its expressed admiration of the Kellogg pact, has roused much comment and criticism from conservatives and liberals alike, which may lead to a crisis for the cabinet of Dr. Meuller.

The conservatives point out that inspite of the election promises of the reformists, the socialist cabinet is continuing military and naval preparations. One armored cruiser, costing $20,000,000 has already been built, and five others of the same size will be built.

In order to meet the reformist criticism in its own ranks the Social Democatic Party is calling a conference for Saturday in which the best means of meeting the criticism and organizing a strong coalition will be discussed.

NEGRO PREJUDICE IS ASSAILED AT BIG MEETING

Speakers Attack Judge for Discrimination

At the meeting called by the Boro Civic Association of Brooklyn at 1658 Fulton Street to protest against the anti-Negro attitude of the judge at the recent trial of Mrs. De Luca, Henry Roseman and Ben Licht of the American Labor Negro Congress were warmly received by the audience when they called for solidarity of the Negro and white workers against exploitation.

The speakers pointed out that at the trial of Mrs. De Luca, a white woman, the judge declared that she had no business to live among Negroes, since it is impossible for white and colored people to live together. When the lawyer, Mr. Serrio, doubted the word of the prohibition agent the judge declared, "In my section of the country had you made any such accusation against an officer of the law he would smash you before you got out of the courtroom, or if he had sufficient self control to wait until he got outside, he would have taken personal vengeance upon you regardless of consequences."

Roseman and Licht explained the policy of the Negro Labor Congress which was aimed at the wiping out of all exploitation. A resolution, providing for a meeting of all Negro organiations in the near future was passed.

German Communists Demand Referendum on Social Democratic Navy Appropriation

TO CARRY ISSUE TO WORKERS FOR CONDEMNATION

War Preparation Raises Protest Storm

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—The Communist Party of Germany has met the treachery of the social democratic vote for the battleship appropriation with demand for a national referendum on the issue.

The action of the Communist Party has brought vividly before millions of German workers the policy of treason to which the social democratic leaders stooped in order to win the support of the Catholic and People's Parties.

The vote for the battleship appropriation, following the pacifist phrases which played so large a part in the electoral success of the social democrats, has raised a storm of protest from one end of the country to the other. It is believed that the Communist Party will have no difficulty in mobilizing the ten per cent of the electorate which is necessary to approve the referendum.

The revulsion which has swept over the country in respect to the social democratic party is unprecedented. Crowds of workers pass the social democratic headquarters booing and shouting, "What about the battleship appropriation and food for the children." The latter refers to the slogan, "Food for the children, but not a cent for armament" with which the social democrats rode into power.

GITLOW QUIZZES SMITH ON SACCO

Sends Letter Asking Stand on Murders

the anniversary of Sacco and Vanzetti, not only raising anew their mighty protest against judicial frame-up and murder, but also using the occasion to develop a mighty movement against United States imperialism.

"Honorable Mr. Alfred E. Smith, I know that you as Governor of New York State did not ever raise a whisper in behalf of Sacco and Vanzetti in order to prevent their execution, I nevertheless challenge you in your acceptance speech, which you will deliver on August 22, the anniversary day of the Sacco and Vanzetti execution, to speak on the Sacco and Vanzetti case and to register your disapproval of that outrageous legal extermination of the lives of two brave, innocent, loyal members of the working class.

"It may be difficult for you to do so, since your presidential aspirations are in the hands of one of the leading figures of Wall Street, Mr. Raskob, former financial head of General Motors, one of the great super-trusts of the United States.

Controlled by Big Business.

"I doubt whether you will be able to divorce yourself from the control of Wall Street, from big business, which you have again and again promised to serve loyally, if elected president of the United States, and give some expression of protest against the execution of innocent workers because of their activity on behalf of labor and their devotion to the working class.

"I know also, Mr. Smith, that your Tammany Hall administration in the state and city has never been friendly to the workers. The brutality of the police in strikes, the partiality of Tammany Hall judges, the injunctions issued against striking workers all attest to your loyalty to the capitalist interests who are now supporting your campaign for election to the presidency of the United States.

"The Workers Party and its candidates, Mr. Smith, will not remain silent on the anniversary of Sacco and Vanzetti. They will appear at all Sacco and Vanzetti anniversary demonstrations, because the Workers Party is the champion of the workers and not of Wall Street.

Gitlow to Address Meets.

"I will speak at Sacco-Vanzetti memorial demonstrations that will be held on August 22. I will do whatever I can, as vice presidential candidate of the Workers (Communist) Party, to use the anniversary of Sacco and Vanzetti's execution to arouse the hatred of the masses to the vile system of capitalist frame-up and murder of innocent workers, and to mobilize them to fight to end it.

"Governor Smith, will you in your acceptance speech present your views of Sacco and Vanzetti? I challenge you again to do so. The workers and farmers are intensely interested. They would like to hear what you have to say.

"If you remain silent as you have in the past, then the conclusion must be made that as a capitalist politician, a servant of Wall Street, you favor capitalist frame-ups of innocent workers leading to their execution.

"Yours truly,
(Signed) "Benjamin Gitlow."

ANTHRACITE IN ELECTION RALLY

Gitlow to Speak in Wilkes-Barre

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Aug. 16.—The Workers (Communist) Party, anthracite subdistrict, will open the Party presidential election campaign here on September 1, with a red letter day.

In connection with the same a picnic, which will be addressed by Benjamin Gitlow, vice-presidential candidate on the Party ticket, will be held on the same date at Sans Souci Park.

Great interest is being shown by workers and by sympathizers of the Communist Party in the mass campaign picnic. For this reason it is expected that the rally will be a huge success. The Party will make special efforts to prove to the hard-coal miners that they will aid them in all their struggles.

An endorsement conference of labor organizations of the Party program will be held here on August 26th. At this conference an enlarged campaign committee will be elected to direct the open-air meetings, leaflet distributions and other campaign efforts to reach the hard-coal miners.

Workers Party Urges Women to Take Part in Sacco-Vanzetti Meet

The committee for work among women of the Workers (Communist) Party, District 2, in a statement issued yesterday calls upon all working women and workers' wives to participate in the Sacco and Vanzetti memorial demonstration to be held in Union Square, at 5 p. m. August 22.

"The working women must remember," the statement says, "that the Sacco and Vanzetti murder was not the first black deed perpetrated on the working class in America, and will not be the last. They must realize that the murderous hand of capitalism will always reach out to destroy the truest leaders of the workers. Only organization and solidarity among the workers and working women can make the murderous hand of capitalism powerless."

Will Increase Power of Fascist Pilsudski

WARSAW, Aug. 17 (UP).—A revision of the constitution which in some particulars would emulate the United States constitutional provisions, is contemplated by the government, it was learned reliably tonight.

The changes, vesting greater power in the president, probably will be presented to the Sejm (parliament) in the form of a bill.

It was understood that the bill definitely will be drafted after conferences which General Pilsudski is scheduled to hold with party leaders prior to his vacation in Southern Rumania. Pilsudski will leave here August 25.

AUTOMOBILE--NEW GIANT

Largest Industry Drives to World War

By BEN LIFSCHITZ

One of the most important accomplishments in the production of cars is the gradual shortening of the production cycle.

The cycle of Ford manufacture begins in the iron and coal mines, follows Ford owned transportation routes and includes the conversion and fabrication of the materials until completed Ford products are placed in the hands of the customer.

During the period of business depression in 1920, the Ford production cycle was cut from 21 to 14 days. It has been now further reduced to approximately 52 hours. Of these 52 hours, 15 are consumed in shipping and handling. Even this record-breaking cycle is often shortened.

The Ford Motor Company employs approximately 150,000 men in the U. S. and about 8,000 abroad, exclusive of Canada.

The Ford Motor Company is producing passenger cars, Fordson tractors and the Lincoln motor car, which it acquired in 1920.

2. General Motors Corporation.

The General Motors Corporation was incorporated October, 1916, succeeding the General Motors Company, which was organized September, 1908.

General Motors does not produce all of the raw material used for the manufacture of its cars. However, the production facilities of the car manufactring divisions have been materially expanded. They were gradually adding units and subsidiaries one after another.

During 1924 the Corporation manufactured approximately one car in every six produced in the United States and Canada. In 1925 this was increased to one car in every five. In 1926 a gain to somewhat better than one car in every four was made and in the year 1927 the Corporation produced 44 cars out of every 100 or a little less than one out of every two. The sales of the Corporation during the year under review represented by far a greater aggregate value and a greater number of total units than those of any other automobile manufacturer in the world.

The following tabulation shows the sales of General Motors cars by dealers to users which is approximately the number of cars produced in the years:

1920	393,075
1921	214,799
1923	798,555
1924	587,341
1925	835,902
1926	1,234,850

The year 1927 resulted in still a new record for General Motors. There were manufactured and sold at retail to users at home and abroad, through branches, distributors and dealers, 1,554,577 cars. This exceeded the previous record year, 1926, by 338,751 cars or an increase of 27.9 per cent. It is particularly interesting to note at this point that due to unusual circumstances prevailing during the year under review the total production of passenger cars and trucks for the United States and Canada declined 20.7 per cent., as compared with the previous year. The corporation's sales, excluding all inter-company items, amounted to $1,269,519,673, an increase of $211,366,335 or 20.0 per cent. over the previous year.

General Motors Corporation is primarily an operating concern owning the plants, properties and other assets of its manufacturing operations, which are designated in this list as divisions. It is also a Hold-Company, owning part or all of the capital stock of other companies connected with its activities. It produces the following cars: Buick, Cadillac, and LaSalle, Chevrolet Motor division, including subsidiaries, Oakland and Pontiac, Oldsmobile. It also produces Yellow Coaches and Yellow Cabs. It also controls the Fisher Body Corporation, with 44 plants, in all important centers of the United States and Canada; Fleetwood Body Corporation, Ternstedt Manufacturing Company, the National Plate Glass Company and Fisher Lumber Corporation. It also controls a number of accessory plants where accessories and parts are made.

The General Motors also maintain a number of assembly plants in all important centers of the world.

Very material expansion took place during the year in the Corporation's business in all overseas countries. The Corporation's overseas sales aggregated 193,830 cars and trucks in 1927. This exceeded the previous record year, 1926, by 75,039 cars, an increase of 63.2 per cent. During the year additional assembly plants have been added at Osaka, Japan, Batavia, Java; and Stockholm, Sweden. At the present time, a total of 20 assembly plants and warehouses are in operation, as indicated by the list shown on page 23, and more than 13,000 employes are engaged in the corporation's overseas activities.

Number of employees.

The General Motors Corporation now employ over 175,000.

3. Chrysler-Dodge.

The enlarged merged company will rank as the third largest motor enterprise in the world, having total resources of about $175,000,000 working capital of 80,000,000 dollars, capacity for 700,000 cars and trucks annually. This company will employ 12,000 dealers with a gross business of $500,000,000 a year and potential earning power from 40 to 50 million dollars a year. It will have 35,000 employees.

Have We Reached the Saturation Point in the Automobile Industry?

When we examine annual production and wholesale value of the automobile industry in the post-war period, 1919-1926, we see (with the exception of 1921, 1924 and 1927) a steady trend upward.

Annual Production and Wholesale Value:

Year	Cars and Trucks	Wholesale Value
1919	1,974,016	$1,885,112,546
1920	2,204,947	2,232,420,323
1921	1,660,082	1,258,776,550
1922	2,665,624	1,787,122,708
1923	4,079,992	2,582,398,876
1924	3,606,815	2,318,249,632
1925	4,312,456	2,957,386,637
1926	4,428,286	3,163,756,676
1927	3,537,671	2,700,705,743

The year 1921 was a year of industrial crisis, 1924 and 1927 were years of partial industrial depression. These figures indicate the fact that the automobile industry fluctuates with general industrial activity.

However, we must note the upward trend in the direction of the motor truck and motor bus which will make up for some of the downward trend in the production of passenger cars, also the fact, that the "captains of industry" are working very hard to expand their export trade, as shown by the last report of the General Motors.

Taking all facts into consideration, we can say that the automobile industry has not reached the bottom of production, but it is undoubtedly approaching the saturation point.

Three factors are working in that direction:

1. The general condition of American industries, such as mining, textile, shoe, already undergoing a slump. Stiffening competition from the European international trusts has already resulted in great unemployment here numbering about four million. This, the figures have shown in recent years, will have a marked effect on the automobile industry.

2. Sharpened competition in the automobile industry from abroad, especially from British manufacturers. The British automobile industry has launched an intensive campaign to hold its own against an expected new offensive from American automobile manufacturers. "Buy British cars and be proud of it," is the slogan credited with having put the home industry on its feet, but coupled with this is the 33 1-3 per cent. import duty on foreign cars and the one pound sterling annual tax per horsepower. This latter weapon undoubtedly put a crimp in American sales, as the annual tax on a Ford, for instance, amounts to more than a hundred dollars.

3. The replacement market does not represent 100 per cent. of the wholesale value. You will note on the diagram, that the replacement is steadily growing, but we must bear in mind that this replacement market is being artificially stimulated and does not represent 100 per cent. of the full wholesale value. All of the automobile concerns, especially those of higher priced cars, are giving quite substantial allowances for the old cars, sometimes running as high as 25-30 per cent. The automobile concerns hardly make any use out of these cars. This is an indirect form of reducing the price in order to stimulate sales.

MARINES PATROL FRENCH COLONY

Six Officials Killed in Guiana

PARIS, Aug. 17.—French marines rushed from Martinique are attempting to crush by force the disturbances which have broken out in French Guiana, following the suspicious death of Jean Galmot, a prominent political figure in the colony, according to dispatches from Cayenne, the capital.

The disturbances are alleged to have resulted in the death of six government officials.

Following the announcement of the results of a coroner's inquest that Galmot had died of poisoning, crowds gathered in front of the houses of various government officials demanding their lives.

The smouldering discontent and French misgovernment of the colony has found outlet in the attack on the officials which the marines are having difficulty in suppressing.

Brutal reprisals are expected on the part of the government.

Plans for Huge New Bank are Under Way

Plans for the organization of a $50,000,000 bank are being made, according to widely circulated reports.

Among the probable members of the board of directors are John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee and former chairman of the finance committee of the Morgan-controlled General Motors Corporation; William F. Kenny, friend of Governor Smith and members of the Du Pont firm.

PROPAGANDA FOR WAR IN ENGLAND

British Planes Prepare Atmosphere

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The fake air battle in which 350 army planes participated has come to a close, after demonstrating to the inhabitants of London the horrors of the next war and the readiness of Britain's army and navy departments to fight.

Maneuvering about in the air, squadrons of British planes, supposed to be the force of some "eastern power" dropped fake bombs on London, which if real would have wiped out the population of the city. The daily press rang with praise of the maneuvers and tried in every way possible to arouse the people into enthusiasm for war.

The decision was given to the "eastern power" with a warning that unless England "prepare" it stands in danger of being conquered. In the meantime naval and airplane construction continues.

LEAGUE QUITE MUM ON QUERY OF COSTA RICA

No "Interpretation" of Monroe Doctrine

GENEVA, Aug. 17.—Twenty-four hours of "hard thinking and discussing" have brought no further solution of Costa Rica's demand for a league interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine than the suggestion that no interpretation at all will be forthcoming.

A prominent British member of the league's political section yesterday stated it as possible that "continued agitation of this matter by the Latin-American delegates to the assembly over a considerable period of time may induce the United States itself to promulgate an interpretation clearly definite." But this is all, he intimated, which can happen.

The most that is expected is that President Francisco Urrutia, of Colombia, will be instructed to send Costa Rica an answer without referring it to the council. In that event the matter will be considered closed.

LITHUANIA AND POLAND CLASH

Disagree Over Place for Confab

WARSAW, Aug. 17.—The Polish government received a note from the Lithuanian government rejecting the proposal to hold a conference on the boundary dispute at Geneva on August 30, and insisting on holding the conference, as originally planned, at Koenigsberg between August 16 and August 20.

The reason given by President Valdemaras was that the shortness of the time at Geneva would preclude a satisfactory conference.

It is generally believed that the Polish government is anxious to hold the conference under the jurisdiction of the League of Nations, or at a time when its influence could be exerted, since it is confident that such a decision would be favorable to itself.

The International Situation and Tasks of Communist International

Comrade Bukharin's Report of the Executive Committee of the Communist International

This is the official text of the report of Comrade Nicolai Bukharin made to the Sixth Congress of the Communist International on July 18 and 19, on behalf of its Executive Committee on the international situation and the tasks of the Communist International. Because of the unexpected length we can publish only one half of the report in this issue. The other half will be published in an early issue of the Daily Worker.

I. A General Analysis of Modern Capitalism and the Special Forms of the Crisis of Capitalism

THREE PERIODS OF POST WAR DEVELOPMENT.

Comrades!

Much has happened since the last Congress of the Comintern. In order that we may be able better to appreciate the events that have taken place during this period, and in order that we may correctly outline our future prospects, we must examine the stage of development through which we have just passed not separately and isolately, but in conjunction with the preceding stages. The general appreciation of the whole of the post-war development must be divided into three periods.

The first period was the period of acute revolutionary crisis, particularly in European countries. It was the period in which revolutionary development reached its highest stage, when an enormous revolutionary wave swept over the whole of Europe. The culminating point of this period was reached in the years 1920-21.

This first period includes the February and October revolutions in Russia; the workers' revolution in Finland, in March, 1918; the rice riots in Japan in August, 1918 (called forth by the rise in the price of rice); the revolutions in Austria and Germany in November, 1918; the proletarian revolution in Hungary; the rebellion in Korea in March, 1919; the setting up of the Soviet Government in Bavaria, in April, 1919; the bourgeois national revolution in Turkey in January, 1920; the seizure of the factories by the workers in Italy in September, 1920. This period must also include the Red Army's march on Warsaw and finally, we have the so-called March action in Germany in 1921.

We see, therefore, that this first period was crammed full of revolutionary events of great magnitude and of great historical significance. These events brought out very sharply the process of collapse of the capitalist system and primarily of European capitalism. The first period must be regarded as having come to a close at the end of the year 1923. In September, 1923, the rebellion in Bulgaria ended in severe defeat and in the Autumn of 1923, the German proletariat suffered a fresh defeat.

The defeat of the proletariat in Western Europe served the bourgeoisie as the political starting point for further development. These defeats, and particularly the defeat of the German proletariat, marked the beginning of the second period of development in Central Europe and in Europe as a whole. This was the period of the capitalist offensive, the period of defensive proletarian struggles generally, and defensive strikes in particular. It was the period of the partial stabilization of capitalism. It must be said, that several of the defensive battles of the proletariat assumed colossal dimensions. Among these were the General Strike and the Miners' Strike in Great Britain. The second period brought greater "peace and order" to European capitalism and to world capitalism. Direct revolutionary events passed from the continent of Europe to the colonial and semi-colonial countries. In 1925, we had the rebellion in Morocco, in August, 1925, we had the rebellion in Syria and in the same year the great struggle in China assumed a more acute form. While in the first period the direct revolutionary situation bore a sharply expressed European character, in the second period the direct revolutionary situation became the characteristic feature of the situation in the colonial periphery of world imperialism.

From the economic point of view, from the point of view of the analysis of capitalist economy, the second period may be described as the period of the restoration of the productive forces of capitalism. In this period, relying on its political victories and on its relative political stabilization, capitalism strove to achieve, and ultimately did achieve, a certain economic stabilization.

The second period passed away to give place to the third period, the period of capitalist reconstruction. This reconstruction was expressed in the pre-war limits being exceeded qualitatively and quantitatively. The growth of the productive forces of capitalism is due on the one hand to the rather considerable progress achieved in the technique of industry and on the other hand to the extensive reorganization of capitalist economic contacts. Technical reconstruction, economic reorganization and the rapid process of capitalist trustification are, however, accompanied by the growth of the forces hostile to capitalism and by the extremely rapid development of its inherent contradictions.

Among these must be included first of all the growth of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics. The period of the reconstruction of capitalism "coincides" with the period of reconstruction in the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics; the period of the establishment of a new technical basis for, and corresponding with that, the reorganization of our apparatus of production—reorganization in the social economic sense (the growth of the socialized section of our economy) as well as in the sense of its increasing consolidation. The economic and political growth of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, the development of the Chinese revolution, the ferment in countries like India, and finally the rapid growth of the inherent contradictions in the capitalist section of modern world economy and the growing danger of war—all represent the "reverse" side of world development.

It is necessary to analyse carefully the new world situation that has arisen in the third period. Unless we appreciate all the fundamental world economic and political changes that have taken place, we shall be unable to mark out a correct political line and be unable to approach properly the tactical problems of the present time.

Right from the outset we must clearly state that the postulate regarding the stabilization of capitalism now bears a different character from that which it bore several years ago, and this alteration in the manner of presenting the question must be taken into consideration in analyzing the international situation.

I come now to the analysis itself.

THE ELEMENTS OF TECHNICAL PROGRESS.

First of all I will deal with the technique of the present day capitalist world. We must concede that a considerable growth has taken place in the electrification of production in the important capitalist countries. Important inventions have been brought out in the sphere of applied chemistry. The new methods of producing synthetic fuels, the Bergius method of producing benzine, the production of artificial silk, etc., all these are characteristic features of present day capitalist production. At the same time we must take note of the growing utilization of light metals, particularly of aluminum, the wider application of new machinery and aparatuses in industry as well as in agriculture, for example the combined harvesters in the United States; the development of automobile transport; the extensive application of the endless conveyor system and the new method of organizing labor in the factories; standardization, mass production, etc. All these are the most characteristic features of present day capitalist technique.

I will quote a few figures concerning the production of electrical power in the United States.
